Doctors Hospital Launches Apprenticeship Programme

Doctors Hospital today announced the launch of a new Apprenticeship Programme, a structured two-year pathway designed to give young Caymanians and aspiring healthcare professionals practical, hands-on experience and a genuine route into long-term careers in the industry.

The initiative reflects Doctors Hospital's ongoing commitment to investing in local talent and ensuring that Caymanians are equipped to lead the next chapter of the island's healthcare sector, working alongside the hospital's existing team of dedicated local and international professionals.

In a hospital environment, there are many specialist clinical roles but also a diverse array of non-clinical or support roles. The three (3) roles targeted in this

The Cayman Islands Records Its Ninth Consecutive Month of Stayover Growth

The Cayman Islands welcomed 45,053 stayover visitors in July 2026, an increase of 10% when compared with July 2025.

July extended the destination's positive 2026 growth trajectory marking the ninth consecutive month of growth, with stayover arrivals between January and July reaching a record 333,747; an increase of 11% when compared to the same period in 2025. Stayover visitation in July was driven by double-digit growth from the United States and Continental Europe.

Combined visitation from stayover visitors and cruise passengers between January and July 2026 reached 1,058,781 an increase of 6.2% year over year, continuing the trend of growth across all segments of visitor category.

Cruise Declines in July but Remains Ahead Year to Date

The destination welcomed 43,380 cruise passengers in July 2026, a 23% decline over the same period in 2025, reflecting a smaller number of cruise calls year-over-year. However, the number of cruise passengers arriving to the destination between January and July 2026 reflected a 4% increase when compared to the same period in 2025, showing cruise demand.

"When our visitor numbers grow our economy thrives," said the Hon. Gary Rutty, Deputy Premier and Minister for Tourism and Trade Development.

"This ninth consecutive month of increased stayover visitation and steady cruise numbers drives the advancement of businesses in this dynamic industry and sustains gainful employment opportunities for our nation's people."

United States Drives July Growth

The United States market generated the largest absolute increase of visitors with 37,910 visitors, an increase of 12% over July 2025.

Among identifiable US records, the strongest growth came from Austin, Miami-Fort Lauderdale and Houston.

European Market Shows Strong Increase

Visitation from Europe was up 12.7% in July, supported by a 26.7% increase in visitors from Continental Europe and an 8.2% increase in visitors from the UK & Ireland – a testament to the Cayman Islands Department of Tourism's (CIDOT) continued investment in travel trade and public relations across the region.

Canada Visitation Remains Strong Year-to-Date Despite July Decline

Canadian arrivals declined by 15.9% in July. Nonstop service operated across three days of the week down from the four days of operation in 2025, reducing schedule flexibility.

Despite the July decline, Canadian visitation between January and July grew by 43.3% year-over-year reflecting sustained demand for the destination by Canadian travellers past the traditional winter peak season.

United States Leads Seat Capacity Growth

July's stayover visitation gains were supported by additional inbound airline capacity from the United States which went up 3,147 seats, or 5.9%, when compared to July 2025, for a total of 56,541 seats. Growth was led by Miami, Atlanta, and Cayman Airways' new Austin service.

Sustained Visitation Momentum Propels Accommodations Sector

July's visitation resulted in strong commercial results for the destination's accommodations sector.

According to global hotel intelligence firm, STR Inc., hotel occupancy reached 66.7% in July 2026, an increase of 9.4 percentage points compared with July 2025. The Average Daily Rate (ADR) rose 7.6% and the Revenue per available room (RevPAR) increased 25.2%.

Year-to-date through July, occupancy rose by 6.8 percentage points compared to the previous year while ADR increased by 5.9% and RevPAR rose by 16.9% year-over-year.

Hotel room revenue between January and July increased by 18.3% when compared to the same period in 2025. July marked the seventh consecutive month of double-digit room revenue increases. This shows direct correlation between the increase in visitation and revenue translating to stronger earnings for tourism businesses which benefits the wider Cayman Islands economy.

"Sustained visitation increases throughout the first two months of summer is a testament to the success of our tourism strategy and the strong collaboration between the Department of Tourism and our industry partners to promote the destination," said Rosa Harris, the Director of Tourism.

"As we reach the peak of summer and transition to fall, the Department of Tourism remains steadfast in enacting our strategy of sustaining and growing airlift, deepening relationships with the travel trade, diversifying our source markets and retaining a strong presence in key markets. We look forward to steadied visitation momentum across all our source markets throughout the remainder of 2026."

WARNING

Tree Trimming near Power Lines

Never attempt to prune or trim trees that grow within 10 feet of power lines. Only qualified personnel approved by CUC should trim trees or branches within 10 feet of power lines. Contact with a high voltage power line can result in serious injury or even death. Remember, always stay at least 10 feet away from power lines and electrical equipment. This includes yourself and any tools or equipment.

