Progressives decline government invitation

The main opposition People's Progressive Movement (PPM/Progressives) has declined an invitation from the ruling NCF-C (National Coalition For Caymanians) government to participate in a policy summit focused on resolving ongoing issues between the CPA (Central Planning Authority) and the NCC (National Conservation Council).

In a press release signed by Progressives leader Joey Hew, the party says it chose not to accept the request: "Not because we oppose reform - we agree that the current situation requires attention and that greater clarity and certainty are needed. However, we believe it is the Government's responsibility to develop policy and bring proposals before Parliament."

According to the PPM/Progressives, "The Opposition's role is to review, challenge, improve, and hold Government accountable for those proposals."

However, it says that the process must take place through the proper constitutional and legislative channels, where decisions can be openly debated and scrutinized.

PROGRESSIVES DECLINE GOVERNMENT INVITATION – HIGHLIGHTS THE ROLE OF OPPOSITION

The main opposition party says it is calling on the Premier and Cabinet to provide “clear policy direction, resolve internal disagreements, and bring any proposed reforms before Parliament for full public discussion and accountability.”

In a letter to Hon. Premier Andre Ebanks, Mr Hew outlined: “While we appreciate the effort that has gone into designing the process, we have reservations regarding the role envisaged for the Official Opposition. The materials indicate that the initiative is intended to develop reform options, a shared decision-making framework, and ultimately a reform roadmap addressing legislative, regulatory, policy and procedural matters.”

ROLES AND TRANSPARENCY

The Leader of the Opposition went on to point out that: “In our parliamentary system, the development of Government policy is fundamentally the responsibility of Cabinet and Ministers.”

He stressed: “Our concern is not with the objective of the exercise, but rather with the governance structure through which it is being conducted. Indeed, if the Government has reached the stage where legislative and policy reforms are being contemplated, we believe there is a strong case for those discussions to be advanced through established parliamentary mechanisms, such as a Select Committee or a Committee of the Whole House, where evidence may be received transparently, submissions recorded, and recommendations debated openly in a manner consistent with parliamentary accountability.”

According to the PPM/Progressives, the people of the Cayman Islands deserve transparency, not closed-door discussions. “They deserve to know who is shaping policy, what proposals are being considered, and how decisions affecting their future are being made. The people of the Cayman Islands deserve transparency, not closed-door discussions. They deserve to know who is shaping policy, what proposals are being considered, and how decisions affecting their future are being made.”

It adds that it remains ready to participate “in a genuine, transparent, and bipartisan process” to resolve these longstanding conflicts in the best interests of the Caymanian people. “The Opposition will not participate in a process that removes these important discussions from public view or blurs the lines of accountability. Government must govern. Parliament must scrutinize. Transparency matters.”

The party’s letter to the Premier says, while they remain willing to review any proposals that emerge from the Government’s consideration of these matters and to participate fully in any subsequent parliamentary process, “we do not believe it is appropriate for the Official Opposition to participate in the formulation of Government policy under the structure presently proposed.”

Small surface fire at George Town Landfill extinguished

The Ministry of Health, Environment and Sustainability (MHES) advised that a small surface fire detected at the George Town Landfill on June 3rd was quickly contained and has been fully extinguished. The Department of Environmental Health (DEH) identified the fire on the north side of the landfill during routine monitoring activities. DEH teams responded immediately and successfully extinguished the fire.

The Cayman Islands Fire Service (CIFS) was notified in accordance with standard operating procedures. However, DEH personnel responded immediately and successfully extinguished the fire before any assistance from CIFS was required.

The fire was confined to a small surface area and was contained before it could spread. Landfill operations continue as normal, and DEH personnel are conducting ongoing assessments and monitoring as part of established fire prevention and mitigation protocols.

Minister for Health, Environment and Sustainability, Katherine Ebanks-Wilks, reassured the public that robust monitoring and response measures remain in place at the landfill.

“I want to reassure the public that this incident was identified and addressed quickly through routine monitoring conducted by the Department of Environmental Health. The DEH team will continue to take all necessary steps to mitigate risks and safeguard nearby communities and the environment. I would also like to thank the Fire Service for their usual support and swift response to these surface fires. The improved mitigation measures will not completely remove fire risks but the swift response today proves that these new procedures are effective. We remain committed to maintaining safe operations at the George Town Landfill.”

