This marks another significant milestone in the paper's continued growth as we position ourselves to respond to reader requests and business demands.

With rapid changes taking place in the local and global business environment, along with constantly shifting news and current affairs agendas, Caymanian Times is committed to being flexible and responsive.

We are also broadening our content scope with the respective editions reflecting Cayman's established position as a both vital crossroad and centre of international and regional issues. While maintaining our primary focus on reporting what goes on in and about Cayman, our expanded coverage will feature more on developments in the United Kingdom which impact and are otherwise of general interest to the jurisdiction. We'll also have more on what's happening in and coming out of our main and closest trading partner, the United States. Regional issues and wider global developments of interest to our cosmopolitan Cayman readership will also be featured.

We sincerely thank our many readers, clients and other supporters for your feedback and suggestions. Each and every idea has value, and we are humbled by the continued interest and confidence in the Caymanian Times newspaper.

Also on our agenda for the future are publishing editions earlier in the week, and the prospect of returning to a daily paper.

But, as the saying goes: "One step at a time."

Caymanian Times, a changing paper for changing times.

HSM IP Presents INTA Unreal Campaign at Cayman International School

HSM IP was pleased to present the International Trademark Association's (INTA) Unreal Campaign to over 50 students at Cayman International School (CIS) on 15 May 2026.

HSM IP's Mrinali Menon (Senior IP Manager) and Shirly Ramirez (IP Fees and Agent Relations Coordinator) led the presentation, which covers the importance of trade marks, intellectual property (IP) and the dangers of counterfeit products.

The INTA Unreal Campaign is a global programme taught all over the world and is geared towards 14- to 23-year-olds. Over the years, HSM IP has delivered several of these presentations in the Cayman Islands across different schools. The last presentation was delivered to over 200 students at John Gray High School on 24 September 2025.

As part of the presentation, the students enjoyed a game of "spot a fake", where they had to guess which one was fake between two similar looking products.

Mrinali also covered the topics of plagiarism, technology, IP and the best practices concerning usage of Artificial Intelligence (AI) platforms.

HSM IP Managing Partner, Huw Moses shares, "With the evolution of Artificial Intelligence, it is becoming increasingly harder to identify fake products and even identities. This presentation is an interactive way to connect with the younger generation to help combat counterfeits and protect creative works."

HSM IP provides worldwide Intellectual Property (IP) services and specialises in Caribbean IP, including trade marks, patents, designs and more. Based in the Cayman Islands, their team delivers first-class services to a broad client base which includes major Fortune 500 brand owners, international law firms and other specialist IP practices.

Caribbean Utilities Company Ltd. Recognised with Multiple Top Honors at Inaugural CARILEC Awards of Excellence

Caribbean Utilities Company, Ltd. (CUC) is appreciative of the recognition by the Caribbean Electric Utility Services Corporation ("CARILEC") this week at the CARILEC CEO's and Leadership Conference 2026, where the Company received three major awards at the inaugural CARILEC Awards of Excellence. CUC is especially proud to have been one of three utilities to win the award for the Overall Best Performing Utility.

CUC was honored with:

- Overall Best Performing Utility (Gold Award)
- Best Service Reliability (Gold Award)
- Best Environmental Performance (Gold Award, shared)

The CARILEC Awards of Excellence, introduced in 2026, recognises outstanding performance and achievement across the Caribbean electric utility sector, using data submitted by member utilities through CARILEC's Benchmarking and Tariff Reports.

The Overall Best Performing Utility Award, recognises exceptional all-round performance across key operational, financial, service, safety, environmental and sustainability indicators. The award celebrates a utility that demonstrates excellence, resilience, innovation, and strong leadership in serving its customers and advancing the regional energy sector. CUC's first place in this category demonstrates the significant effort the Company has put forward in an effort to abide by its mission: To be a leader in the growth of our community by delivering safe, reliable energy services at competitive costs, and with respect to the environment while being a model corporate citizen and providing a fair return to our shareholders.

