Mr. Ryan, from Cayman Brac, dedicated 39 years to serving the people of Cayman Islands. He served as Deputy Chief Secretary from 1992 before being appointed Chief Secretary (role now designated as Deputy Governor) in 1994, a post he held with distinction until his retirement in 2004. During his tenure, he oversaw a period of significant transformation for the Civil Service, helping shape the systems, standards and frameworks that continue to underpin government today.

A highly respected member of the community, he was appointed to the Council for the Order of the Cayman Islands and served in numerous capacities after his retirement.

In commenting on the passing, Governor Jane Owen said, "The Cayman Islands has lost a dedicated public servant. Mr. James Ryan gave nearly four decades of his life in service to these Islands, and his contribution to the Civil Service leaves a legacy that will endure for generations. On behalf of the people of the Cayman Islands, I extend my deepest sympathies to his family."

Premier Honourable André Ebanks in expressing his condolences noted, "Mr. Ryan's passing is a heartfelt loss not only for the Civil Service but for the Cayman Islands as a whole. He was a distinguished son of Cayman Brac who rose to the highest levels of public service and, in doing so, showed what dedication, integrity and commitment to these Islands truly looks like. On behalf of the Government, I offer my deepest condolences to his family, friends and to the community of Cayman Brac."

Acting Deputy Governor Eric Bush shared, "Past Chief Secretary Ryan was a cornerstone of the Civil Service during a pivotal period in our history. He led by example, he served with integrity, and he left the public service stronger than he found it. His passing is a loss felt across government and across these Islands. My thoughts are with his family."

As a mark of respect, the Cayman Islands flag on all government buildings will be lowered at half-mast tomorrow, 20 May, for the entire day. Flags will be lowered again for a period to be confirmed ahead of the official funeral. Funeral arrangements will be announced at a later date.

NCFC Government Marks One Year in Office with Landmark Reforms

The National Coalition For Caymanians (NCFC) Government on Wednesday, 20 May released its one-year report titled, "Meaningful Momentum", providing a comprehensive account of its first year in office including its legislative actions, strategic policy achievements and community investments delivered across all three Islands.

The government said that the update <https://gov.ky/meaningfulmomentum> gives a record of what it has accomplished over the year and a statement of clear intent for the three years ahead. In releasing the document, Premier Honourable André Ebanks stated that the government has advanced all seven broad outcomes set out in its Strategic Policy Statement, working across ministries and in active consultation with the private sector and civil society. "We committed to tackling the issues Caymanians have faced for decades to working collaboratively and holding ourselves accountable to the people of these islands. One year on, I am immensely proud of the strong start we have made," emphasised Premier Ebanks.

He further noted, "As a coalition, we represent a diversity of perspectives, but we are unified in a shared purpose to build a stronger, fairer Cayman Islands. As we pass the first-year milestone, our focus is on keeping the momentum going as we modernise public services and empower our people."

In the government's first year, it delivered landmark immigration reform with the Caymanian Protection Act, overhauling the Islands' immigration system to strengthen job protection for Caymanians and modernise work permit rules.

Alongside this, the NCFC government introduced the country's first-ever housing policy, establishing a framework for more affordable home ownership for working families.

In the areas of healthcare and cost of living, access has been expanded for families in need, and the national minimum wage has been increased. The government is proactively addressing energy costs to ease the burden on Caymanian families this summer with a multi-million relief package targeting fuel and electricity costs, coupled with longer term plans to accelerate utility scale solar power.

In education, the government has doubled funding for the Early Childhood Assistance Programme from $910,000 to $2.1 million annually, extending access to an additional 235 Caymanian children. Investment has also been directed at classroom infrastructure, teacher development and embedding Caymanian culture within the school curriculum.

During its first year, the government launched the Cayman Islands' first digital identity card and enhanced the gov.ky platform to bring more public services online. Work is also underway on the country's first Artificial Intelligence Policy to ensure Cayman is well positioned for a digital future. The economic backdrop for the Islands has been strong with March 2026 recording the highest monthly tourism arrivals in the country's history, commerce growing and the Cayman Islands' international credit rating and reputation as a centre of financial services excellence remaining high.

Government's commitment to all three islands has been a consistent thread through the first year's work. In Cayman Brac, closed circuit television cameras have been installed as part of the national safety programme for the first time, four affordable homes are under construction on the Bluff and a competition-standard athletics track is being procured for the Cayman Brac Sports Complex. Cruise calls to Cayman Brac have been expanded to support local businesses. In Little Cayman, the government has confirmed the Island's airport will remain in its current location and have designated natural environments across all three islands for protection.

With the groundwork laid in year one, the government's focus for the remainder of its term is on delivery. Priorities include completing road infrastructure improvements, advancing the waste management modernisation plan, improving career pathways for Caymanians, expanding mental health and youth support and continuing the modernisation of public services. The Cayman Forward initiative, an independently facilitated process for resolving policy challenges, aims to establish a more harmonious balance for natural and built environments.

"The achievements in our first year and the work still to come are made possible by the support and partnership of our colleagues in the civil service," said Premier Ebanks. "Together, we will continue to deliver real, tangible benefits and lasting change for the people of the Cayman Islands."

Ministry of Health, Environment and Sustainability Boosts Screening and Surveillance at Cayman Ports of Entry as WHO Declares Ebola Public Health Emergency

The Ministry of Health, Environment and Sustainability is closely monitoring the recent declaration by the World Health Organization (WHO) of an Ebola Virus Disease (EVD) outbreak in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Uganda as a Public Health Emergency of International Concern (PHEIC).

International health authorities, including the WHO, the Caribbean Public Health Agency (CARPHA) and regional public health partners, have advised that there remains considerable uncertainty regarding the full number of cases, and several factors suggest the outbreak may be more extensive than currently reported.

