Pharmacy Bill, 2023 Public Consultation Opens

The Ministry of Health & Wellness is encouraging the public to provide feedback on the Pharmacy Bill, 2023 as the public consultation period for the Bill will run from 29 September until 30 November.

The Pharmacy Bill, 2023 will repeal and replace the Pharmacy Act, 1979 and the Pharmacy (Poisons and Restricted Pharmaceuticals) Regulations (2017 Revision). The updated Bill will facilitate the monitoring and regulation of the pharmacy practice as the Bill will, among other things:

- Classifying medicines;
- Provide clear rules on the proper handling and supply of medicines;
- Establish a system for applications to the Pharmacy Council for licences for various activities;

- Regulate the manufacturing, wholesale, importation and dispensing of medicines.

"The Pharmacy Bill, 2023 will close gaps due to the existing Pharmacy Act being so outdated," Chief Medical Officer, Dr. Nick Gent, explains. "The new Bill is needed to respond to the current needs of the community by ensuring that medicines imported are of the highest quality, stemming the importation of medicines by those without the appropriate licence or authority, and even ensuring that basic standards are created and met- for example: that all medicines stocked, distributed and prescribed in Cayman must have leaflets written in English."

"The Pharmacy Bill, 2023 represents a significant milestone in our mission to ensure the delivery of the highest standard of pharmaceutical services to the people of the Cayman Islands," Mr. Khimanie Blackwood, Chair of the Pharmacy Council, adds. "I would like to thank both current and former members of the Pharmacy Council, staff of the Department of Health and Regulatory Services and all other stakeholders who contributed to the development of this integral piece of legislation."

"This Bill is long overdue," says Hon. Sabrina Turner, Minister for Health & Wellness. "I encourage the community to engage with my ministerial team as our aim is to bring it to Parliament as soon as possible."

Members of the public can familiarise themselves with the bill and to submit their feedback and questions to the Ministry of Health & Wellness by logging on to www.gov.ky/pharmacybill, emailing MOHfeedback@gov.ky or attending the public consultation meetings when announced.

Three CIFEC Interns Join HSM IP Full-Time

The HSM Group is thrilled to announce that they have recruited three of their interns from the Cayman Islands Further Education Centre (CIFEC) internship programme 2022-2023.

Kayleigh Bush, Phyllis Brown and Jenae Whittaker have all joined the firm as IP Administrative Assistants for the firm's intellectual property (IP) practice. They originally joined as CIFEC interns from October 2022 through April 2023 and further completed HSM's 2023 Summer Internship Programme.

Since HSM is a full-service law firm, each of the students gained a variety of experiences including debt collection, compliance and property law. In their roles as IP assistants, they are responsible for coordinating new trade mark / patent applications, updating client files and supporting the office actions team.

In addition to working full-time, they are interested in pursuing further education at the University College of the Cayman Islands. Jenae is studying Business Administration; Phyllis is studying Real Estate and Kayleigh plans to study Business Administration in the spring of 2024.

HSM Managing Partner, Huw Moses OBE shares: "We are pleased to have these former CIFEC students join our team. I thoroughly recommend the CIFEC internship programme to all employers on the island, especially those genuinely interested in ensuring our young Caymanians succeed when they start their chosen careers."

HSM has partnered with the CIFEC programme since 2012 and recently attended the CIFEC Careers Fair on 22 September 2023, where they interviewed students for the next internship programme. HSM plans to welcome at least 10 interns this month through April 2024.

DART CAREER FAIR TARGETS CAYMANIAN RECRUITS

Cayman Conversations

A massive turnout is anticipated for the DART hospitality job fair on Wednesday October 11th. The event at the Kimpton Seafire Resort and Spa will feature the full range of job and career opportunities at DART for Caymanians, permanent residents and holders of Residency and Employment Rights Certificates.

With an outlook for a booming 2023/2024 peak season, demand for staff is high, said Dianne Conolly, Hospitality Programme Manager at DART. At Hotel Indigo alone there are 365 vacancies to be filled in time for when it comes on stream in April 2024.

She was the guest on the Caymanian Times podcast, Cayman Conversations with Ralph Lewis.

