SPECULATION RAGES OVER SAUNDERS SPLIT FROM PACT

► Hon. Premier Wayne Panton

By Staff Writer

The abrupt departure of the second most powerful person in the PACT (People-driven, Accountable, Competent and Transparent) coalition government has raised more questions than the rather unconvincing attempts so far to provide answers.

Did he jump before he was pushed?

Chris Saunders, the now former Finance, Economic Management and Labour minister set off a political earth tremor with his resignation statement on Monday.

"While I am sure that many of you would love to know what those differences are, in the best interest of our beloved Cayman Islands it is best that those differences remain between the Premier and me. The political stability and the international reputation of the Cayman Islands are more important than those differences."

As expected that only set off a firestorm of speculation despite what might have been Mr Saunders' attempt to calm the waters.

It was obvious that the pact between him and the leader of the PACT pack, Premier Wayne Panton, had been irreparably broken - although we are told 'never say never' politics.

Shortly thereafter, a press statement was issued by the Office of the Premier in which it suggested that the Cabinet reshuffle announced after Mr Saunders' departure had been under consideration for some time before.

"Over the past weeks, the Premier has been carefully evaluating the PACT Government's performance over the first two years. During that time, the country emerged from COVID-19 restrictions, its borders were fully and safely reopened and the economy has not only recovered, it has equalled or surpassed pre-pandemic levels of activity."

From previous public statements, it would appear that Mr Saunders has been largely responsible for guiding the government's finances, and by extension confidence in the economy, through the challenging post-pandemic period since PACT took office.

But the Premier's statement detailing the Cabinet changes - whether planned before or necessitated by Mr Saunders's departure - also spoke of "several changes to the Ministers of Cabinet in order to create better synergies and improve delivery of results in the PACT Government's stated priority areas."

Better synergies? Improve delivery?

So what went wrong when everything seemed to have been going so right?

The media appearance later in the day with Premier Panton flanked by the remaining members of the PACT Cabinet raises even more questions. But no questions were taken - or allowed. There was a rather unusual request earlier to submit questions in advance, and it is known that some questions were indeed submitted.

The appearance was billed in part as "Address to the Nation", "Press Briefing", and "Premier Wayne Panton discusses the changes announced today to the Ministers of Cabinet".

However, it turned out to be a repeat of the contents of the press release issued earlier in the day by the Office of the Premier. And it was brief. Approximately 6 minutes.

And he started out by addressing the Cabinet changes "in order to create better synergies and improve delivery..." before vaguely referring to the exit of Mr Saunders.

"Under the new ministerial arrangements, Mr Christopher Saunders will no longer be serving in the Cabinet and we certainly thank him for his contribution to Government."

In the Cabinet reshuffle, Mr Panton himself will take on his former second-in-command's heavyweight portfolios of Finance, Economic Development, supported by Hon. Dwayne Seymour as Cabinet Minister for the Ministry of Border Control and Labour.

Irrespective of the reasons for the broken pact between Premier Panton and now-independent Bodden Town West MP Chris Saunders, the attention and the pressure that comes with the role will now be on the Premier.

In the two years left until the next election, Mr Panton can expect to be placed under severe scrutiny as he attempts to replicate or maintain the standard of government budget management and national economic stewardship that he has praised Mr Saunders for achieving.

Will Mr Saunders, now sitting as an independent, become a thorn in the government's side over what he might perceive to be the protection of his track record and legacy?

The joint appearance of all Cabinet members and backbenchers at the "Address to the Nation/Press Briefing" (but no press questions) could be seen as a show of unity.

It sends a message, most probably intended that 'PACT is intact'.

But instead of stopping the questions it has unleashed a torrent of queries and speculation.

Boyz 2 Men honour their mothers

By Stuart Wilson

The 'Boyz2Men' programme held a special event to honour the mothers of this year's group of young men, at the Ritz Carlton Grand Cayman on Saturday, 11th March.

The evening, entitled, "Fine Dining with Mom: "Treat Her Like a Lady" was an opportunity for the young men to show appreciation for the women, who mean so much to them, as well as a celebration of chivalry.

The 'Boyz2Men' programme, which has been in existence for 12 years now, focuses on empowerment and upliftment.

The high school-based mentorship initiative's mission is to provide at-risk young men with skills, mentorship support and confidence they need for future success.

Principal for John Gray High School, Mr. Jonathan Clark, Gray High School, noted that the camaraderie of the programme promotes the young men being the best versions of themselves and noted that the results of programs such as Boyz2Men are impossible to quantify, as they reverberate positive for generations.

He thanked the DART organisation and all who contributed for their continued sponsorship.

As part of the programme, each cohort of young men take their mothers on an evening of fine dining at the Ritz-Carlton hotel.

There, each of them is encouraged to present their mothers with a single red rose, and tell them how special they are, and how much they love and appreciate them.

By showing their mothers consideration and respect, the young gentlemen will possess a good foundation for their future girlfriends and wives, and mothers of their own children, according to the organization's ethos.

Cayman Islands Premier, the Honourable Wayne Panton was visibly moved by the young men's expression of openness and honesty to their mothers about their feelings toward them and during his remarks, he explained that he had been inspired to do the same.

"I have always told my mother that I loved her, but I have never told her why. Tonight, has been an eye opening experience for me in that regard and I intend to make a point of doing so - if not tonight before bed - then certainly, first thing in the morning," he remarked.

