Health City Performs First Robotic Cardiac Surgery

Health City Cayman Islands has successfully completed its first robotic-assisted cardiac surgeries, marking a major breakthrough for advanced heart care in the Cayman Islands and the wider Caribbean. The landmark procedures were performed by Dr Binoy Chattuparambil, Head of Cardiac Surgery and

Clinical Director at Health City, placing the Cayman Islands among the select centres globally capable of offering fully robotic cardiac surgery. The launch of this programme follows an intensive period of training and clinical partnership with Emory Saint Joseph's Hospital, one of the world's highest-volume robotic cardiac centres. Health City's team has been mentored by Dr Douglas Murphy, Chief of Cardiothoracic Surgery at Emory Saint Joseph's Hospital and a global pioneer who has performed more than 4,000 robotic mitral valve procedures. Although Dr Murphy continues to guide the programme as a supervisory mentor, the surgeries are carried out by Dr Binoy and the Health City cardiac team. This ensures that patients in the Cayman Islands and across the wider Caribbean region can benefit from world-class, minimally invasive cardiac surgery close to home. Robotic cardiac surgery allows surgeons to operate through tiny incisions using advanced robotic instrumentation, resulting in significantly less trauma and faster recovery than traditional sternotomy. "One of the greatest advantages of robotic cardiac surgery is how quickly patients recover compared to traditional open-heart procedures," said Dr Murphy. "In our programme at Emory, most patients are discharged within 48 hours, and many return to normal daily activities within three weeks, compared with two to three months for conventional cardiac surgery. Robotic mitral valve repair also carries a very low risk of stroke, often under 0.5% compared with 2-3% for traditional open surgery, and mortality rates remain well below 0.5% in high-volume robotic centres. These results reflect the reduced trauma and enhanced surgical precision that robotic technology provides." Dr Binoy highlighted what this milestone means for the region, stating, "Performing these surgeries here in Cayman is a transformational moment. Patients no longer need to travel overseas for advanced cardiac procedures that can now be safely completed robotically on the island. The reduced recovery time, lower complication rates and overall patient experience are extraordinary. We are proud to bring this level of care to the Cayman Islands." The robotic cardiac programme at Health City will offer a range of advanced procedures, including cardiac valve repair and replacement, intra-cardiac tumour excision, and additional robotic cardiac interventions as the programme develops. This approach enables patients to experience reduced hospitalisation, improved recovery times and enhanced clinical outcomes, without the need to travel overseas. This development reinforces Health City Cayman Islands as a centre of excellence for advanced heart care, strengthens the national health system's capability, and positions the Cayman Islands as a leader in robotic surgery in the Caribbean.

TURKS AND CAICOS STEPS UP IMMIGRATION REFORM

By Staff Writer

The Turks and Caicos Islands has moved into another phase of an ongoing comprehensive review of its immigration system. In a move similar to Cayman’s own extensive overhaul of its immigration and status procedures, the TCI process is expected to ultimately lead to far-reaching reforms.

A government statement explains the current phase of the review: “The Immigration Bill 2026 is a comprehensive effort to modernise the immigration framework of the Turks and Caicos Islands. It will repeal and replace the existing Immigration Act and Regulations. The proposed reforms aim to strengthen border security, enhance transparency, support sustainable economic development, and ensure immigration policies align with the long-term national interest.”

Commenting on the process, Deputy Premier and Minister of Immigration and Border Services, Jamell Robinson of the ruling National Progressive Party(PNP) stated: “Immigration reform is a matter of national importance, and it is essential that the voices of our people and key stakeholders are heard. This public feedback phase allows for thoughtful consideration of the proposed legislation as we work to ensure a fair, modern, and sustainable immigration system that serves the best interests of the Turks and Caicos Islands.”

Key elements of the proposed framework include revised residency and long-term settlement pathways, updated work permit and labour market protection measures, and strengthened compliance, enforcement, and regulatory oversight.

► Deputy Premier Jamell Robinson

Other areas highlighted include a structured points-based assessment system for residence and employment rights certificates. Modernized border management systems were also noted, such as advanced passenger information, electronic travel authorization, biometric authentication, and e-gates.

The TCI has been confronted with a serious illegal immigration challenge spanning several years, with a surge of illegal migrants, especially from Haiti. Some reports have linked illegal immigration to a crime wave in the territory.

