Another Successful FC International Football Camp

By Christopher Tobutt

Every summer, hundreds of kids from all over Cayman come to FC International's Football Summer Camp. Volunteers – some of them some of Cayman's former soccer stars - join forces to make sure Cayman's Kids are each made to feel extra-special too, as they learn football skills and good sports-person-ship and teamwork with their friends. Each week-long camp is completely free and is held in different districts so that nobody gets left out. The George Town Camp was held during the second week of August at the Annex Playing Field next to George Town Primary School.

There, more than 80 kids between 4 and 17 were learning to dribble, tackle and shoot. Many of the older kids grew up with the program, and are con-

Jessie's Juice Bar is a lovely community hub

Set in the heart of Camana Bay, Jessie's Juice Bar might be the tiniest coffee shop in the Cayman Islands, but makes up for its size with an amazing array of healthy smoothies, juices, coffees, loose leaf teas, house made kombucha, delicious breakfast items, salads, wraps, grilled sandwiches and house-baked goods. And everything is served all day. There's a lovely selection of seating just outside, which wraps around this little corner café and it is always filled with a diverse clientele of post work-out types, parents with kids, and people enjoying the healthy food and drink on offer.

Their matcha mint or acai berry smoothie bowls are a wholesome start to the day, as is their house-made granola. A local egg breakfast at CI$9.75 will set you up nicely and consists of two steamed local eggs, avocado, bomb sauce with what they term as "life changing" toast soldiers (try it and find out why.) Marbled rye sourdough grilled cheese sandwiches offer diners some exciting flavour combinations, including kimchi and pineapple and a Vegan Royale with a pea pesto, hummus, spinach and artichoke, or perhaps a Veggie Royale, packed full of artichoke, local arugula, Swiss cheese, fig and eggplant chutney and a turmeric mint mayo. A neat feature is customer's ability to make their sandwiches their own, as Jessie's offers a whole heap of add-ons, such as steamed local egg CI$1.5, Feta, mozzarella or Swiss CI$1.5, kalamata olives CI$1.5, baby tomato CI$1.5, nuts/toasted chickpeas CI$1.5 and avocado CI$2.

Buddha bowls are very "in" right now, and a Jessie's version contains spinach, arugula, zucchini noodles, beet, chickpeas, red cabbage, olives, tomato, sprouts and avocado, topped with a choice of egg or nuts with a turmeric mint mayo or a sesame miso dressing. Another fine bowl is their sesame miso salmon slaw, with zucchini noodles, carrot, arugula, cucumber, red cabbage, local greens, smoked salmon and avocado, with a citrus sesame miso dressing.

Beverage choices are really exceptional both in diversity and quality. Jacked up Smoothies contain Panther espresso for a caffeine fix and come in choices such as Jacked up George (espresso, milk, banana), Harlem Express (espresso, choc almond milk, banana), while milky smoothies (dairy or non-dairy) have fun-sounding names such as Bob the Builder (milk, peanut butter, banana) and Peppy Longstockings (chocolate almond milk, peppermint, banana, chocolate chunk). Cold pressed juices will bring a zing to your day and include watermelon (with or without ginger), clockwork orange (carrot, orange, lemon, ginger), and frisky sour (grapefruit, orange, lemon, lime).

No matter what you choose, you'll enjoy this great neighbourhood hang out.

No airport terminal curb side parking

Authorised vehicles allowed

By Staff Writer

Changes to the traffic flow at the Owen Roberts International Airport (ORIA) on Grand Cayman are soon to be implemented and they will mean no more curb side drop offs and pickups for unauthorized vehicles. Instead, people will have to drop off and pick up passengers in a drop off zone in the short-term car park.

The traffic flow changes will come into effect on 30th August 2021 and have been put in place for security reasons. From that day onwards, only authorised public transportation and tour operators will be permitted to drop off or pick up passengers at curb side in front of the main terminal. All other vehicular traffic will be routed to the short-term or long-term parking lots where the standard parking rates will apply, which will come into effect in October.