Acting Chief Officer, Exie Tomlinson-Panton, commended DEH staff for their swift response.

“I would like to thank the DEH team for their prompt action and professionalism in responding to this incident. Their quick identification of the fire and immediate intervention ensured that it was extinguished before it could spread. Today’s response demonstrates the value of ongoing monitoring, preparedness and the dedication of our operational teams who work every day to protect public health and the environment.”

MHES assures the public that there are no immediate threats to nearby properties, residents or the environment. As a precaution, DEH crews remain on site to monitor the area and ensure there is no re-ignition. The Ministry continues to work closely with the DEH to support ongoing monitoring and mitigation efforts at the landfill.

Cayman Islands Director of Tourism Rosa Harris Inducted into Caribbean Tourism Organization's Female Leadership Hall of Fame

Honour recognises a visionary Caymanian leader whose work has advanced Caribbean tourism, championed women across the industry, and elevated the Cayman Islands on the global tourism stage.

The Cayman Islands Department of Tourism is proud to announce that Rosa Harris, Director of Tourism, has been honored as a founding inductee of the Caribbean Tourism Organization's (CTO) Female Leadership Hall of Fame. The induction took place on Monday, 1 June 2026, during CTO Caribbean Week in New York City at the InterContinental New York Times Square.

The CTO Female Leadership Hall of Fame celebrates women across the Caribbean region and beyond whose vision, dedication, and leadership have made exceptional and lasting contributions to Caribbean tourism. The honour places Director Harris among a distinguished group of women whose work has shaped the trajectory of the region's most important industry and recognises her as one of the most influential Caymanian voices in Caribbean tourism today.

Director Harris's induction recognises a body of visionary leadership that has touched every part of Caribbean tourism. As the immediate past Chairman of the CTO Board of Directors, she was instrumental in championing women in tourism and placing female leadership at the forefront of the organisation, including the appointment of the first-ever female Secretary General of the CTO, Donna Regis-Prosper. She also led the visionary transformation of the CTO through its 'Reimagine' initiative, a forward-looking effort to modernise the organisation for the next generation of Caribbean tourism. Last year at CTO Caribbean Week, she received the prestigious Director of the Year Award at the annual Women in Caribbean Tourism Awards.

A Caymanian voice shaping the future of Caribbean tourism

As a Caymanian who has risen to lead at the highest levels of regional tourism, Director Harris has used her platform to elevate the voice of small island destinations, deepen regional collaboration, and model what is possible when Caribbean talent is given space to lead on the global stage. Her career stands as a source of pride for the Cayman Islands and as an example for the next generation of Caymanian tourism professionals, particularly young women, entering the industry. Through her leadership, the Cayman Islands has not only strengthened its own position as a globally respected destination, but has also contributed meaningfully to the strategy, standards, and direction of Caribbean tourism as a whole.

"Rosa Harris' induction into the CTO Female Leadership Hall of Fame is a proud and well-deserved moment, for her personally, and for the Cayman Islands' tourism industry," said the Hon. Gary Ruddy, Deputy Premier and Minister for Tourism and Trade Development.

"As a Caymanian who has led with vision, integrity, and unwavering commitment to her country and her region, Director Harris has brought tremendous credit to the Cayman Islands. For more than a decade, she has been a driving force behind the strategy, partnerships, and global positioning that have brought the Cayman Islands to its strongest tourism period on record, while also shaping the future of Caribbean tourism through her leadership at the CTO. On behalf of the Government and people of the Cayman Islands, I extend our warmest congratulations on this historic recognition."

A decade of impact at home

In her 13 years as Director of Tourism, Director Harris has been a driving force in shaping the Cayman Islands' global tourism strategy. Her leadership has overseen significant milestones for the destination, including the record-breaking 2025/2026 winter season, the strongest winter for stayover visitation in the Cayman Islands' history, and the best four-month start to a year ever recorded. Under her direction, the Cayman Islands has continued to grow as a premium, globally competitive destination, supported by data-driven marketing, strategic airlift development, deep travel trade engagement, and an enduring commitment to the people and partners who make Cayman tourism work.