TCI Deputy Premier Robinson has affirmed that the upgraded and tightened criteria are intended to better enable the TCI government to eliminate shortcomings and loopholes in the immigration, border control, labour, and citizenship processes supported by effective enforcement and proper oversight. He has cited recurring instances of some persons obtaining citizenship status by exploiting weaknesses in the system.

“We have a situation where we have a lot of people in this country who might be here illegally. We have the sort of persons who come in illegally being able to get their passports ‘legally’...but they came in illegally,” Mr Robinson said.

In a mid-2025 Parliamentary report, he disclosed that, as of that time, TCI immigration and border control had detained and repatriated over 3,412 persons from 27 boats, compared to 2,882 persons from 23 boats in FY 2023/2024.

While full figures for 2025 are not yet known, the scale of the problem continues. Just last December 28th, an illegal migrant vessel carrying seventy-eight (78) persons was seized and the occupants apprehended pending deportation.

The TCI Border Force director, Emilio Seymour, said then: “Let me be clear, illegal migration will not be tolerated in the Turks and Caicos Islands. Border Force is actively pursuing those who enter our country illegally, and we will continue to locate, detain, and repatriate individuals in accordance with the law. Our presence will be visible, our actions decisive, and our commitment unwavering.”

The British government has stated that whilst immigration is a devolved responsibility of the Turks and Caicos Islands (TCI) Government, it continues to support TCI in tackling irregular migration challenges and illicit maritime activity.

Beneficial Ownership Registers and Recent UK Parliamentary Commentary

I write in response to recent public commentary from Members of Parliament in the United Kingdom and developments arising from the UK–Overseas Territories Joint Ministerial Council relating to beneficial ownership registers. Reports indicate that these remarks were made at a recent All-Party Parliamentary Group meeting, in advance of the Joint Ministerial Council, and within the broader context of international discussions on transparency and illicit finance.

Official UK statements following the Joint Ministerial Council reaffirmed a shared commitment to combating illicit finance and maintaining high international standards. In that context, the UK reiterated its stated objective that Overseas Territories move toward fully public beneficial ownership registers, while acknowledging progress made through legitimate-interest access regimes, including the Cayman Islands’ implementation of such access in February 2025 and its commitment to further enhancements.

► Hon Joseph Hew

The communiqué also indicated that additional technical discussions are expected in early 2026 and that this issue will remain under consideration in future engagements.

Given the potential implications for Cayman’s legislative framework, international obligations, and financial services sector, I would be grateful for clarification on the Government’s current engagement with the United Kingdom on this matter. In particular:

- Whether full public access to beneficial ownership registers has been raised in recent bilateral discussions with the UK;
- What topics have been agreed between the Government of the Cayman Islands and the United Kingdom for discussion in early 2026, particularly in relation to beneficial ownership; and
- What preliminary assessment, if any, has been undertaken regarding the legal, economic, and constitutional implications for the Cayman Islands.

In this context, the Opposition wishes to affirm our commitment to working constructively with the Government and to supporting efforts to defend and protect the Cayman Islands’ financial services industry, which remains a critical pillar of the national economy.

In light of these developments, I respectfully request a meeting as soon as practicable to enable the Government to brief the Opposition on the status of UK–Cayman discussions and any anticipated next steps. Such an update would help ensure that Parliament remains properly informed and that there is a shared understanding of the issues under consideration.

The Opposition recognises the importance of maintaining Cayman’s reputation as a cooperative and well-regulated jurisdiction, while also ensuring that any future reforms are approached carefully and in a manner consistent with Cayman’s economic interests.

I look forward to your response and to continued constructive engagement.

Yours sincerely,
Hon. Joseph Hew, MP
Leader of the Opposition
Member of Parliament for George Town North

Police Announce 1 March Commencement of Enhanced E-Bike & Scooter Enforcement

After careful consideration, and following concerns raised by businesses and members of the public, the Commissioner of Police, in consultation with HE Governor and Cabinet, has taken the decision, to delay the commencement of the enhanced enforcement of the current legislation surrounding e-bikes, scooters, and other micro-mobility devices, until 1 March 2026.

This delay will allow all persons and businesses sufficient time to get all documents, including licenses and insurance coverage, in order.

"While we understand that many persons have been unable to complete their preparations before now, we want to stress the need for all persons using these devices to follow the required regulations," says Commissioner Walton. "Once the enhanced enforcement begins on this new date, there will be no excuses for not being compliant."

As a general reminder to the public, under the Traffic Act, riders of e-bikes and scooters are required to:

* Be at least 17 years old - regulations 6(1) Traffic Regulations (2021 Rev.)