For the month of September, the standard parking rates will be waived.

Drivers who are picking up arriving passengers must also park in the short-term parking lot. Parking will be free for up to five minutes after which time the standard parking rates will apply.

Chief Airport Security Officer Chad Yates explained: "These changes in traffic flows have been implemented in the United Kingdom and in some overseas territories to reduce risk and improve airport security."

Mr. Yates said keeping customers safe was their main priority, and these new measures in the way in which vehicles can now travel in and out of the airport had been put in place with airport security at the forefront of their minds.

"As airport security continues to evolve globally, we are committed to mitigating risk and providing an excellent airport experience," he added. "We recognise these changes will impact our customers, but our goal is to minimize the impact while ensuring a safe and secure environment."

Census Workers Get Trained

Some 560 Census workers from Grand Cayman are getting trained at three venues on Grand Cayman in preparation for the 10 October 2021 start of Census 2021.

The enumerators and supervisors are receiving training from officers of the Economics and Statistics Office (ESO) at the school gymnasium at John Gray High, George Town Primary and Sir John A. Cumber Primary in West Bay.

Training on all aspects of how to conduct the actual census that began on Monday (9 August) continued for three days last week and is expected to continue this week and next week.

ESO officials will hold similar training classes on Cayman Brac mid-September for workers who will conduct the census in the Brac and Little Cayman.

Census officials emphasised that the full training is mandatory for all census workers and includes in-person lectures, audio-visual presentations, written materials and practical exercises covering all relevant topics on how to conduct the census. The training will culminate in testing.

ESO Director Mr. Adolphus Laidlow noted: "We take this training very seriously because it prepares all involved to conduct the census smoothly. Our aim is to ensure that the trainees fully understand the processes."

He added, "Also, the training emphasises the need to maintain strict confidentiality, as required by law, in how they handle the data they will collect in person when they visit households to conduct the census in October and November."

No let up in T&B licensing during pandemic

By Lindsey Turnbull

Cayman's Department of Commerce and Investment has issued an increasing number of Trade & Business Licenses year-on-year in recent times and, despite the obvious hit to Cayman's tourism industry with borders closed, the pandemic has not slowed down the volumes of people wishing to either renew or take out a new license to conduct business.

In 2019, the Department, now a unit of the Ministry of Finance and Commerce, saw 11,634 such applications processed (approved, refused and deferred). This soared to 14,890 for 2020 and the volumes have not slowed down in 2021, with 9,003 applications to the end of July.

Ryan Rajkumarsingh, Director, Department of Commerce and Investment, confirmed: "For an island that is closed, there is so much activity."

Mr. Rajkumarsingh gave some further perspective when he said, internally, Cayman had seen an increase in online businesses "where persons are being very entrepreneurial".

"Over 85 per cent of these new online businesses are online retailers where customers order items from a website (such as Amazon) and these businesses bring in the items, often as a courier service, right to your door," he explained.

The demand has been created for such services by customers who would normally physically go abroad to places such as Miami to do their shopping and then bring items back with them. Since persons have not been able to shop abroad, there has been a rise of such businesses, Mr. Rajkumarsingh said.

Other types of business that have continued to increase in T&B renewal or new applications include, perhaps surprisingly, restaurants and cafés, while more likely to continue to serve local residents during the pandemic and therefore not so heavily dependent on tourists, showed no let up in the number of T&B renewals and new applications. In 2019 the Board dealt with 434 applications in this sector, which rose to 660 in 2020 and is at 352 for 2021 to the end of July.

Mr. Rajkumarsingh said, putting these figures into perspective, there is now approximately one business for every fourth Caymanian on island.

But entrepreneurial spirit must be balanced by confronting the reality that Government will not progress to the next phase of opening (a limited number of tourists arriving planned for 9th September 2021) until 80 per cent of the population has been doubly vaccinated. Government has said there are 71,106 people in the Cayman Islands. Of these, currently 50,308 or 71 per cent have had one jab and 68 per cent (48,111) have completed the two-dose course. This means 6,577 people need to get their second jab and 8,774 people need to be doubly vaccinated in just five weeks. Vaccinations would have to speed up considerably in the immediate future to meet Government's 80 per cent requirement.