Always ensure that trees and branches on your property are properly maintained and grow away from power lines. Trees or branches that grow over 10 feet away from power lines can be trimmed by landscapers.

Our tree trimming is aimed at keeping over 500 miles of transmission and distribution lines clear of trees and undergrowth. Through our focus on effective vegetation management, which includes periodic inspections of power lines and information from customers, we can identify trees that are growing too close to power lines and thus cause concern for public safety and reliability.

If branches on your property are within 10 feet of power lines, please visit our website at www.cuc-cayman.com, click the "Customer Information" tab at the top, scroll down and click "Other Services" and click "Tree Trimming" and click the "Tree Trimming Request Form". link in the last paragraph. After submitting the information and the form has been processed, a CUC representative will be in contact with you.

Government corrects recent media report on Supplementary Appropriations and Surplus

Grand Cayman, 1 September 2026 – The Government wishes to correct the suggestion in a recent media report that more than half of the CI$252.3 million mid-year surplus has already been spent. This assertion is incorrect and was certainly not the case when the relevant article was published.

Finance Committee approved up to CI$134.3 million in additional spending in Parliament on 30 June 2026. This approval sets a spending limit; it does not mean that CI$134.3 million has been paid out. As projects and programmes move forward, the amount actually spent may be considerably less than the amount approved.

The timing is also important. The supplementary appropriations were approved by Finance Committee in Parliament on 30 June, the final day covered by the second-quarter financial report published on 7 August.

In simple terms, the report records revenue and expenditure up to 30 June, while the authority for the additional spending was not granted until that same date. The CI$134.3 million could not have been spent under that authority before it was approved. The second-quarter report therefore does not support any suggestion that the supplementary appropriations had already been spent.

It is also important to understand what the money was approved for. Of the CI$134.3 million, CI$114 million relates to capital and equity investments, while CI$20.3 million relates to operational spending.

Operational spending covers the day-to-day costs of delivering public services and impacts Government's Operating Surplus. Capital and equity spending is different. It is used for longer-term investments such as schools, roads, land, infrastructure and equipment and such expenditures do not impact Government's Operating Surplus.

It is incorrect to subtract the entire CI$134.3 million from the Operating Surplus figure.

Minister for Finance & Economic Development and Chairman of Finance Committee, Hon. Rolston Anglin, explained:

"We must compare like with like—or, put simply, apples with apples. Day-to-day operational spending impacts the Operating Surplus. Capital investments in assets such as schools, roads, land and infrastructure are accounted for differently and these do not impact Government's Operating Surplus calculation. Capital investment expenditures reduce Government's bank account balances.

"Treating the full CI$134.3 million as if it were day-to-day spending gives a misleading picture of the Government's finances. Only CI$20.3 million of that amount was approved for day-to-day operational spending.

"The timing also makes the position clear. The second-quarter report covers the period ending 30 June, which is the same day Finance Committee approved the supplementary appropriations. The money could not have been spent under an approval that was only granted on 30 June. It stretches credulity to its limit to suggest Government spent $134 million in a single day.

"It is equally important to distinguish between approval to spend and money actually spent. Finance Committee set the maximum amount the Government may spend. It did not write a cheque for CI$134.3 million, and it does not mean that the full amount will necessarily be spent."

The approved funding supports important national priorities. The capital and equity allocations include educational facilities, strategic and conservation land purchases, road and drainage improvements, Port Authority infrastructure and equipment, and Cayman Airways' operational resilience.

The operational allocations support financial assistance for families, the Summer School Programme, preparations for the Fifth Round CFATF Mutual Evaluation, agriculture, youth, sports and cultural programmes, the Fire Service and workforce development.

The Government has consistently explained that the CI$252.3 million recorded at the end of June 2026 is an unaudited mid-year result, not the expected result for the full year. The Surplus will decline during the second half of 2026 as planned projects and programmes move forward.

After taking the supplementary appropriations into account, the Government continues to forecast an operating surplus of approximately CI$10.5 million at the end of 2026, but the Surplus forecast will be re-assessed monthly, for the remainder of 2026.

The Government does not require any borrowing beyond the amount already approved in the 2026 Budget. Cash reserves are expected to remain at approximately 94 days of operating expenses, and the Government remains compliant with all six Principles of Responsible Financial Management.

The facts are clear: approval to spend is not the same as money already spent. The additional authority was granted only on the final day of the reporting period, and long-term capital investment cannot properly be treated as though it was day-to-day operational spending.