* Hold a valid Category 0 or Category 2 Driver's license - Schedule 2 Traffic (Categorization and Grouping) Regulations, 2012

* Ensure the device is inspected, registered, licensed and insured - Sections 6 & 16 Traffic Act (2023 Rev.)

Police Investigate Armed Robbery in George Town

Just after 8:20 PM on Wednesday, 14 January, police and other emergency services were dispatched to a report of an armed robbery at a gas station located on Dorcy Drive, George Town.

Two men, wearing masks, attended the location on a motorcycle. Upon entering the establishment, one of the men brandished a firearm and demanded cash. After taking a quantity of cash from the cash till, the suspects demanded money from two customers before they fled the location on the same motorcycle, travelling in the direction of Portland Road.

No shots were fired, and no injuries were reported to the police.

Police immediately responded and conducted an extensive search of the immediate area and the surrounding

George Town area; however, the suspects have not yet been located.

The matter is currently under investigation, and detectives are encouraging anyone who may have witnessed the incident, or who may have seen the motorcycle around the time of the robbery, to call the George Town Police Station at 949-4222.

Republic Financial Holdings Limited Surpasses US$200 Million Climate Finance Target

► Nigel Baptiste, Group President and CEO

Republic Financial Holdings Limited (RFHL) has surpassed its US$200 million Climate Finance target, marking a significant milestone in the Group's sustainability journey and reinforcing its leadership in sustainable finance across the Caribbean and beyond.
The climate finance goal was established in 2021 under RFHL's commitment to responsible banking and alignment with net-zero frameworks. The goal was designed to mobilise lending and investment for climate-focused projects across the Group's operating markets. To date, RFHL has deployed approximately US$235.5 million in climate-centric financing, exceeding the original target by nearly 18 per cent, or just over US$35.5 million.
Renewable energy remains the primary driver of climate finance activity, accounting for 46.46 per cent of total climate lending and investment. This is followed closely by sustainable transport, which represents 40.28 per cent of total climate finance deployed. Financing under the programme supports individuals and businesses undertaking climate-adaptive and climate-resilient projects across a broad range of sectors. These initiatives include renewable energy, sustainable transport, energy efficiency, sustainable agriculture, and other climate solutions that promote long-term environmental and economic sustainability.

From a geographic perspective, Trinidad and Tobago has been our leading market, accounting for 42.17 per cent of total climate finance activity. Barbados follows with 25.36 per cent, while Guyana and Ghana contribute 12.17 per cent and 10.36 per cent, respectively. These results highlight the strong demand for climate-focused financing across both RFHL's Caribbean and African markets.
Nigel Baptiste, Group President and CEO of Republic Financial Holdings Limited, said, "Surpassing our US$200 million climate finance target demonstrates the growing appetite for sustainable finance within the region and underscores the critical role financial institutions can play in supporting the transition to more resilient, low-carbon economies. I also want to acknowledge the dedication and collaboration of teams across our branches, units, and subsidiaries, whose collective efforts were instrumental in achieving this milestone. Their commitment continues to drive meaningful impact in climate resilience, sustainable development, and shared prosperity across the markets we serve."

Building on this momentum, the RFHL Group remains firmly committed to advancing its broader sustainability agenda. The Group will continue to actively support climate-related projects, mobilise finance, and expand access to funding to advance climate adaptation, mitigation, and technical assistance, particularly in low-income and vulnerable communities.

Tribute to the Incomparable Captain Paul Hurlston

Later in life, when I ventured into public service and community work, Captain Paul again was there — offering wisdom, advice, and even helping me draw maps of George Town, marking where families, living and dead, had their homes along SHEDDEN Road, Mary Street, Rock Hole, South Sound, North and South Church Street Smith road and Crewe Road. When we were done, he made sure I knew every house to visit and every person to greet. His knowledge of the land was just as precise as his knowledge of the sea. He was not educated at Oxford, but if he had gone, he surely would have graduated with first-class honours.

I did not first meet him in Cayman Brac, but when I went there as a young teacher, the love for the sea that he had planted in me was further deepened — especially through fishing. It was there that his teachings truly came alive, proving themselves as the lessons of a great teacher in my own life. I remember vividly, years later, taking a cruise to Alaska and sitting in my state-room as the ship travelled from Vancouver to Anchorage. In those moments of rough seas, it was Captain Paul's stories of his own journeys and how he coped with bad weather that came back to me, steadying my mind and guiding my thoughts across those cold northern waters.

