Hurricane Season 2024 Be Prepared

By Alex Sosnowski, AccuWeather senior meteorologist

The 2024 Hurricane season starts on Saturday June 1st

Rapidly intensifying tropical storms and hurricanes are especially dangerous because they can give the public less time to prepare and catch people off guard. Here's why AccuWeather meteorologists are concerned for 2024.

Along with the anticipation of an extremely busy Atlantic hurricane season, AccuWeather meteorologists are greatly concerned that conditions over much of the basin could have a significant number of storms that undergo rapid intensification. Where this occurs as storms approach land could greatly add to the risk to lives and property.

Rapid intensification is a term meteorologists use to define tropical storms and

The Ministry of District Administration and Lands (MDAL) proudly announced the official commencement of construction for the Cayman Brac (CYB) Accommodation Block, set to be completed by November 2024. This pivotal project was inaugurated with a ceremonial ground-breaking ceremony, signifying a significant step forward in the development and improvement of essential services on Cayman Brac.

The CYB Accommodation Block will provide 38 suites and is designed to facilitate long-term overnight stays for developers and construction teams involved in the new high school and gym projects, as well as other future government initiatives. Additionally, it will serve visiting school and sports teams, fostering the growth of sports and events tourism on the island.

Premier and Minister of Lands, Hon. Juliana O'Connor-Connolly, hosted the ground-breaking ceremony at the development site. In her address, she emphasized the project's alignment with the Government's strategic priorities, stating, "By removing the obstacle for future construction teams, which has historically been a deterrent to developers, development in Cayman Brac will be encouraged in a manageable way. This will lead to the implementation of projects that enhance the lives of Cayman Brac residents and improve essential services. Furthermore, the accommodation block will promote and facilitate the growth of sports and events tourism due to its potential of utilisation by visiting sports teams and schools."

The key features of the CYB Accommodation Block include:

► Prime Location: Situated between the Cayman Brac Sports Complex and Multi-purpose Hall.

► Spacious Design: Comprising two single-story buildings, each 5,342.5 sq. ft., for a total of 10,685 sq. ft.

► Extensive Site: The block and parcel (107A 111) span a total of 18.1 acres.

► Sustainable Construction: Designed to resist hurricane-force winds per the Cayman Islands statutory code - International Building Code (IBC 2009 CI Building Code).

► Robust Safety Standards: Windows and doors meet hurricane design wind pressures and impact resistance in accordance with ASTM E1886-97 and ASTM E1996-97.

District Commissioner of the Department of District Administration, B.L. Mark Tibbetts, served as the Master of Ceremony, welcoming esteemed guests, including Government officials, key project stakeholders from both the private and public sectors, and notable community members of Cayman Brac.

The construction of the CYB Accommodation Block marks a transformative phase for Cayman Brac, underscoring the government's commitment to enhancing infrastructure, future proofing for resiliency and supporting community development. The project will significantly reduce lodging expenses attributed to the new high school construction project and create new opportunities for sports and education programmes that require inter-island travel to Cayman Brac.

RE/MAX CAYMAN ISLANDS

HONoured WITH COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD

PRESENTED BY RE/MAX CARIBBEAN & CENTRAL AMERICA

RE/MAX Cayman Islands is proud to announce that they were recently honored with the 2023 Community Service Award presented by RE/MAX Caribbean and Central America.

"RE/MAX Cayman Islands is an inspiration to many franchises around the world, due to the level of service that they provide, and how much they give back to their community," added Ricardo Cardenas, Co-Owner and Regional Director, RE/MAX Caribbean and Central America. "They are a true example of the abundance mentality that we profess at RE/MAX. They see giving back not as an option, but as a responsibility that they are happy to fulfill."

The RE/MAX Caribbean and Central America region consists of 25 countries with more than 106 offices and 836 agents.

For the past 30 years, RE/MAX Cayman Islands has been recognized for its commitment to community service, distinguishing them from other real estate companies on the island. Their dedicated charity committee leads their annual donation drives and community engagement initiatives, with every agent actively contributing to their yearly fund.

"Giving back to our community has always been a cornerstone at RE/MAX Cayman Islands," added James Bovell, Broker/Owner. "Over the last 30 years we've been involved with charities throughout the island. We helped re-build after Hurricane Ivan, we've participated in blood drives, collected toys for kids at Christmas, have multi-year commitments to fundraisers across the island and everything in between."