"We encourage anyone who is interested in positions whether it is at the Kimpton Seafire Resort and Spa, the Ritz Carlton Grand Cayman, or Hotel Indigo opening next year in April 2024. If they're interested in a position there, there are quite a lot of openings, we have 365 openings at Hotel Indigo, so quite some opportunities."

We definitely encourage people to actually go online and register their interest so that they can be given a time to come in and have a one-on-one with the managers."

She further explained that prospective employees can speak with managers who'll be available to answer all their questions and outline the possibilities in the hospitality sector, especially working at DART.

"They can speak to them about opportunities. They can also learn more about training programmes that are available and can inquire about careers within the hospitality sector. So quite an opportunity here."

Among the main attractions alongside the career prospects are pay grades, career progression and job security in the industry, a point brought up by Cayman Conversations host Ralph Lewis and addressed by Dianne Conolly.

Pay rates can be up to $12 and even $30 an hour at peak times with gratuities added to basic wages as confirmed by some employees.

"Well, let me tell you some of them get paid really, really, really well. More than some of us out here. Especially when you come into high seasons you really have some good gratuities coming in. Yes, it does have the high season and low season and that balances it out. At high season you can expect to be working quite hard and long hours and one of the things that we also want to highlight is that when you're working in the world of hospitality, you have to be flexible," she said.

In addition to the job prospects, training opportunities are available on the DART Hospitality Training Programme, Ms Conolly said as she outlined the range of roles available from entry-level to professional.

"All our programmes and what we are putting together will help to entice more Caymanians into the hospitality field for sure. Between the opportunities and sharing with them what they can possibly do because a lot of people don't understand how diverse the opportunities are in hospitality. Accounting we need accountants, we need marketing, all of these positions can still fill up with hospitality for you. And so it's about teaching that to our key managers, especially the younger ones about where they can go and what opportunities are out there. And I think we've kind of seen that on some of our programmes and the training itself."

The DART Hospitality Programme Manager also stated that their focus is to encourage and attract more Caymanians into the sector.

"We're hoping that by next year we will see more Caymanians in the frontlines, that they will take up the training that's needed to be better equipped to be out there and being representatives for the Cayman Islands. And also inquire; talk to other people about what their career looks like so that you understand whether this is a good fit for you or not. So definitely a year from now we would like to see a lot more Caymanians and that's one of the biggest things of this drive."

An official statement from DART said that with hundreds of positions to be filled, the objective is to attract as many interested Caymanians as possible to be part of an authentic visitor experience.

The job fair is open to Caymanians, permanent residents and holders of Residency and Employment Rights Certificates.

The job fair follows DART'S bid to provide training to young Caymanians to be the destination's ideal tourism ambassadors through the DART Hospitality Training Programme, which features three months of paid on-the-job training and exposure across a variety of roles in one of the main pillars of the Cayman Islands economy.

“We are delighted to have a Caymanian as head of the RCIPS, and we wish you every success.”

On Sunday the RCIPS held a Change of Command Ceremony to celebrate the achievements of their outgoing Commissioner of Police and to welcome and congratulate their new Commissioner of Police. The event, which was hosted by PC Jodi-Ann Powery, Police Media Officer with the OCP, featured highlights of the achievements of Commissioner Byrne over the seven years in which he was Commissioner of Police. In particular, the focus was on his efforts to modernise the Service.

Former Commissioner Byrne admitted that the achievements he made in Cayman within the seven years that he was Commissioner far surpassed the many years he spent and worked elsewhere.

“The Cayman Islands is fortunate to have resources and capabilities that other parts of the world do not and so development has proven to be far less difficult," he confirmed.

Former Commissioner Byrne felt the Service would be in safe hands with the new appointment.

"Working with Commissioner Walton over the years has allowed me to see the talent and capabilities that he has, and it will be exciting to see what new ideas he will bring to the organisation as Commissioner of Police. I know that he will excel and that the OCP is in excellent hands," he said.

Following his remarks, former Commissioner Byrne conducted the passing of the baton ceremony, where the baton - an RCIPS historical artifact which dates to 1952, was used as a symbol of passing on the responsibilities of the role from one Commissioner to another. The uniformed members of the Senior Command Team joined the Commissioners on stage to show their support.

Commissioner Walton, who has served with the RCIPS since December 1986, spoke regarding his intentions as the new Chief Officer and Commissioner of Police.