Mr. Panton also thanked the mothers on hand, as well as the teachers and organizations who support the programme, noting that it takes the entire village to make sure Cayman's young people become all they can be.

A special giveaway from Ted Greene fragrances to some of the audience was also a part of the night's highlights, in addition to a special dance the boys enjoyed with their mothers.

Keynote Speaker for the event, Mr. Collin Anglin, a past recipient of the Young Caymanian Leadership Award, told the young men that if they wished to make their mothers happy, they should do so by making them proud.

"Your mothers want to see you win," he remarked, adding that the word 'win' was an acronym, which he advised and explained each letter in further detail.

'Mr. Anglin said, W' stands for why the men undertake the things they do, which would help them to conquer any how, adding that 'I' was for initiative.

"It's not enough to sit around and wait for thing to come to you. You must learn to take action," he said.

"The 'n' stands for never quitting," he urged, adding that it was tenacity and determination that would make the difference in their lives.

Board Members for Boyz2Men include Simon Miller, Christopher Murray and Seaford Russel Jr.

CHRIS SAUNDERS, DEPUTY PREMIER, QUITTS PACT COALITION!

In a development that has sent shock-waves throughout Cayman today, Chris Saunders, Deputy Premier and Minister of Finance and Economic Development resigned from the PACT government of Premier Wayne Panton.

Mr Saunders, who represents Bodden Town West will now sit as an independent member in Parliament.

In a message to his supporters and the wider Cayman public, Mr Saunders said he split from the coalition PACT administration (People-driven, Accountable, Competent and Transparent) over differences with Premier Panton.

"Earlier today, I held a brief meeting with Premier Panton. It is clear from that meeting that the Premier and I have differences that are material to us working together, and as such, I have resigned as a Minister of Cabinet and a member of PACT effective immediately."

Mr Saunders however would not disclose the specifics of the rift between himself and the Premier which would have warranted his stepping down from the second most senior position in the administration, choosing only to state that he prioritises political stability in Cayman over his differences with his now former leader.

"While I am sure that many of you would love to know what those differences are, in the best interest of our beloved Cayman Islands it is best that those differences remain between the Premier and me. The political stability and the international reputation of the Cayman Islands are more important than those differences."

He also stressed: "As you would imagine, the nature of politics requires that this situation be used to destabilize the government and by extension our country, and as such, I encourage you all to not fall prey to those temptations and instead keep this Government in your prayers."

Despite Mr Saunders' appeal, his abrupt departure is certain to lead to speculation and analysis over what might have been so serious to cause him to quit and whether this was sudden as it appears or the result of a widening rift between himself and Mr Panton.

"In the past, I would remind my colleagues that M.P. means more to me than D.P. and I look forward to continuing my role as an Independent Member of Parliament representing the good, decent, and hardworking people of my home district of Bodden Town West," the now independent Bodden Town West MP declared.

He concluded his statement: "The Government's failures are our failures. The Government's challenges are our challenges. The Government's successes are our successes. I wish my former colleagues in the PACT Government all the best and look forward to working with them on the opposite side of the aisle in Parliament."

A statement by the Premier announcing that Mr Chris Saunders will no longer serve in Cabinet and Mr Saunders' simultaneously announcing his resignation from the Cabinet, and the PACT government, hardly comes as a surprise.

The cracks within the PACT Government have been apparent from the earliest days of their term, and nothing has happened

PANTON REACTS TO SAUNDERS' RESIGNATION IMPACT

In the wake of the abrupt resignation of his second-in-command, Deputy Premier and Finance Minister Chris Saunders, Premier Wayne Panton has announced several changes to his cabinet.

The cabinet reshuffle sees the Premier himself adding his former deputy's portfolio of Finance and Economic Development in addition to his portfolio of Sustainable Development.

Juliana O'Connor-Connolly, has been appointed as Deputy Premier and will retain her two current Ministries of Education and District Administration and Lands.

A statement by Mr Panton, which came after Mr Saunders had announced that he had quit the PACT coalition, stated that under the new ministerial arrangements, Christopher Saunders, MP, will no longer serve in Cabinet and Premier Panton will take on the additional responsibility for the Ministry of Finance and Economic Development.

On the appointment of his new Deputy Premier, Mr Panton said: "I have full confidence that Deputy Premier Hon. Juliana O'Connor-Connolly, an accomplished Minister and former Premier herself, will provide exemplary leadership in the role of Deputy Premier."

The statement about the new appointment noted: "Today, Premier Hon. Wayne Panton announced several changes to the Ministers of Cabinet in order to create better synergies and improve delivery of results in the PACT Government's stated priority areas."

While Mr Panton's statement spoke of creating "better synergies", in his resignation statement former deputy premier and finance minister Chris Saunders, pointed to differences with the Premier, although he did not elaborate.

The release from the Premier's Office also said: "Over the past weeks, the Premier has been carefully evaluating the PACT Government's performance over the first two years. During that time, the country emerged from COVID-19 restrictions, its borders were fully and safely reopened and the economy has not only recovered, it has equalled or surpassed pre-pandemic levels of activity."

Other Cabinet changes announced by Mr Panton are: Hon. Dwayne Seymour, becoming Cabinet Minister for the Ministry of Border Control and Labour and relinquishes his roles as Deputy Speaker of Parliament and Parliamentary Secretary.

