Mr Smith is a highly respected leader with a proven track record of success. He is known for his strategic thinking, operational excellence, and ability to build and motivate high-performing teams.

lead CBC to even greater success in the years to come."

Mr Smith will be assuming the role of Director of CBC on August 1, 2024 and will work alongside the current Director Charles Clifford, until Mr. Clifford retires on the 31st July 2024. The planned handover period is an important part of the leadership transition and will ensure that Mr. Smith is strategically prepared to assume the Directorship of CBC and effectively continue its transition to an intelligence-led risk management organization. The handover period will also give Mr. Smith time, with CBC's Senior Management Team, to review their 2022-2026 Five-Year Strategic Plan and make adjustments, where necessary, to counter new and emerging threats at our border. He will also use the transition period to build relationships with key stakeholders.

"We are committed to a smooth and successful handover of the leadership of CBC," said CBC Director Charles Clifford. "I am confident that Mr. Smith is the right person to lead CBC into the future and I look forward to working with him and our entire amazing CBC team to ensure a seamless transition."

Mr. Smith is a graduate of Triple C School and has completed various leadership and management training courses over the span of his extensive law enforcement career. He has received numerous service, supervisory and leadership awards including, Civil Servant of Year.

"I am honored to be appointed Director (Designate) of CBC," said Mr Bruce Smith. "I am passionate about public service, and I look forward to working with the talented team at CBC to pro-

A reimagined Camana Bay experience comes to life at Shoppers' Night Out

► Shoppers enjoyed the festive atmosphere in the Camana Bay Town Centre with their new branded bags.

There was a vibrant and festive feeling in the air on Thursday, 12 October, as customers came out for the 11th annual Camana Bay Shoppers' Night Out affair, where they benefitted from deals of as much as up to 75 percent off fashion, sunglasses, cookware, home items and more available at stores across the Town Centre, while being immersed into a reimagined Camana Bay brand experience.

The evening brought the community together for the event that serves as a catalyst to a variety of activity in Camana Bay for leading into the holiday season with many of the popular boutiques and eateries having offered special discounts, as they whetted the appetites of shoppers and showcased their new collections. Patrons also had the opportunity to interact with the new brand through a pop-up event, view newly branded items and videos as well as give their first impressions of the new brand in real time and win a slew of giveaways. Shoppers also had the opportunity to enter a raffle for every CI$100 spent with prizes such as sunset sails, gift cards and gift baskets filled with shop's most popular items just to name a few.

With the popularity of Shoppers' Night Out over the years, it has grown into a tradition of its own, and Dart Vice President of Marketing Ben Leftwich said it was the perfect opportunity to unveil the latest evolution of the brand for Dart's flagship development in the Cayman Islands, which first opened almost 16 years ago.

A beloved destination among residents and visitors alike, Camana Bay, a 685-acre master-planned development, Leftwich said it touches so many aspects of the lives of over 100,000 visitors who pass through the Town Centre on an annual basis and or just over 3,500 people who call Camana Bay home.

"We went back to the original design principles of Camana Bay for inspiration," said Dart Vice President Marketing Ben Leftwich. "We wanted to ground the evolved brand in what made Camana Bay special in the region when it first opened more than 15 years ago, while looking to the future and ensuring we established a system that could see us through continued growth."

Core to Camana Bay, the blossom remains at the heart of the brand but with a refreshed look, making it more expressive and modern, with a polished look and feel. To coincide with the refreshed logo, Camana Bay will now have a distinct monogram that will anchor a new season at the Town Centre to enliven and really capture the surroundings of the lush greenery of Camana Bay's gardens.

"The thoughtful development of Camana Bay over the years is mirrored by the refreshed brand, as we continue to grow with an eye to the future embracing the principles of new urbanism that has made this such a desired destination," said Dart Executive Vice President for Asset Management Justin Howe. "As we evolve, we ensure Camana Bay remains beloved by those working, living and visiting the Town Centre."