In addition, CUC received the Service Reliability Award. This award recognizes a utility that has demonstrated outstanding performance in delivering consistent, dependable electricity service to customers.

The award highlights a utility that demonstrates the importance of strong system reliability, effective outage management and continuous investment in resilient infrastructure to keep communities powered and connected.

The Company's recognition for Environmental Performance recognizes a utility demonstrating exceptional commitment to sustainability, environmental stewardship, and responsible energy practices. CARILEC described the award as recognition of efforts to reduce environmental impact, enhance operational sustainability, and support the Caribbean's transition to cleaner, more resilient energy systems. This award reflects CUC's efforts to reduce environmental impact, improve operational sustainability, and contribute to the Caribbean's transition toward cleaner, more resilient energy systems.

Together, these accolades not only affirm CUC's commitment to operational excellence but also bring significant recognition to Grand Cayman as a high-performing and forward-thinking market within the regional energy sector. The awards reinforce that CUC operates at a standard comparable with the very best utilities in the region, strengthening Cayman's reputation for innovation, reliability, and leadership and a catalyst for economic growth.

"We are extremely proud of these achievements through the dedication, expertise, and commitment of our team and we are especially pleased to be recognized by our peers and colleagues within the industry in the region," said President and CEO, Mr. Richard Hew. "Our Company aims to provide excellent service to our customers through innovative projects that drive real value and we are proud to represent the Cayman Islands on the regional stage and to contribute to advancing energy excellence across the Caribbean."

CUC remains committed to delivering reliable, sustainable, and high-quality energy solutions while continuing to invest in the future of Cayman's energy infrastructure.

One Cayman Carnival 2026 – when colour and dancing filled the streets

By Christopher Tobutt

By early afternoon the heat lay thick over George Town. Still, people gathered along the road side, lining the waterfront road all the way from Fort Street to Governor's Square and Seven Mile Beach – where the parade would end as the shadows started getting longer. They had come to see a spectacle, and they weren't disappointed.

No one wanted to leave their spot. Everyone knew what was coming.

It began as a low tremor, a bass note rolling up from Memorial Avenue, the kind of sound that enters through the soles of your feet before it reaches your ears. Heads turned. Phones lifted. The crowd leaned forward as the first music truck swung into view, towering with speaker stacks that looked like black cliffs. The DJ's voice cracked through the air — rough, commanding, electric — and the whole street was shaking with rhythm.

Then the carnival arrived. A giant, glittering, many coloured creature of feathers, sequins, and bodies in motion, winding its way up towards West Bay Road. Cayman Fantasy Float was there, a burst of ocean blues and golds, wings unfurling like exotic birds caught mid flight. Their costumes shimmered with reef colours — coral pinks, deep sea blues, the pale green of sandbars — and the masqueraders moved as if the road itself were water.

Icons Truck followed, and with it a moment that caught the crowd: a portrait of Reba Dilbert, the beloved Caymanian carnival costume designer who passed away recently, smiling from the side of the float. She had dressed generations of carnival dancers, stitched joy into fabric year after year, and her presence on the truck felt like a blessing on the road.

Pinnacle Mas swept in, a tide of nautical blues and gold accents celebrating Cayman's seafaring heritage — ropes, shells, compass points glinting in the sun. Walton Premier Mas bloomed behind them with "Botanical Cayman," a garden in motion: orchids, hibiscus, and lush green fronds rising from feathered collars and head-dresses.

Soca Not Seizures brought a burst of purple and silver, a fierce, defiant message from Fete For A Cause and The Grey Area. The Cayman Spirits Company float rolled through in a blaze of branded colour and high energy, dancers swirling around it like flames.

Then came the giants — three towering stilt walkers, carnival titans in metallic blue, green, and gold trousers that shimmered like waterfalls as they strode above the crowd. Children gasped. Adults pointed. The giants bowed, spun, and dipped with impossible grace, their hats brushing the branches of the roadside trees.

