Governor Owen: I will listen and respect

Newly appointed Cayman Islands Governor Jane Owen was sworn into office on Friday, shortly after arriving in this British overseas territory on a flight from the United States.

Her Excellency gave an inspiring speech to guests at a dinner held at the Pedro St James National Historic Site on Saturday night. She spoke of her first experience with the kindness shown to

The Cayman Islands has increased its proud record of women in significant roles in public office with the arrival of the new Governor, Jane Owen. She arrived in the Cayman Islands on Friday then was sworn in at the House of Parliament.

Owen was officially welcomed by members of the government at the Owen Roberts International Airport and the public swearing-in ceremony was held soon after. A welcome reception was also held at Pedro St. James on Saturday evening.

Lucille Seymour is one of the most celebrated Caymanian women in its rich history. A former teacher and education official, in the Cayman Islands Government, she was Permanent Secretary in the Ministry of Community Development, Sports, Women, Youth Affairs and Culture. She has spent decades helping to empower the youth, women and others through sports and community development. Seymour was active in developing the National Youth Policy and the Office of Women's Affairs and the Women's Resource Centre and received the British Empire Medal (BEM) from Her Majesty the Queen for her work in these areas. She is also a stalwart in Cayman's netball scene.

On the eve of Governor Owen's arrival, Seymour said: "The Cayman Islands is 'the country that time forgot' claimed the historians. Perhaps overlooked by others but not by the inhabitants. We have risen above that slogan to a county only 60 years ago that gave women the vote and the ability to become politicians. But yet, a small country has acclaimed itself as incomparable in many things. One such is the opportunity in the 21st century that, as of tomorrow, three branches of Government are led by females."

Seymour pointed out that besides Owen, Hon Speaker Katherine Ebanks-Wilks became, at 43, in November, the youngest Speaker of the House and Margaret Ramsay-Hale was last year sworn in as the first female Chief Justice of the Cayman Islands.

She added: "Added to this is the Deputy Premier, Julianna Connor. I never thought in my lifetime. But as they say, nothing happens before its time. I hope this will be an example to our young women and girls. That they see that they too can make more historical changes in the Cayman Islands. They have a responsibility as females to help other females, to find a chance not only to be great but be change-makers for the common good in their islands. The change must come from us."

MIN. BRYAN: REPRESENTATION NOW, LEADERSHIP LATER

By Cayman Conversations

Hon. Min. for Tourism and Ports, Kenneth Bryan, is currently 'riding the waves and flying high' among the top tourism officials in the Caribbean. And it could be argued that he has his eyes on a bigger prize…but in time to come.

The issue came up during an appearance by Mr Bryan in the current series of the programme Cayman Conversations hosted by Caymanian Times publisher Ralph Lewis.

Mr Bryan, who is the present chairman of the influential regional tourism umbrella body, the Caribbean Tourism Organisation(CTO), also sits at the helm of the newly re-branded Ministry of Tourism and Ports in the PACT coalition government.

That rebranding of his portfolio came in the maelstrom that surrounded the sudden and controversial departure of ex-Finance, Economic Affairs minister and Deputy Premier Chris Saunders. In some circles, Mr Bryan was seen as a strong favourite to take over the title of Deputy Premier, second in command in the PACT Cabinet but it went to Minister of Education Juliana O'Connor-Connolly in the post-Saunders Cabinet reshuffle.

"That is the choice of the Honourable Premier to do so. He's my leader and he ultimately has the right to select who he chooses or he's fit as his deputy. Now obviously the Honourable Juliana O'Connon-Connolly is an experienced legislator, a woman who has acted in the Deputy position, Premier for a short period of time, and Speaker of the House and a representative of the Sister Islands which is very important to me," said in his endorsement.

But probed on the issue, during an in-depth interview about tourism, Mr Bryan opted to sidestep the direct matter with diplomatic aplomb but elaborated on the associated topic of leadership and communication.

"Would I have accepted the position? Yes, I would have in the interest of the country. But I believe the good Lord knows what He's doing. There will be time for that growth. My only my own personal ambition was always to not consider leadership for at least 12 years within politics. So I wasn't aspiring to do it."

While clearly playing his part to keep PACT intact, the Tourism and Ports Minister admitted that he regrets the departure of his former Cabinet colleague Chris Saunders and said they remain in regular contact.

▶ Kenneth Bryan

"I'm a bit sad that I've lost my colleague. But I'm in a state of mind now where you have to refocus. This was not what you wanted to happen for any administration, but we still have a job to do for the people and you must not lose focus. I speak to Chris, almost every other day to check on his well-being because it's not an easy thing for any person to go through that. It's not easy for us as a government but it is ultimately the leader's choice - and respect to that. And I leave that for the Honourable Premier to comment on."