He also spoke about the outgoing Commissioner: "Commissioner Byrne served his last day in office as the Commissioner of Police on Friday, and he could have taken a half day, as would have been his right, but he didn't, he stayed the entire day completing the hand over process that we have been undertaking for the last few weeks now. His willingness to do what he can to make this transition process as smooth as possible for me, speaks to the kind of man he is and the leader that we have had for the last seven years. The Cayman Islands will always welcome you with open arms."

Former Commissioner Byrne was then presented with a gift by Commissioner Walton on behalf of the OCP. The gift was an art piece that was specially created by artist Yonier Powery and entitled 'Innovator' for the OCP's Innovator, Commissioner Byrne. It was designed using all recycled materials, most of which were taken from decommissioned boats and cars from the OCP fleet. The piece sported a man on a vehicle with lenses looking into the future and a Commissioner, made in the likeness of Commissioner Byrne, along with his cap badge that he's worn over the past seven years.

Seven Dart Scholars completed their undergraduate and graduate studies this summer, achieving an impressive collection of degrees across a range of STEM (science, technology, engineering and mathematics) disciplines.

“It takes years of hard work and commitment to reach this level of academic excellence,” said Glenda McTaggart, senior manager education programmes at Dart. “Our goal is to help create Cayman’s next generation of business and community leaders and Joshua, Marcos, Jade, Christian, Anja, Stephane and Charlotte give me confidence that we are doing just that.”

With degrees in dentistry, biomedical engineering, economics, pathobiology, mathematics and statistics, biochemistry and mechanical and electrical engineering – these young Caymanian scholars have earned a doctorate, four master’s and two undergraduate degrees between them:

Dr Joshua Martin

King’s College London, UK
BDS. Bachelor Degree of Dentistry

Marcos Bertran

Imperial College London, UK
MEng. Biomedical Engineering

Charlotte Hodkin

University of Bath, UK
MEng (Hons) Integrated Mechanical and Electrical Engineering

Christian Dyer

► Anja van Genderen

University of Guelph, CAN

MSc Pathobiology

Anja van Genderen

Uppsala University, Sweden
MSc. Biochemistry

“We wish all our Dart Scholars every success for the next stage of their academic and professional journeys,” said McTaggart.

Dr Martin has started his dental foundations training with the NHS (National Health Services) in London, England, Anja hopes to start her PhD in biochemistry in Uppsala, Sweden later this year, Jade is working at KPMG here in Grand Cayman before moving to work in their Chicago office later this year and Stephanie is working with the stoney coral tissue loss disease team at the Department of Environment.

The remainder of the graduates are taking some well-deserved time off before embarking on the next stages of their academic and professional journeys.

About Dart Scholars:

Each year, Dart awards scholarships to noteworthy high school and university students - providing them with financial assistance, mentorship opportunities, educational enrichment and meaningful work experience. The foundation of Dart’s education programmes is the Dart family’s philosophy of promoting education and fostering academic excellence in the STEM subjects – science, technology, engineering and mathematics. Dart believes that STEM subjects are the fundamental building blocks for both academic and career success. For more information on Dart Scholar visit <https://www.dart.ky/about/dart-scholar/>

About Dart:

Dart is a global investment company founded by visionary investor and entrepreneur Ken Dart. Based in the Cayman Islands, Dart oversees a global portfolio with operating businesses in multiple industries, including real estate development, finance, retail, hospitality and entertainment. # Scuba Diving Hall of Fame welcomes four new inductees

► Kameron D'Hue received an Emerging Honoree Award

► Tom Ingram

► Hon. Minister of Tourism Kenneth Bryan

By Christopher Tobutt

The International Scuba Diving Hall of Fame welcomed four new inductees at the Westin Casuarina on Friday 29 September: Jill Heinerth, Tom Ingram, Avi Klapfer and Jim Gatacre. There were also two local honorees – Divers Gay Morse and Kameron D’Hue. Kameron received the Emerging Honoree award, but had also been the recipient of a Bob Soto Memorial Scuba Scholarship which helped him to pursue his dream of becoming a diving instructor. Bob Soto is famous for starting the dive tourism industry, not only becoming a pioneer here in Cayman, but across the world until his death in 2015, and Suzy Soto was there to present several more young people with scholarships. Leslie Leaney received an appreciation award.