The Ministry's current assessment, in line with CARPHA and international health agencies, is that the public health risk to the Cayman Islands and the wider Caribbean region remains low.

CARPHA and regional partners have activated enhanced monitoring and travel-related screening measures at ports of entry across the region. These measures include strengthened surveillance systems, traveller screening protocols, and coordination with international public health agencies.

► Dr. Hilary Wolf

Locally, the Ministry of Health, Environment and Sustainability and the Public Health Department will implement enhanced screening and surveillance measures beginning Thursday, 21 May, for selected incoming flights at Owen Roberts International Airport. Measures will include increased monitoring of travellers arriving from affected areas, coordination with airport and border control partners, and targeted health questionnaires for persons who have recently travelled from countries affected by Ebola outbreaks.

Existing maritime public health and port surveillance protocols also remain active at ports of entry, including ongoing monitoring and health reporting requirements for cruise vessels and maritime operators.

The public is reminded Ebola is a severe viral illness spread through direct contact with the bodily fluids of an infected person or contaminated materials. Symptoms may include fever, severe headache, muscle pain, fatigue, vomiting, diarrhoea, abdominal pain, and unexplained bleeding or bruising.

Chief Medical Officer Dr. Hilary Wolf said the Cayman Islands' existing public health monitoring and response systems remain active and capable of responding should the situation evolve.

"While the current risk to the Cayman Islands remains low, the Ministry and Public Health Department continue to monitor the situation closely in collaboration with CARPHA and international public health partners. Existing surveillance and response measures remain in place to support early detection and protect public health," Dr. Wolf said. "The Ministry and Public Health Department will continue to assess the situation in collaboration with regional and international public health partners, and response measures will be adjusted as necessary based on evolving public health risk assessments."

Medical Officer of Health Dr. Samuel Williams encouraged travellers to cooperate fully with any screening or monitoring measures introduced at ports of entry.

"Travellers play an important role in helping to protect public health. Persons who have recently travelled to affected areas should inform Customs and Border Control or public health personnel upon arrival, particularly if they feel unwell or believe they may have been exposed to Ebola Virus Disease. Early reporting helps reduce the risk of transmission and supports timely public health response."

Travellers experiencing symptoms should seek medical attention immediately and inform healthcare personnel of their recent travel history.

Cayman Islands Breast Cancer Foundation Hosts Transformative Evening Celebrating Courage, Beauty and Survivorship

The Cayman Islands Breast Cancer Foundation's second annual Beyond The Scar fashion show delivered an unforgettable evening of emotion, empowerment and extraordinary courage on Friday evening at Hotel Indigo Grand Cayman.

More than simply a runway event, Beyond The Scar brought together breast cancer survivors, medical professionals, creatives, volunteers and the wider community in a powerful celebration of resilience, identity and hope beyond diagnosis.

The evening featured ten survivor models who walked the runway in front of a packed audience, sharing not only fashion and style, but their stories, their vulnerability and their strength. For many of the women involved, the experience proved deeply transformational.

One participant shared afterwards:

"I am truly at a loss for words for the magic that happened last night. It's a night I will never forget. I felt held, embraced, safe and supported. You have created a beautiful event that I hope grows in future years. Beyond blessed and grateful. My heart overflows."

The evening's VIP guest was internationally recognised author, speaker and breast cancer advocate Christine Handy, whose presence added profound emotional resonance to the event. Handy, a former international model and breast cancer survivor, spoke openly about redefining beauty and identity after cancer.

Following the event, Handy said:

"I have been involved in hundreds of cancer events and yours surpasses them all. The women who walked had an experience that will delight them their entire lives. You did that for them. You should be so proud. I am truly honoured to have been a small part of it."

Chief Administrator of the Cayman Islands Breast Cancer Foundation, Beverly Edgington, reflected on the significance of the evening:

"Beyond The Scar was never simply about a runway. It was about creating a space where women could feel seen again - celebrated not despite what they have been through, but because of the strength, beauty and resilience they carry through it. Watching these women rediscover confidence in themselves has been one of the greatest privileges of my life. This evening reminded all of us that beauty is not diminished by diagnosis. It is deepened by it. Nor was it about raising money but more importantly we want to raise awareness and celebrate a life worth living!"

The creative vision behind the show was led by Creative Director Lauren Sonnen, whose deeply personal and emotionally charged curation shaped every aspect of the experience.

Sonnen reflected:

"These women give me absolute hope. Beyond The Scar was never just about fashion - it was about showing that no one should feel less-than because of what they have endured. Watching these women step into the light with such courage and strength was something truly extraordinary."

The Foundation acknowledged the extraordinary work of the team behind the scenes who brought the evening to life, including Creative Director Lauren Sonnen, producer and show manager Sophie, backstage manager Emilie, designer Isy B, Robyn Diamond and her hair and makeup team, the volunteers working Front of House and backstage, photographers, videographers and the many individuals who gave their time, talent and energy to support the women throughout their journey to the runway. And of course the BCF team themselves who give tirelessly to the Foundation and people they serve.

Special recognition was also given to Dr. Jane Martinez from Baptist Health International, who participated in Friday evening's panel discussion and, in the words shared during the event, "walked alongside the ladies in every sense of the word."

The Foundation also expressed heartfelt gratitude to its sponsors whose support made the event possible.

VIP Headline Sponsor Baptist Health International enabled the Foundation to welcome Christine Handy to the Cayman Islands, while Haute Headline Runway Sponsors Health City Cayman Islands and AI Rentals played a central role in helping create the spectacular production.