The Cayman Islands Department of Tourism team, both at home and across the world, extends its warmest congratulations to Director Harris on this historic recognition. Her induction into the CTO Female Leadership Hall of Fame stands as a reflection of the values, vision, and partnerships that continue to drive Cayman tourism forward and as a powerful example of Caymanian excellence shaping the future of tourism across the region.

SAHARA DUST BRINGS HAZY DAYS WITH HEALTH RISKS

The Cayman Islands National Weather Service (CINWS) lifted its Dust Alert as conditions improved across the islands.

Following comprehensive testing, the Ministry of Health, Environment and Sustainability, the Public Health Department, and the Department of Environmental Health confirmed that air quality remains safely within the Good to Moderate range. However, while conditions continue to clear, health officials advise proceeding cautiously and have issued guidance for the public to follow.

For the general public, normal activities resumed, but persons should move indoors and seek medical attention if they experience persistent coughing or wheezing. For vulnerable groups - meaning individuals with asthma or respiratory conditions - they should minimize prolonged outdoor exertion and keep prescribed medications handy. Otherwise, for indoor settings, the public is advised to keep windows and doors closed where feasible and set air conditioning systems to recirculate indoor air.

The Ministry of Health, Environment and Sustainability (MHES), Public Health

Department (PHD), and the Department of Environmental Health (DEH) reported that air quality readings across Grand Cayman during the current Saharan dust event (during the reporting period) remained within the Good to Moderate range of the United States Air Quality Index (US AQI).

They also confirmed that there have been no locations recording readings in the 'unhealthy' or higher categories.

REGIONAL IMPACT

According to the Caribbean Institute for Meteorology and Hydrology (CIMH), significant amounts of dust travel across the northern tropical Atlantic to the Caribbean from the Sahara region. The agency explains that these dust concentrations in the Caribbean often exceed United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) standards for particulate matter, which could have serious implications for human health in the region. It also notes that air pollution has become a major issue in the Caribbean because of urban development, increased vehicle emissions, and growing industrialisation. However, the (CIMH) says that many countries in the Caribbean do not have routine air quality monitoring programmes, and several do not have or enforce air quality standards.

Regarding the most recent Sahara dust plume in the area, the European Union's Copernicus Atmosphere Monitoring Service reported that at the end of May 2026, a large Saharan dust plume stretched from the west coast of Africa towards the Americas. Countries such as Cabo Verde saw declining air quality as the dust plume passed over the region.

It said there was a large dust plume stretching across the North Atlantic and reaching the Caribbean Sea, impacting the Eastern Caribbean, Puerto Rico, Cuba, Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Jamaica, and the Cayman Islands.

THE ARCHITECTS OF PARADISE: A Call to Cayman

By Lucille Seymour, MBE, BEM, JP, HON, PhD Humanities

I make it a point to regularly attend the cultural and government events held across our islands. They evoke my cultural inheritance, carrying me gently back to the days of my childhood. I compel myself to go, even though doing so sometimes brings a sudden stream of heavy emotion—and yes, even pain.

Recently, while visiting the post office and wandering along the harbor town, I was struck by a stark, unsettling contrast.

I watched the elderly international tourists visiting our shores. I saw these seniors cruising around our town in wheelchairs or moving slowly with limited mobility. Some were coughing; many could not walk well, appearing frail or relying on the steadying hands of friends and family. Others leaned heavily on walking sticks. Yet, they were fighting through their physical limitations, tendering ashore, absolutely determined to experience the beauty of our island.

Witnessing these visitors fight just to come ashore elevates something deep within me. As an older person myself—a cancer survivor who has overcome Stevens-Johnson disease and survived major surgery—this sight gives me an incredible impetus. It fills me with a wonderful passion for life.

Yet, it also brings me to a heavy, unavoidable realization regarding our own people.

The Gift of Independence vs. The Reality of Isolation

Unbeknownst to many, whilst I understand that many of my own age group, or those somewhat older, must depend entirely on children, family, or caregivers just to take them anywhere, I am blessed. Unlike them, I still possess the precious freedom of independence and the wherewithal to make decisions for myself.