In the meantime, Mr Bryan said, his focus remains on getting his current job done with leadership matters deferred for the longer term.

"In respect of me being the Deputy Premier, I can still do all the things I need to do for the good people of the Cayman Islands, particularly the good of George Town Central. More importantly, in my job as the Minister, I still have all the inputs in. When the Lord is ready, when He thinks it's necessary to be there, I will get there. That's how I see it"

The George Town Central MP, who has represented the district for the past six years, is however philosophical on the broader issue of leadership and his personal political ambitions.

"I got into politics because I believe I have leadership capabilities. I think everybody has that but you don't do it just because you want to be in the position. You want to get a collaboration of persons who can work together. And I believe in a round table approach, it doesn't matter who's at the head of the table because we all have to have a say in it."

And 'having a say' matters, Mr Bryan firmly believes, especially when it comes to communication, a skill he has applied in politics and which he is utilising to its full advantage in tourism promotion, at the local, regional and global levels.

"I'm a good communicator, I think I'm good at that. So a leader needs to be a good communicator, to keep the people that you represent informed about what the vision is," he stated.

But on that point, he added this cautionary note:

"Sometimes you can have a great government but if the people don't know, and they misunderstand what's happening, you can lose the confidence of the people as well. So I think that it is one of the good skill sets for leadership. But you have to be able to convince the people that you're capable of that. And trust me, if you're a leader that is wanted, they will come for you."

her thus far, some of her priorities as Governor, and the ongoing relationship between the United Kingdom and the Cayman Islands.

Speaking about Cayman kindness, Governor Owen recounted: "I feel that over the last day and a half, I have really had a wonderful welcome to your beautiful islands, along with my daughter Phoebe. And I think we've really felt that sense of Cayman kindness."

She added that her "first priority is to listen. Second, I would of course continue to respect, as Governor Roper did, the framework of our constitution. Therefore, I will prioritise those areas which are in my direct responsibility as Governor; external affairs, defence, internal security and good governance."

In addition to her plan to work in partnership with the government, Her Excellency noted the value of the ongoing partnership between the UK and the Cayman Islands.

She said: "I do also believe that Cayman and the UK share a relationship that is unique as it is important. It's a partnership of trust and respect, a partnership that we need to continue to grow in what is an ever changing world. I strongly believe that it brings benefits to both sides. It brings the benefit of global reach, diversity of experience, shared values, and new ideas that we can exchange together."

According to Owen, 60, she is committed to supporting the Cayman Islands as well as representing Britain's interests during her tenure. "I am both humbled and excited to be appointed as governor. First, to listen and to learn; second, to further strengthen this great vision that we share to ensure Cayman remains vibrant, successful, safe and resilient; and finally, to devote myself to the service of all the people of the Cayman Islands."

Before Owen's short speech, House Speaker Kathy Ebanks-Wilks, Premier Wayne Panton and Deputy Governor Franz Manderson all gave welcoming remarks and pointed out some of the things that the new governor will become familiar with in the coming months, such as the calorific dangers of heavy cake and understanding the local accent.

They also all stressed the need for her to fully represent the Cayman Islands on the world stage and empathise with the issues impacting local people.

Making Waves Awards to again celebrate Caymanians overseas

Now in its second year, the Cayman Connection "Making Waves Awards" will recognise Caymanians studying, working and living abroad who have made outstanding contributions to, and excelled in their respective fields at a regional or global level. The awards programme aims to celebrate and champion Caymanians overseas across a range of disciplines. The nomination period is now open and will close on 31 May.

Ms. Ashlea Smith, Executive Director of Cayman Connection said, "We are thrilled to be launching the second year of the Making Waves Awards, which recognizes and celebrates individuals who are making significant strides in their communities around the world. Through these awards, we aim to shine a light on those who are driving positive change, sharing 'Caymankind' globally, and inspiring others to do the same. We look forward to seeing the impact of this year's winners and the continued ripple effect of their work."

The 2022 Making Waves Award winners received recognition from across the globe. From awards ceremonies to international news outlets, there were thousands of eyes on their outstanding achievements. The awards allow room for people across multiple industries to be acknowledged. Last year's winners included a NASA scientist, future environmentalist, and an attorney, all of whom have made waves at a global level.

The 2023 Cayman Connection Making Waves Awards programme will now include a ninth category, Inclusion, which aims to shine a light on those who proactively seek and action ways to make the community they live in more inclusive. The other eight categories will capture a range of fields and interests: Arts and Culture, STEM, Environment & Sustainability, Sports, Financial, Legal & Professional Services, Education, Health & Wellness and Tourism, Travel & Hospitality. To be eligible, nominees must be Caymanian and living overseas for no less than 12 months.

SCOTIABANK CAYMAN WINS ANOTHER "BEST BANK" AWARD

Scotiabank Cayman has been named the "Best Bank" in the Cayman Island's by Global Finance Magazine for the 3rd consecutive year.