As I sit on my boardwalk now, most mornings, studying the sea and its many changes, I often find myself reminiscing on the journeys, real and imagined, that I took through his words and on all that knowing him has taught me. Captain Paul Hurlston — mariner, storyteller, and Caymanian legend — has left a legacy beyond compare. I am honoured and humbled that I can truthfully say I have known this mariner who has created a history incomparable to anyone else on the journey of Cayman. He will always stir my emotions whenever thoughts of him come into my mind.

I must go down to the sea again, for there his stories still live on in every wave.

By Lucille Seymour

If you were born in the Cayman Islands in the 1940s, as I was, and raised by a mother who walked everywhere and knew everyone, you had no choice but to cross paths with the incomparable Captain Paul Hurlston — the sea-faring icon of the Cayman Islands, a true master of our cultural and heritage history. His passing leaves an indelible mark on all who knew him and on our collective memory of the sea.

To know Captain Paul was to know the sea itself. In those days, every man in my family — whether from George Town, West Bay, or East End — had sailed with him or at least known of him. I never went to sea myself, but through my mother and her many encounters with him, I came to know his spirit well. He would often stop by our home, sometimes with Mr Baxter, Mr Val, or Mr Leon Bush, under the pretence of bringing seafood for my mother. But we all knew that when they arrived, it was not just food they were bringing — it was a journey of tales from land and sea alike that my eager ears could not wait to hear and should not hear.

Captain Paul was a born storyteller — a natural comic and a historian without pen or paper. His memory needed no notes; every name, every voyage, every wave was alive in his mind. As I grew older and recognised myself as a student of history, he was patient with my curiosity about his journeys and the geography of the seas. Through his stories, I learned to see the world as he saw it — vast, beautiful, and deeply connected. His storytelling was so vivid that you could almost feel the sea breeze and smell the salt air; it made learning geography effortless, as if you could pass any exam your teacher set before you.

CEO confidence in revenue outlook hits five-year low – as AI becomes a defining divide between leaders and laggards: PwC 2026 Global CEO Survey

CEO confidence in their company's revenue prospects has fallen to its lowest level in five years, as business leaders grapple with uneven returns from artificial intelligence, rising geopolitical risk, and intensifying cyber threats.

According to PwC's 29th Global CEO Survey, only three-in-ten (30%) of CEOs say they are confident about revenue growth over the next 12 months—down from 38% in 2025 and 56% in 2022. The findings suggest that as CEOs navigate a complex operating environment shaped by rapid technological change, geopolitical uncertainty, and economic pressure, many companies have yet to translate investment into consistent financial gains.

The survey is based on responses from 4,454 CEOs across 95 countries and territories.

Frazer Lindsay, CEO of the PwC member firms operating in the Caribbean stated:

"Across the region, leaders are facing immediate pressures while shaping resilient, future-ready economies. Their growing commitment to invest in technology, trust, and innovation, even in the absence of immediate returns, is remarkable. CEOs leading the charge of transformative growth and disruption will be those who act boldly with purpose and maintain a clear vision that drives their people, partners, and communities towards a collective future."

AI emerges as a defining fault line for growth and profitability

The biggest question on CEOs' minds is whether they are transforming fast enough to keep pace with technological change, including AI. Forty-two percent cite this as their top concern—well ahead of worries about innovation capability or medium to long-term viability (both 29%).

Despite widespread experimentation, only one-in-eight (12%) CEOs say AI has delivered both cost and revenue benefits.

► Frazer Lindsay

Overall, 33% report gains in either cost or revenue, while 56% say they have seen no significant financial benefit to date.

The survey points to a growing divide between companies piloting AI and those deploying it at scale. CEOs reporting both cost and revenue gains are two to three times more likely to say they have embedded AI extensively across products and services, demand generation, and strategic decision-making.

Foundations matter as much as scale. CEOs whose organisations have established strong AI foundations—such as Responsible AI frameworks and technology environments that enable enterprise-wide integration—are three times more likely to report meaningful financial returns. Separate PwC analysis shows that companies applying AI widely to products, services, and customer experiences achieved nearly four percentage points higher profit margins than those that did not.

Graeme Sunley, Territory Leader, PwC Cayman Islands noted:

"In the Cayman Islands, global connectivity brings both opportunity and exposure. CEOs are sharpening their focus on cybersecurity, governance, and technology foundations that support sustainable growth. The path forward requires confident decision-making that keeps Cayman competitive while protecting its reputation on the world stage."