Additional support came from Blush Sponsors Doctors Hospital Cayman, the Health Services Authority Cayman Islands, Get Nailed and More and Dolphin Point, alongside Pink Ribbon Sponsors Hotel Indigo Grand Cayman, La Roche Posay/CEL, Centre Pointe Dance Studio, Armada Studios, Guy Waller and RC.

Funds raised through Beyond The Scar will continue supporting the Cayman Islands Breast Cancer Foundation's work in education, early detection initiatives, wellness support and access to care for individuals navigating breast cancer within the Cayman Islands community.

Public Schools to Benefit from New Education Ambassador Programme

The Ministry of Education and Training (MoET) has partnered with the Miss Cayman Islands Organisation to launch an Education Ambassador Programme, under which the reigning titleholder will conduct sessions in primary and secondary schools across the Cayman Islands. The partnership runs until December 2027.

At secondary level, the ambassador will conduct small group motivational sessions with selected Key Stage 3 and 4 students, focused on goal setting, resilience, communication and personal leadership. Starting in the 2026/27 academic year, Key Stage 2 girls will benefit from etiquette workshops covering self-presentation, respect and communication skills. Students are selected in coordination with the schools' leadership.

Reigning Miss Universe Cayman Tahiti Seymour has been appointed as the programme's inaugural ambassador. Before the end of the current academic year, she will conduct sessions at Clifton Hunter High School and John Gray High School and participate in several school leaving ceremonies. Each subsequent titleholder will serve as ambassador for the duration of her reign.

"We know that academic success is only part of what prepares a young person for the future. Confidence, communication and the ability to present yourself with purpose are skills that open doors and they are skills that can be taught. This programme brings remarkable young Caymanian women into our schools to do exactly that, at every stage of a student's development, and it does so with a commitment that extends well beyond this academic year. We are proud to launch this partnership and look forward to building on it in the years ahead," said Hon. Rolston Anglin, Minister of Education and Training.

"Our platform is deeply committed to empowering our community and creating opportunities for young people to grow in confidence, leadership, and self-belief. We are grateful to Minister Rolston Anglin and his team for this wonderful opportunity to partner through the Education Ambassador Programme and make a meaningful impact in our schools. Royal Family Congratulates Red Cross on 65th Anniversary

The Cayman Islands Red Cross (CIRC) is celebrating a very special anniversary in 2026, its 65th year of serving the people of the Cayman Islands. Established in 1961 by Mrs. Ethel Cook-Bodden and Ms. Janilee Clifford as a Committee of the British Red Cross, the CIRC has evolved significantly from its initial focus on fundraising for the hospital, to encompass broader community resilience efforts, particularly during the annual hurricane season.

Earlier this year, HRH Princess Alexandra, the Hon. Lady Ogilvy, KG, GCVO, Deputy President of the British Red Cross, provided a message of support.

In 1988 and again in 2026, HRH Princess Alexandra showed her appreciation for the CIRC, first by laying the cornerstone at the Headquarters building some 38 years ago, and also this year in her letter of congratulations on the 65th anniversary.

Today, the CIRC stands as a dynamic force within the region, with five core programmes: Disaster Management, First Aid and Aquatics Training, Child Protection and Sexuality Education, and Community Engagement, under which the Thrift Shop operates, and Support Our Seniors.

Throughout May, the CIRC intensifies its programme activities across four key areas: promoting humanitarian principles and values, disaster response, disaster preparedness, and health and community care.

As the Cayman Islands Red Cross celebrates World Red Cross Day and Red Cross Month, it reaffirms its dedication to fostering a resilient, compassionate community through proactive humanitarian initiatives and unwavering support for those in need.

BUCKINGHAM PALACE
LONDON SW1A 1AA

It gives me immense pleasure to extend my congratulations as you celebrate the 65th anniversary of the Cayman Islands Red Cross. I recall with great fondness the people I met when I laid the foundation stone for your headquarters in 1988 and so I am especially pleased to write to you on this occasion.

Over the decades, your unwavering commitment to humanity has been evident in so many ways: from providing the first ambulance on the islands to standing as a pillar of hope during Hurricane Ivan in 2004. Your dedication to disaster preparedness, lifesaving training, child protection education, and support for older people reflects the very essence of the Red Cross spirit.

This milestone is not only a celebration of your achievements but also testament to the resilience and generosity of the Cayman Islands community. The partnership between your dedicated staff, volunteers, and supporters has created a legacy of service that continues to inspire. In times of crisis and calm, you have shown that compassion and preparedness can transform lives.

As you mark this anniversary, please know how deeply I admire the tireless efforts of your staff and volunteers. Your work continues to safeguard life, health, and dignity for all in the Cayman Islands, and I am proud to have a personal connection to your remarkable commitment.

With warmest congratulations and every good wish for the future.

International Day for Women in Maritime 2026

On the occasion of the International Day for Women in Maritime 2026, I am honoured, on behalf of the Government and people of the Cayman Islands, to extend heartfelt appreciation and recognition to the remarkable women who have shaped, strengthened and advanced our maritime community.

This year's theme, "From Policy to Practice: Advancing Gender Equality for Maritime Excellence," as established by the International Maritime Organization, reminds us that true progress is measured not only by aspirations and commitments, but by meaningful action that creates opportunities, opens doors and empowers future generations.

The maritime sector has long been a cornerstone of the Cayman Islands' history and economic success.

From our proud seafaring heritage to our globally respected shipping registry and maritime services industry, women have played an indispensable role in steering our country forward. Whether serving at sea, guiding policy, managing operations, advancing maritime law, supporting education and training, or championing sustainability and innovation, women continue to leave an indelible mark on our maritime excellence.