Kerry Powery Appointed Director General of National Weather Service

Chief Meteorologist Kerry Powery has been appointed Director General of the Cayman Islands National Weather Service, following an internal recruitment process. He assumed the position on 1 September 2026.

The appointment marks a significant leadership transition for the National Weather Service, following the retirement of Director General John Tibbetts at the end of August, after more than 41 years of dedicated service.

Mr Powery brings nearly 30 years of experience within the National Weather Service to his new role. He began his career in the Aeronautical Information Services Unit within the Civil Aviation Authority in July 1995, started meteorological training in January 1997 and formally joined the Weather Service as a qualified forecaster in 1998. He was appointed Chief Meteorologist in 2014, a position he held for 12 years.

"The change in leadership represents a significant milestone for the CINWS and ensures organisational continuity," said Chief Officer in the Cabinet Office, Samuel Rose. "Mr. Powery is well known within the Cayman Islands community and highly respected across the region. His depth of institutional knowledge and steady leadership give us every confidence in the National Weather Service's future. We look forward to working with and supporting him as he leads the organisation with professionalism, sound judgement and vision."

Premier Hon. André Ebanks also congratulated Mr Powery, describing his rise through the ranks as a testament to home-grown talent and expertise in the Cayman Islands. "Having dedicated more than two decades to the National Weather Service, he brings extensive experience and a deep understanding of its operations to the role," said Premier

Ebanks. "His commitment and leadership will serve the organisation well as it continues the critical work of providing information that supports public safety and national resilience."

Former Director General John Tibbetts, who has worked alongside Mr Powery for approximately 28 years, offered well wishes to his successor. "Kerry has stepped into the role of Acting Director General on numerous occasions, demonstrating the leadership and experience needed to guide the Service forward," said Mr Tibbetts. "I am confident that the National Weather Service is in capable hands, and I wish Kerry every success."

Reflecting on his appointment, Mr Powery expressed gratitude for the opportunity to lead the Service. "I am honoured to take on the role of Director General and grateful for the confidence placed in me. I would like to express my sincere appreciation to John and his predecessor Mr Fred Sambula for their leadership, guidance and the opportunity to embark on my meteorological career. I look forward to working with our dedicated team to build on our strong foundation and ensure we continue to meet the needs of our community."

People Power Success: CUC Achieves Investor in People Platinum Accreditation in 60th Anniversary Year

As Caribbean Utilities Company, Ltd. (CUC) celebrates 60 years of powering Grand Cayman, the Company is proud to announce that it has achieved Investors in People (IIP) Platinum accreditation, the highest level of recognition awarded by the internationally renowned people management and workplace improvement organisation. This significant achievement reflects CUC's long-standing commitment to investing in its employees, fostering a positive workplace culture and developing future leaders.

The Platinum accreditation marks the latest milestone in CUC's Investors in People journey, which began with its initial certification in 2006. Over the years, the Company has continuously strengthened its people practices, progressing through multiple assessments and accreditation levels, including silver and gold recognition.

The achievement comes during a landmark year for CUC as the Company marks its 60th anniversary of service to Grand Cayman. For six decades, CUC's employees have been at the heart of its ability to provide safe, reliable electricity while supporting the country's growth and development. Achieving Platinum accreditation serves as a fitting recognition of the Company's enduring commitment to its people and highlights the strong workplace culture that has evolved alongside the nation.

Investors in People is an internationally recognised framework that helps organisations improve performance through effective leadership, employee engagement, workplace culture, wellbeing and people development. The accreditation is awarded following a rigorous independent assessment process that evaluates how organisations empower, support and develop their workforce.

"Achieving the Investors in People Platinum accreditation is a tremendous honour and a proud moment for CUC," said Richard Hew, President & Chief Executive Officer. "For six decades, our employees have been the driving force behind our success. This recognition reflects the dedication of our employees and our ongoing commitment to creating an environment where our people can learn, grow, thrive and contribute meaningfully to the success of the Company and the communities we serve."

For CUC, investing in its people is closely linked to its ability to deliver safe, reliable electricity service to Grand Cayman. The Company's focus on employee development, succession planning, apprenticeships, training opportunities, scholarships and leadership development has helped build a resilient and highly skilled workforce capable of supporting the country's continued growth and prosperity.

As a critical infrastructure provider, CUC recognises that its employees play a vital role in powering homes, businesses, schools, healthcare facilities and the broader economy. By fostering a workplace culture centered on engagement, wellbeing, continuous improvement and professional growth, the Company helps ensure it can continue delivering exceptional service while contributing to the long-term economic development of the Cayman Islands.

Investing in people means prioritising human potential, relationships and growth over mere material assets or abstract ideas.