According to Sarah Hobbs, VP and Country Head of Scotiabank & Trust Cayman, the award is a testament to the hard work of the entire Scotiabank Cayman team and their support of a disciplined corporate strategy which included the launch of a suite of sustainable funds as well as digital branches and enhanced digital sales offerings which made it easier for customers to access credit products remotely using a digital loan sales strategy and pre-approved offerings.

"We are delighted with this win and are encouraged that our efforts to nurture our customer relationships and work to provide support to customers, still reeling from the impact of the global pandemic, have been recognized. Ultimately, we remain committed to taking care of our employees, providing best-in-class financial services to our valued customers, giving back to the community and future-proofing our organization as we go forward," Hobbs said.

Hobbs further highlighted that the customer service improvements and added features to the Bank's online and mobile platforms over the past 18 months have driven a 6.8% rise in the number of customers actively utilizing our digital channels and increased their use of online transactions by over 16% year over year. These changes she said, "have been met with overwhelming praise and support from our customers who continue to show their trust in the Scotiabank brand."

"This award just serves to motivate us to work even harder to continue to deliver excellent results in the coming years," she further added.

Scotiabank Cayman's award is just one of several awards bestowed on the Bank's Caribbean operations, having won similar Best Bank accolades in the Bahamas and the Turks and Caicos Islands.

Global Finance editors, with input from industry analysts, corporate executives, and technology experts, select the winners for the Best Bank Awards using entries provided by banks and other providers, as well as independent researchers. Judging incorporates criteria - including knowledge of local conditions and customer needs, financial strength and safety, strategic relationships and governance, competitive pricing, capital investment and innovation in products and services.

CHANGES TO HOMESTEAD CRESCENT-SHAMROCK ROAD INTERSECTION

Road works have commenced at the Homestead Crescent/Shamrock Road intersection as of February 2023. The National Roads Authority (NRA) are working to realign the junction, to improve the sight distance for vehicles entering and exiting the intersection.

Planned works will result in minimal changes being made to the Dominoes parking lot area.

Parking spots along the roadside will be shifted to make way for the new road layout. Work is planned to be completed by the end of May.

The NRA asks that commuters take caution in this area as it becomes an active work zone.

Motorists are reminded to stay alert, abide by the speed limit and follow work zone signage if and when temporary diversions are made.

Police Seek Assistance in Locating Wanted Convicted Man, Ronald Ernesto Swaby

▶ Ronald Swaby

The RCIPS is seeking the public's assistance in locating 28-year-old Ronald Ernesto Swaby.

Swaby was found guilty following a Grand Court trial for Possession of an Imitation Firearm and is currently on bail awaiting sentencing. He failed to attend a scheduled court appearance this past Monday, 17 April and his bail has since been revoked.

The police are advising that he should not be approached by members of the public, but instead to call 9-1-1 upon sighting him.

Investigators are encouraging anyone with information about the whereabouts of this man to call the George Town Police Station at 949-4222 or dial 9-1-1, specifically if the circumstances are time sensitive.

Swaby, having been convicted of a serious criminal offence, is considered to be a fugitive evading the criminal justice process.

The RCIPS is warning anyone who chooses to aid, assist or harbor him that this is a criminal offence, which may lead to a lengthy period of imprisonment, and we will investigate anyone who does so.

Anonymous tips can be provided directly to the RCIPS via our Confidential Tip Line at 949-7777, or via our website<http://www.rcips.ky/submit-a-tip>.

Police Investigate Wounding Incident on Seven Mile Public Beach

Shortly after 12:00PM on Wednesday, 19 April, officers responded to a report that a man had been brought to hospital with serious stab wounds to his face, arms and back.

Officers responded and conducted inquiries, which revealed that the man had been stabbed during a dispute with another man at the Seven Mile Public Beach earlier the same day.

Officers are appealing for anyone who may have witnessed the incident or have any information to contact George Town CID at 949-4222.

Anonymous tips can be provided directly to the RCIPS via our Confidential Tip Line at 949-7777, or via our website<http://www.rcips.ky/submit-a-tip>.

Police Investigate Possible Gunshot Wound Incident

Just before 7:30PM, on Thursday 21 April, police responded to the Cayman Islands Hospital where it was reported that a patient was being aggressive and disruptive. When the officers arrived, a further report was made to the police, informing them that the man attended the hospital with a wound to the foot and after an examination it appears to be a gunshot wound.

The man was believed to have been in the Shedden Road area of George Town, near the Martin Drive junction prior to being transported to the Cayman Islands Hospital for treatment by private car. Detectives are encouraging anyone with information to call the George Town Police Station at 949-4222.