Today, we celebrate the resilience, leadership, and determination of Caymanian women and women across our maritime community who continue to break barriers and inspire others to pursue careers in this vital industry. Their achievements reflect not only professional excellence, but also courage, sacrifice and an unwavering commitment to service.

I express my sincere gratitude to organisations including the Maritime Authority of the Cayman Islands which falls under my remit as Minister for Financial Services and Commerce, the Cayman Islands chapter of the Women's International Shipping and Trading Association International, the Cayman Islands Coast Guard and the Cayman Islands Seafarers Association, for their continued efforts to promote inclusion, mentorship, professional development and greater representation of women throughout the maritime sector. Through collaboration, advocacy, and education, these institutions are helping to build a stronger and more equitable maritime future for all.

As we observe this important day, we pause to honour and remember the women seafarers and maritime professionals who have passed on - pioneers whose dedication, perseverance, and contributions helped lay the foundation upon which today's maritime industry stands. Their legacy lives on in every young woman who now sees the maritime sector not as a distant possibility, but as a pathway filled with promise and opportunity.

We also express our deepest gratitude to the women who continue to serve in the maritime arena today. Your expertise keeps global trade moving, your leadership strengthens our institutions, and your passion inspires the next generation of maritime professionals across the Cayman Islands and beyond. It is because of you that the maritime sector has flourished and I look forward to the future generation of women taking it to greater heights.

I encourage you to take advantage of scholarship opportunities in maritime studies and graduates to consider applying their existing skills regardless of their specialisation. The field is broader now than ever before and I encourage our women to keep pushing the boundaries of excellence.

May God continue to bless the women of our maritime community and the Cayman Islands.

Both the police driver and the civilian driver were breath tested, and both results proved negative.

A passenger who was travelling in the civilian vehicle reported a head injury and was assessed by EMT, following which they declined further medical attention.

No shots were fired during the incident. However, the initial victim sustained injuries and was transported to hospital for treatment.

The suspects are described as slim build and between approximately 5'6" and 5'8" in height, wearing full face masks.

Parliament Concludes Productive 2025-2026 Session with Key Legislative and National Milestones

The Parliament of the Cayman Islands has formally concluded the 2025-2026 Session, marking the end of a productive legislative year comprising five Meetings and multiple Sittings dedicated to advancing national priorities, strengthening governance, and serving the people of the Cayman Islands.

Throughout the Session, Members of Parliament (MPs) engaged in robust debate and legislative review, addressing a wide range of issues impacting the country, including immigration reform, public finances, healthcare, financial services, and national development.

During the First, Second, and Third Meetings, Parliament laid a strong foundation for the legislative year. A significant number of Annual Reports were tabled, reinforcing transparency and accountability across Government entities, while Ministerial Statements provided updates on key national matters, including the economic outlook, preparedness efforts, and policy direction.

The Third Meeting featured the consideration of various legislations, including the Immigration (Transition) (Amendment and Validation) Bill, 2025. During the meeting, MPs also undertook extensive debate on the Appropriation (Financial Years 2026-2027) Bill, 2025, which was passed, establishing a framework for public expenditure and outlining national priorities for the upcoming financial years.

Beyond the Chamber, Parliament also strengthened its role in civic engagement, reflection, and representation across the Commonwealth. Parliament hosted the 26th National Parliamentary Prayer Breakfast under the theme "Faith, respect and love in serving the common good," bringing together Members of Parliament, faith leaders, members of the Judiciary, and the wider community in a spirit of unity and reflection. The event provided an opportunity for national leaders and citizens to reaffirm their shared commitment to service, integrity, and nation-building through prayer and fellowship. During the event, the Honourable Speaker, D. Ezzard Miller, announced that the Parliamentary Prayer Breakfast will again become an annual event on Parliament's calendar, further reinforcing Parliament's commitment to fostering unity, reflection, and community engagement.

A key highlight during the 2025-2026 Session was the successful hosting of the Post-Election Seminar, which brought together regional and international parliamentary experts and newly elected Members to explore best practices in parliamentary procedure and effective governance. The Seminar underscored Parliament's commitment to continuous learning and institutional strengthening.

Additionally, Parliament marked a historic milestone with the official launch of the Commonwealth Women Parliamentarians (CWP) - Cayman Islands Branch, aimed at promoting gender equality and supporting the increased participation and leadership of women in parliamentary democracy. This initiative forms part of a wider Commonwealth effort to strengthen inclusive governance and empower women in leadership roles.

Further demonstrating its commitment to youth engagement, Parliament hosted the 19th Youth Parliament Debate on Commonwealth Day, 9th March 2026. Following months of preparation, Youth Parliamentarians (YPs) debated pressing national issues, including "A Comprehensive Framework for Mental Health Support and Youth Rehabilitation in the Cayman Islands" and "Establishment of a National Job Criteria Joint Committee."

The debate showcased thoughtful, well-researched contributions from the YPs, highlighting real concerns affecting young people in the Cayman Islands and reinforcing the importance of youth voices in shaping national dialogue. The annual programme continues to play a vital role in developing future leaders while deepening understanding of parliamentary democracy.

The Fourth Meeting was highly active, with a significant amount of parliamentary business:

- 10 Bills read and passed
- 52 Parliamentary Questions answered
- 8 Private Members' Motions moved
- 10 Papers, Reports & Petitions tabled

As part of ongoing efforts to strengthen transparency and community awareness, the Honourable Speaker of Parliament,

Hon. D. Ezzard Miller, participated in a radio interview on Monday, 27th April 2026, providing a comprehensive overview of the parliamentary year. This marked the first time such a year-end reflection has been shared in this format, offering the public greater insight into the work of Parliament, key achievements, and the legislative process.