Mr Seymour who was Health Minister in the previous Progressives administration had crossed the floor after the election to join the PACT coalition.

"Minister Hon. Dwayne Seymour will take on Border Control and Labour where, as an experienced Minister, he will be able to accelerate some of the work already underway and in short order, bring forward recommendations on the Minimum Wage and changes to the immigration points system for permanent residency."

Minister Jay Ebanks, who already has the National Roads Authority and responsibility for Traffic Management, takes over Public Transport.

Premier Panton's statement said consolidating all traffic-related matters under the Ministry of Planning, Agriculture, Housing and Infrastructure will allow that Ministry to bring forth comprehensive solutions to deal with traffic issues.

Mr Kenneth Bryan retains responsibility for Tourism and Ports.

All other Ministerial assignments will remain the same.

"I wish to thank Mr Saunders for his service and contributions to the Government. I am looking forward to the results that Minister Hon. Jay Ebanks and his Ministry will deliver particularly in addressing current traffic issues now that all traffic-related functions are consolidated under a single Ministry," Premier Panton stated.

Statement by the Hon. Roy McTaggart, Leader of the Opposition On Mr Chris Saunders resigning from Cabinet as a member of PACT

over the last two years to overcome these internal differences. The task of effective government is not made easier with three or four different factions in the same Cabinet.

The announcement of the new Minister and reshuffling of Ministerial roles may help with this. Perhaps this reshuffle will also help the Government regroup so that it can now focus on delivering solutions to the challenges the country is facing rather than its own internal divisions.

We realise that with the resignation of Mr Saunders from PACT, Premier Panton now has the slimmest of majorities in Parliament. We do hope that he will be able to hold his Government together despite this.

► Roy McTaggart

The Cayman Islands is known as a place with a stable Government, and this stability is essential to our reputation and our economy.

Ministry of Health and Wellness Set to Undertake National Health Survey

The Ministry of Health and Wellness will be undertaking the World Health Organisation's (WHO) "STEPS" survey for a period of eight weeks starting in June 2023.

The WHO's STEPwise approach to surveillance (STEPS) is an internationally comparable, standardised and integrated surveillance tool through which countries can collect, analyse and disseminate core information on noncommunicable diseases (NCDs). NCDs are disease that are spread not through infection, or from person to person, but are usually linked to health-related behaviours. Cardiovascular (heart) diseases, diabetes, chronic respiratory diseases and cancer account for the majority of NCD deaths globally.

"Understanding the true picture of NCDs within our islands has been a key priority of my Ministry since I took up office in April 2021," states Hon. Sabrina Turner, MP, Minister for Health and Wellness. "We cannot get to that place of clarity without reliable and relevant data, which is why undertaking this national survey is so important," Minister Turner adds.

Unlike other surveys, STEPS is conducted in three parts (or steps). STEP 1 is made up of a questionnaire where participants report on their own health. "STEP 1 allows us to gather information directly from participants to assess genetic factors, health behaviours and lifestyle choices, for example diet or tobacco use, that can be risk factors for noncommunicable diseases, so it's helpful to understand the prevalence of those risk factors in the population," Rachel Corbett, National Epide-mologist, explains.

STEP 2 of the survey consists of basic measurements that will be taken in the participant's home. This will include a blood pressure reading as well as a weight and height measurements. STEP 3 consists of a finger prick blood test to measure blood glucose and cholesterol levels.

"The STEPS methodology is a holistic way to gather information that will have a direct impact on how we understand the health of the nation," add Dr Nick Gent, Chief Medical Officer. "We cannot strengthen public health nationally without having reliable data, and the STEPS survey will help us address that gap."

The eight (8) week survey will be conducted with a sample size of 3,300 households, of which one person aged 18 -69 will be randomly selected from each household to participate. The survey will incorporate households within all three islands, proportionately with each island's population. The Pan American Health Organisation (PAHO) are providing technical assistance and guidance to the Ministry of Health and Wellness throughout the survey process.

Starting next week, the team from the Ministry of Health and Wellness will be launching an awareness and education campaign that will include more detailed information on the survey and what residents can expect when it begins. Along with appearances on local radio shows, public service announcements, and a social media campaign, the team will also be announcing district meetings and virtual information sessions to answer questions from the community.

"It is important to reiterate from now that the information gathered via the STEPS survey will be collate, sorted and reported in keeping with international best practices and data protection legislation," Minister Turner adds. "This means that data will be anonymised and no one will be able to identify anyone's personal responses and results. I want to make this clear so that people are not dissuaded from participating due to misinformation. If we, as a people, really want to see a robust health system that adequately addresses the needs of our population we need to take a data-driven approach to decision making and programming, and this requires participation from our population as they are the keepers of this data."

Wellness Centre are the only (IBAO(R)) Approved content provider for the IBT certification

The Wellness Centre has announced that they are now the only International Behaviour Analysis Organization (IBAO®) Approved Content Provider for the International Behavior Therapist (IBT®) certification in the Cayman Islands.

In 2010, The Wellness Centre became the first Applied Behaviour Analysis therapy service provider in The Cayman Islands. Since then, The Wellness Centre has been dedicated to offering a training and career pathway programme for Caymanians, and other individuals on the island, interested in a career in the field of ABA therapy and behaviour analysis.