Complete with ample parking and an easily walkable layout that is home to several high-end boutiques, stores, restaurants and bars, the Town Centre serves as an ideal backdrop for many beloved community events, especially heading into the festive season, including fireworks displays, Moonlight and Movies on the Crescent, and the annual Christmas tree lighting in the weeks ahead, just to name a few.

Collas Crill raises funds and awareness for breast cancer charity

Collas Crill in Cayman has had a busy Breast Cancer Awareness month so far.

From Pilates, walks and runs, to Monte Carlo nights the firm has helped to raise money for, and awareness of, breast cancer charities.

On 28 September the firm's dispute resolution team brought Monte Carlo to Cayman to host a pink themed evening in aid of the Cayman Breast Cancer Foundation.

An array of amazing raffle prizes were on offer from The Tasting Room, Ryde, The Ritz-Carlton Spa and The Anchorage Condos Cayman Islands. The event raised more than USD$5,000 in donations for the Breast Cancer Foundation.

On 7 October Collas Crill was a powerhouse sponsor of the 17th annual Pilates for Pink fundraiser, which benefits the Cayman Islands Cancer Society to help them provide financial assistance to cancer patients and their families.

On Sunday 8 October, 20 members of the Collas Crill team participated in the Brenda Tibbetts Lund Walk/Run. Funds raised from this event are used to purchase mammograms for women as part of the Lions Club of Tropical Gardens Breast Cancer Awareness Campaign.

'For many years Collas Crill has supported breast cancer awareness campaigns and charities through many activities and sponsorships,' said Stephen Leontsinis, Cayman Managing Partner and Head of the dispute resolution team at Collas Crill.

'It's become part of our DNA as a firm and to be able to hand over USD$5,000 from our Monte Carlo evening has been fantastic.'

Partner and Head of the Cayman property team at Collas Crill, Gina Berry said: 'I am a longstanding member of the Lions Club of Tropical Gardens, and a current member of its Board of Directors. They started the breast cancer focus in Cayman as their signature project and I'm proud that the Collas Crill team has gone on to wholeheartedly embrace it as one of their charities of choice.'

Cricket Square benefits from Jubilee initiative

► Jeremy Superfine, Chief Operations Officer for Orchid Development, Collas Crill Cayman Managing Partner Stephen Leontsinis and Hannah Reid Ford from the Ministry of Sustainability and Climate Resiliency

Collas Crill, in collaboration with Orchid Development, has planted a native Spanish elm in Cricket Square as part of the Cayman Islands Government's 'plant a tree for the Jubilee' initiative.

Group Managing Partner Jason Romer and Cayman Managing Partner Stephen Leontsinis were joined by Jeremy Superfine, Chief Operations Officer for Orchid Development, and Hannah Reid Ford from the Ministry of Sustainability and Climate Resiliency at a special tree planting ceremony in Cricket Square on 6 October.

The initiative encourages individuals, schools, constituencies and corporations to plant native and endemic plants with cultural significance as a lasting legacy of the Platinum Jubilee.

An ambitious goal has been set to plant 70 trees per constituency with an additional goal of planting 70 mahogany trees across all three islands.

The initiative will support local biodiversity, enhance community wellbeing, and combat climate change.

The Collas Crill tree will be commemorated on a digital map that works as a record of all the Jubilee tree planting projects across the Cayman Islands.

Stephen Leontsinis said: 'This tree signifies Collas Crill's ongoing commitment to sustainability as part of investment in our environment and Orchid Development's environmental conservation and beautification efforts in the local community.'

PUBLIC FEEDBACK URGED ON NEW PHARMACY LAW

► Nick Gent

► Janet Flynn

► Rudy Myles

Cayman Conversation

A period of extensive public consultation is being carried out in advance of major changes to the law under which pharmacies and pharmacists operate in the Cayman Islands.