Additionally, anonymous tips can be provided directly to the RCIPS via our Confidential Tip Line at 949-7777, or via our website<http://www.rcips.ky/submit-a-tip>.

Police Warns the Public to be Vigilant with their Properties

The RCIPS continue to see a trend of burglaries and theft related incidents where construction tools and materials have been stolen, both from job sites and homes. So far this year, there have been 28 reports of this kind, with a concentrated number of incidents in George Town and Bodden Town. Other districts that have been affected have been West Bay, North Side and including Cayman Brac.

The circumstances of these incidents continue to be investigated by the police, and detectives are reminding the public to take photos of their belongings and make inconspicuous markings on them so that if recovered, they may be able to identify them. Additionally, if possible, property owners and construction workers with valuable tools are being encouraged to install cameras on their properties and sites both as a deterrent and to assist with an investigation if necessary.

"We are also concerned about the where these tools end up after being stolen," says Chief Superintendent Brad Ebanks, "The public is being reminded that it is an offence to handle stolen goods, this means, storing or keeping it, selling or buying it. Therefore, we are alerting the public not to become involved with any property that may be stolen."

Detectives are encouraging anyone with information pertaining to these stolen items, to called the George Town Police Station at 949-4222. Alternatively, anonymous tips may be submitted through our Confidential Tip Line at 949-7777 or submit a tip via our website<http://www.rcips.ky/submit-a-tip>.

Public Health to host mass vaccine drives for Vaccination Week in the Americas

The Public Health Department will be hosting vaccination drives to celebrate the Pan American Health Organization's (PAHO) 21st annual Vaccination Week in the Americas (VWA) 22nd – 29 April 2023. This year's theme is Get up-to-date #EachVaccine-Counts.

All children needing vaccinations, including those with missed or outstanding doses are urged to get vaccinated during the following Mass Vaccine Drives:

• Saturday 22nd April John Gray High School Auditorium, 9am – 2pm

• Saturday 6th May Mary Miller Hall, 9am - 2pm

Appointments can be made in advance by contacting 244-2648, however, walk-ins are also welcome. Parents will also be contacted to schedule appointments for those who have outstanding vaccines with Public Health. Adults needing Tetanus boosters or health care workers who need Hep B vaccines may also attend.

"Over the years, the Public Health Department has developed and maintained a robust vaccination schedule with a coverage rate of 95 percent for most vaccines", said Public Health Nurse & EPI Manager, Angela Graham. "Despite this achievement, there are still some children who do not complete their vaccine schedule, thus leaving themselves and other vulnerable groups at risk. We are encouraging parents to make and keep appointments with health care providers to ensure their child is up-to-date on all shots."

"Our Public Health team will continue to work with schools, parents and the public to get up to date those children and adults to be protected from vaccine-preventable diseases allowing them to live happier healthier lives", Nurse Graham added.

Emphasizing the importance of children being vaccinated, Medical Officer of Health, Dr. Samuel Williams-Rodriguez stated "The Cayman Islands continue to offer a rigorous vaccination programme which includes the procurement of vaccines approved by the Pan American Health Organization (PAHO). All vaccines used in the Cayman Islands are safe and are administered in accordance with guidelines from the World Health Organization (WHO) and PAHO. Vaccines are safe and save lives!" Dr Williams-Rodriguez added.

The current childhood immunization schedule recommends that, by the age of 15 months, infants should have received the following vaccines, which offer protection against 15 diseases:

• Three doses of hepatitis B; (at birth, six weeks and nine months)

• One dose of BCG (Bacillus Calmette-Guerin – tuberculosis vaccine); (at six weeks)

• Three doses of rotavirus; (six weeks, four months, and six months)

• Three doses of the combined DT&P (diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis (whooping cough), IPV (inactivated polio vaccine), and Hib (Haemophilus influenza type b) at two, four, and six months)

• Three doses of pneumococcal vaccine (Prevnar) at two, four, and six months

• One dose of varicella (chickenpox) and a booster of pneumococcal (at 12 months)

• One dose of MMR (measles, mumps and rubella); and a booster dose of combined DT&P and Hib (at 15 months)

• Combined booster dose of DT&P and Hib at 15 months and a second booster of DT&P at 4 years old.

• Children also need booster doses of combined DT&P and IPV and a second dose of Varicella (chicken pox) at school entry (four to five years).

• Annual influenza (flu) vaccine is recommended for children six months and older and all adults.

• Human papillomavirus (HPV) vaccine is offered to girls in Year 7 in public schools with parental consent. Girls older than 12 years old are also offered this vaccine with parental consent if they did not get the vaccine in Year 7.

In addition to childhood immunization, vaccines to prevent serious infectious diseases for adults are also available, including, boosters for tetanus and diphtheria, Zoster vaccines against shingles, as well as the annual influenza vaccine, COVID-19 Vaccine and Pneumococcal vaccines.