In 2023, RE/MAX Cayman Islands sponsored Stride Against Cancer, which they have done for over 12 years now. They also participated in the Chamber's Earth Day Roadside Clean-up and was a Gold sponsor for the Flowers Sea Swim for the 8th consecutive year. Inspired by co-founder Kim Lund's late wife Brenda, The Breast Cancer Foundation lies at the heart of the charitable endeavors at RE/MAX Cayman Islands with Kim Lund and James Bovell as founding members and current board members of the foundation which celebrates its 15th anniversary in 2024.

"15 years ago, my desire was to continue the work that my late wife, Brenda, had started to bring more awareness to Cayman about breast cancer and the importance of early detection," added Kim Lund, Broker/Owner. "As we continue to ramp up our support services, our goal is to help anyone with breast cancer get help when they need it until the Breast Cancer Foundation is no longer necessary."

At the end of 2023, the charity fund raised additional revenue which enabled RE/MAX Cayman Islands to make two substantial donations. RE/MAX Cayman Islands donated $5,000 to Jubilate to fund their annual budget for education enrichment supplies and donated $5,000 to the Alex Pantou Foundation to sponsor their Community Mental Health Presentation Series starting Q1 2024.

Doctors Hospital Team Honours Cayman's Rich Nursing History

► Betty R. Ebanks - Jennifer Williams - Erna Jane Ebanks - Eziethamae Bodden - Alice Mae Coe

► DH Nursing Staff - Alice Mae Coe - Betty R. Ebanks - Erna Jane Ebanks - Eziethamae Bodden - Jennifer Williams

In a heartfelt display of gratitude and respect to the nursing pioneers of the Cayman Islands, the Nursing and Midwifery team at Doctors Hospital proudly announced a community partnership with the National Trust for The Cayman Islands (NTCI) in support of preservation of Nurse Leila's House in West Bay.

Beloved by the community, Irskie Leila Yates (1899-1996), also known lovingly as 'Nurse Leila', was a healthcare pioneer in Cayman. Walking from West Bay to George Town to attend lectures for her training, her career as a midwife spanned from 1917 until 1971, during which she delivered and/or supported the delivery of over 1000 babies.

Her home, located on West Church Street, just off the four-way junction in West Bay, was acquired by the National Trust in 2006, however has desperately needed some repairs to ensure its preservation.

Jennifer Williams, Chief Nurse and Director of Operations at Doctors Hospital shared more insight into her team's interest in the site: "Although simply another historic landmark to some, Nurse Leila's house represents so much more to those of us in the Nursing and Midwifery fields in Cayman. It represents tenacity and courage in the face of difficulty, dedication to the advancement of women in healthcare, integrity and ethics in work, unwavering commitment to patient advocacy, and above all a commitment to care. Our team at Doctors Hospital is proud to provide a donation of $5000 to support the restoration of a symbol of the principles so closely aligned with our own."

Ms. Alice Mae Coe, Chair of the West Bay District Committee expressed excitement at the partnership, "We are grateful and touched that this wattle and daub house with such a rich history is being supported with this donation. It is the only home of its kind in the National Trust portfolio and a fixture for West Bay that is truly a symbol of the pioneers of healthcare in Cayman".

The Doctors Hospital team acknowledges that the West Bay District Committee of the National Trust is actively engaged in ongoing research and communication with individuals who were born under the compassionate care of Nurse Leila. This effort aims to capture their stories as part of the oral history of the Island.

In addition to this initiative, the Doctors Hospital team displayed continued commitment to the advancement of this field with sponsorship of UCCI's Nursing and Midwifery Research Symposium last month. At this event, Helen Kirk (DH Quality Improvement Nurse) spoke on the topic of Nursing Leadership Priorities, and Kristen Rankin (DH Registered Nurse), discussed the impact of her research surrounding the impact of video games on children in the Cayman Islands.

"At Doctors Hospital, we understand that honouring our healthcare history is just as important as fostering innovation and advancement in our local community. We are proud to have been a sponsor for an event that showcases both," shared Margo McCrae, Director of Strategic Services, Doctors Hospital.

As Doctors Hospital continues its mission to provide exceptional care to the Cayman community, we invite everyone to discover the unparalleled quality and compassion available at our facility. During Nurses Week (May 6-12), we extend our deepest gratitude to our nursing team for their unwavering dedication and service.

Auditor General, Sue Winspear, leaving role after 8 years of distinguished service

Auditor General, Sue Winspear, is leaving her position this year after 8 years of distinguished service to the people and Government of the Cayman Islands.

Ms. Winspear who has been battling a cancer diagnosis for over a year now, has indicated her intention to return to England and to transition leadership at a time that is most beneficial to her team. Her exact departure date will be confirmed in the autumn.