"This achievement is particularly meaningful because it recognises the strength of our people-first culture," added Letitia Lawrence, Vice President Finance, Corporate Services & Chief Financial Officer, "Our employees are at the heart of everything we do, and this accreditation reinforces our commitment to providing opportunities for growth, supporting employee wellbeing, and creating a workplace where everyone can perform at their best."

Commenting on CUC's accreditation, Paul Devoy, Chief Executive Officer, Investors in People, said: "We'd like to congratulate CUC. Platinum accreditation on We invest in people is a remarkable effort for any organisation and places CUC in fine company with a host of organisations that understand the value of people."

While CUC's infrastructure powers homes, businesses and essential services across Grand Cayman, it is the dedication, expertise and passion of its employees that have powered the Company's success for the past 60 years. The Platinum accreditation not only recognises CUC's people practices today but also reinforces its commitment to investing in future generations of employees who will help shape the next chapter of the Company's journey.

Housing remains unaffordable for most Caymanians, and government programs do not offer favorable pricing, says Auditor General

The report, The government's approach to improving access to affordable housing, was issued today by the Office of the Auditor General (OAG).

The report assesses the Government's approach to improving access to affordable housing over the six years from 2019 to 2024. It examines strategic direction and oversight, the value for money of the Government's six affordable housing programmes and initiatives, and the Government's oversight of the rental market.

Patrick Smith, Auditor General, says, "Affordable housing is a global issue and one of the most pressing challenges facing the Cayman Islands. Between 2019 and 2024, the population grew by 27 per cent, property prices rose by approximately 57 per cent, and average rents rose by 42 per cent. Combined these factors are putting significant pressure on the availability and affordability of housing for many Caymanians."

The report states that the international definition of affordable housing is housing costs, including utilities and other related costs, being no more than 30 per cent of gross income.

The Auditor General says, "The affordability gap is significant. In 2023, Caymanians earned, on average, $4,968 a month. This means they could afford to spend $1,490 a month on housing. However, the average rent in 2024 was $1,945 a month and the estimated mortgage cost for a two-bedroom home, at an average cost of $500,000, was $3,863 a month. Therefore, no matter whether renting or buying a home, the rental and mortgage costs alone are significantly above the affordability threshold for many Caymanians."

The report finds that one of the Government's own affordable housing programmes is unaffordable to the people it is designed to serve.

Mr. Smith says, "The National Housing Development Trust's (NHDT) new Affordable Housing Initiative targets lower-income Caymanians. However, we found that the housing costs and eligibility criteria mean these homes are also unaffordable for many." The Auditor General continues, "To qualify for an NHDT home, a single applicant must earn no more than $4,500 a month. Although the property prices are cheaper, total housing costs are around $2,200 a month once utilities, insurance and other costs are included. This is 49 per cent of a single applicant's income; well above the 30 per cent threshold."

The report states that affordable housing has been a stated government priority since at least 2018, appearing in all four Strategic Policy Statements (SPS) covering 2018 to 2026. However, progress against those commitments has been limited.

The Auditor General says, "Despite affordable housing being a government priority since at least 2018, limited progress has been made. A significant contributor to this limited progress was the absence of a strategy, clear definition of affordable housing, or formal assessment of housing needs." Mr. Smith continues, "The Government published its first Public and Affordable Housing Policy in December 2025, and its 10-Year Strategic Plan was published in April 2026. This is a significant step forward, and I urge the Government to start implementing it as soon as possible. However, the policy and plan do not specify performance measures to demonstrate success. I encourage the Ministry of Planning, Lands, Agriculture, Housing and Infrastructure to address this, and other gaps, as it develops its implementation plan."

The report concludes that the value for money of the Government's six affordable housing programmes and initiatives is limited.

Mr. Smith says, "Between 2019 and 2024, the Government spent almost $68 million on programmes to improve access to affordable housing. Of this, $41.5 million was in direct programme costs, including the construction of affordable homes. In addition, the Government provided $26.5 million of stamp duty waivers, reducing the cost of purchasing property for Caymanians. However, the value for money from these programmes is limited."

The Auditor General says, "Over six years, the NHDT delivered 36 affordable homes, and had a further 50 under construction at the end of 2024. However, the Sister Islands Affordable Housing Development Corporation (SIAHDC) delivered no homes at all during the period, although it started building four homes in 2025." Mr. Smith adds, "The NHDT completed another two projects under the Build on Your Own Property programme over the period."

The report states the waiting list for affordable homes is significant.

Mr. Smith says, "The demand for affordable homes significantly outstrips supply, and some people are waiting for years after they have been approved before they get a home. As at February 2026, the NHDT SIAHC had approved over 1,200 people across the Cayman Islands who were waiting for affordable homes. NHDT had 1,194 people on its waiting list, with people waiting an average of 3.6 years; one person had been waiting almost ten years. On the Sister Islands, 24 people were on the SIAHDC waiting list, waiting an average of 2.5 years."