The Fifth and final Meeting of the 2025-2026 Parliamentary Session brought the legislative year to a close with sustained debate and a high volume of parliamentary business. MPs considered 7 Bills, including a Private Member's Bill, 3 Government Motions, 6 Private Members' Motions, and 25 Parliamentary Questions, alongside Reports, Papers, and Petitions tabled from various Ministries and Portfolios.

Additionally, the Honourable Speaker used several sittings to recognise and honour individuals who have made meaningful contributions to the development and progress of the Cayman Islands. These acknowledgements highlighted a diverse cross-section of Caymanians whose service, leadership, and dedication have helped shape the Islands' continued growth and national development, reflecting Parliament's commitment to recognising the people behind the country's success.

- 126 Parliamentary Questions answered

Cayman Art Week, which runs from Tuesday 26th to Sunday 31st May, will host a whole range of exhibitions, pop-up events, discussions and studio events across the Cayman Islands. For this year, Pure Art will be holding a Meet the Artists Happy Hour on Friday 29th May. The evening will include traditional thatching demonstrations by Ms Eileen McLaughlin. Ms Eileen is a talented artisan and craftsperson who makes a variety of quality weaved-thatch products, including bags, hats, fans and placemats. Her skills are somewhat of a dying art in Cayman, such talents slowly being lost with the passage of time, so events such as these help to remind people of the intricate work such artisans have demonstrated for decades in Cayman and their continued value today.

Pure Art owner Maria Tom-Pack said Pure Art, as the oldest commercial gallery on island, was proud to play a part in Cayman Art Week.

"We celebrate our 38th year in business this year," she advised. "Over the years, we have represented so many Caymanian artists and we continue to promote Caymanian heritage and culture. Part of that is to promote all of the wonderful artists who we have on island."

To help Cayman Art Week attendees to see as many of the exhibitions and art showcases as possible, there is a free shuttle bus service along with walking tours available, making sure everyone gets the most out of the experience. To enable anyone interested in attending the Pure Art happy hour, people can hop on the free shuttle bus running to and from the Cayman Art Week Hub on Cardinal Avenue in George Town, which will be running from 5-7pm. For anyone who fancies popping into Pure Art on Saturday 30th May, there is also a stop on the Cayman Art Week East bus tour on that day.

For anyone looking to join the bus or walking tours, the following dates should be noted:

Thursday, 28 May - CAW West Bus/walking Tours (Camana Bay/Seven Mile Beach/West Bay Road)

Friday, 29 May - CAW Central Bus/walking Tours (Central George Town/Industrial Park)

Saturday, 30 May - CAW East Bus Tour (Savannah, Bodden Town, North Side, East End) and the CAW Brac Bus Tour

Pure Art Gallery & Gifts is open Monday to Saturday from 9am-5pm.

AI Agents Are Reshaping Work in Cayman — Not Just Helping It

By Dr Eustache Placide

Professor of Computer Science and Artificial Intelligence at UCCI

The Caymanian Times article “What AI Agents Actually Do” offers a reassuring picture of artificial intelligence, portraying AI agents as helpful assistants who clear inboxes and handle routine tasks, allowing professionals to focus on more meaningful work.

It is an accessible and useful explanation. But it leaves out a more uncomfortable truth.

AI agents are not just helping workers; they are beginning to replace parts of what workers do.

Across offices in Cayman and beyond, AI is already doing far more than scheduling meetings or answering emails. These systems can draft reports, analyse data, and support decision making at speeds and scales no human team can match.

What we are witnessing is not simply an increase in efficiency. It is a fundamental shift in how work itself is structured.

This distinction matters.

Work is not made up of isolated tasks. It is made up of roles, and those roles are now being quietly reshaped. When AI systems take over routine responsibilities, many of which are handled by junior professionals, they do more than save time.

They remove the very activities that have traditionally served as entry points into careers.

In a place like Cayman, this is not a distant concern. The Cayman Islands’ economy is built on professional services, finance, law, and administration, sectors where much of the work involves managing information, drafting documents, and coordinating processes.

These are precisely the functions AI agents are designed to perform efficiently.

The risk is not sudden job loss. It is something more subtle, and potentially more consequential.

Career pathways begin to erode.

When entry level tasks disappear, so do the opportunities to gain experience, develop judgment, and progress into senior roles. Over time, this does not just affect individuals.

It alters the structure of the workforce itself.

There is also a broader misconception at play.

The idea that AI will “free up” workers for higher value tasks assumes that productivity gains naturally translate into better outcomes for employees. Experience suggests otherwise.

More often, increased efficiency leads to increased expectations, more output, faster timelines, and greater pressure.

Without deliberate choices, AI is just as likely to intensify work as it is to improve it.

The assistant narrative also obscures important risks. AI systems can produce errors, reflect hidden biases, and operate in ways that complicate accountability. In a jurisdiction like Cayman, where regulatory compliance and trust underpin our global reputation, these are not abstract concerns.

They are operational realities.

This does not mean AI should be resisted. Its potential benefits are real and significant. Used well, AI can enhance productivity, support innovation, and strengthen Cayman’s competitive position in a rapidly evolving global economy.

But responsible adoption requires clear thinking—and honest framing.

The conversation must move beyond the comforting idea of AI as a digital assistant and confront its deeper role as a transformational force.

Businesses will need to rethink how they develop talent. Policymakers will need to consider how to preserve opportunity while encouraging innovation. And workers themselves will need to adapt to a landscape where flexibility matters more than routine expertise.

The real question is not whether AI agents can save time.

It is whether Cayman is prepared for how they will redistribute opportunity, reshape careers, and redefine what it means to work.