Minister of Tourism Hon. Kenneth Bryan said: “Dedicated to those who have made the scuba diving industry possible and through this hall of fame we have paid homage to the visionaries who have propelled the sport to new heights. Today marks the 20th Hall of Fame induction ceremony through which the ISDHF has continually shined a light on excellence within the global industry by honouring you the innovators, the educators, Business Owners, humanitarians, and environmentalists who have contributed to making scuba diving safer, more enjoyable and more sustainable.”

Jill Heinerth is a pioneering underwater explorer and filmmaker, and has dived deeper into caves than any woman in history. She holds the woman’s world record for deep cave penetration (1998) and received the OZTEK Media Excellence Award for significant contributions to technical and exploration diving (2013). Her photographs have been published internationally, and she has lectured on her experiences at numerous international dive shows and conferences. Jill has made TV series for BBC, National Geographic and PBS, and consulted on movies for various directors including James Cameron. Among her numerous awards are the 2000, Canadian Technical Diver of the Year, National Association of Cave Divers Conservation Award, 2010, Scuba Diving Magazine’s Sea Hero of the Year Award, 2012 and the Academy of Underwater Arts & Sciences NOGI Award for Sports & Education 2017.

Tom Ingram has more than 40 years of experience in the recreational diving industry, including dive leadership, retail and retail management, education, marketing, and has served as the President of DEMA since 2002. His leadership of DEMA has elevated his profile globally and he has become the “face” of the USA’s diving industry, developing strategic alliances with international diving groups around the world. With his natural teaching abilities he has held key instructional posts with numerous organizations and educational institutions. Tom’s service to recreational diving was recognized by the members of the Academy of Underwater Arts & Sciences with the 2017 NOGI Award for Distinguished Service. Ingram started in the recreational diving industry working as a divemaster with a store in Florida, and as a scuba technician with Florida Institute of Technology (FIT) in Jensen Beach. After becoming an instructor in 1976, Ingram went on to teach at FIT and several different local dive centers.

Avi Klapfer is an Israeli underwater photographer based in Costa Rica who has explored and protected the remote Cocos Island since 1990. He introduced the first liveaboard to the area and through his diving operation and photography he has brought the magic of Cocos Island to the world. His company has provided film support for countless films and expeditions from National Geographic to the BBC, including Howard Hall’s epic Imax film, Island of the Sharks. He helped bring about the popularization of nitrox on recreational liveaboards, and provided detailed dive reports for each and every dive completed on Undersea Hunter’s three vessels over the past 30 years.

Jim Gatacre is the founder of the Handicapped Scuba Association (HSA), an organization that has allowed thousands of handicapped people around the globe to enjoy the wonders of the underwater world. Jim’s vision, commitment and dedication made what was thought for handicapped people to be impossible, possible.

Successful First Collection of Wheeled Bin Pilot Project

The Department of Environmental Health (DEH) is celebrating the success of the first collection of the newly implemented Wheeled Bin Pilot Project, a milestone that could not have been achieved without the cooperation of participating residents.

"We are very proud of the team involved in the planning and executing of this project and are even more thankful for the support and cooperation from residents living within the selected route. The first collection of the wheeled bin pilot project not only represents the beginning of a new collection system but it's also an improved way of storing our garbage. September 27, 2023, is definitely a historic day for the DEH", explained DEH Director, Mr. Richard Simms.

Announced in early August, the Wheeled Bin Pilot Project has captured the interest of more than 62% of eligible Prospect residents who have registered and received one or more 96-gallon wheeled bins, based on the number of occupants per household. This Pilot is expected to impact over 400 households along the Prospect area covering a range of housing types, geographic locations, and a diversity of communities to allow the pilot to identify any issues or concerns that may arise.

Previous to the day of the first collection, 75% of registered residents received 1 bin, 20% received 2 bins and only 5% received 3 or more bins. Since then, many more registrations have been submitted and another lot of wheeled bins have been scheduled for delivery.

Among the engagement strategies implemented to promote the participation of eligible residents were 4 days of Door-to-Door walkabout, a community meeting, participation in 6 different talk shows, and the creation of a microsite dedicated to the project, among others.

For a period of 6 months starting from September, the proposed new waste collection system is aimed to test the implementation of world-class standard mechanized collections from residential locations within the selected route.