And so, I must stand up and ask the burning questions for those who are currently left without a voice:

- Who is making the decisions so that my senior local colleagues have the freedom to visit cultural and healthy events?
- Who is making those critical decisions to ensure our elders survive well and do not remain trapped, housebound, and isolated?
- Who is deciding to bring them into intellectual company where they can relive great experiences and actively enhance their longevity?
- Who is creating the pathways allowing them to once again be an active part of, and hand down, their invaluable place in cultural Cayman?
- Who is making the decisions to enable them to live well, to come out, to enjoy, and to coexist within an intergenerational society?

A Debt Owed by Government and Family

These are questions I ask not only of my government, but of our families—especially the younger generations to whom our elders completely committed their lives when they themselves were young. The ability to make Caymanian society truly "age-friendly" leans entirely on these questions and on those who should rightfully bear the responsibility.

The high social standing, the comforts, and the immense opportunities our youth hold in their hands today did not happen by accident. They were bought and paid for by the sweat, sacrifice, and youth of an older generation.

Claiming Our Rightful Space

We are the older generation. We are the nation-builders who sacrificed to elevate this land, transforming it into one of the most successful, prosperous, and celebrated nations in this hemisphere outside of North America.

To my senior peers, I say this: Our limitations, our pains, and our physical frailties are not commands to disappear. Our presence is our power. We must plant ourselves firmly in the public square where those who benefit from our sacrifices can see us.

We have all fought through pain to stand in these streets—the tourists to witness paradise, and we to embody it. Let us stand together, visible and resilient, so that Cayman may truly honor the hands that shaped it.

Cayman Art Week Bus Tour (Part 1)

By Christopher Tobutt

Cayman Art Week's bus tours – which take you around many different galleries, private homes and art spaces – have become pretty famous. I was lucky enough to go on one on Saturday 30 May, beginning in the early morning and finishing at mid-afternoon. It was a real soul-feast for an art-lover like me. There were nine stops in total – but because we wanted to do justice to each of them, The Caymanian Times has agreed to separate this into 3 separate articles, each one focusing on about three stops. It is still not enough to really explore the enormous amount of artistic talent – not only on this tour, but spread across the Cayman Islands which is making Cayman a regional centre for art and artists.

The day began at the National Gallery, though only briefly. Cayman Art Week is about getting out -- into studios, courtyards, and unexpected creative spaces. The Gallery served mainly as a launch point. Still, three exhibitions set the tone: Conversations in the 7th Dimension, honouring Randy Chollette; Next Wave, featuring artists aged 16 to 20; and Evolutions, tracing Cayman's artistic story. Then the bus pulled away, and the island opened up.

The first stop, Scott Swing's studio in George Town, felt like stepping into a different atmosphere entirely. The space carried a charged stillness, as though the air itself had weight. The first thing that met the eye were the life-size concrete figures. Their surfaces were embedded with shards of crushed glass, flashes of emerald and cobalt catching the light against the dull grey cement.

On the walls, large resin paintings loomed; layered, fractured surfaces that felt almost geological. Semi-abstract forms, stylised human skulls and vertebrae emerged and receded, giving the sense of ancient artifacts pulled from a lost world.

Around the edges of the studio, four guest artists offered a lighter counterpoint. Kara Julian's shimmering, sea-touched paintings and hand-painted glassware; Sarah McDougall's textile pieces carried the delicacy of memory stitched into fabric; Tanae Charlery's expressive paintings felt like small emotional signatures; and Justine Jervis added quiet, contemplative works that seemed to breathe in the shadows.

From there, the bus rolled on to South Sound and Pure Art Gallery — a Caymanian cottage that has been a creative landmark for decades. Stepping inside felt like entering a home rather than a gallery. Paintings, ceramics, jewellery, and handmade gifts filled the rooms, each piece carrying the imprint of the island's artistic heritage. Pure Art has long been a champion of Caymanian makers, and the warmth of the space reflected that history. Visitors drifted through the rooms, pausing at bright seascapes and the kind of small handmade treasures that speak to Cayman's craft traditions.

The bus continued eastward to Harbour Walk, where two exhibitions awaited. In the courtyard, sunlight spilled across a lively display of contemporary work. Donovan Sewell's vivid landscapes glowed with Cayman's natural beauty, while Phillip Haynes, the painter who rediscovered his artistic talent after a revelatory trip to Cuba, brought bold abstract works.