Cayman Set to Defend Alexandra Horner Memorial Trophy Against Jamaica at Hockey Fest 2026

The Cayman Islands will once again welcome Jamaica for the annual Alexandra Horner Memorial Trophy match, set for Saturday, 23 May, at the CIS Sports Pitch. The feature match — a highlight of Cayman's field hockey calendar — will push off at 12:30 PM, with Cayman looking to defend the trophy on home turf.

A Tradition Spanning More Than 15 Years

The Alexandra Horner Memorial Trophy has been contested between Cayman and Jamaica for over 15 years, growing into a cherished symbol of regional camaraderie and competitive spirit.

The event honours the legacy of Alexandra Horner, a gifted hockey player whose life was tragically cut short, but whose passion for the sport continues to inspire athletes across both nations.

What began as a bilateral friendly has evolved into a marquee annual festival, featuring mixed teams of veterans and rising young players battling for the coveted trophy. The match consistently delivers fast paced, high quality hockey while strengthening the bond between the two national hockey communities.

This year's Hockey Fest continues the long standing tradition of friendly but competitive clashes between the two islands, that has grown into one of the most anticipated fixtures in the Cayman hockey community.

A Rivalry Built on Respect

Cayman enters this year's contest with confidence, but Jamaica's touring squad is known for its speed, physicality, and relentless style of play — a combination that has produced memorable clashes year after year.

"Whenever Jamaica steps onto the pitch, you know you're in for a real contest," said a Cayman team representative. "There's mutual respect, but also a fierce desire to win. That's what makes this rivalry special."

Building the Next Generation of Players

Events like Hockey Fest play a crucial role in exposing young Caymanians to competitive level field hockey without leaving the island. Spectators of all ages will have the opportunity to watch high intensity play, meet teams, and experience the sport at its best.

Duplantis sparkles at first Diamond

Armand 'Mondo' Duplantis is easily the most dominant athlete in any track and field discipline right now. He has been for years, in fact.

Duplantis cruised to pole vault victory in the opening Diamond League meeting of the season in Shanghai on Saturday, but failed to improve his own world record.

It was the first of 15 Diamond League events. His indoor campaign saw him break his 15th world record indoors in Uppsala in March's 'Mondo Classic,' and become the first man to win four consecutive world indoor pole vault titles.

Duplantis's indoor campaign also featured some experimentation, as he tinkered with the technique that has flown him into untouched sporting stratospheres.

Having flirted with an altered approach of two extra strides on his run-up, the Swede suggested it was one he was willing to stick with outdoors.

"I tried a bit of a longer approach; I tried 22 steps for the first time. I hadn't really changed any part of my jump technically for the past five or six years."

Duplantis, 26, already had victory sewn up in the pole vault after just two jumps before he eased to a new Shanghai meeting record in 6.12m.

He has not lost a competition since 2023. He raised the bar to a world record 6.32m but failed with all three attempts to beat his old mark.

There was a surprise in the men's 100m as Gift Leotlela of South Africa pipped Ferdinand Omanyala and Kenneth Bednarek in a photo finish to win a Diamond League event for the first time.

High-quality women's 200m and 100m hurdles were won by Jamaica's Shericka Jackson and Olympic champion Masai Russell, respectively, but Karsten Warholm was shocked in the 300m hurdles.

Phillip helps Trinis to finally be contenders

Trinidadian seamer Anderson Phillip has spent years building his reputation the hard way, through discipline, consistency and results. Before Wednesday, his Trinidad & Tobago Red Force were on the brink of regional glory, having enjoyed one of the finest seasons of his career.

On May 20 his beloved Trinidad & Tobago Red Force went for the West Indies Championship title against defending champions Guyana Harpy Eagles. The Trinis haven't won the title for 20 years.

Phillip, 29, entered the final as the tournament's leading fast bowler with 21 wickets at an average of 17.95, including a five-wicket haul. Yet amid the excitement of spearheading a pace attack alongside Jayden Seales, Phillip credits simple principles and discipline for the transformation in his performances this season.

"I wouldn't say I did anything differently," he said. "It's just about maintaining my training and physical fitness as well. I have been bowling well for a long period of time so, it's just about continuing that and keep putting in the work and that's why the results are starting to show now."

While Trinidad & Tobago Red Force managed to take all 20 wickets against Barbados Pride at Coolidge Cricket Ground, the pacer credited the diversity and balance within the bowling attack as the foundation of the team's success.

"Bowling with Jayden is just all the motivation you need because we bowl together as a pair and we enjoy it." Phillip explained.

Rookie Castle gains his Spurs as big-game star

Stephon Castle, the San Antonio Spurs rookie, etched his name in NBA history books after the latest playoff game and looks set to be a future superstar.

Facing off against the Minnesota Timberwolves, the 21-year-old's performance stood out. With 30+ points, 10+ rebounds, 5+ assists and 5+ three-pointers, Castle created a record, making him the youngest player in NBA playoff history to achieve the feat.

He helped the Spurs to reach the Western Conference Finals for the first time since 2017. Castle said: "It feels good. It's definitely a blessing. I feel like there's somebody on our team that breaks some type of record every couple of games. So, I mean, yeah, just to be a part of that is definitely a good thing."

The Spurs faced off against the reigning NBA champs Oklahoma City Thunder in the Western Conference Finals on Monday.

SELF-DETERMINATION UNDERLINES BVI PUSH FOR CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM

The British Virgin Islands is getting ready to enter what could be a series of intense negotiations with the United Kingdom over far-reaching constitutional reforms proposed by the territory.

Following the report of the national Constitutional Review Commission (CRC), the territory's House of Assembly has selected the recommendations that will form the basis of its talks with the UK.

The broad headings cover strengthening democracy, improving accountability with stronger checks and balances, legislative oversight, public service, public efficiency and safeguarding culture and heritage services, for more scrutiny in the legislative process, for systems that work, and for protecting and preserving the VI's culture and heritage.