The report states that in 2024, 52 per cent of properties were rented, up from 48 per cent in 2019. Over the same period, average rental costs have increased by 42 per cent.

Mr. Smith says, "By 2024, most households in the Cayman Islands were renting. However, the Government does not oversee or regulate the rental market. There are no minimum housing standards and no rental inspection regime, so there is no assurance that rented accommodation is adequate and safe. The Landlord and Tenants Act (1998 Revision) is almost thirty years old; it heavily favours landlords and provides limited protection for tenants. In 2009, Parliament approved the Residential Tenancies Act to replace it, which would have modernised tenant protection and introduced habitability standards, but it was never brought into force. I am pleased to note that the Government recently started consulting on the Residential Tenancies Act and urge them to bring this into force as soon as possible."

More information about the report can be obtained by contacting Patrick Smith at (345) 244-3204 or Angela Cullen, Deputy Auditor General (Performance Audit), at (345) 922-3220.

The Government has welcomed the Office of the Auditor General's (OAG) report, "The Government's approach to improving access to affordable housing", released today (Monday, 31 August 2026). As the Auditor General noted, affordable housing is a global challenge and one of the most pressing issues facing the Cayman Islands.

The report highlighted that rising housing costs are the product of complex economic and demographic pressures with which many jurisdictions are grappling. Government recognises the seriousness of these challenges and has responded through the development of a comprehensive Public and Affordable Housing Policy and 10-Year Strategic Plan designed to deliver long-term reform and measurable improvements in housing outcomes.

The audit reviewed the period from 2019 to 2024. However, the Auditor General's report recognises that in 2025, the Government issued its housing policy and 10-year plan which represent a significant step forward in addressing those challenges within the Cayman Islands. The audit recognised the extensive stakeholder engagement that informed the Government's housing strategy, which included consultation with more than 1,000 residents and 120 key stakeholders, the strongest evidence base to date for understanding housing demand and identifying practical solutions to improve affordability.

The report also noted that implementation of the housing policy has already begun in several areas and recommends that Government continues to implement the framework.

In response to the report, Deputy Governor and Head of the Civil Service, Honourable Gloria McField-Nixon, stated, "The Auditor General's report rightly recognises that Cayman is not alone in facing housing affordability pressures. Governments around the world are grappling with similar challenges, which is why the development of a comprehensive Public and Affordable Housing Policy and 10-Year Strategic Plan was such an important step in establishing a clear framework for reform and implementation. We recognise that more remains to be done. That is why ministries and public bodies engaged openly and constructively throughout the audit process to identify practical, achievable ways to strengthen our approach and improve outcomes for those in need of housing support. I commend the Office of the Auditor General and senior public servants for their professionalism and commitment throughout this process. Our focus now is on implementation, accountability and ensuring that the reforms already underway translate into better housing outcomes for current and future generations."

The report also found that Government has established important foundations. It noted that six of the nine pieces of legislation forming the affordable housing framework are up to date and that the Financial Assistance Act (2022) has strengthened support available to vulnerable persons, including those facing urgent circumstances.

In addition, the report highlighted the partnership between the National Housing Development Trust and the Cayman Islands Development Bank on affordable housing mortgage referrals as a positive example of collaboration between public bodies and recommended that similar approaches be considered elsewhere across the housing system.

On the Sister Islands, Chief Officer in the Ministry of District Administration and Home Affairs, Michael Ebanks confirmed corrective work is already under way at the Sister Islands Affordable Housing Development Corporation, noting that the new homes in Cayman Brac are in the final stages of construction and that a suite of governance and operational reforms is being developed.

The Ministry of Planning, Lands, Agriculture, Housing and Infrastructure, which leads coordination of Government's housing strategy, welcomed the findings. "As the Ministry responsible for coordinating Government's housing strategy, we recognise that the measure of this Plan will ultimately be in what it delivers for the Caymanian people," said Eric Bush, Chief Officer, Ministry of Planning, Lands, Agriculture, Housing & Infrastructure. "The 10-Year Plan gives us a clear framework for coordinating that work, strengthening accountability and measuring progress. Government has a significant responsibility in addressing Cayman's housing needs, and we cannot achieve the scale of change required through Government action alone. The private sector has an equally important role to play, particularly in increasing housing supply and expanding opportunities for Caymanians to own or rent homes they can afford. "Our responsibility is to keep the strategy moving forward, bring the right partners to the table and ensure that progress is measured against clear commitments. Addressing Cayman's housing challenges will require sustained effort across Government and the private sector, with each of us playing our part in delivering better housing outcomes for Caymanians."