One of the most striking presences in the courtyard was Rajj. His portraits, drawn in graphite on deep black backgrounds, emerged with photographic precision. The faces seemed to materialise from darkness, the highlights rendered in pencil so finely that they glowed.

Nearby stood several large plywood sculptures of sea creatures, carved from stacked, laminated sheets of plywood, sanded smooth and sealed to reveal the warm grain. A giant seahorse, its form both playful and monumental, was positioned beside other sealife – their shapes and their scale giving them a presence that was impossible to ignore.

Inside Unit 2, the atmosphere shifted again. Here, Kendra Ador-Agramonte, an architect by profession, presented Rocket Fuel for the Soul — a series of AI-generated video works exploring how technology might shape more human-centred spaces. Her approach to AI felt less like a technical experiment and more like a form of architectural dreaming: shifting colours, fluid structures, and digital landscapes that suggested new ways of imagining space.

And then the bus moved on.

This was only the first part of the journey. Ahead lay the Visual Arts Society at Pedro Castle, with its pottery wheels and clay-splattered aprons; Ren Seffer's studio in Breakers, where the sea breeze moves through the work; Gram Bella's in North Side; and several more stops before the bus would finally return to the National Gallery in the middle of the afternoon.

But those are stories for the next article. The tour is just getting started!

Artistic Talents of Cayman's Youth on Show

The talents of Cayman's young artists are currently on display at The National Gallery of the Cayman Islands, in collaboration with Cayman Art Week, in a new exhibition allowing them to shine.

Next Wave: Emerging Voices in Cayman Art is an exhibition celebrating the creativity, perspectives, and talent of young artists aged 16 to 20 from across the Cayman Islands. Opened as part of Cayman Art Week's Launch Event on 26 May, the exhibition in the National Gallery's Dart Auditorium Community Gallery runs until 12 June.

Next Wave features a broad range of artistic practices, including painting, drawing, pen and ink, lino block, photography, ceramic and stone sculpture, mixed media, digital art, performance art, and fashion. Together, these works reflect the artists' personal experiences, cultural identity, social observations, and imaginative explorations of life in Cayman. The exhibition provides a dynamic platform for young creatives to share their work, gain recognition, and contribute to the evolving cultural narrative of the Cayman Islands.

Next Wave Curator Lori Peterson said the essence of the exhibition was to showcase the creative perspectives of the upcoming generation and to provide a platform for young creatives to exhibit their work in a professional museum environment.

"The emerging artists represented in Next Wave are tackling the personal, social, and cultural shifts that their generation is experiencing, and expressing themselves on a conceptual level rather than internalising these challenging emotions," Lori stated. "The National Gallery is thrilled by the incredible response we received to the exhibition's Open Call and the calibre of submissions, proving again that the discipline of visual arts continues to thrive amongst our youth."

Through this new exhibition, the National Gallery and Cayman Art Week aim to spotlight fresh perspectives and innovative approaches from emerging artists at a pivotal stage in their creative development. Participating artists are having their works professionally exhibited and promoted through special events during Cayman Art Week and through media channels. By investing in their talent, the exhibition helps shape the future of the arts community in the Cayman Islands and beyond, the Gallery said.

Next Wave: Emerging Voices in Cayman Art is on display at the Gallery's main site on Esterly Tibbetts Highway in the Dart Auditorium Community Gallery. Admission to the National Gallery and the exhibition is free. Opening times are Monday-Saturday, 10am-5pm. Closed Sundays and Public Holidays. For more information about the exhibition, please email Maia Muttoo, Head of Programmes, at education@nationalgallery.org.ky or visit <https://www.nationalgallery.org.ky/whats-on/> to learn more.

UK AND OTs SPEAKERS CONVENTION IN CAYMAN HAILED AS A SUCCESS

The Parliament of the Cayman Islands successfully hosted the 5th Commons and Overseas Territories Speakers' Conference (COTSC) from 26th to 29th May 2026. The event brought together Speakers, Clerks, and Representatives from across the Overseas Territories and the United Kingdom to exchange ideas, share experiences, and discuss matters impacting legislatures throughout these regions.

Over the course of the two days, delegates participated in a series of discussions focused on strengthening parliamentary institutions, promoting good governance, and ensuring legislatures remain responsive to the evolving needs of their respective communities.