In 2013, in further support of our dedication to ensuring the top-quality provision of services to our clients, The Wellness Centre trained through to certification the first Registered Behavior Technician (RBT®) in The Cayman Islands.

In total The Wellness Centre has trained 17 individuals to become RBTs, 13 of whom have been Caymanian. These individuals now work as members of our Developmental Support Services team in leadership and senior tech roles, as well as in government and private schools, in other ABA clinics, with the HSA and Sunrise Adult Training Centre. As a result of our training programme countless children, adolescents and adults are now able to access the services they deserve.

The new International Behavior Therapist (IBT®) designation is a further expansion for those interested in a career in behaviour therapy.

IBTs around the world provide behavioral services in a variety of settings and to a variety of clients. Most IBTs work with individuals with Autism Spectrum Disorders, developmental or other disabilities, and those who require additional support with language and communication development, challenging behavior, daily life skills, social skills, and learning supports.

IBTs are typically hands-on, "front-line" therapists who deliver behavioral services directly to clients under careful supervision and support.

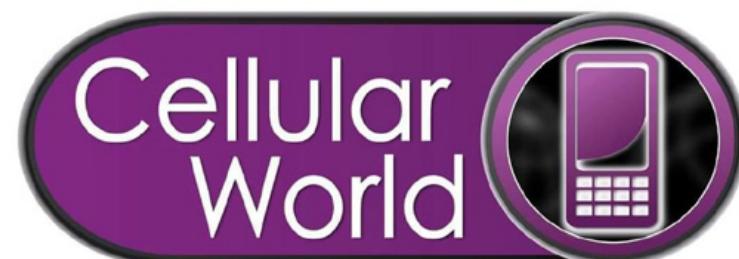

As an Approved Content Provider for the IBT credential, The Wellness Centre continues to be a leader in the provision of training in the Cayman Islands, and throughout the wider Caribbean region.

With the Behavior Analysis Certification Boards (BACB) no longer supporting ongoing training and certification for the RBT outside of the USA and Canada, The Wellness Centre has ensured a vetted and approved alternative option remains available not only in the Cayman Islands but across the Caribbean.

Sloane Pharr, Developmental Support Services Manager, lead the application process, which was lengthy and rigorous. Applications to become an IBT Approved Content Provider are vetted and approved by the IBAO Professional Advisory Board and include review and evaluation of course content, syllabi, presentation format models, and hourly breakdowns. Approved Content Providers must demonstrate a curriculum that fully addresses all IBT Training Content and commit to meeting a minimum of 40 hours of instruction to address those competencies. Most importantly an IBT ACP is responsible for the presentation of behavior analytic content to prepare trainees to meet critical competencies in the field, ensure ethical practices, protect clients, and maintain appropriate educational standards in the field of ABA around the world.

"We are thrilled to be able to continue our commitment of training and career development locally and are grateful for the leadership and guidance of Sloane and her team who made this accomplishment possible," said Shannon Seymour, Director, The Wellness Centre Ltd.

Government found lacking on sustainable development

► Sue Winspear

The Office of the Auditor General has just released a report which shows how government is performing against United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), in areas such as renewable energy, waste management, environmental protection, affordable housing, and action on climate change.

The report, called 'Overview of the Cayman Islands' performance against the Sustainable Development Goals', focused on eight SDGs and 47 targets that focused on the environment. Two targets did not apply to the Cayman Islands, and no data was available for 16 targets, so the OAG assessed progress against 29 targets. 11 targets were to be met by 2020 and the OAG assessed that only two of these were met and nine were not met. A further 18 targets had deadlines in the future or no target date set. The OAG assessed that just two of the 18 had been met, two were on track, some progress had been made with five, and there had been limited or no progress with nine.

Sue Winspear, the Auditor General, said the report was their first report on the environment and the Sustainable Development Goals, and their assessment showed "a mixed picture."

"There are no data to measure and report on around one-third of the targets. I encourage the Government to start collecting the data needed to measure progress against all relevant SDG targets," she said.