Hurricane Grace batters Cayman

Beginning the early hours of Wednesday morning and carrying on for much of the day, the Cayman Islands experienced its first big storm of the season when Hurricane Grace battered the islands as a tropical storm. With trees down, debris clogging roads, power out for much of the island and various places without water, Cayman missed the eye of the storm by a matter of miles yet still suffered a bruising from the heavy rain and winds in excess of 65mph. As it passed by Cayman, 65 miles west of Grand Cayman moving west-northwest at about 15mph, the storm intensified to a Category 1 hurricane, with winds of 75mph.

While power was out across the island, CUC reported that as at 8am there was no significant damage to its generation plant or feeders that serve the districts of GeorgeTown and West Bay. George Town was also able to keep its water on. Once conditions were deemed safe, CUC said it would begin inspection of the damage to determine the restoration times and advise customers. CUC said restoring power to critical services would be its priority. People were urged to report any downed power lines as they see them.

Government offices remained closed Wednesday as did banks, with only Government workers undertaking emergency jobs in office, while the National Emergency Operations Committee began working overnight Tuesday to coordinate emergency operations. The Cayman Islands Regiment was required to be deployed in order to evacuate some West Bay residents whose homes had been hit by the storm.

Hurricane Grace was expected to strengthen as it crossed the Yucatan Peninsula and then further on to the Gulf of Mexico.

CIGO-UK partners with Cayman Connection to host inaugural “Cayman Day”

The Cayman Islands Government Office in the United Kingdom (CIGO-UK) will be hosting a special event on Saturday, 18 September for Caymanians and associates across the UK to come together in London for the first time in 18 months since the early COVID lockdown. The event is a family day designed to celebrate Caymanians in their endeavours overseas and for them to meet the new Cayman Islands Representative to the UK, Dr. Tasha Ebanks Garcia. New students and Caymanians coming to the UK for the first time are welcome to attend and can meet fellow Caymanians who have been living in the UK.

The event will include live performances from Caymanian artists, a deejay, arts and cultural activities and displays, talks, games including a dominoes competition, as well as Caymanian gifts, prizes and surprises.

A special menu of Caribbean food will be served up by award-winning Caribbean Chef Collin Brown, working with Caymanian Chef Chad from GoGo Carib. The culinary duo is working on “Cayman Day” signature dishes for the occasion.

Originally planned for earlier in the year but postponed due to COVID restrictions, this event will be the springboard for a larger annual event that will be held in the early summer for Caymanians overseas.

Dr Tasha Ebanks Garcia commented “I know firsthand the challenges of living far from home and events like this, which bring a little bit of Cayman to the UK and engages Caymanians overseas, are important as it keeps us connected to home and each other. I look forward to the opportunity to talk to our guests about the work of the Cayman Islands Government Office UK and gather some insights on how we can serve our people overseas.”

Founder and Executive Director of Cayman Connection Kate Kandiah said of the event, “This is a great opportunity to come together after a challenging (but rewarding) 18 months. Many of us have been meeting up virtually every week to share stories, challenges and successes, and to support each other. To be able to come together in person after all this is extremely heart-warming and we are so excited to be facilitating this with the CIGO-UK. A huge thanks to CIGO-UK for supporting this initiative. Cayman Connection members have received an invitation directly. We understand that some students will be travelling to the UK on the later September flight, so we will also be hosting satellite activities across the UK throughout October.”

There are limited complimentary guest tickets to the event held for Cayman Connection Members and CIGO-UK guests. Cayman Connection encourages those who wish to attend to RSVP as soon as possible to secure their place on the guest list. When the complimentary guest list is full, tickets are available for £40 per person.