Key topics included the opportunities and challenges presented by artificial intelligence (AI) within parliamentary environments, governance reform, and the role of parliamentary commissions. Delegates also addressed other issues such as supporting the role of parliamentary commissions, supporting effective opposition and democratic accountability, constitutional reform, public confidence in democratic institutions, and maintaining legislative continuity during times of crisis and emergency.

An official statement issued at the end of the conference said: "The 5th Commons and Overseas Territories Speakers' Conference reaffirmed the importance of collaboration among the Overseas Territories legislatures and provided a valuable forum for sharing experiences, strengthening professional relationships, and exploring approaches to the opportunities facing parliamentary institutions today."

It noted that the conference forms part of an ongoing commitment among Overseas Territories' legislatures to strengthen parliamentary practice, share expertise, and promote effective democratic governance.

democratic principles, and foster cooperation across the Overseas Territories."

The Cayman Islands Speaker also remarked: "It was an honour for the Cayman Islands to host this year's COTSC Conference and to welcome our colleagues from across the Territories and the United Kingdom."

The conference commenced on Tuesday, 27th May, with a welcome reception hosted by Her Excellency the Governor, Mrs Jane Owen, providing delegates with an opportunity to meet with senior civil servants and members of the business community. An opening ceremony held at the House of Parliament on Wednesday, 28th May, marked the official commencement of the COTSC.

On Wednesday evening, delegates attended a dinner hosted by the Honourable D. Ezzard Miller, Speaker of the Parliament of the Cayman Islands. The visiting delegates were treated to a relaxed evening, which strengthened relationships across jurisdictions. Conference proceedings concluded on Thursday, 28th May, with a celebration of Caymanian culture, hosted by the Honourable Gary Rutty, Acting Premier, and the Honourable Isaac Rankine, Minister for Youth, Sports, Culture and Heritage.

Delegates enjoyed an evening showcasing the Cayman Islands' rich heritage through traditional storytelling, local musical performers, cultural displays, and authentic Caymanian cuisine prepared by community cooks. The event provided visitors with a memorable experience of Caymanian hospitality and traditions.

The event brought together Speakers and Clerks from Anguilla, Bermuda, British Virgin Islands, Cayman Islands, Gibraltar, Montserrat, Turks and Caicos Islands, and the United Kingdom.

Breaking the "Body Debt™" Cycle: A Smarter Approach to Workplace Performance

What if one of the biggest threats to productivity is sitting right in front of us—literally?

At the Chamber's upcoming Lunch & Learn on 18 June Laura Ribbins, Holistic Wellness Strategist, international fitness expert, and CEO of Fitness Connection, will unpack "Body Debt™": The Hidden Cost of Sitting on Your Business." This engaging session explores how modern work habits are quietly impacting energy, focus, and overall performance. The session is free, and a light lunch is provided.

Ribbins is also the creator of Body Debt™ and the driving force behind Fitness Connection, a Cayman fitness and aquatic centre that has served the community for more than 30 years. Known for teaching generations of Cayman families to swim—from babies to adults—she brings a deeply practical, community-rooted perspective to wellbeing, helping people of all ages and abilities embrace movement, improve health, and build lifelong wellness habits.

► Laura Ribbins

According to Ribbins: "Recent findings from the Cayman Islands STEPS 2023 Report show that nearly the entire population has at least one health risk factor, with little improvement over the past decade. In practical terms, many employees are operating below their full potential—often without realising it." Ribbins introduces the concept of Body Debt™—the cumulative impact of prolonged sitting, poor movement habits, and lifestyle imbalance. Like financial debt, it builds over time, leading to fatigue, brain fog, reduced resilience, and lower workplace engagement. "Most people don't realize they're accumulating what I call Body Debt™ every single day through prolonged sitting, stress, and lack of movement," says Ribbins. "The good news is that small, consistent changes can dramatically improve energy, focus, productivity, and long-term health. Healthy employees aren't just happier — they're more engaged, resilient, and better equipped to perform at their best." The session also tackles the growing recognition that "sitting is the new smoking," highlighting the risks associated with sedentary work and what businesses can do to address them.