When accepting the resignation, Her Excellency the Governor, Mrs Jane Owen, expressed her gratitude and admiration for Ms. Winspear's contribution to Cayman:

"Sue Winspear is the first woman to be appointed Auditor General within the Cayman Islands. During her tenure, she has been a fierce advocate on behalf of our people, demanding good value for money in the ways public bodies procure goods and services, and insisting on strong accountability in their policy mandates. During her tenure, the Office of the Auditor General (OAG) has grown from strength to strength and Sue has earned the respect and confidence of all her stakeholders, including the Public Accounts Committee, our diverse range of ministries and public bodies, our local accounting profession, and fellow audit bodies regionally and internationally. Her team has repeatedly achieved some of the highest employee engagement scores within the Civil Service and the office has been independently assessed as performing to the highest standard in many areas of the global performance framework. As Governor, it has been a great pleasure to benefit from Sue's leadership, hard work and advice and I wish her all the best for the future."

Ms. Winspear has led the Office of the Auditor General since July 2016, including through the challenging COVID period. Over that time, financial management and reporting by the Cayman Islands' public sector has continuously improved thanks to strong effort and collaboration by the Auditor General's office and senior civil and public servants including our Chief Financial Officers. The most recent 2023 financial audit cycle saw 39 out of 46 public sector entity audits completed by the 30th April statutory deadline, all with clean audit opinions. This marks our best ever performance in the Cayman Islands and amongst the best in the world.

In addition, there have been many improvements to public services arising from legislative changes made in response to audit recommendations. These include the introduction of the Procurement Act and regulations, which have improved value from public spending by markedly reducing poor procurement practices such as contract awards being made without competition. The Standards in Public Life Act was introduced in 2017 after repeated audit recommendations. Finally, the introduction of the Public Authorities Act has improved many aspects of governance in Statutory Authorities and Government Companies, as recommended by the Office of the Auditor General.

The Auditor General's recommendations through audits and special investigations have also led to the Government issuing new guidance to further strengthen the way that it operates. One example is the new guidance for public servants, issued in December 2022, which prevents the signing of new contracts or the development of new policies after an election has been called. This is a major step in improving accountability and transparency and will be important in the run up to our next election in 2025.

The recruitment process to fill the important role of Auditor General will begin soon.

Bonny Moon Beach Club is Unveiled at the Old Calico Jacks Site

► Bonny Moon Bartender

► Evening mood

Bonny Moon Beach Club is now open and looking forward to welcoming locals and tourists alike. Located at the site once known as a Cayman staple, Bonny Moon honors its predecessor Calico Jacks, a much-loved gathering place for the community.

The narrative of Bonny Moon is encapsulated in the thoughtful choice of its two words. Bonny pays homage to Anne Bonny, one of the few female pirates in documented history, a celebrated free-spirit, and the fearless partner-in-crime and lover of infamous pirate John Rackham (also known as Calico Jack). The word moon has connotations with celestial navigation, a technique that sailors used involving the stars and horizon to calculate position. The name Bonny Moon embodies Anne's pirate legacy, along with the allure of the moon, nostalgia, and adventure.

With a casual and inviting vibe, Bonny Moon Beach Club consists of a walk-up café that is open from morning until afternoon, serving barista coffee, kombucha, fresh juices, herbal remedies, and light snacks. The beachfront bar and restaurant are open from 11AM to late. With an emphasis on slow cooking rituals, the curated lunch and dinner menus are intended to be shared and savored, featuring beach comfort food, fire-roasted dishes from a wood oven, and Cayman sourced produce such as honey and local seafood.

Central to Bonny Moon's philosophy is sustainability and honoring the environment, so guests are encouraged to bring their own cups and vessels when they order from the beach café and bar. In addition to its all-day F&B offering, day passes are available for anyone from 7AM to sunset, which includes beach chairs, umbrellas, and day beds along with a dedicated food and cocktail service.

The aesthetic and ambience of Bonny Moon is playful and relaxed, with a nod to 70s' retro design with vintage accents. Besides a design overhaul, there have been some structural enhancements to the original site. There is also an addition of a shaded hideaway where both kids and grown-ups can laze around in hammocks and slow down with old fashioned games.

Kilian Werner, General Manager, said: "Bonny Moon pays tribute to its predecessor Calico's as once a beloved local venue, known for hosting monthly full moon parties. It commemorates the location where this beach club now stands, serving as a reminder of the vibrant gatherings and festivities that once illuminated the area."

"Like the moon phases, Bonny Moon sets a scene for meaningful moments from morning to night. Open to all, we welcome guests to grab a coffee or juice before a beach walk or share a delicious family-style meal with loved ones while relishing the Cayman sunset, or dance on the beach barefoot under the stars at a full moon celebration."