Corsairs stormed the road in black and red, a pirate band with swagger in every step. Legacy Mas was there too, with "Spirit of the Seas," turquoise and pearl costumes catching the sunlight. Tribal Carnival's "Island Butterfly" fluttered behind them, lots of neon wings and iridescent gradients shifting with every movement.

The music never let up — old school soca on one truck, rapid fire riddims on the next, DJs shouting instructions, teasing the crowd, whipping the masqueraders into motion. The noise was constant, joyful, overwhelming in the best way.

As the serpent of colour wound its way up West Bay Road toward Public Beach, the sun dipped just enough to soften the light, turning the feathers into halos. Thousands moved together — dancers, spectators, giants, drummers, wanderers — all part of one long, glittering river of celebration. For a few hours, the road belonged to colour, to rhythm, to Cayman.

Opposition Responds to Government's "Meaningful Momentum" Report

The Opposition welcomes the positive initiatives noted in the Government's first-year anniversary report, including expanded early childhood education support, energy relief measures, and continued fiscal stability.

Where things have been done, it is right to acknowledge them.

However, Caymanians will also fairly ask an important question: after one year in office, how much of this report reflects real delivery versus plans, consultations, reviews and future intentions?

Much of the "Meaningful Momentum" Report shows little real momentum and instead outlines policies being developed, frameworks being reviewed, committees being established, or projects still listed as "in progress" or "upcoming." While planning matters, Caymanians ultimately measure Government performance against the realities they face every day.

The Government itself identified major national priorities in its Strategic Policy Statement and Budget, including lowering the cost of living, lowering healthcare costs, resolving the affordable housing crisis, modernising immigration, improving education outcomes, investing in infrastructure, addressing environmental deterioration, and modernising public services. Caymanians will judge this Government not by the number of reports issued or consultations held, but by whether meaningful progress is being delivered on those core promises.

For many families, the real measure of success is whether life is becoming more affordable, and many Caymanians still do not feel meaningful relief in their daily expenses. Indeed, following Parliamentary Questions from the Opposition, the Government itself acknowledged that inflationary pressures and costs are expected to continue rising this year and next. The cost of groceries, housing, insurance, utilities and everyday living continues to place significant pressure on working families and seniors alike. Meanwhile, the promised review into lowering health insurance and healthcare costs has yet to meaningfully get underway.

Affordable housing remains out of reach for many working Caymanians. Traffic congestion continues to affect productivity and quality of life, and we are no closer to tangible improvements to public transportation. Questions also remain about the Government's ability to deliver timely solutions to long-standing national challenges.

The clearest example is waste management. After one year, Caymanians still do not have a fully delivered long-term solution to the landfill crisis, despite repeated announcements, reviews and restructuring. Given that much of the current Government has had ongoing involvement with this issue for over six years, Caymanians are entitled to expect clearer direction, greater urgency, and more visible progress. The public continues to expect clear answers, firm timelines and decisive action on one of the country's most pressing environmental and public health concerns.

Similarly, merely touting a new housing policy and a 10-year strategic plan are not, by themselves, actual homes. Caymanians want to know how many affordable homes are actually being delivered, when they will be delivered, and at what cost. Resolving the affordable housing crisis affecting Caymanians requires measurable delivery, not simply long-term policy documents. Despite repeated commitments, housing affordability has continued to worsen for many Caymanian families.

The current Minister has effectively held responsibility for housing for six years and has consistently described affordable housing as a national priority. Yet three years after the Opposition Leader, Hon. Joey Hew, brought forward proposals and a motion addressing affordable housing solutions, Caymanians are still waiting to see large-scale implementation and measurable delivery.

The Government deserves credit where progress has genuinely been achieved. But reports and announcements alone do not reduce grocery bills, shorten traffic delays, lower housing costs, or resolve the daily pressures facing ordinary Caymanians.

After a full year in office, Caymanians are entitled to expect not only vision documents and policy frameworks, but measurable outcomes and visible improvements in their daily lives.

The Opposition will continue to support initiatives that genuinely benefit the people of the Cayman Islands while also holding the Government accountable for ensuring that promises are translated into real, timely and effective delivery.