Importantly, this is not just about awareness. Attendees will walk away with:

- A clear understanding of how Body Debt™ affects performance
- Insight into the link between energy, focus, and productivity

- Simple, practical tools to improve daily habits

- An interactive movement "reset" they can apply immediately

The message is straightforward: when people feel better, they perform better. By making small, intentional changes, businesses can boost productivity, reduce absenteeism, and create more energised, engaged teams.

This session is ideal for business owners, managers, and professionals in desk-based roles looking for practical ways to improve both wellbeing and performance.

Department of Sports Undertakes Child Safeguarding Training Ahead of Summer Camps

Grand Cayman

Staff from the Department of Sports recently hosted Child Safeguarding Training in collaboration with the Multi-Agency Safeguarding Hub (MASH) Unit as part of ongoing efforts to strengthen child protection awareness and best practices ahead of the Department's upcoming summer camp programmes. Held in alignment with Child Month, the training reinforced the importance of safeguarding children and young people participating in sports and recreational activities.

The training session, conducted on Friday, 29 May, focused on safeguarding principles, recognizing signs of abuse, reporting responsibilities and creating safe environments for children and young people participating in sports and recreational programmes.

Recognising the importance of safeguarding across the wider sporting community, the Department also invited representatives from various national sports associations to participate in the training. Acting Director of Sports, Melinda Montemayor said the initiative reflects the Department's continued commitment to prioritising the safety and wellbeing of children participating in its programmes and activities.

"As we prepare for our upcoming summer camps and youth programmes, it is important that parents and guardians feel confident their children are participating in safe, supportive and properly supervised environments," said Ms. Montemayor. "Safeguarding is a shared responsibility, and we are pleased to partner with the MASH Unit and engage members of the sporting community in these important discussions."

The Department of Sports continues to place strong emphasis on youth development, safety and the promotion of positive sporting experiences for children and young people across the Cayman Islands.

DEH Announces Completion of Annual Bulk Waste Collection Schedule 2026

by Grand Cayman

The Department of Environmental Health (DEH) officially confirms the successful conclusion of this year's bulk waste collection schedule.

The comprehensive clean-up operation, which rolled out across all five districts of Grand Cayman, Cayman Brac, and Little Cayman, has now ended. Residential collection of bulk waste is finished, and standard waste management protocols have resumed.

Reflection on the successful operation, DEH Director Richard Simms praised the community's civic pride and active involvement in this year's campaign. "I want to extend my sincere gratitude to all residents across our islands for their incredible collaboration and contribution during the last four weeks," said Simms. "Your cooperation is separating materials and adhering to the district schedules played a vital role in making this massive clean-up exercise a truly successful one. Thanks to your efforts, our teams were able to work safely and efficiently, significantly improving the cleanliness of our neighbourhoods ahead of the peak hurricane season."

Residents are reminded that following the completion of the Bulk Waste Collection Schedule, individuals should arrange to transport any additional waste to the landfills and report any illegal dumping and littering to the DEH or the Royal Cayman Islands Police Service (RCIPS). This unlawful practice can result in a penalty of 6 months of imprisonment and a minimum fine of $500.

The George Town Landfill operates from 7:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on weekdays, until 1:00 p.m. on Saturdays and is closed on Sundays. The landfill drop-off facility at the gov.ky/deh gate will remain accessible to the public and small vehicles 24 hours per day.

For additional information, please contact the DEH at 949-6696, email us at dehcustomerservice@gov.ky, visit the DEH's website at www.gov.ky/deh or message our Facebook page at <https://bit.ly/3LEK55q>

2026 Bulk Waste Collection Completed

A huge thank you to all residents for your cooperation in keeping our community clean! Any remaining bulk items must now be taken directly to the landfill via private transport.

RCIPS Conducts Joint Clean-Up Initiative in West Bay

On Thursday, 4 June, RCIPS officers supported by representatives from the Department of Environmental Health (DEH) conducted a clean-up operation in the Mary Mollie Hydes Road area of West Bay.

The operation formed part of ongoing activities by the RCIPS to discourage anti-social behaviour, disrupt criminal activity, and improve public safety in the district of West Bay, in response to community concerns.

The team removed a number of abandoned and discarded items that were contributing to the deterioration of the area.