SNAP camp offers early intervention for school-aged children

The Department of Counselling Services (DCS) has completed another successful year of the STOP NOW AND PLAN (SNAP®) summer camp for school-aged children in need of effective strategies to develop emotion-regulation, self-control, and problem-solving skills.

The team noted that Nelson Mandela once said, 'there can be no keener revelation of a society's soul than the way in which it treats its children'. "The team at DCS holds this value close as we work hard to create and implement life-changing initiatives for the youth of the Cayman Islands," said Ms Judy Seymour, Director DCS.

The SNAP® programme, which was implemented locally in 2017 thanks to the generous sponsorship of Rotary Sunrise Club of Grand Cayman, continues to benefit a wide range of families.

The programme is multifaceted in nature, and is offered within the clinical setting individually or in a 13-week group setting, as well as being offered in public schools.

Training opportunities are offered to school personnel to teach foundational SNAP® strategies and create a SNAP culture in the classroom. The aim is to create a more positive learning environment by increasing prosocial interactions and decreasing disruptive behaviour.

SNAP® is an evidence-based programme that follows a cognitive behavioural model and has proven to result in positive treatment outcomes among children between the ages of 6-11 with conduct and related behavioural difficulties.

The overall objective of the programme is to help children make better choices and control impulsive and aggressive behaviours that could lead to future contact with authority.

The annual one-week summer camp attracted 33 campers and eight peer mentors, and served as an opportunity to introduce the SNAP strategy to children through interactive activities, simulations and hands on "in-the-moment" coaching.

All camp staff and volunteers are highly-trained in order to assist campers in developing and maintaining positive peer relationships while also improving emotional awareness and regulation.

Additionally, maintaining a high level of engagement with parents during this process was critical in order to reinforce strategies taught within the camp in the home setting to further support their children.

Ms. Seymour commented on an aspect of the SNAP Summer camp that has been particularly rewarding for the team, she said, "One of my favourite things to see are kids who were campers in prior years who come back in successive years as peer mentors, having themselves become equipped with the skills to help new campers through stressful situations. This is a huge testament to the power of the programme, and is a clear indication that we are building resiliency and leadership among our young people."

Minister for Health and Wellness Hon. Sabrina Turner said, "Every parent wants to see their child succeed. When our children struggle this can be a heartbreaking ordeal and it can be difficult to know how to help. What we do know is that to encourage long-term lasting change for children experiencing challenges, a programme needs to address intrinsic motivation not just external triggers and consequences. I am proud that the DCS team through SNAP and other initiatives does this so well. The Ministry is committed to supporting the department through all of its early intervention and wellness programmes to ensure every Caymanian child has access to the future they dream of."

Ms. Seymour said the many testimonials received from parents and guardians of camp participants have kept the team at DCS highly motivated.

One parent wrote, "My child is blossoming from the mentorship received at camp. Thank you for working with all the children and for giving them the tools they need to accomplish their goals and to move forward with a more positive way of thinking."

Another remarked that her grandson was "using his SNAP techniques in the home setting" which made her "one very thankful grandma".

This year's programme sponsors are Rotary Grand Cayman Sunrise, Subway and Burger King.

On a visit to the camp, Stacy Parke, the immediate Past President of Rotary Sunshine said, "The progression and growth of youth in the Cayman Islands is something very near and dear to our hearts. Through the youth arm of our club, we aim to support initiatives like these year round. Where opportunity for growth exists we want the opportunity to be a part of it. It was an easy yes for us."

Family Resource Centre (FRC) Programme Coordinator Charmaine Miller said, "The positive feedback from parents has been extremely validating as we look forward to expanding this programme further over the next few years. While SNAP camp is delivered over a short period of time, we work diligently with families once camp has ended to encourage continued participation in intervention services with the Family Resource Centre in order to more adequately equip them with effective parenting strategies that will improve their family relationship and overall quality of life".

The SNAP programme is offered throughout the year. Families interested in registering for the September cohort are encouraged to email frc@gov.ky or call 949-0006.