The Office of the Auditor General's report can be found at www.auditorgeneral.gov.ky.

Has the “real” AI genie escaped the bottle?

Alarm bells are clashing with claxons embracing the technology as AI(artificial intelligence) increasingly becomes an all-pervading presence in today’s world and for the foreseeable future, far beyond our current outlook.

What once might have been regarded (or even dismissed) as science fiction has become a fact of life that challenges concepts of human control over even the natural environment.

The AI debate - which some critics regard as a potential debacle - has been taken up a few significant notches with the intervention over the past few days of none other than the man regarded as one of the major pioneers of the microcomputer revolution.

In a widely published major intervention, Bill Gates, who co-founded Microsoft in the mid-1970s, has sounded “ominous warnings” about AI. He argues that there’s an urgent need to regulate the rapidly expanding and intrusive technology.

“In private, people who understand how good this stuff is, and how much better it’s getting are very worried,” he stated.

In a series of interviews on the matter, along with an extensive body of essays he is publishing about it, Gates says that he’s “just stunned at the lack of concern and discussion outside of the industry.”

Gates has also compared AI to nuclear technology. He has warned that it’s a thousand times more consequential, saying that companies developing the technology are putting their revenue-earning potential above the risks that unregulated AI poses.

From its potential to replace massive segments of the human workforce to its military potential, the tech guru’s AI analysis does not make comforting reading, despite the strong arguments made in favour of AI as a complement to human capability rather than competition.

In a strong appeal for regulation, Bill Gates has called AI “the most dangerous tool ever invented.” Gates is proposing that some jobs be reserved “for humans only” and not, in a sense, ‘outsourced’ to AI.

At the same time though, while he sounds the alarm bells over over-reliance on AI, Bill Gates says there are ways the technology can be effectively utilised under control.

He cites his own Bill Gates Foundation, a global philanthropic organisation which tackles poverty, disease, and inequality.

In an interview with the MIT Technology Review, he said, “The way we’re innovating in vaccines and drugs, it’s incredible how we’re using those tools. We’re part of a big public-domain effort to gather data into both protein-level and cell-level modeling.” Gates also said AI should be a fantastic agent for somebody who’s got economic challenges and needs to find government or nongovernment help.

The debate continues as AI continues to evolve...but is it a race to the bottom?

Doctors Hospital Launches Apprenticeship Programme to Grow Cayman’s Next Generation of Healthcare Professionals

New two-year pathway offers young Caymanians hands-on training, formal coursework and a direct route into long-term diverse careers in the healthcare industry initial apprenticeship programme are support roles.

A Structured Pathway Into Healthcare

The two-year programme blends formal professional development coursework with supervised, on-the-job learning, giving apprentices practical exposure to healthcare operations, administration and support services. Delivered across four progressive six-month phases, the programme is designed to build both professional and technical skills in a real-world hospital environment.

The inaugural cohort will offer placements across three departments: Marketing & Business Development, Supply Chain Management, and Information Technology, reflecting the breadth of career paths that support world-class patient care beyond the clinical setting.

No previous work experience is required. Candidates must have a minimum of a High School Diploma Level 2 or equivalent, however an Associate’s Degree is preferred. Candidates must have a strong willingness to learn and develop professionally, along with a commitment to completing the full two-year programme. Only Caymanians and those with RERC will be considered for this programme.

Apprentices will be full-time employees of Doctors Hospital for the duration of the programme, receiving wages and benefits consistent with DH employment policies, and will be expected to meet the same standards of performance, attendance and professional conduct as the wider team.

Growing Cayman’s Own

Sharing her thoughts on the launch of the program, Doctors Hospital and Integra Healthcare CEO, Dr. Margo McCrae offered:

“Doctors Hospital has always believed in the importance of investing in people, and this programme is a natural extension of that commitment. We want to give the next generation an opportunity to see what a career in healthcare can look like and, more importantly, to give them the support to build one. Through training, mentorship and hands-on experience, we’re creating a pathway where people can learn, grow and develop the skills they need to build a future with us and within healthcare.”

Director of Human Resources and career-development pioneer, Mario Ebanks has always been a long-time believer in building local Caymanian talent.

“Investing in our own people is one of the most important things we can do for the future of healthcare in Cayman. This programme reflects our belief that talent is grown, not just hired. We want to open the door to Caymanians who may not have previously considered the diversity of choice in a career in healthcare, and give them the structure, support and real-world experience to thrive here at Doctors Hospital and across the industry.”

Governor Announces Members of the 2026 Electoral Boundary Commission

Her Excellency the Governor, Jane Owen, has appointed the members of the 2026 Electoral Boundary Commission, which held its first meeting on Wednesday, 26 August 2026.