Turner focus is on STEPS survey

World Health Day was celebrated on 7 April which ties in nicely with Sabrina Turner, Minister of Health, Wellness and Home Affairs assessing the health industry in the Cayman Islands.

"Health for all has been an underlying driver in the work of the Ministry of Health and Wellness, and is a key factor fuelling our vision to revamp public health and embrace a data-driven approach to health care policies, services and education," Turner said in a statement. "Behind the scenes at the Ministry, our team has been working to roll out the upcoming STEPS 2023 national health survey.

"A long overdue exercise, STEPS will allow us to determine the national prevalence for non-communicable diseases (NCDs), as well as their risk factors, in Cayman. We know that heart disease, cancer, diabetes and respiratory illnesses are responsible for the majority of deaths within our islands every year, but to date we still do not know the true impact of these NCDs within our shores.

"The cost of not knowing is simply too high, and one which I know we are all unwilling to keep paying. We cannot proclaim lofty goals such as health for all without doing the work necessary to reach it."

The Ministry of Health and Wellness will conduct the STEPS 2023 National Health Survey from 3 June- 31 July, 2023. Some key results from STEPS 2012 were that 7 out of 10 adults in the Cayman Islands are overweight or obese, and as many as 40% had raised blood pressure.

Cayman has undergone some significant changes in the last decade, particularly the COVID-19 pandemic. Turner added: "As such, it has come to properly assess the health of the nation and properly determine the national prevalence for heart disease, diabetes, cancer and respiratory illnesses, all of which make up the top five leading causes death among Cayman residents."

STEPS comprises of three key components; a questionnaire, a set of in-home measurements, such as height, weight and blood pressure, and biochemical measurements from finger-prick blood measurement to determine blood sugar and cholesterol levels.

▶ Minister of Health, Wellness & Home Affairs - the Hon. Sabrina Turner

STEPS is a random survey, which means that 3,300 individuals between the ages of 18-69 will be chosen to participate. These individuals will be chosen from all three islands and the households from each district will be chosen based on a representative sample of the population for each location.

The results from the STEPS 2023 national health survey will allow not only the Cayman Islands Government, but health services providers, partners in health education, and NGOs to take a data driven approach to policy development, service provision, and prevention and education programming.

Why Does The Premier Continue To Enable & Promote MP McKeeva Bush?

▶ Opposition Leader. MP Roy McTaggart

The entire country must have been somewhat surprised that Premier Wayne Panton, on Friday, April 21st, appointed the MP for West Bay West, Mr McKeeva Bush, to the Public Accounts Committee, or PAC. The PAC is a high-profile standing committee of the Parliament whose role is to scrutinise the reports of the Auditor General regarding government expenditure.

The Members of the Opposition received notice on the evening of April 20th that the Premier wanted Mr Bush to replace MP Dwayne Seymour, now a cabinet minister, on the PAC. Ironically the notice was received almost to the day of the second anniversary of Premier Panton agreeing for Mr Bush to join his PACT Government and offering him the role of Speaker of the House.

Once again, despite his many admonishments of Mr Bush and the court charges faced by Mr Bush, Premier Panton continues to promote his former speaker into high-profile political positions. It begs the question of whether Premier Panton's claim that he cares about the treatment of women in our society is genuine. Instead, it would appear the Premier is more interested in appeasing some members of his government in a desperate attempt to cling to power.

Premier's 2023 Earth Day Message

Every year, more than 1 billion people, governments, institutions, and businesses around the world celebrate Earth Day.

Last year's theme – Invest In Our Planet – is being repeated in 2023. This is the first time in the event's history that the theme has been repeated.

To me, investing in our planet means engaging all sectors of our society to accelerate solutions for climate resiliency and sustainable development, and challenging the idea that economic prosperity must come at the expense of our planet.

Sustainability is the path to prosperity for humanity and businesses alike. We need to act boldly, innovate broadly, and implement equitably.

When my administration came into office, it was with a vision for a Cayman Islands that is held up as one of the most sustainable countries in the world, a trio of islands where all its citizens can thrive; a peaceful and prosperous place known for its resourcefulness, its diligence, its excellence, and its innovativeness.

Since coming into office, my administration has facilitated the purchase and protection of significant acreage across the Cayman Islands. Including parcels in the Salinas Reserve, Sand Cay, Western Mangroves Area and Central Mangrove Wetlands in Grand Cayman, Tarpon Lake and the East Interior of Little Cayman, and Hemmington Forest in Cayman Brac.

We established the National Tree Planting Programme to introduce more native and endemic plants into our built communities.

We have launched a new project to enhance awareness and understanding of the United Nations (UN) Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) within the Cayman Islands Government with the ultimate goal of identifying priority areas of strategic alignment and local targets under the Goals.