Until the end of November this year, public input will be sought via community meetings and other forms of engagement utilising the media and the internet.

The committee responsible for obtaining feedback and educating the public about the need for the changes before the law goes to Parliament, has been outlining the extent and need for the changes on the Caymanian Times podcast Cayman Conversations with publisher Ralph Lewis.

According to a government guide to the consultations, the Pharmacy Bill, 2023 will close gaps due to the existing Pharmacy Act being very outdated.

It explains that the proposed Bill seeks to ensure and facilitate the proper regulation of the pharmacy practice. "It provides for the comprehensive control, quality and safety of various types of medicines. When the Bill becomes an Act, it will uphold the highest standard of pharmaceutical services for the Cayman Islands community," it says.

CURRENT LAW OUTDATED

The current law is over 40 years old and is regarded as severely outdated in many respects.

Providing more detail on the process on Cayman Conversations were Janett Flynn Senior Policy Advisor in the Ministry of Health, Chief Medical Officer Dr Nick Gent, and Rudy Myles, Deputy chair of the Pharmacy Council.

"The current pharmacy act that we operate on the books is over 40 years old and so we recognise the need to have the new pharmacy legislation," Janett Flynn noted.

"First and foremost, this is to protect the public. I can't overemphasise that," she stated and went on to outline a number of changes proposed to ensure that the sector is properly regulated in the jurisdiction. These include licensing procedures for pharmacists and pharmacies and regulations covering importing approved drugs for personal use. Having approved medical staff other than pharmacists prescribing medications is also being considered.

A key element is clamping down on the availability of counterfeit medications.

"We wanted to make sure that we improve the integrity of the supply chain and make sure that the counterfeit medications some of those that were seen in the news recently that have been imported that we would try to stem that. We are also looking to work a lot closer with the Customs and Border Control(CBC) to ensure that these spurious activities will be deterred."

HAVE YOUR SAY

Encouraging the public to participate in the consultation, CMO Dr Nick Gent said the more people are involved will ensure the better the quality of the consultation and the resulting legislation. The goal, he said, is to ensure that the law is robust.

"Safeguarding the public is the main legislation, but I would hope that we would probably get a good 20 years out of this bill. But to do that, this is where the public and the professional consultation come in," Dr Gent said.

"We are just one group of people who've looked at the old legislation, looked at what's needed by current best practice and try to enshrine it into the bill as it is, but that's one set of eyes. Now the public, pharmacists and other medical practitioners coming along looking at it, the better the consultation. The more people involved, the better the feedback, the more likely we're going to have a robust piece of law that we need for now."

A related issue raised by host Ralph Lewis during this edition of Cayman Conversations was the interaction between patients/customers and pharmacists.

Deputy chair of the Pharmacy Council, Rudy Myles said it's vital that that relationship is developed and encouraged the public to seek information about their medication if they are uncertain.

"I think the pharmacists are very willing to give that advice to clarify things that may be of concern to the customer. Because if that customer is happy and contented about what they're taking, if they have more knowledge, (they would) feel better about taking it rather than taking it at home and putting it on the shelf and saying, I don't really think I need it. The pharmacists can give them some advice in consultation with whatever the doctor has outlined, to say this is why the doctors prescribe this for you."

ENORMOUSLY IMPORTANT

Regarding the new legislation now out for public consultation, CMO Gent described it as "enormously important" and vital to a modern healthcare system.

He said the pharmaceutical sector is "the glue that holds a lot of clinical services together."

The government guide on the consultation states: "The legislation is needed in order to respond to the current needs of the community by ensuring that medicines imported are of the highest quality, and to stem the importation of medicines by people without the appropriate authority/licence, thereby enabling the advancement of pharmacy practice locally."

Netballers impress in Antigua

The Cayman Islands national netball team participated in a ranking tournament in Antigua and returned heartened by winning four games against some of the strongest teams in the Caribbean.