"I am thrilled to be working with a team of such experienced and skilled chefs and bartenders, who have created an enticing culinary and cocktail program that features some fun surprises that are sure to delight guests. As the local community is familiar with the playful and inviting spirit at our sister establishment, Ms. Piper's Kitchen + Garden; likewise, Bonny Moon will soon offer a calendar of events that will include a resident DJ, unique theme nights, plus so much more."

"One of the most anticipated additions is a wood fire oven and exterior kitchen, and our Executive Chef, Ayelen Esquef has created an all-day menu that will continue to add variety as we move into the fall. Our aim is to serve beach comfort food that tastes like home and is delicious."

"Bonny Moon is emblematic of the best of Cayman – nostalgic but contemporary, local but international, down-to-earth but wild and free. By weaving elements from Anne's legacy and the secrets of the moon, we welcome guests from all ages and different walks of life to gravitate here."

2024 Atlantic hurricane season is primed for storms with 'rapid intensification'

► This GOES-East GeoColor satellite image taken at 10:10 p.m. EDT on Tuesday, Sept. 27, 2022, and provided by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), shows Hurricane Ian over the Gulf of Mexico. (NOAA via AP) hurricanes that quickly gain strength. The threshold is at least 35 mph in 24 hours or less. This can affect how fast a tropical storm becomes a hurricane or a hurricane jumps one or more categories in less than a day's time.

This season, more than others, do not underestimate a hurricane's potential

Rapidly intensifying tropical storms and hurricanes are especially dangerous because they can give the public less time to prepare and often catch people off guard. Predicting a storm's peak intensity and its intensity at landfall is one of the most challenging aspects of weather forecasting, and a rapidly intensifying hurricane adds tremendously to that challenge.

"The general rule of thumb is that people prepare for one category up on the AccuWeather ReallImpact™ Scale for Hurricanes or the Saffir-Simpson Hurricane Wind Scale to allow for fluctuation in the strength of tropical systems," AccuWeather Hurricane Expert Alex DaSilva said. "However, a danger exists when a tropical storm or hurricane is undergoing rapid intensification as the storm potentially could become much more powerful, dangerous and destructive than even that one-level buffer might account for."

The AccuWeather ReallImpact™ Scale for Hurricanes considers many consequences a tropical system may have in addition to winds, such as coastal inundation, freshwater flooding, topography and the population affected. The Saffir-Simpson Hurricane Wind Scale accounts for a storm's wind intensity only.

The greater the population affected and the more dense of a population center, the more time is needed for preparations and mandatory evacuations, if necessary. A large, dense population center, such as New Orleans, may need at least 72 hours' notice in the event of a direct strike from a hurricane, according to NOLA Ready.

Unusually warm waters are a prime concern

"Key elements that we are focusing on for this year's busy hurricane season include the ramp-up of La Niña (in the Pacific), which allows for less disruptive wind shear in the Atlantic," DaSilva said. "But we continue to notice incredibly warm waters over much of the key development areas in the Atlantic."

When warm water is combined with low wind shear and abundant moisture, the ingredients for rapid intensification are in place. Not every storm will undergo rapid intensification, but when the conditions are in place, the chances of its occurrence are much higher.

The minimum temperature threshold for tropical development is about 80 degrees Fahrenheit. Many areas of the Caribbean, Gulf of Mexico, and southwest Atlantic are already above that threshold.

Sea-surface temperatures across the Atlantic Basin have never been higher in recorded history for this date than they are right now, DaSilva said. Generally, the ocean will continue to be warmed by the sun through August and into early September, aside from some temporary cool eddies that may develop.

"The fear is that as we enter the heart of the tropical season - from late August to early October - the sea-surface temperature may continue to eclipse last year's record-breaking season," DaSilva said. "The warmer the oceans are, the more favorable the environment will be for tropical development and rapid intensification."

The depth of the warm water is most important

As tropical storms and hurricanes pass over warm surface waters, the wave action produced by strong winds blowing on the ocean creates massive waves and upwelling, where water from the depths mixes with the surface. Most of the time, this will lead to the colder deep water cooling the surface water and then cause the intensity of a slow-moving hurricane to level off or weaken. When a hurricane moves quickly, this cool upwelling action is reduced as the storm will continue to encounter warm surface water.

AccuWeather meteorologists also look at the depth of the warm water or ocean heat content (OHC). The deeper the OHC, the less impact upwelling will have.

Currently across the zone from the south-central Atlantic to the Caribbean, the Gulf of Mexico and off the southeastern United States coast, the OHC is where it should be at the start of August -- far ahead of schedule.