The Commission is chaired by Mr Mark Ramkerrysingh, with Mr Derek Norwood Jones and Mr Richard Christian serving as members.

The Commission has been established under section 88 of the Cayman Islands Constitution. Its role is to review the boundaries of the Cayman Islands' 19 electoral constituencies and make recommendations for change. In doing so, the Commission will consider constitutional requirements, demographic changes and how voters are distributed across the Islands.

Public consultation will be central to the Commission's work. The terms of reference provide for consultation on the issues and options, draft maps and models, and final recommendations. The Commission is expected to complete its work and submit its final report within nine months of its appointment.

Her Excellency the Governor, Jane Owen, said: "I am grateful to the Chair and members of the Commission for taking on this important responsibility. Electoral boundaries play a vital role in supporting fair and effective representation across our Islands, and the Commission's work is an important part of our democratic process. I encourage members of the public to engage with the consultation and share their views as the Commission carries forward its independent work."

Mark Ramkerrysingh, Chair of the Electoral Boundary Commission, said:

"The Commission has begun its work and is committed to conducting a thorough and independent review of Cayman's electoral boundaries. We look forward to engaging with the public and stakeholders across the Islands as the review progresses."

UK PARLIAMENT RETURNS - NEW FACES FACE-OFF ON SAME ISSUES

The British Parliament/House of Commons returned from summer recess this week to new faces, the same issues, and promises of different approaches to tackling the same seemingly intractable problems.

Both the government and opposition sides of the parliamentary chamber featured new faces on their respective front benches, with Prime Minister Andy Burnham's government facing off against a new-look main opposition Shadow Cabinet of the Conservative/Tory party.

Last weekend, party leader Kemi Badenoch oversaw an internal shake-up, shifting her top frontbench team, with some effectively sacked and others opting to quit before being sidelined.

The resumption of Parliamentary sittings was also met with unexpected news from erstwhile Labour Party leader and immediate past Prime Minister Sir Keir Starmer, who announced that he is quitting politics.

Sir Keir, who stepped down in July, declared that he is giving up his London Parliament seat which he has held for the past 11 years, triggering another UK by-election. The former prime minister had led the Labour Party to a resounding electoral victory in 2024 after it had suffered four disastrous defeats since its last victory in 2010. However, he resigned under pressure from Labour Party MPs over his leadership style and several policy u-turns rather than face a looming leadership fight with an energised Andy Burnham. Mr Burnham, a former Cabinet Minister who left Parliament to become mayor of Greater Manchester, only returned to Parliament in July with a commitment to challenge Starmer for the top job.

This week, new Prime Minister Burnham backed by a new Cabinet, and main opposition leader Kemi Badenoch with her new front bench team, faced off in a political drama across two days - on Tuesday and Wednesday. On Tuesday, Mr Burnham delivered his inaugural address as Prime Minister, amplifying commitments he has made mainly on national issues related to the economy and defence, along with his government's position on current top global issues. The latter revolved around Russia's war on Ukraine and its implications for the UK and the rest of NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organisation), along with the US-Iran conflict and its impact on global oil prices and the consequential effects.

In a lengthy three-hour session, Mr Starmer faced a barrage of questions from Opposition Leader Badenoch, mainly challenging him on how he intends to pay, especially for the national economic commitments and defence spending he has announced. Mr Burnham was also quizzed by MPs from both sides of the Chamber.

That pattern established on Tuesday was repeated on Wednesday in the new Prime Minister's first appearance as leader in Prime Minister Questions (PMQs), a feature of British politics since it was formally introduced in 1961.

Again, his mantra of a more optimistic outlook for the UK was subjected to severe scrutiny from the Opposition - although there was some support from the Liberal Democrats (LibDems) - who are pressing for the UK to ditch Brexit and rejoin the European Union (EU).

A major test for the new Andy Burnham Labour Party government will come next month when it tables what would amount to its first budget in the Autumn Budget Statement due to be presented on October 28th.

That will be fronted by the new UK Chancellor of the Exchequer, John Healy, who had previously quit the Keir Starmer government, where he served as Defence Secretary.

Amidst all of this, the UK Overseas Territories are awaiting the policy specifics as it relates to them with a new Foreign Secretary, Ed Miliband, and a new Overseas Territories Minister, Uma Kumaran, now in place.

UCCI STEM Summer Camp Marks 10 Years of Inspiring Cayman's Young Innovators

Robots were built, drones took flight, chemical reactions came to life and young scientists explored everything from forensic science to liquid nitrogen as the University College of the Cayman Islands (UCCI) celebrated the 10th anniversary of its STEM Summer Camp last week.