As the Government enters its second year in office, the focus must now shift from rhetoric and groundwork to implementation, measurable progress and tangible results for Caymanian families across all three islands. The Opposition will continue to insist on accountability and will closely monitor whether the Government delivers the positive change Caymanians were promised. Because Caymanians need results and not "Meaningful Momentum"

A Tribute to the Hon. James Ryan, CBE, JP: A Master Builder of the Civil Service and the Brae.

By Lucille Seymour

Today, we mourn the loss of the Honourable James Ryan, CBE, JP. While there is a profound sadness in losing a man of his stature on this earth, we are comforted by the enduring legacy of his service and the indelible mark he left on our hearts and our nation.

Just a few weeks ago, we met at his home.

He greeted us with his characteristic courtesy, his quick wit, and a phenomenal memory that brought the past vividly to life.

He led us in remembering days gone by, remaining jovial and sharp, making absolutely no reference to his own pains or sufferings. Instead, he was jolly; he took photos with us, squeezed our hands, and gave us that ubiquitous smile and gentle farewell. The moments we spent there allowed us to see the true substance of the man—prepared and ready to see the Friend he had worshipped for so long.

► James Ryan

Now that he has passed, it is only fitting to expand upon his life in a tribute worthy of his honour.

A Teacher and a Pioneer

James Ryan was a pioneer who rose from our very ranks to take the highest civil service post under the Governor. He served us with a strategic mind, always driven by a desire to see the service improve. In doing so, he shaped the destiny of the civil service in Cayman Brae, perfecting a unique management system of actions and programmes. It is because of his vision that the Brae stands as the only district that bears its own distinct district budget within our parliamentary budget.

ECAP Expands Support for Caymanian Families

The Ministry of Education and Training has broadened the threshold of support in its Early Childhood Assistance Programme (ECAP) aimed at expanding access and strengthening support for Caymanian families.

Under the updated policy, families who exceed the current income threshold may now still be considered for support under a new financial hardship provision. Households with a monthly income above CI$5,500 may qualify for basic funding if they can demonstrate that essential living expenses—such as accommodation, food, utilities, and transportation—account for 90% or more of their income. Applications under this category will be assessed based on documented evidence and reviewed by the ECAP Oversight Committee, with approvals granted for a defined period where appropriate and subject to budget availability.

In addition, funding amounts have also been increased to better reflect the cost of early childhood education, with basic funding now set at CI$625 per month and supplementary funding at CI$937 per month.

Designated third parties are also now permitted to apply for ECAP on behalf of a parent or legal guardian, providing greater flexibility and support for families who may need assistance navigating the application process.

REVISED POLICY

The revised policy aligns with the Government's Strategic Policy Statement 2026–2028, supporting equitable access to high-quality education and reinforcing the Government's commitment to enhancing early childhood support.

Minister for Education and Training, Hon. Rolston Anglin, stated:

"The updates to ECAP reflect our commitment to ensuring that no Caymanian child is left behind due to financial circumstances. By introducing greater flexibility for families experiencing financial hardship, increasing funding support, and making the application process more accessible, we are investing not only in our children, but in the future strength and resilience of our country. Early childhood education is one of the most impactful investments we can make as a nation."

Applications for ECAP for the 2026/27 academic year opened on 1 April 2026 and will close on 31 March 2027. Families who apply by 31 July will receive notification of an outcome via email by early September. Parents and guardians can review eligibility requirements and submit applications online at moeapplications.gov.ky.

For more information, please email the Ministry's Early Childhood Care and Education Unit at ecap@gov.ky or call 244-3155 or 244-3151. The updated ECAP policy can be viewed at <https://gov.ky/web/moet/publications>

Accompanying Minister DaCosta will be Deputy Postmaster General Melissa Martinez-Ebanks.

The 2026 Conference will be held under the theme "Leading for Resilience - Transforming Caribbean Post for a Connected Future." The event will bring together Ministers responsible for postal affairs, Postmasters General, and senior postal administrators from across the Caribbean to discuss the development and modernisation of postal services and to strengthen regional cooperation among member countries.