"There is a patch in the Caribbean, near Jamaica, where 80-degree water reaches a depth of 600 feet this week," DaSilva said.

Atlantic Hurricane Ian from 2022 is a great example of a storm that moved over a high area of OHC and intensified rapidly. Ian underwent multiple rapidly strengthening phases, but the most significant one occurred shortly after the hurricane moved north of the coast of Cuba on Sept. 27.

On Sept. 28, Ian went from a 120-mph Category 3 hurricane to a 160-mph Category 5 hurricane in less than 24 hours before striking the southwestern Florida coast. The total number of lives lost is estimated at 161, with additional persons missing. Damage from Ian reached $113 billion, making it the costliest hurricane in Florida history.

Hurricane Season 2024

Another striking example of rapid intensification is Eastern Pacific Hurricane Otis from 2023. Otis underwent tremendous strengthening from a Category 1 (74-95 mph) hurricane at 7 a.m. CDT on Oct. 24 to a Category 5, 165-mph hurricane a mere 15 hours later at 10 p.m. Otis struck just west of Acapulco, Mexico, as a Category 5 storm during the early-morning hours of Oct. 25. At least 50 people lost their lives with at least 30 missing. Damage estimates range from $12-16 billion, making it the costliest Eastern Pacific Hurricane and the costliest in Mexico's history.

"This extent of warm surface water and high OHC is of great concern for the 2024 season as high OHC is like rocket fuel for tropical cyclones," DaSilva warned, "High OHC values can greatly aid storms in triggering rapid intensification."

The potential for multiple rapidly intensifying tropical storms and hurricanes for the 2024 season includes threats from near U.S. coast developing systems in the Gulf of Mexico and off the southern Atlantic coast, as well as for areas throughout the Caribbean and the southwestern Atlantic. Formation near land and rapid intensification near land are the two standout situations that can cause quick changes to the forecasts and risks.

"Proper planning and preparation prevent panic when a hurricane suddenly forms nearby or undergoes rapid strengthening," Houk said. "If ordered to evacuate, is the emergency kit prepared properly? Based on the forecast track of the storm, should evacuation to an area to the north, south, east or west be best for minimal impacts?"

For those who choose to ride out the storm, in addition to the potential for life-threatening rapidly rising water in the immediate neighborhood, there may be the risk of flying debris or falling trees damaging or destroying shelter-in-place dwellings. People should be prepared for great hardship without electricity and fresh public water for days after a hurricane strikes. Debris and displaced wild animals are additional safety concerns.

Leadership Cayman raises awareness for one2one - with pickleball!

► Tracy Rankine, Damon Salman Carrington and Chloe Tatum

Leadership Cayman (LC) teamed up with one2one to host a tournament at Pickleball Cayman in George Town on Saturday, 18 May, raising awareness and support for the mentorship programme.

Each year, LC gives back to the community by organising a project where they use their leadership skills into action to support a non-profit charity in the community. one2one, formerly known as Big Brothers Big Sisters, was the charity of choice selected by the 25 LC leaders.

Deputy Premier, Hon. Andre Ebanks, praised one2one's valuable work and thanked LC class for organising the tournament.

"One2One wanted to make people mindful of their name change from Big Brothers Big Sisters, attract more mentors, especially from the Eastern districts, also attract people who can help with back-office operations - the more people who can help with administrative and marketing support means they can divert the budget to programmes and incentives to help our youth," he said.

"This has been a great event for us," said Natasha Wight, one2one Programme Coordinator. "Leadership Cayman and the Chamber of Commerce support this mentor drive for us to gain more membership and more awareness - that we've changed our brand from Big Brothers Big Sisters to one2one. They've also donated thousands of dollars of prizes from community sponsors. We'll be giving those as 'experiences' - like the 'catamaran experience' - we'll be able to provide our mentees an experience they may have not had before." An LC class member, Bryan Rameshwar said: "So far, we've had amazing responses from the community. We conducted a pre-sign-up event at the Government Administration Building with 39 signups."

Tracy Rankine, Damon Salman Carrington, and Chloe Tatum Ebanks were the members of this year's project organising team.

"Leadership Cayman's is a fantastic experience. It's allowed me to develop my leadership skills through training and networking with people - a crosssection of people of different ages across different industries in the Cayman Islands - and make some lifelong friends," Damon said.

The Class Project is different for each year, with classes choosing a different charity to support, and a unique and fun way of supporting it. In 2022 Leadership Cayman raised over CI$74,000 for Boyz-2Men, while last year's class raised over CI$ 104,000 for Meals On Wheels.