Message by the Premier, Hon. Wayne Panton, JP, MP

My Fellow Caymanians and Cayman Islands Residents,

For the past 12 hours, in both the Sister Islands and Grand Cayman, we have borne the brunt of Tropical Storm Grace.

The storm has impacted all of us, whether through loss of power or water, wind knocking down trees and breaking glass, or boats being torn from their moorings. Worse, some of us have seen the effects of storm surges and the flooding caused to some waterfront properties, most notably on canals.

We will always remember Grace, but it is still by the grace of God, that the disaster was not far worse. We should, and we do, give thanks for that.

Our authorities did a magnificent job from predicting the storm's path and intensity to the well-organised preparations that were quickly and flexibly put in place.

Our collective thanks go to the National Emergency Operations Centre (NEOC) and the team of dedicated officials and volunteers for their tremendous efforts.

It's now our turn to do our part to ensure that we return to normalcy as soon as possible. First, we must follow the advice of public safety officials.

The Governor and I will be visiting areas in Grand Cayman to assess damage and flooding to ensure the necessary resources are deployed to assist those in need.

Please be safe and follow all precautions when clearing debris in your homes and surroundings. Make sure stagnant water is not left standing around your homes lest mosquitoes begin to breed.

Let us keep our children, our elders, our vulnerable and ourselves safe in the coming days and going forward.

God Bless the Cayman Islands - today and always.

Cayman Islands Supports Haiti Relief

The Cayman Islands Government has given permission for eight helicopters carrying US military personnel to land in Grand Cayman tonight (Sunday, 15 August 2021) and tomorrow (Monday, 16 August 2021).

The visit is part of US efforts to provide humanitarian aid to Haiti, following yesterday's magnitude 7.2 earthquake in that country.

The aircraft, which include three US Army CH-47 Chinook, three UH-60 and two HH-60 Black Hawk helicopters, will refuel and receive other services while on-Island. The first four helicopters, carrying 49 personnel, will touch down in Grand Cayman this evening and remain on-Island overnight. The remaining helicopters and personnel will arrive tomorrow.

The aircraft will provide heavy and medium air-lift to any planned US Agency for International Development-led mission to reduce human suffering and bolster Haitian disaster response capabilities.

