Jekalyn Carr is a three-time Grammy-nominated recording artist, actress, songwriter, and motivational speaker, and has managed to achieve all these things at the age of just 22. Her message is that success can be achieved through persistent effort, faithfulness to core values, and an abiding trust in God.

She recently visited Cayman, where she spoke at the Grand Court in George Town, in front of an audience of school students as part of the Law Courts Youth Guest Lecture Series. She didn’t only tell them how she had become so successful. Instead she used her pathway as an example to show them that each of them had greatness inside them, and each one of them could be successful too, if they chose the right pathway to their destination.

She began by walking around the court, and asking each of the students to stand up in rows, and say what they aspired to be. “My name is David, and I aspire to be an engineer,” said one. “My name is Lanny, I aspire to be an artist,” said another. Turning to the audience, Ms Carr told them: “You have to believe in yourself. You have to get rid of all negativity. There may be a lot of negative things in your past, but today I...

New training center’s partnership with prison service

Inspire Cayman is a new training center located in Eastern Avenue whose vision is to provide accredited vocational courses that are accessible to all people, with the ultimate aim of reducing unemployment. A new partnership between Inspire and Cayman’s prison services will also enable prisoners not only to take the courses, but to provide these prisoners with the opportunity to follow up courses they have begun in prison by completing them when they leave, and a source of support to help them find employment when they are back in the community. The result of many years’ hard work and planning by Michael Myles who used to work with Cayman’s youth, and said he was saddened to see so many of them leave school and end up “on the streets or in the Court system,” and felt he had to step in and do something about it. He expressed his gratitude to all the people who have helped him and worked together with him to make his dream come true.

Inspire will be providing accredited courses in the area of construction, such as carpentry and electrical and plumbing.

Power in a democracy is the power to freely communicate. A "Community Voice" movement could use our amazing array of powerful communication tools:

1. to enable a community to discover the views of its members regarding critical problems and solutions and
2. to convey those views to elected leaders and the public at large through publicly televised forums.

The Power of a ‘Community Voice’ Movement

By Duane Elgin

We have a crisis of conversation in our democracy. People want to be heard and to have a voice in their future. It's time for citizens — you and me, all of us — to come in from the cold. It's time for citizens — you and me, all of us — to come in from the cold.

Coming together in an authentic voice through a "Community Voice" movement that directly fulfills our Constitutional rights to be heard.

Dear Hon. Premier McLaughlin,

Throughout the campaign we have had the opportunity to meet with you, the Honourable Deputy Premier, Mario Rankin, Ms. Charity Byles, the Honorable Premier, His Excellency The Governor, and the Elections Office. We have not yet had the opportunity to meet with the Healthcare Deputy Premier, Mr. Hans Moxam, Melanie Harris

The NRA thanks the public for their patience during these roadworks and looks forward to providing these much-needed improvements.

Governor Visits MASH Offices

His Excellency, the Governor Mr. Martyn Roper, toured MASH offices in the presence of His Excellency the Governor, Mr. Martyn Roper, and His Excellency the Governor's Office Policy Officer and Corporate Services Support Unit Manager Inspector Kevin Ashworth, in order to discuss the important role played by the MASH program in the overall safety of our islands. I was impressed by the commitment and dedication of the MASH staff and the high level of professional ethics displayed by the unit.

The National Roads Authority (NRA), in conjunction with the Department of Works, will be carrying out upgrades to the paving along Shamrock Road’s eastbound lane. The work is scheduled for 11-12 and 15-16 July from 7am-3pm daily.

Drivers are asked to keep watch for traffic diversions and to drive with caution to ensure their safety and that of the work crews.

Please call 946 7800 or email safelydriving@caymaniantimes.ky if you have any questions or comments regarding this project.

Commissioner Byrne meets with landowner in West Bay regarding ongoing dispute

On Friday 5th July, the Commissioner of Police, Derek Byrne, met with landowner, Mr. Mike Adam, at his property in the Kings Road area of West Bay, and discussed the developments within an ongoing land dispute regarding an easement across an adjoining property leading to his home.

CoP Byrne walked and viewed the easement, and discussed the legal strategy around the enforcement of said easement, which is registered, with Mr. Adam and his attorney, who was also present. CoP Byrne also met members of the Adam family and a neighboring landowner, Captain Crosby.

The neighbor with whom the dispute has arisen was not present, but CoP Byrne will also be reaching out for a meeting with him as soon as possible.

The dispute has been a cause of deep concern among residents in the West Bay community, who notified the CoP of this concern during a community meeting the night before at John Cumber Primary School. The CoP promised to visit Mr. Adam and the property as soon as possible.