Confidence falls as tariffs and cyber risks intensify

CEO confidence has softened further amid rising exposure to external risks. One-in-five CEOs globally (20%) say their organisation is highly or extremely exposed to the risk of significant financial loss from tariffs over the next 12 months, though exposure varies widely by region—from 6% across the Middle East to 28% in the Chinese Mainland and 35% in Mexico. Among US CEOs, 22% report high exposure.

Concern about cyber risk has risen sharply, with 31% of CEOs now citing it as a major threat—up from 24% last year and 21% two years ago. In response, 84% say they plan to strengthen enterprise-wide cybersecurity as part of their response to geopolitical risk.

Concerns about macroeconomic volatility (31%), technology disruption (24%), and geopolitics (23%) have also edged higher, while concern about inflation is marginally down (from 27% last year to 25%).

Reinvention becomes a strategic imperative

Despite the challenging outlook, CEOs increasingly see reinvention as essential to growth. More than four in ten (42%) say their company has begun competing in new sectors over the past five years. Among those planning major acquisitions, 44% expect to invest outside their current industry, with technology the most attractive adjacent sector.

A little over half of CEOs (51%) plan to make international investments in the year ahead. The United States remains the top destination, with 35% ranking it among their top three markets. The UK and Germany (both 13%) and the Chinese Mainland (10%) also feature prominently. Interest in India has nearly doubled year-on-year, with 13% of CEOs planning international investment placing it among their top three destinations.

Execution gaps remain. Only one in four CEOs say their organisation tolerates high risk in innovation projects, has disciplined processes to stop underperforming initiatives, or operates a defined innovation centre or corporate venturing function.

Time is also a constraint: CEOs report spending 47% of their time focused on issues with a horizon of less than one year, compared with just 16% on decisions looking more than five years ahead.

Cayman's Women's U-17 footballers ready for Concacaf Qualifiers

Cayman's Women's Under-17 National Team kicks off world cup qualifying later this month in the Concacaf Women's Under-17 Qualifiers.

Cayman was drawn into Group C along with Guatemala, Antigua & Barbuda, Haiti and St. Lucia, with all four group matches scheduled to be played at FFK Stadium in Willemstad, Curaçao, between Sunday, Jan. 25 and Monday, 2 Feb.

"I'm really excited for this tournament, I think we're doing to do great," said defender Tessa Clark, who made her women's senior team debut in November versus Bermuda. "I think we have to work as a team and play to our advantages. For us, like we've said, all of us have been playing with each other for years and we have really good team chemistry."

Cayman's schedule is:

- Guatemala v. Cayman Islands | 3 p.m. | Sunday, 25 Jan.
- Antigua & Barbuda v. Cayman Islands | 6 p.m. | Thursday, 29 Jan.
- Cayman Islands vs. Haiti | 6 p.m. | Saturday, 31 Jan.
- Cayman Islands vs. St. Lucia | 3 p.m. | Monday, 2 Feb.

"I feel like we have a really good opportunity in that we can show what we've been training for," said forward Jada Dixon-Lam, who also made her senior national team debut in November.

Twenty-one players have been selected to represent Cayman at the tournament, including:

- Bella Persaud
- Sashka Parker
- Imogen Smailes
- Alaisha Williams
- Renee Wambugu
- Hayleigh Solomon
- Tessa Clark
- Casey Coles
- Reese Bateson
- Cosabella Windsor

- Olivia Ridley

- Marley Rando
- Lena Price
- Stephanie Richards
- Yasmin Elliot
- Abigail Proud
- Matilda Lomas
- Kezia Parchmont
- Shardaye Powell
- Clara De Quintal

"Many of the players on the team already have senior caps," head coach Michael Johnson said. "It's massive for us as a small nation. Now they get to play with their age group, which is always better."

Cayman enters the tournament ranked No. 18 in the most recent Concacaf Women's Under-17 Ranking. Haiti is the highest-ranked Group C team at No. 7, while Guatemala enters the tournament ranked 16th, followed by 29th-ranked St. Lucia and 30th-ranked Antigua & Barbuda.

The tournament serves as the opening phase of Concacaf qualifying for the 2026 FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup. Round One features multiple host venues across the region, with teams competing in single round-robin group play. Group winners, along with the best-performing runners-up, will advance to the Final Round.