The delegation was led by president Lucille Seymour, head coach Lyneth Monteith, manager Ida Ebanks and assistant manager Adena Miller. The 12 players made the long journey to the Eastern Caribbean, from September 28 to October 8.

The squad had a mixture of experience and youth, including three under-21 players who are studying at university. Cayman improved tremendously, played well, and never looked overmatched. They played a total of eight games.

The Cayman women were entirely focused on winning in Antigua in tough conditions, sometimes hot or after heavy rain. Their determination produced four wins. They almost beat Dominica, losing by one point. Cayman's first game was a heavy defeat of Montserrat, 82-11. Their other wins were against hosts Antigua and Barbuda (47-43), St Kitts & Nevis (53-45) and St Lucia (44-32). Cayman lost to Dominica (55-54), St Vincent and the Grenadines (60-42), Grenada (57-41) and powerhouses Barbados (63-24).

When the decision was taken to enter the tournament, the squad had no major sponsor. The Ministry of Sport does give a grant for the advancement of netball. Seymour said: "Still, we felt we were not asking them as our under-21 qualifiers are coming up next year in Guadalupe, which will be directed to the sports ministry for assistance.

"So, we agreed to beg big guns who had an association with the team or the sport; we felt this was our time to win and make our Islands proud, and we did. Letters were sent to sponsors who it was thought would readily support the venture.

"Cayman would not have been able to participate if we had not employed this strategy.

The responsibility of raising funds was distributed amongst the squad and the management of CINA."

Seymour is extremely grateful for the support they received. She added: "There is no way that Team Cayman would have experienced this success and the country so excited if others didn't support the team. That is why we were determined to win for those who promised and kept their promise.

"What was inspiring on the court was seeing the ladies relate to each other; they could forecast the win, and they played their little hearts out. On the courts, three captains took the role of leading the players with dedication and poise. Thank you, Captain Katherine and Vice Captains Aryana Grant and Rose Marie Wilson."

Cayman Prep's Under 13 girls secure the double ► Cayman Prep overcame CIS (blue) in the final to lift the Dart Under 13 Girls Knockout Cup.

The young ladies from Cayman Prep secured the double this past Friday in the Dart Under 13 Girls' high school football competition.

The league title was won on October

2nd following Prep's 3-0 win over rivals and eventual runners-up Cayman International School (CIS) in what would turn out to be the title decider. The victory capped an undefeated run to the title for Cayman

Prep with comprehensive wins over Clifton Hunter High School (CHHS), John Gray High School (JGHS) and St. Ignatius Catholic High School scoring 22 goals and conceding only two.

With only five high schools participating in the Dart Under 13 Girls' league this year, organisers decided to include a knockout cup competition for the girls, which once again pitted Cayman Prep against rivals Cayman International School in the final. The final, which was played on Friday, October 13th, was an entertaining encounter with Cayman Prep enjoying much of the possession. A penalty on the stroke of half-time and a second in the dying minutes of the second half was more than enough to seal the 2-0 victory for Cayman Prep and the Dart Under 13 Girls' Knockout Cup.

Dart representative and Cayman Youth Football Leagues (CYFL) director Chloe Tatham-Ebanks was on hand following the final at the CIFA Field to present the Dart Under 13 Girls' Knockout Cup trophy to the ecstatic and well-deserving young ladies from Cayman Prep as well as the runners-up trophy to CIS.

In the Dart Under 13 Boy's League, CHHS A are on the brink of securing a second successive Dart Under 13 boys' title with one game remaining. Something amazing needs to happen during the last set of games on Wednesday, October 18 to halt any trophy title celebrations the boys from CHHS may be planning. With wins over JGHS, Cayman Prep 1, Cayman Prep 2, CHHS B and St. Ignatius Catholic High School and a final meeting with Triple C, the coveted Dart Under 13 Boys' Cup may be staying in Frank Sound.

Following the conclusion of the Dart Under 13 boys' league, the Appleby Under 18 girls and boys high school football leagues will kick-off on Wednesday, November 1st and end in December.