During the meeting with Mr. Adam yesterday the CoP stressed the need for a peaceful solution to the matter, and once again expressed the readiness of the police to enforce an order of the court with respect to the easement, once granted.

RCIP holds West Bay Community meeting

By Christopher Tobutt

An RCIPS community meeting took place at the Sir John A. Cumber Primary School in West Bay on Thursday 4 July.

The two hour meeting was a chance for members of the local community to meet with senior police officers, so that they could voice their concerns and let the police know how they might be able to improve things. Commissioner Derek Byrne was there, along with Superintendent Robert Chapman, Head of Community Policing, Inspector Lloyd Marriott and Inspector Guernette Styles.

Introducing the session, Inspector Marriott shared some ‘good news’ from crime stats for West Bay.

“We have seen a 33% decline in Burglaries and a 20% decrease in robberies, this is attributable to high levels of public assistance,” he said, adding that it was also attributable to the higher number of officers being deployed in the district.

The topic which dominated the evening was the recent police handling of a recent protest, where around 30 people came out in solidarity with Mr. Mike Adam, of Government Minister Mike Adam, over a land easement dispute with one of Mr. Adam’s neighbors. The allegations are that the neighbor concerned is not honoring Mr. Adam’s right, to use the easement, to reach his home from the Kings Road.

Several people who were at the protest appeared to feel that the police had shown bias in favor of Mr. Adam’s neighbor, and several voiced the opinion that, instead, the police should have upheld the right to use the easement, which they also claim has the backing of a court order. Police Commissioner Byrne replied that the “Police do not have a court order in their possession.” Some people also said that the police response had been disproportionate, and claimed to have seen armed police at the scene, to which Commissioner Byrne replied, “I am not aware of any firearms being used on Sunday.”

Commissioner Byrne addressed their concerns by stating: “I’ve given an undertaking to meet with Mr. Adams next week. But I can assure you there is no room for any bias. Mr. Adams said: “I am overwhelmed with respect to the easement, once granted.”

Proposals for a new boutique primary school in the Cayman Islands have been given a green light by the Department for Education.

Footsteps School, headed by school directors Emma Kendall and Bryony Platt, had submitted an application for the new school earlier in the year, and last week received confirmation it has been approved to open in its brand-new Eastern Avenue location from September 2019.

School Director Emma Kendall welcomed the news: “We are absolutely delighted to have been approved to open. Our primary goal was to provide an inclusive environment and tailored curriculum capable of meeting the needs of all our students. We can’t wait to engage, encourage and support Cayman’s newest student community. We are especially excited to introduce our 'nurture through nature' programme and new outdoor curriculum which is the first of its kind in Cayman. We hope that you will be as excited as we are by our beautiful new facility on Eastern Avenue and that you share our excitement for what lies ahead over the next academic year.”

Over the coming months, Footsteps will be working with the Department of Lands & Planning to get the new location ready for the September opening. Prospectus parents of children aged 4 to 11 are invited to email the school now with any admission questions.

Additionally, Footsteps have announced they will be offering full and part-time scholarships for qualifying Caymanian children. For consideration to join this scheme, parents of eligible Caymanian students are invited to attend the Scholarship Assessment Day between 9am and 12 noon on 15 July 2019. For more information on how to enroll in the regular or scholarship programs, please contact Footsteps at management@footsteps.cayman or visit their website at footsteps.cayman.com.

New vocational training center’s partnership with prison service

Prison Director Steven Barrett said that he saw the new partnership with Inspire as a “no-brainer” because it will help reduce the number of inmates who come out of prison and return to a pattern of reoffending because of a sense of hopelessness. “Crucially for us, this is a program that doesn’t begin and end in prison. Prison is often seen by people as a kind of ‘end of life,’” he said. “But prison can actually be the start of a life; the start of transformational change. It’s an opportunity to give some continuity to someone’s prison sentence so that when you leave the gates of Northward or when you leave the gates of Fairbanks that isn’t the end of our responsibility. This partnership allows prisoners in our custody to connect with training, and continue it once they are back in the community and this gives them much more social agency, much more personal capital, and gives them some assets they can take to the employer to give them an additional sense of worth.”

If you want to know that your past is your past. Because you came here it is a step towards your future being greater than you could ever realize. It does not matter whether you’ve come from a good environment or not. When greatness is in you, nothing around you can change that, and all it takes is you choosing to do what’s right.”