The selected route includes the following streets: Prospect Point Rd., Mahogany Way, Mangrove Ave., Siberia Ave., Tarpon Cir., Poindexter Rd., Swansong Cres., Mallard Dr., Birdhouse Cl., Evco Tours Ln., Palm Islands Cir., Oxford Ct., Whirway Cl., Ripon Ct., Dogwood St., Loch Lomond Way, Roxborough St., Windswept Dr., Reverie Rd., Amity St., Patricks Ave., North of Prospect Dr., Bay Island Ave., Bonnie View Ave., Westwood Dr., one stop on Almond Ave. Grape Ave. and another on Orange Dr.

For additional information, please contact the DEH at 949-6696, email deh-

Saunders Submits Consumer Protection and Guarantees Bill 2023

On Monday, 2nd October, Chris Saunders, MP for Bodden Town West, submitted the Consumer Protection and Guarantees Bill 2023 to be gazetted and available to the public for consultation as required by the Constitution.

The Bill reaffirms MP Saunders' commitment to safeguarding the interests of Caymanians.

The Consumer Protection and Guarantees Bill 2023 marks a significant step forward in ensuring that Consumers in the Cayman Islands are afforded comprehensive protection in their interactions with businesses and service providers. The Bill addresses a wide range of issues, including but not limited to:

Enhanced Product Safety: The Bill strengthens regulations to ensure that products on the market are safe for consumers, reducing the risk of harm caused by defective or dangerous products.

Improved Transparency: Consumers will benefit from increased transparency in advertising, pricing, and contract terms, enabling them to make more informed decisions when purchasing goods or services.

Redress Mechanisms: The Bill establishes efficient and accessible mechanisms for consumers to seek redress in cases of product defects, fraud, or unfair business practices.

Strengthened Enforcement: A newly created commission will be empowered to take action against businesses that engage in deceptive or unfair practices, ensuring that the law is upheld, and consumers are protected.

Chris Saunders said:

"This process started in November 2015 by the Law Reform Commission and a Bill was actually drafted from 2016 and remained in consultation for the last 7 years. Since being elected, I have received numerous complaints where consumers took their hard-earned money to buy expensive goods that turned out to be lemons. So, I dusted off the old Bill, so to speak, updated it, and tightened certain provisions, such as those relating to high-ticket household items, which fail shortly after purchase.

I believe this action was necessary after I received a complaint just over 2 months ago from a constituent that purchased a brand-new car that came with a lot of issues only to get excuses after excuses. She's stuck with a car loan for a car that doesn't work and in good conscience can't sell it to an unsuspecting member of the public. Even more recently, I had another constituent purchased a dryer that just didn't work. At the point, I said enough is enough and decided that the only way to move this Bill forward was to do it myself as Consumers in this country needs protection."

Saunders continued:

"I never realized how difficult, expensive, and time consuming this process was and it explains why this was only done one time before in the 1980s by the Hon. Truman Bodden. I have a new appreciation for the Law Reform Commission and the Legal Drafting team and for several lawyers here and in the UK that helped with this Consumer Protection Bill. Without their assistance, it couldn't have been possible.

I am sure many Caymanians will welcome this long-overdue Bill to regulate and foster a fair and competitive marketplace where consumers can make choices with confidence, knowing that their rights are protected.

I encourage everyone to read the Bill when it is gazetted and encourage the public to reach out to their elected representatives and ask them to support this long overdue Bill."

The Haitian Intervention: Prospects and Possibilities - Part One

By Livingston Smith, PhD
 Professor, Department of the Social Sciences
 University College of the Cayman Islands

This column has been focusing on the dire situation in Haiti, a member of the CARICOM and a country which has made incalculable contribution to the early freedom movement in the Caribbean. With Port-au-Prince essentially under the control of vicious gangs because of a multiplicity of factors, the most recent being the political vacuum left by the ravages of the 2010 earthquake and the brutal assassination of former President Jovenel Moïse on July 7, 2021.

The World Bank's assessment is that the earthquake killed an estimated 230,000 people, injured 300,000, displaced more than 1.5 million with the damages and losses estimated at US$11.3 billion and requiring reconstruction of some US$11.3 billion dollars. This was a massive blow to poor country. As pointed out by the World Bank's 2019 article, 'Rebuilding Haitian Infrastructure' a key point, though difficult to imagine, is that Haiti lost one-third of its civil servants and partial or total collapse of main administrative buildings such as the National Palace, the National Penitentiary, the Parliament, and all but one of its ministries. This was a devastation of Biblical proportions.