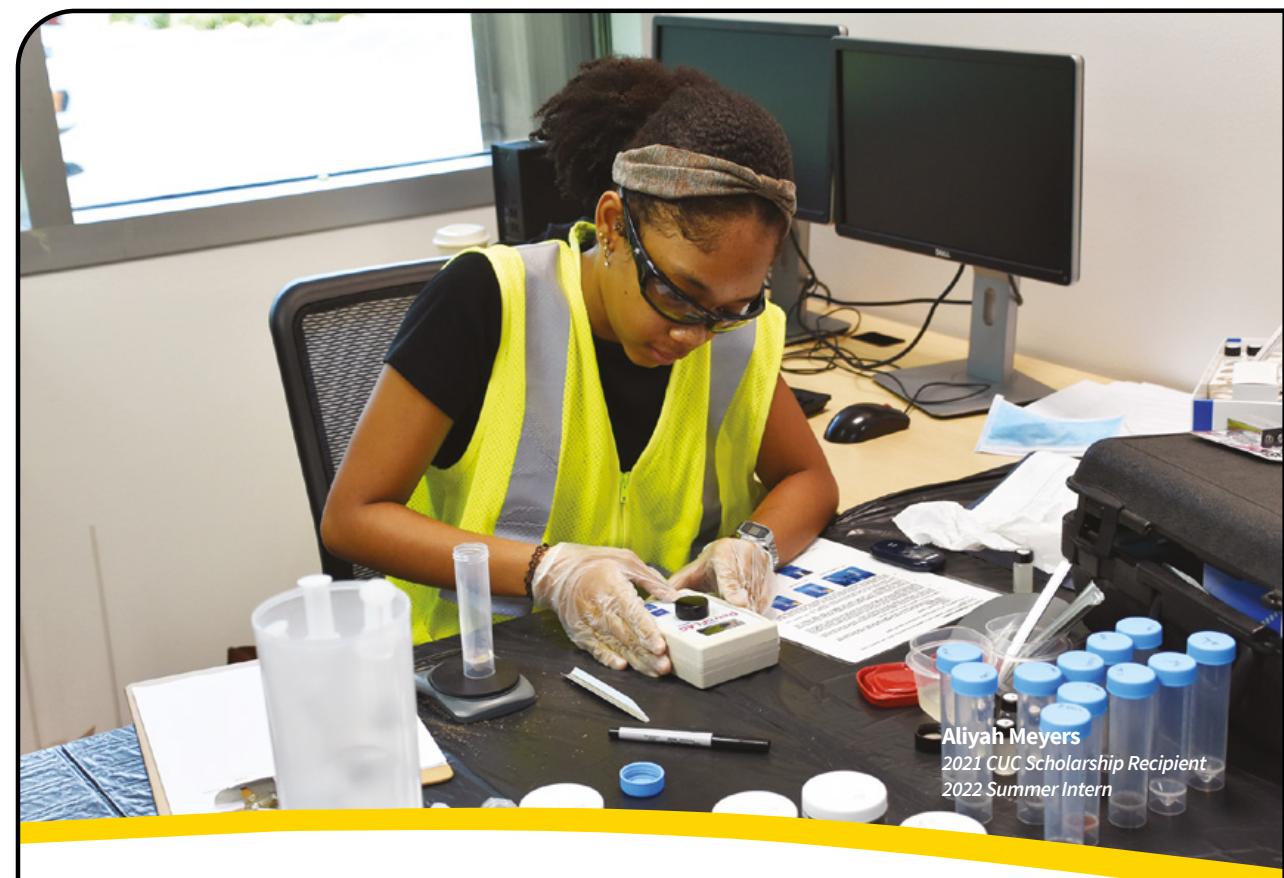

In relation to affordable and clean energy, the report states that electricity costs were high, and there had been limited progress in increasing renewable energy and improving energy efficiency, and, as of February 2023, only three per cent of Grand Cayman's energy was renewable, and there was no publicly available data for the Sister Islands.

With regard to the UN's SDG of the development of sustainable cities and communities, the report found Cayman lacking, with limited progress noted in providing affordable housing, a sustainable transport system and a national development plan.

Ms Winspear noted: "The National Housing Development Trust has a waiting list of about 400 applicants but only constructed 11 houses in Grand Cayman between 2020 and 2022," noting however that it planned to build 64 houses in North Side and West Bay.

"The Sister Islands Affordable Housing Corporation did not construct any houses between 2019 and 2022. Although I note that it plans to restart its affordable housing programme in 2023," she added.

Waste management and consumption was highlighted as a big problem in the Cayman Islands. The report stated that the waste generated per capita in the Cay-

MRCU warns of upcoming Mosquito Emergence in Grand Cayman

The Mosquito Research and Control Unit (MRCU) would like to advise the public in relation to a significant mosquito emergence expected from Sunday evening, 26 March 2023, onwards.

Dr Alan Wheeler, Director of the MRCU, explains: "High tides combined with unseasonal rainfall have resulted in widespread flooding across Grand Cayman, and MRCU surveillance has identified high numbers of mosquito larvae developing in these flooded areas."

While the MRCU conducted a wide-scale residual larvicide treatment before the rainfall, it still expects a mosquito problem due to the extent of the flooding. "We expect the mosquito numbers to remain high for most of next week while we work to control the problem," Dr Wheeler adds. "Residents are advised to avoid early evening outdoor activities while we work to bring the problem under control."

For more information, contact the MRCU on 949-2557.

SCOTIABANK SUPPORTS FAMILIES THROUGH CAYMAN'S ARK DONATION

Several families in the Cayman Islands will receive groceries and other household items following a recent cash donation by Scotiabank to the Feed Cayman Programme coordinated by the Cayman's ARK (Acts of Random Kindness) charity. On March 9, the Bank presented a donation of $5,000 to this amazing charity which caters to vulnerable families. Sarah Hobbs, Managing Director, Scotiabank Cayman & Trust Ltd. said the donation is in keeping with bank's commitment to the community and supporting Caymanians to thrive.

"Scotiabank is once again pleased partner with the Cayman's ARK Foundation to assist the vulnerable members of our society. We understand how critical it is for families to be able to satisfy their basic needs and through this donation, we hope to positively impact the lives of these families and enhance their ability to contribute positively to society," Hobbs said.

Tara Nielsen, Director, Cayman's ARK, expressed sincere gratitude to Scotiabank and lauded the company for its continued support of the community. The most recent contribution brings to a total of $30,000, the amount donated by the Bank since 2020, during the COVID-19 pandemic. "The 'Feed Cayman' program provides grocery gift cards to vulnerable families all year round, which affords them the gift of choice to determine what they receive. Rather than receiving bags of dry goods, the families can go to the store and buy fresh produce, meats and foods to enjoy," Nielsen said.