We undertook a Climate Change Risk Assessment for the Cayman Islands - the most comprehensive review of climate risks and opportunities to our islands undertaken to date – to inform our efforts to develop a national Climate Change Policy.

We waived the import duty on energy efficient devices and building materials.

We achieved four grants from RESEMBID – the Resilience, Sustainable Energy and Marine Biodiversity Programme – to improve energy efficiency in public sector buildings and Government-built affordable homes, to train unemployed and underemployed Caymanians in sustainable career paths and install a solar array at the University College of the Cayman Islands.

And we participated in the launch of the Commonwealth Climate Growth Fund to deliver climate mitigation and adaptation throughout the 54 member countries of the Commonwealth. This includes a specific allocation of up to $50 million for sustainable projects in the Cayman Islands.

Though we have accomplished a great deal since April 2021, we know there is still a great deal of work to be done.

Unsustainable development and climate change are risks, not just to our physical environment, but to our unique Caymanian culture, and to the lives and livelihoods of current and future generations. Achieving a balance between our environment, economy and society is essential to ensuring we can maximise the benefits of sustainable development to benefit our people both now and in the future.

That is what sustainability means to me. It's more than an abstract concept – it's a contract between our generation and the children of tomorrow.

The PACT government is committed to taking a sustainable approach to the social, environmental, and economic development of our Islands, ensuring a peaceful, prosperous future for the generations of Caymanians to come.

If we are all working together, across our communities and across our three wonderful islands, I am confident that we can make that future a reality.

Thank you and God bless our beloved isles – today and every day.

Cayman Islands to get storm surge model

With backing from the Caribbean Meteorological Organization, the Cayman Islands Government successfully advocated for priority consideration

The Cayman Islands has been given priority consideration for storm surge modelling under a United States Agency for International Development (USAID) programme to advance early warnings of storm surges and strengthen preparedness across the Caribbean.

Premier and Minister of Sustainability & Climate Resiliency Hon. Wayne Panton said the success of his request to move the country from the second to first tranche of the programme was thanks to the strength of partnerships developed with the Caribbean Meteorological Organization (CMO), World Meteorological Organization (WMO), the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) and the Regional Association IV Hurricane Committee.

"Over the years both the Cayman Islands National Weather Service and Hazard Management Cayman Islands have worked to establish strong, working relationships with key organisations such as the CMO, NOAA and the National Hurricane Centre," he said. "When we learned about this storm surge mapping programme, we immediately began working to secure the required model inputs so we would be ready to take full advantage of this opportunity – including high-resolution seabed mapping and digital elevation models of coastal land areas. On behalf of the Cayman Islands Government, I would like to thank the CMO for backing our request, and the Regional Association IV Hurricane Committee for recognising the urgency of our appeal and moving the Cayman Islands into the first tranche of this programme."

Under the U.S.-Caribbean Resilience Partnership, the USAID-funded programme will develop maps to assess and visualize storm surge risk, as well as strengthen capacity for early warnings in the countries across the Caribbean.

HMCI Director Danielle Coleman explained that storm surge is the deadliest hazard associated with tropical cyclones globally.

"Given our average height above sea level, storm surge is a particularly dangerous threat to the Cayman Islands. Having access to this state-of-the-art surge modelling will literally help us save lives in a disaster situation," she said. "With climate change, which is resulting in an increase in the intensity of hurricanes in the North Atlantic, the importance of having reliable, accurate surge modelling is of particular importance and urgency."

CINWS Director General John Tibbetts said the storm surge modelling will assist the CINWS and HMCI to predict, prepare and coordinate an appropriate response to the hazard of storm surge posed by a particular storm.

"The NHC has already completed storm surge modelling projects for Hispaniola, parts of Mexico and Belize, and is currently working on completing the modelling for the Bahamas. As part of capacity building activities, there have been several training opportunities and the latest storm surge modelling training workshop will be held in the Bahamas next month. The CINWS' own Mr. Allan Ebanks has been invited to participate in this workshop," he said.

Premier Panton confirmed that the storm surge modelling will also inform strategies proposed in the draft Climate Change Policy, which is expected to go to public consultation next month.

"Taking an evidence-based, multi-hazard approach to risk-mapping is essential to ensuring our communities are prepared to withstand the worst impacts of climate change," he said. "This is about saving lives, protecting livelihoods, and ensuring we are doing everything we can to safeguard the future of our islands for the generations to come."

Celebrity designers and beauty queens from Latin America in Batabano's 40th parade

Mayor of La Ceiba and Miss World Honduras to also attend

▶ Juan Pablo costume

▶ Juan Pablo

Spectators are in for an amazing show this year as the 40th annual Batabano Street Parade will not only feature unique costumes designed by local artist Reba Dilbert and others, but also stunning pieces by internationally acclaimed costume designers from Colombia, Mexico, Panama, Cuba, and Honduras.