“When you desire to be successful, whenever you desire to win and to be great in life, you have to make the choice for yourself. It’s about how badly you want to reach your destiny. You might say: “I didn’t grow up loving that I was going to be successful.” So let me be the voice to tell you today: There is something called Destiny that is waiting for you, and the only way you can reach your destiny is by tapping into your purpose, and what you were born to do.”

Mc Carr continued: “I challenged you today to take the step, and you cannot take that before, and that is activity that you do right. Direct your tap into things that will help you progress in life. You might say: ‘I’ve done this, I’ve done that.’ But that is not the end of your story. The end of your story is the story of your greatness; the story of your success is success. ‘You have to keep in mind that you are using your space, and there are certain things that kings and queens cannot attach themselves to. Sometimes people can be pulling on you from many different directions, with a negative influence. But because you know who you are, a king or a queen, you cannot step down to tap into another thing. Why? Because that can delay you from reaching your destiny. Everything you desire to be in life comes from making a choice. So you must make the choice to say ‘I refuse to attach myself to things that bring me away from being what I know I was born to be. If you believe that age, time, or interest do not have to compromise on your path to success. Why? Because success already belongs to you!” Shout: ‘I’m not going to compromise.’

The Customs and Border Control (CBC) officers, with the help of its detection dogs, have seized more than CI$250,000 in cash and money had no nexus to illegal activity. Officers then decided to conduct a search of the individual and her luggage, and discovered more than US$10,000 that was strapped to her body, hidden under her garments to avoid detection. The woman was arrested on suspicion of harbouring criminal property. During this same operation, the detection dogs alerted authorities to another passenger who found more than US$6,000 in the person's luggage. Subsequent enquiries showed that the man and money had no nexus to illegal activity and he was allowed to continue his travel.

During a joint RCIPS and CBC operation in June, more than CI$250,000 was seized with the aid of the canine during a joint search. On the occasion of another house search in February 2019, a significant amount of cash was found inside the home with the help of the detection dogs. In June, CBC officers seized a significant amount of cash when a canine aided in the detection of US$15,000 concealed under the floor panels of a private aircraft. On numerous occasions the sniffer dogs alerted to cash found either in travellers’ baggage or on their persons upon arrival or departure from the Cayman Islands.

“The travellers were very fortunate to avoid criminal prosecution as they either told the CBC officers or were below the amount required to be declared to CBC,” CBC Assistant Director (Narcotics Enforcement Team and K-9 Unit), Ms. Tina Campbell said.

During two weeks in June, the RCIPS Air-Operations Unit conducted a total of six medical evacuations to Grand Cayman from the Sister Islands using the new police helicopter. Those included two on 17 June, and four during the following week of 24 to 30 June. On Monday, 17 June, the helicopter transferred a heart patient from Cayman Brac to Cayman Health City. Later that same evening, a woman in premature labour was transported from Faith Hospital in Cayman Brac to Grand Cayman and then to the Cayman Islands Hospital via ambulance, after it was determined that the child would be in need of critical care once born.

The following week medical evacuations were conducted on Monday, 24 June, Tuesday 25 June, Thursday 27 June, and Saturday, 29 June. One of those evacuations was from Little Cayman, while the others were from Cayman Brac. The evacuations were routine, occurring following related incidents, and another followed a motor-vehicle collision, which the fourth was of a critically ill patient who had not conscientious.

All of the medical evacuations were completed safely, due to the efforts of the AOU will be hosting another training session next week, featuring another eight EMS staff members.
To prepare for the unknown, each home should have a 72-hour Disaster Survival Kit. You will need to pack some essential items to help you and your family survive, whether you stay at home or leave it during a disaster.

Keep at least three days (72 hours) supply for each person. Do not forget pets where applicable. The following is a minimum suggested list of survival kit supplies:

Dried fruit, peanut butter, and jelly (such as marshmallow or peanut butter) can be taken as food in case of an emergency. Water is essential and cannot be replaced once it goes bad!

Food for sanitation:
- One box of baking soda per person/day.
- Tissue paper, toilet tissue, soap, baby wipes, liquid hand sanitizer

Sanitation
- A plastic bucket with lid
- Household chlorine bleach, disinfectant
- Hand washing soap

First Aid Kit
- A small first aid kit for your home and one for each car.
- Assorted bandages various sizes – Sterile gauze pads (various sizes)

Prescription Drugs
- Aspirin or non-aspirin pain reliever (Bislang), per
- Antidiarrheal medication, Antacid (for stomach upsets)

Prescription and Non-Prescription Drugs
- Syrup of ipecac (use if advised by the Poison Control Center)
- Antacid
- Antihistamine

Non-Prescription Drugs
- Allergy medications
- Allergy medications
- Cold packs (non refrigerated type) – Scissors – Plastic bag

Sanitation
- Hand sanitizer
- Germicidal hand wipes or waterless alcohol-based hand sanitizer

Emergency preparedness items
- Plan to cook on a camp stove or grill in the days after the storm.