As part of the conference programme, Minister DaCosta is scheduled to participate as a panellist in a discussion on "Postal Services as Critical National Infrastructure", focusing on trade facilitation, inclusion, connectivity, government policy, and investment. The panel will examine the evolving role of postal services in supporting national resilience, cross-border commerce, public access, and regional development.

"Postal services remain an essential part of national connectivity and resilience," Minister DaCosta said. "For small island states, the post is more than a delivery network. It supports engagement and inclusion across our communities, enables small businesses to connect with international markets, and forms part of the wider border control and trade facilitation infrastructure that helps keep our Islands secure."

Minister DaCosta is expected to highlight the Cayman Islands' experience in postal modernisation, including legislative reforms, innovative solutions for small and micro businesses, affordable and predictable shipping options, and electronic customs data, with a call for deliberate regional cooperation in addressing logistics and cross-border information-exchange challenges affecting Caribbean postal networks.

The Minister's participation reflects the Cayman Islands Government's commitment to strengthening regional partnerships, supporting resilient public infrastructure, and advancing the continued modernisation of the Cayman Islands Postal Service as a trusted, accessible, and strategically important public service across all three Islands.

► Prime Minister Philip Davis

In the Bahamas, the ruling Progressive Liberal Party (PLP) of Prime Minister Philip Davis is settling into a second consecutive term in office following victory in the May 12th general election. The snap poll, six months ahead of the due date in October, saw the PLP winning 33 of the 41 seats in the House of Assembly, one more than in the previous term. The other eight were picked up by the main opposition Free National Movement (FNM).

The PLP's second-term win is the first time a Bahamian political party has won two consecutive general elections since 1997.

Returning Prime Minister Philip Davis stated: "To Bahamians who voted today, but did not vote for us, I want you to know I've listened to you, I've heard you, and I want you to know that I will continue to work hard for all Bahamians."

Opposition FNM leader Michael Pintard was magnanimous in defeat, saying: "The Bahamian people made their choice, in a democracy that is the only voice that ultimately matters."

The PLP is reported to have called the election early to avoid the hurricane season. Memories are still fresh in the country from the devastating direct hit by Hurricane Dorian in 2019 and Hurricane Melissa last year. Dorian was one of the strongest Atlantic hurricanes ever recorded and the strongest to ever hit the Bahamas.

This year's election was contested mainly around issues pertaining to the economy, with the cost of living and housing among the main platform issues. On the foreign policy front, balancing relations with the United States and China was a key talking point.

A low voter turnout of 58 per cent has been noted as a point of concern for the country's election managers and independent external observers.

Also noteworthy coming out of last Tuesday's election was the defeat of former Prime Minister Hubert Minnis, who had also lost the 2021 election as leader of the FNM. This year, he lost his seat and will be out of the House of Assembly for the first time in about 20 years. The former Bahamian leader ran as an independent after his party, the FNM, refused to include him in their list of candidates.

Jamaica shoots for movie highs

Jamaica is focusing on its film industry for greater economic growth.

Prime Minister Andrew Holness said that the island has the talent, stories, locations and cultural influence needed to build a respected and globally competitive film industry.

"When films are produced locally, the benefits of it spreads across the economy," Holness said. He was speaking at the screening of the Jamaican film 'Love Offside' in Kingston on Friday.

The romance drama, produced by The Limners and Bards Limited (The LAB) was supported by the Jamaica Screen Development Initiative, which is a billion-dollar fund managed by Jamaica Promotions Corporation (JAMPRO).

Holness said: "Love Offside shows what can happen when Jamaican creatives take up the challenge of building at home. Produced entirely in Jamaica, the film places our country at the centre of the story. It showcases not only our landscapes but also our people, our moves, our language, our relationships and our distinct sense of place.

In that sense, Jamaica is part of the story itself.

"Jamaica has long been recognised as a cultural superpower, but we have not always converted that into structured economic opportunity."

Kimala Bennett, Chief Executive Officer of The LAB, said there is a real opportunity for Jamaica and the Caribbean generally to expand economically.