The Batabano Street Parade is taking place on Saturday May 6th at 1pm along its traditional route from Public Beach to Seafarer's Way on the waterfront in George Town where there will be a Food Festival as well as a spectacular Street Dance that's open and free to the public.

The Mayor of La Ceiba in Honduras, Mr. Bader Dip, will also be flying to Grand Cayman for Batabano this year, as will Miss Honduras World, Yelsin Almendares, who will be wearing a costume designed by Eduardo Zablah, who is also the pageant's franchise holder in Honduras and will be accompanying her to Batabano.

Miss Hispanoamericana Honduras 2022, Francis Dariela Salgado, and Miss Intercontinental Honduras 2022, Sandra Hinds, will also be in the Batabano parade this year, wearing costumes designed by Mr. Zablah.

Hailing from Cuba but based in Miami, artist Juan Pablo Cabrera will be entering in the Batabano parade his stunning costume titled "The Angel winds" which is a design that will be worn in the parade by three visiting models - Rosanna Deumie, Katie Black, Nicole Camila Ponce Caldas, and Daniela Pino. From celebrity gala red carpets to international cat walks, Juan Pablo has been grazing the world with his colorful feather creations.

Richard Isaza and Carlos Cuelo llenan from Colombia will be bringing the art of two great designer friends who have graced the carnival of Barranquilla Colombia for 25 years. They will be entering a float in the Batabano parade inspired by the greatness of the river and the majesty of the Amazon jungle.

In addition to the costumes by these renowned Latin American designers, the 40th annual Batabano parade will also feature the group "Passita Africa" from the USA for the first time in the Cayman Islands.

Prior to the Batabano parade, the public is invited to a preview event of the international costumes, which will be held on Cardinal Avenue from 5pm-8pm on Friday May 5th. There will also be a meet-and-greet opportunity with the visiting designers, artists, the visiting beauty queens, and the Mayor of La Ceiba.

The Ministry of Tourism and Ports for the Cayman Islands, the Hon. Kenneth Bryan, said: "I am pleased to support Cayman Carnival Batabano, as I believe cultural events like this help to entice tourists to our shores. I am equally excited to welcome our international visitors who share our passion for Carnival. From a tourism perspective, hosting public figures from Latin America can offer exposure within that market, especially as we prepare to relaunch the Cayman Airways Panama City route in June."

Chairperson of the Batabano Board of Directors, Donna Myrie, stated: "Cayman can expect a different presentation of Batabano for the 40th anniversary. In addition to our amazing local costume designers and artists, we are excited about welcoming, and bringing together, people from different ethnic groups that are also part of Cayman's society, staying true to our slogan 'All Nations One Celebration'."

Other participants in this year's Batabano Street Parade include: Reba Dilbert Creations; Party Animals; Mas Azucar; the Indian Band; and Las Tortugas pirates.

Saxon has partnered with Cayman Carnival Junior Batabano to highlight aspects of our Caymanian culture and heritage within the carnival celebration. They will be sponsoring the four major awards, named for Cayman's National symbols, to be won by the participating schools. These awards are The Silver Thatch Award for Band of the Year; The Wild Banana Orchid Award for 2nd. place; The Green Sea Turtle Award for 3rd. place and The Grand Cayman Parrot Award for Spirit of Batabano.

There will be 2 judging points and the judges will award points for portrayal of costumes, visual impact, Stage choreography and banner impact. The biggest highlight of the day is the well-choreographed dances that will be performed on the stage by each school.

Everyone is invited to come out and see the colourful display of costumes on Saturday 22 April 2023 beginning at 2pm on the lawns of the Old Glass House, Elgin Avenue, George Town.

Total Soccer Cayman U-9s impressive against England's elite football academies

Total Soccer Cayman's Under-9 team this month completed a trip to England where it went toe-to-toe with some of the UK's top football academies.

The tour included several friendlies and participation in the U-9 Foundation Phase Tournament in Oakham, England, where Total Soccer finished fifth out of eight teams while facing Premier League, Championship, League One and Two academies.

"The U-9 team had a very successful and memorable tour and the experience and exposure gained will be valuable in their personal growth as soccer players as well as growth for the club," Total Soccer Cayman Head Coach Peter Reijn said. "The U-9s again demonstrated that with the appropriate vision, mindset, commitment and training approach, it is possible to perform consistently at an academy level."

Total Soccer opened its trip with a friendly match on 9 April where it took a 4-0 win over Aylestone Park, helping the team build momentum for the tournament.

The team played a total of 16 matches in the Foundation Phase tournament with four wins, three losses and nine draws in cold, windy and rainy conditions. Academy teams from Crystal Palace, Nottingham Forest, AFC Wimbledon, Colchester United, Shrewsbury Town, and Plymouth Argyle also participated, with Total Soccer topping Crystal Palace 1-0 in a group stage match.