The assassination of the President only cemented the political crisis. Parliamentary elections due since October 19, 2019, have not been held and the terms of senators who were democratically elected have long expired. The political class lacks legitimacy and the judiciary is non-functional.

► Dr Livingston Smith

Given these circumstances, anyone could have predicted the current humanitarian crisis in this country making it ripe for yet another intervention to hopefully end the atrocities being committed against ordinary Haitians, especially women and girls.

The brutal fact is, however, that Haiti has had many outside interventions before. None of them seemed to have worked. The US first occupied Haiti from 1914 to 1934 and there has been several others since the early 1990's. There was the 1993 UN peacekeeping mission planned in tandem with the arrival of US Troops in 1994. In 2004, there was the attempt by the US to restore President Jean-Bertrand Aristide to power and not too long after, a rebellion that removed him again.

The United Nations Stabilization Mission operated between 2004 to 2017. Its mandate was to increase security and protection during the period of elections and help generally with restoring and maintaining the rule of law, public order, and safety. It clearly failed. Academics who are familiar with Haitian interventions have argued that they have not really worked. Prominent Haitian scholar Robert Fatton, Professor of Government and Foreign Affairs in the Department of Politics, University of Virginia, for example, reminds us that during the time of the UN Mission there were allegations of sexual assault by the troops and staffers among other challenges. Another intervention in Haiti does not have the support of many Haitians. Many predict that the gangs will not sit back quietly but will engage in hostile fire fights. Others point to the need to stop the flow of guns into Haiti from their well-known sources. Yet other anti-intervention argument is that all that will happen is that an illegitimate government will be propped up.

Nonetheless, it is difficult not to agree with the UN resolution that has just been passed clearing the way for yet another intervention. With the situation spiraling out of control even with self-defense groups trying their best to impose protection from the gangs, there is no anticipation that anything will change for the better except for some organized outside intervention.

The October 2 UN Security vote has authorized the deployment of a multinational security support mission, mainly composed of police but also military personnel to be led by Kenya which is reported to be sending one thousand of its police officers with participation from several Caribbean countries such as Antigua and Barbuda, Brazil, The Bahamas, Barbados, Jamaica, and Suriname. Other CARICOM countries are likely to support in other ways, if not 'boots on the ground.' Can a Kenyan-led intervention force make the difference? How likely is this to succeed? We will examine this in the next article on the subject.

Cayman Captive Forum 2023 to focus on key policy and regulatory updates, developments in innovative technologies, and important market factors for captives

The Insurance Managers Association of Cayman (IMAC) is announcing the full agenda for the Cayman Captive Forum 2023 and registration remains open to take advantage of the world-class expertise and unparalleled networking opportunities at the world's largest captive insurance event.

"We are very excited to once again bring the global industry together with top government officials and leading professionals at the largest gathering of captive owners and service providers in the world," said Alanna Trundle, Chair of the Cayman Captive Forum Committee. "Cayman Captive Forum 2023 will offer valuable insights into the evolving legislative and regulatory landscape, the latest technologies changing the industry, and other factors shaping the captive marketplace."

The full agenda for the three-day Cayman Captive Forum can be found here. Highlights from the agenda include:

- Remarks by the Hon. André Ebanks, Cayman Islands Minister for Financial Services

- Opening keynote by Ben Nemtin, the #1 New York Times best-selling author of What Do You Want To Do Before You Die? and the #2 Motivational Speaker in the World discussing his message of radical possibility.

- Technology keynote by Theresa Payton, a future-of-technology thought leader and one of the most prominent cybersecurity authorities discussing how to be both future-ready and secure.
- Remarks by Kara Ebanks, Head of

the Insurance Supervision Division, CIMA

- Innovation in Action, a presentation on identifying what exciting new technology is already helping to move the needle in the industry for carriers, brokers, and clients.
- Complex Cyber: Renewal to Claims, a discussion of effective cyber risk management and insurance solutions for healthcare organizations.

- AI and your Captive, a discussion of what technologies can intelligently mine data and reduce administrative burdens, who will use them, and how your captive may benefit.