Inspector Cowan, District Commander for West Bay, said: "This area has been the subject of repeated concerns from residents regarding loitering, disorderly behaviour, and activities that negatively impact the surrounding community. The RCIPS is committed to addressing these concerns and will continue to take action where necessary to reduce anti-social behaviour, and improve quality of life for those who live and work in West Bay."

The RCIPS will continue to promote safety and address concerns affecting communities across the Cayman Islands.

Police Seek Public Assistance Following Incident on West Bay Road

Police are seeking the assistance of the public in relation to an incident that occurred on Tuesday, 2 June, at a commercial establishment along West Bay Road, in the vicinity of Earth Close.

Officers responded to a report of an altercation involving multiple persons at the location; however, the individuals involved had left the location prior to officers' arrival.

Based on initial enquiries, it is believed that a person may have sustained injuries and could be in need of medical attention.

Since the incident, police have conducted extensive enquiries, including checks at local medical facilities and hospitals. However, these efforts have so far been unsuccessful in identifying or locating the individuals believed to have been involved.

The primary concern at this time is the welfare and wellbeing of anyone who may have been injured as a result of the incident.

Police are therefore urging anyone with information regarding the incident, or the identity of the individuals involved, to contact the George Town Police Station at 949-4222.

Anyone who may have been injured is strongly encouraged to seek medical attention and report the matter to the police as soon as possible.

Police Officer Struck by Vehicle, Man Arrested

Just after 12:00PM on Tuesday, 2 June, officers from the Royal Cayman Islands Police Service and Public Lands Commission (PLC), were conducting a joint operation in the Seven Mile Public Beach area. Police officers had cause to speak with a man in the parking lot at the location, following observations made in relation to suspected offenses under the Misuse of Drugs Act.

Officers approached the man who became aggressive, began to violently resist their instructions and attempted to leave the scene in a vehicle. One of the police officers was struck by the vehicle, receiving injuries, and the man fled the scene. One officer from the PLC was also injured as a result of this incident. The officers were transported to hospital for treatment and have since been released.

Police immediately began to monitor the direction of travel and progress of the vehicle, which was tracked to the Crewe Road area. The vehicle was soon recovered at a location off Crewe Road, but the suspect fled from the vehicle on foot.

After an extensive search in the surrounding areas and with the assistance of the community, police located the man, age 32 residing in George Town, who has since been arrested and taken into custody pending further investigations.

The RCIPS would like to thank the public for their assistance.

Stingray had a huge turnout

The Butterfield Sea Swim was another terrific event with a fantastic turnout from Stingray Swim Club members.

Dozens of people from all training groups, including masters and some Stingray parents, took to the water on Saturday to tackle the 400m and 800m courses from Governor's Beach.

This was an ideal warm up for the Flowers One Mile Sea Swim on June 13.

The organisers give a huge thank you to @butterfield.cayman and the many sponsors and volunteers who made the great event possible.

May Classics was wheelie fun

Cayman Cycling's four May Classics events were immensely successful again with riders of all ages, from infants to seniors competing in various categories throughout the month.

The West Bay Circuit on May 10 was a total distance of 24.8 miles over eight technical laps. The South Sound Time Trial a week later was held over 9.6 miles. The East End Road Race on May 18 was 37.4 miles over two laps or 56.1 miles over three laps depending on category.

Finally, on May 24, the CostU Less Circuit was over 45 minutes plus 3 laps. That was followed by the Kiddie Dash and the debut of Cayman Cycling's new Next Gen Hot Lap: 11+ doing one lap of 1.2 miles. The sponsors were The Catalyst Group, AA Rubis, Ogier and Vitamin Shoppe Cayman.

The key results included Junior Ryan Thompson winning both the East End Road Race and the South Sound Time Trial overall. He also broke the long-standing SS TT course record held by Steve Abbott.

Junior Patryk Plata came third in West Bay, fifth in the time trial, third in East End, and 11th in CostU Less all overall. These youngsters are the future and are already a strong challenge to the adults.

Emily Clarke broke the women's time trial course record and was the first female to break the 25-minute barrier. The series champion was Jerome Ameline who has, of course, won it multiple times.

The Kiddie Dash and Next Gen Hot Lap proved to be a huge success with over 80 children registered. The future of Cayman cycling is bright. They are launching a youth program that will include more races, bike-handling and skills sessions, assistance with equipment, etc.