"Story telling is no longer [just] entertainment. It is one of the most powerful economic engines in the world."

She said that The Lab has recently launched a YouTube channel, LAB Studio Originals, and the movie 'Happily Ever Awkward' generated over 350,000 organic views in under two months, reaching audiences in more than 70 countries and territories, with 85,000 viewers from outside of Jamaica.

She added that 'Love Offside' is just one film of many projects at The LAB studios and the company is building a Caribbean content ecosystem that will grow exponentially.

Grenada blooms again at the Chelsea Flower Show

Grenada is primarily known as the 'Spice Island' for its wonderful range of spices, but its foliage is world class too, confirmed by securing another gold medal at London's Chelsea Flower Show in the UK for the ninth consecutive year.

This was Grenada's 19th gold medal overall.

Grenada's 2026 display, titled 'Isle of Spice – A Display of Tropical Flowers, Foliage and Spices', spotlighted the vibrant flora, rich biodiversity and cultural heritage of Grenada, Carriacou and Petite Martinique.

Displayed in the Great Pavilion at the world's most prestigious horticultural event, the immersive display featured orchids, heliconias, ginger lilies, anthuriums, cocoa and the island's signature spices, including nutmeg.

The High Commission for Grenada and the Grenada Tourism Authority hosted a special reception titled 'Tropical Bloom' at the International Maritime Organisation in London. This marked the official launch of the Grenada Flower and Garden Festival, which is set to take place from 8-15 November 2026.

Caribbean Airlines will soon reduce its network

Travel around the Caribbean has become harder for tourists, the adventurous and business minded alike because Caribbean Airlines is about to significantly scale down its network.

From June 1, Caribbean Airlines will discontinue services between Dominica and Suriname, St Kitts and Suriname as well as Ogle in Guyana and Suriname. This is a significant reduction for one of the region's most important intra-Caribbean carriers.

The airline also confirmed it will reduce flights to Martinique and Guadeloupe to a twice-weekly service. St Lucia, Barbados and Antigua and Barbuda are all affected too.

The latest cuts underscore the reality of Caribbean aviation; that even short regional routes remain difficult to sustain consistently.

The airline revealed that it is working on a new codeshare agreement with another regional carrier, which would expand destination options through coordinated schedules and integrated ticketing. "Once finalised and approved," a spokesman said, "the agreement is expected to give customers "access to a wider network of destinations."

Caribbean Airlines said passengers holding bookings beyond the affected cut off dates will be contacted directly either by the airline or through travel advisors.

The Cayman Islands Equestrian Federation (CIEF) is delighted to congratulate Cayman Islands rider Sierra Martin on her exceptional performance at the recent CDI Junior competition held at the World Equestrian Center in Ocala, Florida.

Competing against a strong international field, Sierra demonstrated remarkable skill, composure and consistency across all phases of competition. Riding Giulietta, a talented and experienced dressage mare graciously leased to her by Diamante Farms of Wellington, Florida, Sierra achieved an outstanding set of results:

1st Place – Junior Individual Competition (65.392%)

1st Place – Junior Freestyle to Music (67.300%)

2nd Place – Junior Team Competition (63.838%)

These results mark a significant achievement for Sierra and for Cayman Islands equestrian sport, reflecting her dedication, discipline and continued progression on the international stage.

The Federation extends its sincere appreciation to Diamante Farms for their generosity in providing Giulietta, enabling Sierra to compete at this level. The success of this partnership underscores the importance of international collaboration in supporting the development of talented Caymanian riders.

“Sierra’s performances in Ocala were truly outstanding,” said Sandra Gowrie, Secretary General of the CIEF. “To achieve podium finishes across all classes is a testament to her hard work, commitment and talent. We are incredibly proud to see her represent the Cayman Islands with such excellence.”

Sierra’s accomplishments not only highlight her individual success but also serve as an inspiration to young riders throughout the Cayman Islands. CIEF remains committed to supporting its athletes as they pursue excellence and represent the nation in international competition.