- Advanced Discussion on ESG in Healthcare: Quantifiable Results, a presentation on ESG solutions healthcare organizations have pursued and achieved.

- Preparing for Healthcare Renewal in the Current Climate, a discussion of the process to leverage a captive to achieve the best commercial insurance renewal - and position for a long-term captive strategy

"Cayman Captive Forum 2023 is a must-attend opportunity to share knowledge and best practices as well as develop professional relationships in one of the most beautiful locations in the world," continued Trundle.

The Cayman Captive Forum 2023 will be held at the Grand Cayman Ritz-Carlton, November 28-30. More information can be found here and anyone interested in registering for the event can visit the Cayman Captive Forum registration page.

The Cayman Islands Coast Guard has regrettably announced the suspension of its exhaustive search for two missing individuals. Despite traversing over 1000 miles and employing all available resources over a span of four days, the desired outcomes were not achieved.

The operation witnessed the combined efforts of the CI Coast Guard, RCIPS Air Operations Unit, The CI Fire Service, and the Cayman Islands Customs and Border Control. The team harnessed local weather service data and advanced SAR model-initial 10 reported missing persons on Saturday, 30th September 2023. The Cayman Islands Coast Guard is profoundly grateful to the broader community for their invaluable contribution and unwavering support during this operation.

Our thoughts and prayers remain steadfast with the missing individuals' families, friends, and loved ones. Families are encouraged to contact CBC for further information regarding their loved ones at +1 (345) 949-4579 or E-mail: Joey.Scott@gov.ky.

RCIPS Corrects Erroneous Reporting of Murder Arrests & Encourages Community to Follow Factual News Sources

On Monday 2 October, local media outlet, CMR posted misinformation on social media claiming that two men involved in the murder that occurred on Friday, 29 September had been arrested.

RCIPS contacted CMR and advised that they remove the post immediately and provide a correction to their audience. CMR removed the post, but did not provide any explanation or correction. Publishing a correction is not only standard practice by media entities, but also the responsible thing to do to ensure the audience is set right.

As such, the RCIPS is informing the public that no arrests have yet been made in regards to the murder. A press release <<https://www.rcips.ky/rcips-investigate-murder-in-george-town-29-september>> that explains the current state of the case can be found on the RCIPS website, and is also published on the RCIPS Facebook page.

RCIPS understand the importance of the media in providing information to the public, and has protocols in place for the media to fact check any information they receive with the RCIPS Media and Communications Unit.

The publishing of misinformation of this nature is not only damaging to the community but will undoubtedly have a severe impact on the family of the victim and is unhelpful with investigation efforts.

RCIPS encourages the community to exercise caution and choose wisely when selecting their news sources.

Easy Fat Loss Trick

Here's one small change to your daily routine that will help those unwanted pounds come off quickly and easily.

***Disclaimer: This sounds so easy but try it out before writing it off as too easy.***

The easy fat loss trick that you're not doing is to drink a minimum of 64 ounces of water daily.

This might sound boring, but take a moment to reflect on your water intake over the past few days. Did you even get close to the minimum of 64 ounces? Really, for optimal fat loss, you want to be drinking closer to a gallon of water each day.

Why is water such a big deal?

#1) Water Aids Fat Metabolism in the Liver

When it comes down to the technical process of losing fat, your liver is where the action is. The key to having a highly functional liver, one that quickly removes metabolic waste and built up toxins, is to be properly hydrated by drinking a minimum of 64 ounces of water each day.

Your liver is a filter for your body. When you aren't drinking enough water, your liver accumulates a build up of waste product that slows the process of fat metabolism down.

#2) Water Helps Balance Hormones

Without getting too technical about the science of fat loss, it's important that you understand that your hormones play an important role in your body's ability to lose fat. When your body enters a state of dehydration, your organ and digestive functions are compromised, which in turn negatively impacts hormonal balance.

This stress, brought on by dehydration, impacts your adrenal glands, signaling the need for an increase in cortisol, which encourages your body to begin storing fat, rather than burning it.

#3) Water Reduces Calorie Intake

Now that you understand the science behind water and weight loss, let's examine the positive effect that proper hydration has on your daily caloric intake.

By drinking a minimum of 64 ounces of water daily, your desire for high calorie, sugary drinks like soda and high fructose juices will diminish. This decrease in fattening calories really adds up!