"We are so grateful to Scotiabank for continually supporting us over the years, and especially our Feed Cayman program that is vital to so many families across the island. With this donation we can buy $5,000 worth of grocery cards so we can distribute to those in our communities for families to provide and cook food for their children," she stated. According to Nielsen, Cayman's ARK supports over 2000 vulnerable families year-round through various partnerships with private and public entities.

UCCI WELCOMES THE CANADIAN HIGH COMMISSIONER TO THE CAYMAN ISLANDS

On 14 March 2023, the University College of the Cayman Islands welcomed a very important guest to the campus with a visit from Her Excellency Emina Tudakovic, the Canadian High Commissioner and Consul General for the Cayman Islands. Her Excellency Emina Tudakovic visited the nation's University to strengthen the academic links recently established between the Cayman Islands and Canada by President Robert W. Robertson.

This visit followed the virtual signing of a memorandum of understanding between UCCI and the University of Prince Edward Island (UEPI), in Canada on 30 January 2023, to affirm a new partnership which will provide global opportunities for the two University communities.

President and Chief Executive officer of UCCI, Dr. Robert W. Robertson alongside UCCI Board Chairman Mr. Gilbert McLean and various other members of the University's corporate management team, welcomed Her Excellency Emina Tudakovic along with Ms. Sophie Goulet, Counsellor and Senior Trade Commissioner of the High Commission of Canada in Jamaica and Yves Martel, Canadian Honorary Consul for the Cayman Islands.

The parties discussed the newly formed links between the University College of the Cayman Islands and Canadian educational institutions with the hope of growing the relationship further, to provide more opportunities for the Cayman Islands' community.

The aim of this very important partnership is to offer global opportunities for faculty, students, and staff at the University and to increase the quality of UCCI's teaching and learning, research, and innovation amongst many further benefits.

Dr. Robert W. Robertson, President, and CEO of UCCI, commented, "We were delighted to host Her Excellency Emina Tudakovic, along with her esteemed colleagues, in a visit to the Cayman Islands. It is very important for UCCI to forge links with other overseas educational communities so that we can share best practice, develop, grow and continue to improve.

He continued, "Alongside partnerships, the discussions included academic support programs and scholarships that are currently available from the Government of Canada for Caymanians, to allow our young people to go abroad to study. One such program is the Emerging Leaders in the Americas project which is currently open for applications to Caymanians looking to study in Canada, all on scholarship. We look forward to seeing more educational pathways open up between the two countries as our relationship develops."

Her Excellency Emina Tudakovic, the Canadian High Commissioner to Jamaica and the Bahamas and Consul General for the Cayman Islands, commented "We were thrilled to visit the Cayman Islands and have a tour of the nation's University. Technical, vocational and trades training and environmental sustainability are key drivers for UCCI now and this very closely aligns with a strong focus on these sectors in Canada. We want to strengthen our relationship with the Cayman Islands' community and I look forward to further articulation agreements in the very near future."

PROGRESSIVES' PERSPECTIVE ON THE PROPOSED NEW CARGO PORT

(Part 1) IS IT VALUE FOR MONEY?

Summary:

The Government's Cargo Port Development Strategic Outline Case (SOC) is flawed as it seeks an answer to the issue of cargo without addressing the question of the future of cruise tourism. The Government's strategic outline case indicates that without cruise revenues, the Port Authority will have to increase port fees on cargo, or find new revenue, to repay for financing a stand-alone cargo dock. The question of the future of cargo and cruise is inseparable and cannot be viewed in isolation.

Our Position

The PACT Government has published a strategic outline case setting out options for developing a stand-alone, modern, larger cargo port for the Cayman Islands. We are pleased that the Government recognised the need for a larger modern cargo port. However, we have questions about the affordability of a stand-alone cargo facility. We are concerned, too, that the project funding and other proposals in the SOC will come with huge costs that will drive up port fees and prices consumers pay at supermarket shelves.

The Progressives have long understood the need for an improved and larger cargo handling facility.

The last Progressives Government brought a solution that would have provided the country with a larger, modern cargo port at no direct financial cost to the country. We did this by linking a modern cargo port to a new cruise berthing port, with the cruise companies designing, building, financing, and maintaining the facility.

Repayment would have come from the 'head tax' charged on arriving cruise passengers. An arrangement that took several years to work through. However, a combination of environmental concerns, legal delays and the impact of the pandemic meant that the cargo/cruise port redevelopment, as envisaged, did not proceed.

Any stand-alone cargo port proposed by Government will come with environmental consequences but will also come with high costs that will be borne by the country and by consumers. Indeed, the Government's strategic outline case states: "Under normal circumstances, with cruise revenues, PACI (Port Authority) could have accomplished the improvements at the cargo dock over six years without any borrowing, but funding any form of expansion or development from current cargo revenues alone is just not possible unless fees were raised significantly."

And so the question of cargo and cruise cannot be viewed in isolation. The Government's Cargo Port Development Strategic Outline Case is therefore flawed. It seeks an answer to the issue of cargo without addressing the question of the future of cruise tourism because that is a question to which the PACT Government does not have a coherent answer. This was especially obvious when Minister Bryan promised the country in September 2022 that cruise growth would return to 2019 numbers. Then by October, he was forced to admit he was wrong and that cruise numbers would fall off by 60% compared to 2019.