All scores and standings can be viewed on the Cayman Youth Football Leagues (CYFL) website at www.caymanyouthfootball.ky.

Small Schools enjoy big win ► Action from the 2023 CUC PFL.

The schedule for week 4 in the 2023 CUC Primary Football League (PFL) and the Girls' Primary Football League (GPFL) included a number of tantalizing match-ups for a several participating schools.

In the CUC PFL Under 11 division in Group B, Small Schools (formerly known as South Sound Schools) scored a memorable 4-1 victory over Cayman Brac in the 10:00 a.m. encounter at the Annex Field. Early goals in the 2nd minute and 4th minute rattled the young Sister Island representatives. An own goal in the 22nd minute plus a fourth in the 34th minute sealed the victory for Small Schools. The Brac's Anthony Murillo pulled one back for his side in the 45th minute but it was too late for a comeback.

CUC Primary Football League

The Small Schools victory was made even more special due to the fact that they played the entire 52 minutes with only seven players and no substitutes. Cayman Brac's coaching staff are to be congratulated for their decision to field only seven players to begin the game to match the number of players Small Schools fielded. Fabulous sportsmanship.

Cayman Brac's late arrival due to flight delays from Cayman Brac surely contributed to their sub-par performance on the day but their enthusiasm never wavers.

In other scores from Group B, in Under 9 play, Cayman Prep 9A defeated Footsteps School 4-0 (respect rule) and Cayman Prep 11A beat NorthEast Schools 4-0 (respect rule) in the Under 11 division.

In Group A in Under 9 play, St. Ignatius Catholic downed Joanna Clarke Primary 4-1 and George Town Primary got past Cay-man Prep 9B 2-0. In the Under 11 division, St. Ignatius Catholic defeated Joanna Clarke Primary 4-0 (respect rule), Cayman Prep 11B outgunned George Town Primary 4-0 and Cayman Prep 11C beat Island Primary 4-0 (respect rule).

In the GPFL division, Cayman Prep continued their winning ways with a 4-0 (respect rule) defeat of newcomers Island Primary thanks to strikes from Chloe Pervis in the 3rd minute, a 4th minute and 11th minute double from Olivia Blair and a solitary strike from Caleigh Corbin in the 6th minute. In other scores, Cayman International School downed Joanna Clarke Primary 4-1 and St. Ignatius Catholic edged Sir John A. Cumber Primary 1-0.

There are no games scheduled for this Saturday, October 21st nor Saturday, October 28th due to the mid-term break. Games resume on Saturday, November 4th.

The CYFL thank Progressive Distributors and Gatorade for their ongoing support of the CUC PFL and GPFL.

49ers and Eagles high five

The San Francisco 49ers and the Philadelphia Eagles are the early season in-form teams, the only ones in the NFL to remain unbeaten.

The 49ers enjoyed an emphatic 42-10 victory over old enemies Dallas Cowboys to join the Eagles as the only 5-0 sides.

The Niners enjoyed their biggest win of their storied rivalry with Dallas, while the Eagles powered to a tough win at the Los Angeles Rams.

Miami's high-flying attack broke another record and the New England Patriots suffered another embarrassing loss.

The 49ers and Dallas are both five-time Super Bowl winners. They have had an epic rivalry down the years in play-off games, but this one was one-way traffic from the start.

Quarterback Brock Purdy moved to 10-0 as a starter with four touchdown passes in another clinical showing and Christian McCaffrey scored for the 14th game running.

Purdy's story is amazing. At the start of the season he was one of the least regarded starting QBs yet in just a few phenomenal weeks is an early pick for MVP. In 17 months, he's gone from being the last pick in the NFL draft to a frontrunner for MVP. You may think that's a stretch, because it's just impossible that a player bypassed for seven rounds by 31 NFL teams could have a passer rating 27 points higher than Patrick Mahomes.