In addition to weight loss, drinking water has an infinite number of benefits - including improved skin complexion, boosted immune system, cleansing toxins out of the body, etc.

While it's important to drink plenty of water in general, be sure you're increasing your amount before and after your workouts. The more you sweat, the more water you lose, and it's important to replace that lost water to avoid dehydration.

Does this make sense? Remember: Drink a minimum of 64 ounces of water each day.

I'm here to help you on your fitness journey. Call Ernest at Body Shapers Personal Training Fitness Studio 325-8696 or email me today bodyshaperscayman@gmail.com to get started!

DEPARTMENT OF CHILDREN AND FAMILY SERVICES ANNOUNCES 2023 OLDER PERSON MONTH AMBASSADORS

The Department of Children and Family Services is thrilled to announce the individuals who will serve as the Ambassadors for the 2023 Older Person Month, celebrated throughout the month of October. This year's theme, "Aging Your Way," focuses on empowering older adults to lead fulfilling lives on their own terms. The Ambassadors for this important celebration are Annie Alsa Multon and Elsa Annie Rose Scott, both of whom have demonstrated unwavering commitment to the welfare of older persons in the Cayman Islands.

Annie Alsa Multon:

Annie Alsa Multon, hailing from North West Point, West Bay, is a prominent advocate for older persons. She played a pivotal role in developing the Cayman Islands Older Persons Policy, focusing on independence. Currently, she's actively involved in amending the Cayman Islands Older Persons Act, driven by her unique perspective as an older person. With a distinguished career, Mrs. Multon has chaired the Labour Relations Board, contributed to tourism and education development committees, and received prestigious awards for her service. She's also a founding member of the Business and Professional Women (BPW) Club and has been recognized internationally for her contributions.

Elsa Annie Rose Scott:

Elsa Annie Rose Scott, originally from Spot Bay, Cayman Brac, is a dedicated supporter of older persons. With seven adult children, she resides in Cayman Brac and has achieved a Certificate in Social Services from the University of the West Indies. During her 27-year tenure at the Department of Children & Family Services, Mrs. Scott initiated programs like the Senior Citizens Social Club, Adopt a Grand Parent Program, Sew-n-So Ladies Club, and Bridging The Gap - A Widows Support Group, all aimed at enhancing the well-being of older citizens. Mrs. Scott is known for her community involvement and is a Board Member of the Council of Older Persons. She is recognised for her contributions to seafaring heritage and her role as a Justice of the Peace. Her dedication to community service and her empathy for the elderly make her a prime example of "Service above Self."

► Elsa Annie Rose Scott

► Ms. Annie Multon

Minister for Investment, Innovation and Social Development, Hon. André Ebanks, warmly acknowledges the significant role played by Annie Alsa Multon and Elsa Annie Rose Scott. He underscores their invaluable contributions to the celebration and the embodiment of this year's theme, "Aging Your Way."

Director of Department of Children and Family Services, Paulinda Mendoza-Williams explained the importance of the Ambassadors; "In recognizing Annie Alsa Multon and Elsa Annie Rose Scott as our Ambassadors for Older Person Month, we pay homage to individuals whose unwavering commitment to our older citizens is truly commendable. Their dedication, leadership, and boundless compassion resonate deeply with the essence of 'Aging Your Way,' which emphasises empowering older individuals to lead lives on their terms, filled with fulfilment and dignity.

Chief officer for the Ministry of Investment, Innovation and Social Development, Tamara Ebanks commended the Department of Children and Family Services for their tireless efforts in organising Older Persons Month. "The DCFS team, ensure that our older citizens receive the recognition and support they deserve which is a testament every employees commitment to the well-being of our community. Together, we celebrate the wisdom and experiences of our older generation, and together, we work towards a society where every older person can age with grace and dignity."

For more information and to participate in the upcoming Older Person Month events, please contact the Department of Children and Family Services at 949-0290 in Grand Cayman or 948-2331 in Cayman Brac.

About Older Person Month:

Older Person Month is an annual celebration organized by the Department of Children and Family Services, dedicated to honouring and empowering older adults in the Cayman Islands. Each year, the event highlights the contributions, experiences, and unique perspectives of older persons while promoting their well-being and inclusion in society.