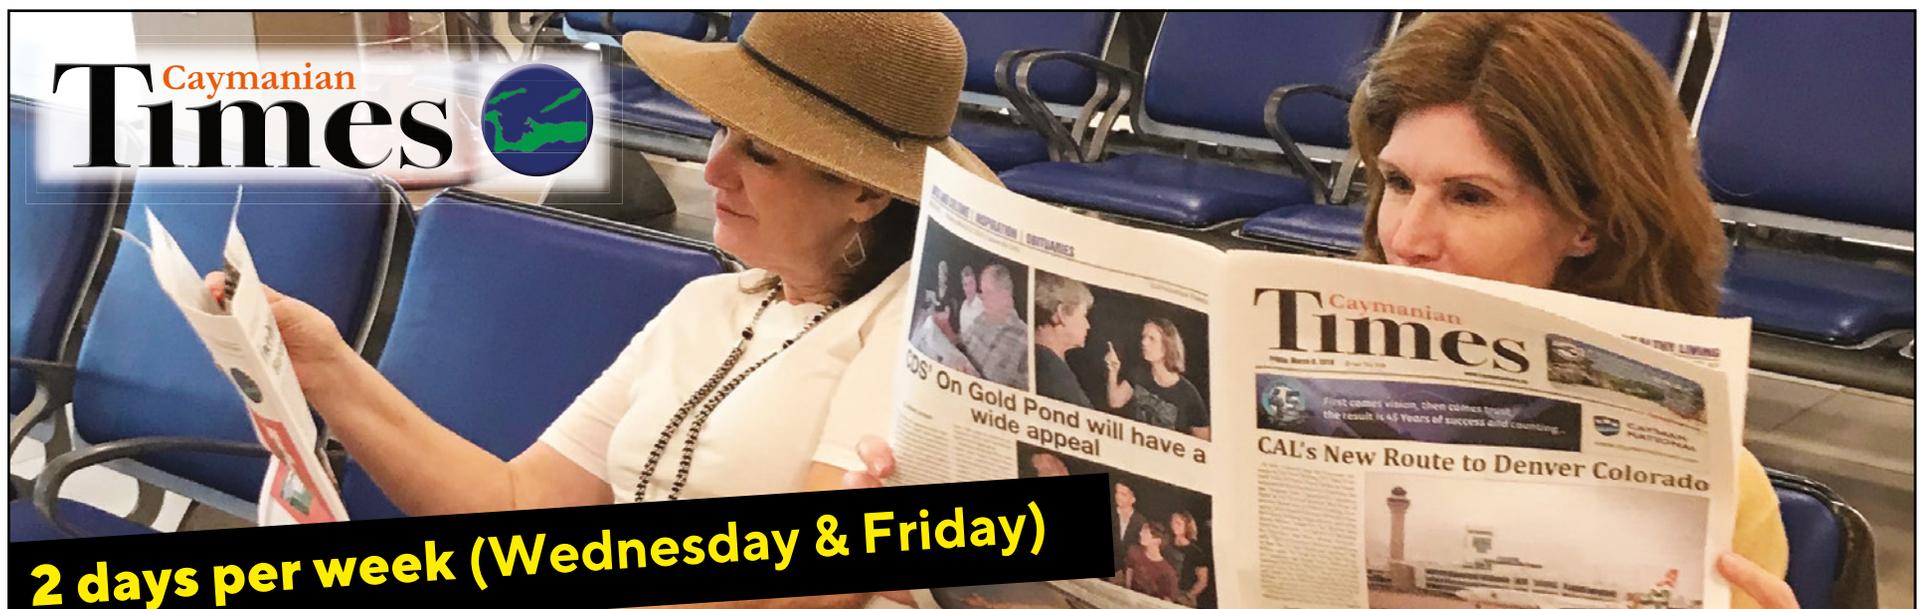

The helicopters and personnel are assigned to Joint Task Force - Bravo, one of three task forces under United States Southern Command. Joint Task Force - Bravo operates a forward, all weather, day/night, Category-5 capable air base in Soto Cano, Honduras.

The request to land in Grand Cayman came from the US Southern Command, and was approved by the United Kingdom and Cayman Islands Governments.

The Public Health Department and Travel Cayman are in touch with US military authorities to ensure that COVID-19 protocols are strictly followed during the visit. All personnel returned a negative PCR test result before receiving permission to enter the Cayman Islands.

Get What You Really Want

If you're anything like me, then you sometimes do things that you later regret.

- Like hitting snooze rather than waking up early to exercise before work.
- Or blowing off a healthy eating plan to indulge in a hamburger and fries.
- Or starting an exercise program only to drop out two weeks into it.

These regrettable actions keep you stuck.

It's almost as if there are two sides inside of you, raging war on each other. Your sensible side versus your emotional side. What you want versus what you do.

A psychologist named Jonathan Haidt came up with a mental model that explains exactly why you do things that you wish you hadn't - and how to take control to finally do the actions necessary to get what you really want.

"The image I came up with for myself, as I marveled at my weakness [of willpower], was that I was a rider on the back of an elephant. I'm holding the reins in my hands, and by pulling one way or the other I can tell the elephant to turn, to stop, or to go. I can direct things, but only when the elephant doesn't have desires of his own. When the elephant really wants to do something, I'm no match for him," explained Haidt in his book, The Happiness Hypothesis.

Human decision making is like a tiny rider on a massive elephant. The rider may think he's in charge, but the elephant's will always wins. The Elephant, The Rider, and The Path are a great framework for understanding yourself and what drives you. All human change depends on it. Here's Haidt's mental model for creating lasting change in greater detail...