The Eagles have not been as impressive as the 49ers but they have reached 5-0 for the second year running, after another solid defensive effort and a powerful run game in their 23-14 win at the Los Angeles Rams.

The Eagles dictated the game thanks to their all-powerful offensive line, which was unstoppable again when they performed what has become known as the 'brotherly shove' or 'tush push' - when the entire team helped push Jalen Hurts into the end zone from close range.

Philly look determined to get back to the Super Bowl after last season's loss to the Kansas City Chiefs - who are taking control of the AFC again after edging the Minnesota Vikings 27-20 to improve to 4-1.

The win gave Mahomes the full set as he has now beaten all 31 other teams in the NFL, and is the first quarterback to do it under the age of 30.

With just a one-point defeat against them and plenty of room for improvement, the defending Super Bowl champions look capable of repeating - with the only worry being an ankle injury Travis Kelce picked up just before scoring what turned out to be the winning touchdown.

Also at 4-1 and so far the main challengers to the Chiefs are the Miami Dolphins, who continue to set records offensively - this time recording more total yards in their first five games than the famous 2000 St Louis Rams team that was nicknamed 'the greatest show on turf' for their attacking prowess.

Miami's 31-16 win over the New York Giants saw remarkable rookie De'Von Achane become just the second player to score seven touchdowns in his first four games - while Tyreek Hill had another monstrous game with 181 receiving yards and a touchdown.

► Brock Purdy is defying predictions

► Jalen Hurts is powering the Eagles offence

Jones looks set for easy heavy defence

► Jon Jones is the dominant heavyweight

Jon 'Bones' Jones is back in action next month and the UFC heavyweight champ looks certain to retain in title in what seems like an impossibly comfortable assignment.

Stipe Miocic has been an underdog several times in his career, but something feels different about his upcoming title fight against Jones at UFC 295.

Perhaps it's the fact that the ex-UFC heavyweight champion hasn't fought in more than two years, and that his last fight ended in devastating fashion against Francis Ngannou.

Miocic also recently turned 41, so is way past his prime. Jones sits as a 4-to-1 favourite to beat Miocic, but don't expect the Cleveland native to start sweating bullets because people are betting on him to lose at New York's Madison Square Garden on 12 November.

"It took me a couple fights, but after a while, I just stopped caring what everyone thought," Miocic said. "I just don't care anymore. You think I'm going to lose? Good for you. You're going to waste a lot of money now. You're going to bet against me, you're going to lose some money. Sorry for that, but onto the next."

Jones, 36, has never had a legitimate defeat in his 28-bout career — his one loss came via disqualification — and he's taken out eight ex-champs or interim titleholders from the UFC.

It's an impressive résumé, but Miocic has never been intimidated by anybody during his career, and he certainly won't start now. Nevertheless, he looks odds on for another humiliating defeat.

Messi injury prevents joining another club

► Lionel Messi has made a huge impact at Miami

Lionel Messi will not join another team on loan when the Major League Soccer season ends, despite numerous clubs wanting the services of the Argentinian genius.

The Inter Miami captain, 36, has been linked with a return to Barcelona and a switch to the Saudi Pro League. Inter Miami are out of play-off contention after Saturday's 1-0 loss to FC Cincinnati and their season ends on 21 October.

Messi has only played 72 minutes in the MLS since early September due to injury. After the MLS regular season ends, Argentina have World Cup qualifiers against Uruguay and Brazil on 17 and 22

November and Messi is then expected to take a month's holiday.

He will then return for pre-season in Miami with the MLS new season starting in February.

The seven-time Ballon d'Or winner joined Inter Miami from Paris St-Germain in July and guided the club to their first Leagues Cup victory in August, before losing the US Open Cup.

Although he has scored 11 goals in 13 games for Inter, only one came in his five MLS appearances. Messi has been linked with a return to Barcelona ever since he left for PSG in 2021 after 21 glorious years there.