After the tournament, Total Soccer played against a formidable West Ham United U-9 team, falling 7-6 in a fast-paced match where the players demonstrated great teamwork and displayed individual skills and talent, which was applauded by the West Ham United coaches given that team comes from a small island in the Caribbean.

After a stadium tour of Wembley, the team took on U-9 teams from Arsenal and Watford at Arsenal Academy's Hale End training ground. Playing in a shorter, fiveversus-five format, Total Soccer delivered very competitive matches and only lost by very slim margins. Again, their skills and competitiveness were applauded by the academy coaches.

The U-9 team's success comes on the heels of the Total Soccer Cayman U-11's impressive performance against Premier League academies in October 2022.

La Ceiba flights only online now

Cayman Airways is reminding passengers travelling to La Ceiba that, to help prevent delaying their flight, all travel documents required by the Honduran government for entry into the country must be completed and submitted online before arriving at the airport to check in. Cuba also requires similar immigration procedures.

The Honduran government recently made it mandatory for all passengers of all nationalities travelling to and from Honduras, to complete their customs declaration form online using this link:

https://sisglobal.aduanas.gob.hn/Pech/#/shortDJRV.

As a result, manual forms are no longer being provided at Cayman Airways check-in counters.

Only for Nicaraguan nationals travelling to Honduras, the immigration 'prechequeo' is still mandatory for entry into the country, and the 'authorization to travel' request must be submitted seven days prior to the travel date using the following links: https://inm.gob.hn or https://prechequeo.inm.gob.hn/login.

When checking in for their flight, passengers must present evidence of approved travel documents to enter the country, or they may be denied boarding.

Cayman Airways is also reminding passengers travelling to any destination that it is their sole responsibility to research and secure the travel documents required for entry in to the country they are travelling to. Per global industry standards, Cayman Airways reserves the right to deny boarding of passengers who are noncompliant with customs and immigration entry requirements at the time of check-in for their flight, at the passenger's expense.

Red sky at night - showcase of Cayman culture

By Christopher Tobutt

Red Sky at Night, put on every year by the Cayman National Cultural Foundation, simply brings every single aspect of Cayman's culture, from artists, musicians, poets, dancers, to cooks and people who know how to bake the very best conch fritters, heavy cakes and culinary Cayman treats and puts it all into a huge simmering culture-stew. First of all you walk through the broadwalk, where all kinds of artisans sell their wears, from locally made hot sauces, to painters with unique pictures and designs and drawings.

Kevin Rolle, the artist with Ramah art studio, brings beautiful photos, printed on canvas, to life by overpainting them. These two boys are brothers, and when i did it, it would remind me of my childhood, and i wanted to show the play and fun that island boys would have, he said, as he pointed to an amazingly vivid picture of two young boys, waiste deep in Cayman's sea.

Charlotte Designz are all made by Akinita Thomas, a young artist with a unique perspoective on the world. Pictures of all kinds of beautiful things, from flowers to turtles, are made into beautiful abstract designs bursting with colour, so that the whole world becomes a giant jigsaw-puzzle. Carley Jackson is an artist and craftsman whose art reflects his background of growing up in the islands of the Nicaraguan Coast. They are paintings that feel like a beautiful dream. Artist Donovan Sewell loves painting magificently realistic, big canvasess of Cayman's scenic beauty. His paintings are so vivid and realistic you think you can step right inside one and find yourself in another world.

The air was filled with the scent of gorgeous Caymanian cooking. At the Food Vault there was Cayman Style Lobster, Beef, Stew Conch, stew Turtle, pulled pork and Barbequed Chicken. In the next booth was Exquisite Edibles, a mixture of Cayman cakes like Cassava Cakes and Coconut Tarts, along with more international treats like cupcakes donuts and brownies.

Leron Leron Sinta - a dance group in traditional dress gave a wonderul, impromptu display. there were many different artists on the stage around the front of the Theatre. Reggae Artist Militant was there, just as the sun was going down, dreadlocks flying as he put out his own brand of contemporary roots reggae. They were followed by a full band, Fifth division who were full of first division musicians and a really top vocalist, playing a mixture of soulful funk and reaggae classics.

There were queens from several different beauty pageants. Vanessa Burke was a title holder in Our Little Miss which encourages girls and women of all ages to be the best they can be. "it goes from one to 99 years old. Anyone can do this," she said, as she modelled her crown beside a much younger girl, Mekia Whetherford.

SUDOKU

Sudoku is a number-placing puzzle based on a 9x9 grid with several given numbers. The object is to place the numbers 1 to 9 in the empty squares so that each row, each column and each 3x3 box contains the same number only once. The difficulty level of the Conceptis Sudoku increases from Monday to Sunday.