However, the specific demands could lead to protracted talks as BVI and UK officials prepare to delve into the details to upgrade what the BVI Premier, Dr Natalio Wheatley, calls an outdated constitution that's no longer fit for purpose.

The current BVI constitution came into effect in 2007 as part of a wide-ranging process of reviewing the constitutions of the UK Overseas Territories (OTs) in the early 2000s.

Making the case that the current BVI constitution had served its purpose "for its time", Premier Wheatley declared during a local public consultation: "The Virgin Islands has evolved. Our society has grown more complex, our economy more dynamic, and our people more empowered."

According to the Premier, the BVI needs "a constitution that will enable us to realise our aspirations without undue impediment. A constitution which is fit for purpose."

► BVI Premier Natalio Wheatley

One of the key issues for a new constitution relates to the political and governance status of the territory under the heading of 'self-determination' to be determined in a referendum before 2032.

Another specific demand calls for scaling back the current broad powers of the UK-appointed Governor, especially the Reserved Powers, which give the Governor the authority to override the elected House of Assembly. The legislators want more of the Governor's powers to be devolved to the elected representatives.

In all, the BVI Constitution Review Commission (CRC) had submitted 57 recommendations for the legislators to consider, including increasing the number of elected members in the HoA from 13 to 15, with the addition of two at-large seats. Creating a senate, adding another ministerial portfolio and extending the parliamentary term by another year to five years are also proposed.

JAMAICA POLICE IN TCI PRAISED BY HOLNESS

The Prime Minister of Jamaica, Andrew Holness, is praising the Jamaican police force - the Jamaica Constabulary Force (JCF) - as a policing model for the rest of the Caribbean.

Mr Holness made the comments in the Turks and Caicos Islands, where he visited a contingent from the JCF, deployed there to assist in suppressing a worrying crime wave.

In a social media post, he wrote: "I am in the Turks and Caicos Islands, where I am meeting with a contingent from the Jamaica Constabulary Force. These officers have been instrumental in helping to reduce crime here in the islands," he wrote. "Our officers are exceptionally well-trained, and their presence here is a testament to that training. The Government of the islands is pleased with the work these officers have been doing under the leadership of Commissioner Fitz Bailey."

The Royal Turks and Caicos Islands Police Force (RTCIPF) is headed by Jamaica-born Commissioner Bailey, who was appointed in April of this year.

In a separate comment made while inspecting a formation of the deployed Jamaican police rank-and-file assigned to the TCI, Prime Minister Holness stated: "I had the pleasure of inspecting our officers and speaking with them about the important work they have been carrying out here. It says a lot about Jamaican policing, and that the strategy that we have created to address crime in Jamaica is adaptable and can be transplanted in other areas, because the underlying challenges are the same."

Around 30 police officers from Jamaica have been assigned to the RTCIPF starting in May 2025 to address a crime surge in the British territory over the past few years. The RTCIPF is around 300 strong.

CRIME SPIKE DECLINES

Giving an on-the-spot update to the Jamaican leader in the presence of the TCI Premier, Washington Misick, Commissioner Bailey reported a dramatic drop in crime over the past year. He explained that the Turks and Caicos Islands (TCI) recorded 48 murders during 2024, which represented one of the highest murder rates per capita in Latin America and the Caribbean. In 2025, this number fell to 27—a 44 per cent reduction. Additionally, in the first quarter of 2026 (January through March), no murders were recorded.

This improved situation over the referenced time span coincides with the arrival of the deployment of 30 officers from the JCF to the TCI in May 2025.

The Turks and Caicos Islands (TCI), which has been grappling with a wave of violent crime and illegal immigration challenges, has also been supported by the UK with specialist police officers and other resources. Assistance has also been provided by the Cayman Islands via the Cayman Islands Government (CIG) through the Royal Cayman Islands Police Service (RCIPS), which last year sent a police helicopter and flight crew to the TCI to assist with the suppression and prevention of the crime surge in that sister UK overseas territory.

JA's economy shows resilience

Jamaica's economy is strengthening mainly through remittances from abroad, its robust mining sector, finance, tourism and hospitality industries.

Individuals sending money from outside of the island, according to the latest Bank of Jamaica report, is a major reason. In the first two months of 2026, remittance inflow totalled US$542 million, a 4.2% rise when compared to the same period in 2025 — and in February represented the highest inflow since February 2022.

The Bank of Jamaica report reiterated that 15.3% of Jamaica's Gross Domestic Product comes from remittance, making it a vital source of household income and national stability.

The funds overwhelmingly originate from the United States, accounting for almost two-third of the total amount. Other major contributors are Great Britain, Canada, and the Cayman Islands.

The sector's rebound for Jamaica also reflects recovery efforts in the aftermath of hurricane Melissa to help stabilize and support families. The International Monetary Fund has warned Caribbean tourism-dependent economies, warning that the ongoing Middle East conflict will deliver its sharpest economic blow to island nations already burdened by high debt and heavy reliance on energy imports.

Jamaica faces the steepest near-term pain, with a projected contraction of 1.2% before recovering to 3.1% growth in 2027.

Jamaica's mining sector remains a cornerstone of the Jamaican economy, driving 85 per cent of traditional exports and contributing significantly to national development.

Floyd Green, Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Mining, said that in the period of post-hurricane recovery and reconstruction, it is critical for the mining sector to continue advancing.

"In 2025, export earnings from our bauxite and alumina subsector were US$612 million, and we are seeing increased investor confidence where the investment in our mining sector for bauxite moved from US$251 million to US$326 million last year," he reported.