Regardless of how he got it so wrong, the Minister should be spending more time persuading the cruise companies to bring smaller cruise ships to our shore over the next few years and seek to have them here twelve months of the year to even out the passenger flow and maintain our numbers. Having a walk-off/walk-on cruise pier may incentivise them to do so. Involving them directly with financing and building a cargo and cruise dock, with repayment coming from cruise passenger head tax, will avoid the financing costs to the country and the need to increase port fees, and thus the cost to the consumer, to pay for a stand-alone cargo facility. And it will improve and modernise our cruise tourism product.

The cruise companies participating in a Public Private Partnership (PPP) is a sensible solution to financing the project. It will also help guarantee the future of our cruise tourism product.

So what are the costs that will need funding? The Strategic Outline Case (SOC) contains 'rough cost estimates' made over a year ago. These are:

- The SOC estimates that with the cargo port remaining in George Town, the total cost is estimated at circa $65M to provide for larger cargo ships. In addition to improved facilities, the SOC says this expansion would provide berthing for vessels with a draft up to 25 feet. (Several cruise ships that stop in Grand Cayman have drafts from 25ft to 30ft.)

- The costs of relocating and building out a new port are so high that the SOC would not even venture to estimate it. Breakers was the preferred option and the one that provided the largest facility and the largest environmental impact.

- The SOC also states that with a "new (relocated) port, the environmental impact is much greater" when compared with building out the existing cargo location in George Town.

If the cargo redevelopment is to be carried out at the existing Seaport, could smaller cruise ships also be accommodated in the plans to reimagine the future of our cruise industry?

Could this be achieved by increasing the facility to accommodate vessels with a berth of 30 feet to accommodate the smaller cruise ships calling here today? If so, we should have already started to talk to the cruise companies about that in a serious way. Including their financing and building the port redevelopment to provide for larger cargo ships and smaller cruise ships.

Cruise lines have the expertise in building ports and would likely be incentivised to do so.

(In Part Two in the next edition, we look at the cruise aspect)

Government found lacking on sustainable development

man Islands was significantly higher than the global average, and there was limited recycling, with, on average, each person generating about 11 pounds, or five kilograms, of waste daily, more than five times the global average. In addition, less than three per cent of waste was recycled.

"The government is currently negotiating a public-private partnership for an integrated solid waste management system, known as ReGen. I hope the final contract delivers a project that will improve the islands' waste management and provide value for money," she said.

The report also highlighted the fact there was no climate change policy for the Cayman Islands and carbon dioxide emissions were high.

The Auditor General said she was pleased the government had recently completed a climate change risk assessment and was currently drafting a climate change policy, but said carbon dioxide emissions, at 15 metric tonnes per capita, were more than three times the global average and 68 per cent higher than the government's 2030 target.

"Carbon dioxide emissions contribute to global warming, which has key consequences for small islands like rising sea levels, more intense tropical storms and coastal flooding. I acknowledge that carbon dioxide emissions are high primarily due to the islands' reliance on diesel for electricity generation and private motor vehicles for transport, but action is needed to reduce these and their impact," she said.

The report stated that the government had an Environmental Protection Fund financed by departure fees levied on travellers leaving the Cayman Islands via the airport or cruise ship terminal. Ms. Winspear said it should only be used for acquiring and managing protected areas and measures to protect and conserve protected species and their critical habitats, but that funds for this purpose still were not ring-fenced.

On the positive side, the report highlighted some environment-related successes, including some measures taken to protect the environment. In addition, the Cayman Islands' Covid-19-related mortality rate compared very well with that of other countries globally.

The Auditor General said her office planned to do further performance audits focusing on specific environmental issues in the future and they would use the data in this report as a baseline for those performance audits.

A spokesperson for the Ministry of Sustainability & Climate Resiliency said it supported the aim of the newly released report and looked forward to conducting its own comprehensive review of the information gathered by the OAG over the next few weeks.

Brac robots continue to rule the pool at SeaPerch Challenge

► SeaPerch 2023 Overall winners were Mikayla Bryan and Chiquita Ritch from Layman E. Scott High School pictured with tournament sponsors from Cayman Islands Shipping Registry, Dart and Women's International Shipping and Trade Association

For the second year running, a team from Layman E. Scott High School are overall winners of the SeaPerch Challenge where 21 teams from six schools participated in an underwater robotics challenge at the Camana Bay pool on Saturday 18 March.

The 'Fast and Furious' all-girl team of Mikayla Bryan and Chiquita Ritch dominated the leaders board with a lightning-fast time on the underwater obstacle course. They showed equal skill and control navigating the mission course, simulating tasks that a remotely operated vehicle would do in real life.

A team from Cayman Brac also won the middle school division, with Nathaniel Tibbets and William Bodden of the Robo Unicorns taking first place. Using kits supplied by SeaPerch International, teams had to design, build and operate robots to complete the courses set up in each corner of the pool.

Michael Bryan, who teaches Design & Technology at Layman Scott and coaches the robotics team alongside science teacher Kevin Bryan, said, "As a school, we continue to embrace the opportunity to expose our students to STEM education through the SeaPerch competition. Our students are made aware of the value of commitment and discipline in order for them to fully grasp what the programme has to offer. The success of the school is as a result of hours of practice, support from coaches and school administration, and unwavering support from parents."