The Rider: is your rational and analytical side. The Rider is a visionary that has the ability to think long-term, to plan, and that is willing to make short-term sacrifices for long-term payoffs. The Rider loves to contemplate and analyze, has limited reserves of strength, suffers from paralysis by analysis, and relentlessly focuses on problems rather than solutions. Most crucially, the Rider is so small compared to the six-ton Elephant that anytime they disagree about which direction to go, the Rider will lose.

The Elephant: is made up of your emotions and instincts. The Elephant prefers the comfort and security of a well-trodden path, even if a new path leads to a better outcome - this is why it's so difficult to change your habits. The Elephant has enormous strengths: love and compassion and sympathy and loyalty. The Elephant is the one who gets things done.

The Path: is your surrounding environment, the context in which the Rider and the Elephant operate. A rocky Path makes change hard, if not impossible, even when the Rider and the Elephant work together.

There are three steps to lasting change:

1. Direct the Rider
2. Motivate the Elephant
3. Shape the Path

1) Direct the Rider:

Change begins with a plan, and it's the Rider who comes up with plans. Direct your Rider to analyze what's right, on what works. When you've lost weight and made progress towards your fitness goals in the past what worked for you? Focus on these bright spots rather than on potential problems related to your desired change. Once you've come up with a plan, move on. It's important to move quickly and to avoid getting bogged down with paralysis by analysis.

2) Motivate the Elephant:

In order for the plans of your Rider to succeed, your Elephant must feel emotionally invested in the outcome. Find an emotional connection that you feel deep down in relation to the goal. Don't just think about why you want to achieve your goal - feel why you need to achieve your goal.

3) Shape the Path:

Make change easy. Reduce obstacles in your life, so that the new desired behavior is frictionless. Move the barriers between you and the actions that you want to take. Lay out your workout clothes the night before. Spend time in the morning to prep all of your healthy daily meals. Get a trainer to hold you accountable to showing up to your workouts.

The key to effective change is getting the Elephant and the Rider moving together on a smooth path to success. Do this and you'll stop doing things that you later regret.

If getting into the best shape of your life is a current goal that you wish you could achieve then call Ernest at Body Shapers Fitness Studio 325-8696 or email me today at bodyshaperscayman@gmail.com. I'm here to help you direct your Rider, motivate your Elephant and shape your Path... and I won't rest until your goal has become a reality!

► Let's hear it for Football Camp! The kids loved making some noise for their coaches and everyone who supports the camp to make it such a huge success. sequently are now skilled and confident enough to coach the little ones. It's really like a great big family with the older brothers and sisters showing the little guys what to do. Like 17 year-old Charles Ebanks, who had just finished showing the little ones how to shoot for that World-Cup goal. "I was six or seven when I first came here and it really gave me more confidence with my soccer training and the skills I learned," he said.

It was 16-year-old Vashti Ebanks' first time at the FC international camp. "Today I have been learning about dribbling, and how to take control of the ball," she said. "I have been to other football camps before, like the CIFA camp at the Truman Bodden. I am just starting back in football again, and one day, I would like to join ROMA," she said.

It's tough sometimes running around in the hot sun, and the kids get plenty of water and nice cool fruit punch too, as well as lunches and on the last day, even ice-cream and cotton candy, all for free, and thanks to the kind people who support the program, year after year. President Kennedy Ebanks said, "This camp is totally free, and includes a free meal for the children. We depend on support from the public, so anyone who wants to support it is welcome. Or if you want to come out, and assist as one of the volunteers, you are also welcome."

Some of those people came to pay the camp a visit. George Town Elected Representatives Barbara Connolly and David Wight and Joey Hew, along with Leader of the Opposition, Roy McTaggart. They all care about the kids so much they have supported them financially year after year. When their busy schedules allow, they come down and encourage the kids too, as well as all the helpers and volunteers. They were full of praise for the adult coaches and people in charge, who give up their valuable time, totally free, year after year because they love the kids and want the best for them. Most of the adult coaches grew up making lifelong friends while playing football together, and David Wight spoke fondly of former footballing pals Kennedy Ebanks, who is now President of FC international, and Elbert McLean who is the group's Technical Director. He said that he wished there had been such a well organized football camp in his day.