Although Hurricane Melissa significantly affected the productive capacity of the bauxite and alumina subsector companies in the industry continue to invest. Jamaica's tourism, hospitality, finance, and insurance sectors – which account for roughly 76% of GDP – remains strong too despite regional and global competition.

Guyana's 60th festivities are full of Sound, Soul and Taste

Guyana is celebrating its 60th year of independence from the United Kingdom with a series of celebrations in 2026.

President Dr Irfaan Ali has called on all 800,000 Guyanese to embrace unity and cultural diversity while delivering the feature address at the opening ceremony of the Guyana Festival 2026 at the National Stadium, Providence on Friday.

The festival, which returned after a 12-year absence, was held under the theme, 'Sound, Soul and Taste'.

Reflecting on Guyana's journey since independence in 1966, Ali acknowledged that the country's path had not been perfect, but said the nation must now focus on building stronger unity and inclusion.

Ali noted that Guyana's music, cuisine, traditions and festivals reflect a shared national identity shaped by African, Indian, Indigenous, European, Chinese and Portuguese influences.

"No nation can progress when its people are divided against themselves," he said. He also issued a direct appeal to young people, urging them not to inherit the prejudices and political divisions of previous generations in the oil-rich country.

Grenada's cricket pitch bowls over new visitors

Grenada is increasing its tourism industry through sports events and last week a cricket tournament was staged with great success.

The Grenada Tourism Authority was pleased by how the Pure Grenada Masters Cricket Tournament brought together veteran players from across the Caribbean while delivering a boost to the island's tourism sector and local economy.

The tournament attracted 60 visiting players representing four regional teams; the West Indies Masters, Trinidad's Munroe Road Masters, Guyana's North Soesdyke, and Barbados' AMAAS Masters. They competed alongside two Grenadian teams: Spice Isle Masters 1 and Spice Isle Masters 2, in a lively showcase of regional cricket talent and camaraderie.

Guyana's North Soesdyke emerged as tournament champions, while Trinidad's Munroe Road Masters secured the runner-up position.

"This is a shining example of how sports tourism can fuel our local economy and showcase our island's hospitality," said Stacey Liburd, CEO of the GTA. "By blending competition with strategic partnerships, we are creating meaningful experiences that benefit our service sectors and keep Grenada's tourism momentum strong throughout the year."

Organisers were pleased that businesses in hospitality, restaurants, and tourism-related enterprises benefited from the influx of visitors.

Get Lean, Strong & Beach-Ready This Summer

Summer vacations, beach days, and poolside weekends are right around the corner — and with them comes the desire to feel confident, energized, and comfortable in your own skin. The truth is, transforming your body doesn't happen overnight, but the good news is that the right strategy can dramatically speed up your results.

If your goal is to slim down, tighten up, and finally lose stubborn belly fat, there are two powerful changes that can make a huge impact fast: eliminating refined sugar and increasing workout intensity.

Step One: Eliminate Refined Sugar

This first step is surprisingly simple because it doesn't require you to do more — it requires you to stop doing something that's holding you back.

Cut out refined sugar completely. That means eliminating:

- Soft drinks
- Candy
- Desserts
- Sweetened coffees and lattes
- Packaged snack foods

- Sugary cereals and treats

Many people don't realize how much hidden sugar sneaks into their daily routine. Unfortunately, excess sugar is one of the fastest ways to store body fat, especially around the midsection.

Instead of starving yourself, focus on fueling your body with foods that support fat loss and energy:

- Lean proteins
- Fresh vegetables
- Healthy fats
- Nuts and seeds
- High-fiber foods

Eating balanced meals rich in protein and fiber helps control cravings, stabilize energy, and keep your metabolism working efficiently while you lose fat.

Step Two: Increase Your Workout Intensity

Now it's time to turn up the effort.

Too many people exercise at a comfortable pace and wonder why their body never changes. If your workout feels easy the entire time, your body has very little reason to adapt.

Real transformation happens when you challenge yourself.

If you can casually chat through the entire workout, barely sweat, or finish feeling exactly the same as when you started, then your intensity likely needs to improve.

Higher-intensity training helps:

- Burn more calories
- Increase fat loss
- Improve conditioning
- Preserve lean muscle
- Boost metabolism long after the workout ends

The key is to train with purpose. Push yourself during the short time you have dedicated to exercise. That temporary discomfort is often where the biggest physical changes begin.

As your fitness improves, you'll become stronger mentally and physically — and workouts that once felt difficult will become empowering.

The Fastest Way to Get Results Safely

The safest and most effective way to maximize your workouts and accelerate fat loss is to work with a qualified fitness professional who can guide you with the right training plan, accountability, and motivation.

If you're ready to feel stronger, leaner, and more confident before summer arrives, now is the time to start.

Stiltwalkers – part of One Cayman Carnival

Ever wondered who are the colourful stilt walkers seen at Cayman Carnival Batabano for the past several years?

They are a group of curious, creative, and committed young people dedicated to elevating Honduran art through a distinctive mark of innovation and originality led by Karen Irias, current director of the House of Culture in Trinidad, who, together with the creative collaboration of 15 artists, brings unique performances to life in Honduras.

Today, we proudly highlight Gabriel Díaz, a young artist with an auditory and speech disability who conveys from the heart a deep love for art. Although Gabriel is deaf, through his charisma, dedication, and expressiveness, he connects with audiences through movement and gestures, filling each of our performances with joy.

Gabriel, together with Misael Gutiérrez, José Flores, and Noel Aguirre, forms part of the Cultural Heritage of Honduras through the renowned Festival Chimeneas Gigantes. They have been a part of Cayman Carnival's Adult Parade for many years.

One Cayman Carnival invites the public to see them on Saturday 23 May as they parade all the Seven Mile Road.