Teams from John Gray High School challenged the reigning champions by securing second place in both high school and middle school divisions. Rookie of the Year award went to a team from First Baptist School who were first time contenders at SeaPerch. St Ignatius scooped the team spirit award for their enthusiasm, determination, and sportsmanship, even in the face of mechanical issues.

This year's Ocean Exploration theme was developed in partnership with the Ocean Explorative Cooperative Institute and NOAA (National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration). The mission course was designed to mirror tasks performed by marine scientists mapping the ocean floor. As remote operating vehicles frequently encounter sea creatures and other obstacles, teams had to move plastic objects resembling octopus and starfish to complete the course.

The Engineering Design & Innovation Award is given to a team that has the best design solution for a specific component of the game. John Gray's Mako Sharks team of Zander Puthillath and Donovan Blackman-Richards won the award this year for their innovative use of a plastic container that could hold water and allowed them to adjust water levels to control buoyancy of their ROV.

"Robotics encourages students to apply scientific and mathematical skills learned in the classroom to real life problems," said Glenda McTaggart, Dart's senior manager of education programmes who runs SeaPerch Challenge as part of the Minds Inspired programme of STEM-focused events for young people in the Cayman Islands. "Learning how to design, build and operate a robot equips young people for the jobs of the future."

Now in its tenth year, SeaPerch is sponsored by Dart, the Cayman Islands Shipping Registry, a division of the Maritime Authority of the Cayman Islands, and the Women's International Shipping and Trade Association.

Schools competing in this year's competition were Layman E. Scott High School, John Gray High School, Clifton Hunter High School, St Ignatius Catholic School, Cayman International School and First Baptist Christian School.

The full results for the SeaPerch Challenge 2023 are as follows:

Still doing long slow cardio?

There are certain fitness myths that just won't die.

These ideas are passed from one unsuspecting person to the next, a little tidbit of misinformation that does more harm than good.

I've heard them all.

There's the myth about ab crunches melting off belly fat. (Sorry folks, spot reduction doesn't exist. You've got to burn the fat from your body as a whole.)

Then there's the one that says the faster you do an exercise the better, even at the expense of form. (Ouch. This philosophy has caused many an injury. Never sacrifice form for speed.)

I've even heard one that says recovery days are not necessary. (Rest days are actually of vital importance to your recovery and weight loss.)

But of all the fitness myths out there, the one that gets under my skin the most is the belief that fat loss comes as a result of long, slow cardio sessions.

I've seen many people waste their time and effort on this one.

The truth is that intense, shorter workouts that incorporate resistance training with challenging bouts of cardio will burn fat quicker than a long, steady cardio session.

Who doesn't love to save time?

If you are still plodding away on the treadmill 60 minutes at a time then you are spending more time to get half of results.

Allow me to introduce you to a little technique called HIIT.

High-Intensity Interval Training is an exercise strategy that improves performance with short training sessions. These sessions involve a warm up period, several short, maximum-intensity efforts that are separated by moderate recovery intervals, and a cool down period.

The addition of explosions of speed into your comfortable pace will increase your power, muscle tone, speed, strength, endurance and best of all it allows you to burn more calories.

There you have it—all you need to know to take your workouts to the next level.

Do you have questions about using HIIT to get better results? I would love to hear from you.

Gone but not forgotten

- Family reunion in Oct 2022 of the Cayman and American family
- Grandchildren and great-grandchild of Euphemia at her restored grave.

Euphemia (Femmie) Powery passed away in 1944 leaving her two daughters, Sadie Glidden nee Bush and Lois Jackson nee Webster, to mourn her passing. She was interned at the North West Point Grave yard in a vault with no inscriptions. With a bit of searching, a link was made on Facebook in 2020.

This connected one of her grandchildren who was born and raised in Tampa, FL and now lives in Washington state, USA with one of her great-grandchildren in Cayman who had never had the opportunity to meet.

This led to many more introductions on each side and in October 2022, 2 children and a grandchild of Lois made the trip down to Grand Cayman to connect with the grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Sadie, and to finally install a plaque on the grave of their common ancestor, Euphemia.

The family of the late Marva Alexandra Jackman regret to announce her passing on Thursday, March 16, 2023.

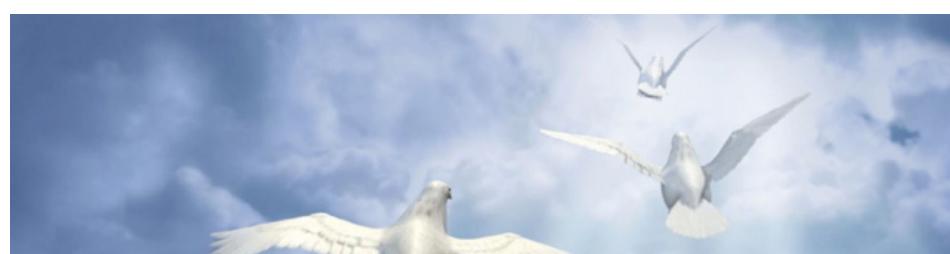

A memorial service will be held at the St. George's Anglican Church on Wednesday, April 5th 2023 at 3:00 p.m. and streamed online.