Cayman Islands karate athlete Lucas Jackson wins elite Silver in Miami Open Cayman Islands karate athlete Lucas Jackson won a silver medal in the elite Junior Kata division in the Miami Open, leading a delegation of local athletes who together secured 6 medals.

The 20th Annual Miami Open Karate International Championship drew nearly 700 athletes to South Florida on Saturday and Sunday, 16-17 May, to compete in one of the largest recurring karate events to take place in the United States.

Cayman was represented by a team of 9 athletes, who won 1 silver and 5 bronze medals during the competition. The team's age ranged from 6-17 years old.

The highlight of the tournament for Cayman was Jackson's performance in his Kata division (16-17 year olds), where he bested competitors from the U.S. and Trinidad before getting edged out in the gold medal match by an athlete from the Dominican Republic who was last year's Junior Pan American Karate champion.

"It's been amazing to see Lucas' progress since he joined our National Training Programme at its inception more than 6 years ago. He's leveled up his performance significantly over the past year, and has now secured Gold and Silver medals in his last two competitions in the U.S.," said Patrick Brendel, coach of the Cayman Islands National Karate-Do Association (CINKA). "Congratulations to Lucas and all of our athletes who competed well during a tournament that always features an extremely challenging field."

The Miami Open drew competitors from the highest levels, including top athletes on Team USA and from 25 other countries around the globe.

In addition to the medal winners, several Cayman athletes advanced to Bronze Medal rounds before being defeated and securing 5th place finishes.

On the Friday before the event, 4 Cayman athletes participate in an elite Kata (forms) seminar led by Ariel Torres of the U.S. and Grace Lau Mo-sheung of Hong Kong. Torres and Lau each won bronze medals in kata during the 2020 Tokyo Olympics, and are currently ranked #2 and #1, respectively, in the world.

The same day, another teenage Cayman athlete participated in an elite Kumite (fighting) seminar led by Team USA Captain Tom Scott, who is an Olympian and world champion.

Here are the medal results for Cayman athletes in the Miami Open:

- Apreutesei, Chloe Grace
 - 7 & under Girls Novice Kata - BRONZE

- Park, Lily-Michael
 - Age 8 Girls Novice Kata - BRONZE

Final Week: Bulk Waste Collection Moves to North Side, East End & Sister Islands

Residents of East End, as well as those living in Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, are reminded to get their bulk waste ready for collection this week as the solid waste team from the Department of Environmental is operating in their areas.

During the last week of this year's Bulk Waste Collection Schedule, collection teams will be deployed to the North Side, East End and the sister islands simultaneously until Saturday, May 30, 2026. Residents are urged to prepare, separate, and get their items ready for collection. Any bulk waste that is put out after the announced dates will not be collected as there will not be any extension of the schedule.

DEH Director, Mr. Richard Simms, expressed his gratitude to the public as the annual clean-up nears completion. "I want to sincerely thank the residents across all districts for their excellent cooperation and collaboration over the past three weeks," Mr. Simms said. "As we enter this fourth and final week, I urge everyone in the remaining communities to take full advantage of this service. Properly disposing of these large items now is a critical step in our preparedness plans, ensuring we clear potential airborne hazards and debris from our properties ahead of the upcoming hurricane season."

The Department is also reminding Bodden Town residents that Saturday, May 23, 2026, was the last day for the collection in their area and no additional bulk waste must be placed as it will be considered littering or illegal dumping.

Following the completion of the bulk waste collection in the Bodden Town District, the DEH Solid Waste crews will move on to North Side, East End and the Sister Islands for the last week of the schedule, as indicated below.

Bulk waste refers to large items such as old furniture and metal items that are not collected as part of the DEH's weekly residential pick-up services.

Metal and vegetative waste must be separated from other bulk waste items. Meanwhile, construction and demolition debris, hazardous material, electronics, and tyres as will not be collected during the bulk waste removal activity. Alternative arrangements must be made to transport these materials to the George Town Landfill or the landfill drop-off facility at the