Emergency preparedness items
- Cash or traveler’s checks
- Be prepared to evacuate your home. Your family should have plans to evacuate your home and be prepared to leave if necessary.

USA raise the women’s bar

The USA women’s footballers did as expected and beat the Netherlands 2-0 in the World Cup final in France on Sunday. The Dutch were resilient but, in the end, it was the difference in ability, flair in midfield and finishing ability of the Americans that counted.

Captain Megan Rapinoe cutely named the nerves the Americans may have had just before a penalty because Rose Lavelle scored the win with a mercurial solo run for the second.

Lavelle, with 23 goals and 10 caps, looks set for a glittering career now she is firmly established in the side. The deadness of her skills and cool finishing ability sets the 24-year-old Washington Spirit midfielder for a long spell at front-foot’s elite level.

Lavelle is keen to thrive on pulling defenders to her like a magnet, attracting two and three and sometimes four shots while she retains the ball. Her fantastic vision and movement, and her understanding of how plays develop two or three steps ahead of time, are exactly the elements expected in a number 10, exemplified by the likes of Lionel Messi, Zinedine Zidane, Pele, Ronaldo and Diego Maradona.

The USAWNT midfield is perhaps the main reason to be excited about the team going into the future. The 2020 Olympics will probably be the precursor to a small wave of retirements on the old guard, such as 34-year-old co-captain Rapinoe, find closure on their careers. It’s the natural cycle of team, as the older players file out. Lavelle is the future of the USAWNT midfield, whether they remain committed to their fast, direct, shock-and awake style, or they decide to play more of a build-up game.

Lavelle was in college and watching the United States play Japan in the 2015 Women’s World Cup. “I didn’t ace all week. She was up until 11pm doing a science project.”

She arrived there as a curiosity: the youngest qualifier in the tournament’s 31 years. She was almost a story of nothing new in tennis. Hingis won the first Wimbledon title at 16. Only a few weeks after leading the USWNT to their fifth World Cup title in France, Rose Lavelle has now won an impressive 15-year-old grand slam title run.

The Raptors published a statement Monday after defense, it was the defensive solidity, flair and understanding of how plays develop two and three and sometimes four points during the Raptonwards to land George.

The Toronto Raptors are losing Kawhi Leonard, but that’s no surprise. It was a lack of a season, but that’s all the Raptors are going to get from the brilliant small forward. Only a few weeks after leading the

Raptors, Lakers and Clippers in his six-game Finals victory over the Golden

State Warriors. He scored 732 points of the ball as they dispatched Orlando,

in a world beater. It’s all a great advert for the beautiful game, enhancing football generally.

Gauf will spend $185k prize on hoodies

Gauf has now won an impressive 15-year-old grand slam title run. It was a dramatic night in the T-Mobile Arena as the other Brazilian - Amanda Nunes - retained her women’s bantamweight crown when the 33-year-old, laying claim to be the greatest woman fighter of all time, stopped former champion Valentina Shevchenko in the opening stanza with a super-quick left to the face.

What Nunes has learnt is to be pa-

ient, and the double weight champion - who lost 155lbs and 134lbs beforehand - showed it to perfection.

Leonard resists Raptors for Clippers

The Toronto Raptors are losing Kawhi Leonard which comes as no surprise. It was a lack of a season, but that’s all the Raptors are going to get from the brilliant small forward.

Leonard going to the Clippers means that for the first time, a reigning NBA Finals MVP will be changing teams before the playoffs begin. The Clippers will be the ones to land Leonard as a free agent after they acquire Paul George from the Oklahoma City Thunder.

in a world beater. It’s all a great advert for the beautiful game, enhancing football generally.

Gauf will spend $185k prize on hoodies

Gauf has now won an impressive 15-year-old grand slam title run. It was a dramatic night in the T-Mobile Arena as the other Brazilian - Amanda Nunes - retained her women’s bantamweight crown when the 33-year-old, laying claim to be the greatest woman fighter of all time, stopped former champion Valentina Shevchenko in the opening stanza with a super-quick left to the face.

What Nunes has learnt is to be pa-

ient, and the double weight champion - who lost 155lbs and 134lbs beforehand - showed it to perfection.