Elbert McLean holds his own camp in Bodden Town, but still manages to make time for the FC international, because he sees it as an important part of Cayman's future, "In summertime the kids need to come and get out of the house for three or four hours and do something active, learning discipline, teamwork, and keeping them positive. School's coming up, and because they are attending camp, I can promise you one thing, the parents of these kids aren't going to have any problem with them when they go back to school."

GOD'S ENDURING WOR - PSALM 119: 89- 96

Aerial bombings flattened the much of Warsaw at the beginning of World War 2. Cement blocks, ruptured plumbing, and shards of glass lay strewn across the great city. In the midst of all this destruction, one building stood firm- The Polish Headquarters for the British and Foreign Bible Society. Still legible on a surviving wall were these words, "Heaven and Earth shall pass away, but my words will never pass away."

In making this statement Jesus was encouraging His disciples that in the last days God's indestructible character, sovereignty and promises will stand forever.

As we face devastating experiences we can define them either in terms of despair or hope because GOD WILL NOT ABANDON US. NEVER!!!!

GRACE DRENCHES JAMAICA

By Michael L. Jarvis, London UK

Jamaica is cleaning up after being pounded for hours on end by tropical storm Grace after the storm swept across the island with strong winds and almost incessant rainfall.

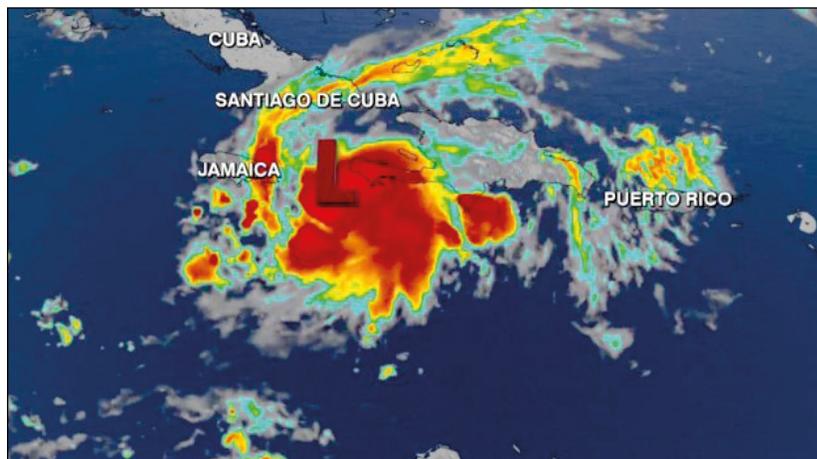

Flooded rivers, streams and roads cut off access to several areas. The storm made landfall in St Catherine with the spread of the system causing severe disruptions in the capital Kingston in the nearby parish of St Andrew and other areas as it moved across the island.

Grace drenched Jamaica with over six inches of almost non-stop rainfall putting the country's drainage system under severe stress resulting in many residential and business areas experiencing severe flooding.

However, Jamaica is said to have escaped the full brunt of the storm. But while there were no immediate reports of loss of life or serious injuries, parts of the country's agriculture sector are reported to have sustained substantial losses.

Property damage in some areas is reported to be extensive with water damage being the biggest challenge facing residents as they set about returning to normal one day after the storm passed through.

Restoring power and communication outages, clearing blocked drains and roads rendered impassable by fallen trees and other debris, were among the priorities facing Jamaica's disaster response agencies.

The general feeling coming out of the country by Wednesday morning is that 'it could have been worse'.

Early damage estimates indicate that the costs associated with Grace, especially from flooding, could exceed that caused by the previous storm this season, Elsa, which left behind a bill of over JA$800 million.

Grace is continuing on a westward track across the Caribbean Sea sweeping by the Cayman Islands. It's expected to be at hurricane strength by the time it reaches Mexico's Yucatan peninsula on Thursday.

The current windspeed is 50 mph with higher gusts.