Held from 17–21 August 2026, the five-day programme welcomed young learners aged 11–13 to the UCCI campus for an immersive week of science, technology, engineering and mathematics, continuing a programme that has been introducing Cayman's young people to the possibilities of STEM since its inception in 2017.

Throughout the week, students moved between a diverse range of hands-on experiences, including robotics, chemistry experiments, microscope exploration, environmental science, mathematics games, 3D design and printing, terrarium building, liquid nitrogen demonstrations, forensic science, physics, drone flying, computer programming and vlogging. Drone flying and activities involving liquid nitrogen were once again among the highlights for participants.

The 10-year milestone marks an important chapter for a programme that has created opportunities for young people to experience STEM beyond the traditional classroom.

Through experimentation, problem-solving and practical discovery, participants are encouraged to ask questions, test ideas, work collaboratively and develop the confidence to explore areas that may one day influence their educational and career choices.

Over the past decade, the programme has continued to evolve alongside developments in science and technology, introducing participants to a growing range of disciplines and emerging fields. Its reach has also expanded beyond Grand Cayman, with STEM Camps held in Cayman Brac in 2021 and 2024, while UCCI's 50th anniversary in 2025 saw the initiative take a special form through the University's "50 for 50th" STEM Summer Workshops, creating opportunities for more than 100 young people to participate in STEM learning.

Dr. Antoinette Gayle, who leads the programme alongside a team of UCCI faculty, staff, facilitators and volunteers, reflected on the significance of reaching the 10-year milestone.

"Reaching our 10th year of hosting STEM Summer Camps is a very special milestone.

Since the programme began in 2017, our goal has been to give young people opportunities to experience STEM in ways that are practical, engaging and fun. Seeing their excitement as they build, experiment, solve problems and discover something new reminds us why this programme continues to matter. We are tremendously grateful to our facilitators, volunteers and community partners, particularly Enterprise Cayman, whose support from the very beginning has helped us continue creating these opportunities for Cayman's young people," said Dr. Gayle.

At the heart of the programme are the young people themselves. Beyond learning new concepts, the camp provides participants with opportunities to build confidence, collaborate with their peers and discover how science and technology connect with the world around them.

The anniversary also celebrates a long-standing partnership with Enterprise Cayman, a Cayman Enterprise City initiative, which has provided financial support for UCCI's STEM Summer Camp since its inception in 2017. The decade-long partnership reflects a shared commitment to expanding opportunities for young people to engage with STEM and supporting the development of skills that will become increasingly important to the future workforce.

"Cayman Enterprise City is incredibly proud to have supported UCCI's STEM Summer

Camp from the very beginning. Over the past 10 years, we have seen how early exposure to science, technology, engineering and mathematics can spark curiosity, build confidence, and open young people's eyes to careers they may never have considered. Investing in STEM education is ultimately an investment in Cayman's future. As technology and innovation sectors continue to reshape our economy, we need to ensure Cayman's young people have the skills, positive experiences, and opportunities to participate in that future and help shape it. We congratulate UCCI on this important milestone and look forward to continuing our partnership," said Charlie Kirkconnell, CEO of Cayman Enterprise City and Chairman of Enterprise Cayman.

The success of the 2026 programme was also made possible through the support of the wider Cayman Islands community. Water Authority – Cayman provided reusable water bottles, supporting the camp's efforts to remain plastic-free, as well as thumb drives for participants; Cayman Water provided camp bags; Pure Air Ltd donated liquid nitrogen for scientific demonstrations; AIT provided discounted rates on t-shirt printing; and Book Nook matched gift certificates purchased for student prizes, allowing more participants to be recognised.

Support also came from within UCCI and the wider community, with faculty, staff, student counsellors, facilitators and volunteers contributing their time and expertise throughout the week. The Department of Environment also supported the programme through volunteer participation, further connecting students with professionals and practical applications of STEM within the Cayman Islands.

President and Chief Executive Officer Nanalie Cover congratulated Dr. Gayle and the STEM Summer Camp team on reaching the milestone, recognising the programme's contribution to extending UCCI's educational impact beyond the classroom and creating opportunities for young people across the Cayman Islands to discover and develop their potential.

The 10th anniversary reflects UCCI's broader commitment to education that responds not only to the needs of today's students, but also to the future needs of the Cayman Islands. By introducing young people to STEM at an early age, the University is helping to nurture curiosity, creativity and problem-solving while creating pathways towards fields that will play an increasingly important role in the country's continued development. As technology, innovation and scientific advancement continue to reshape industries and create new opportunities, developing local talent with the confidence, knowledge and skills to participate in these fields will remain essential. Programmes such as STEM Summer Camp provide an early opportunity for young Caymanians to see themselves as future scientists, engineers, technologists, environmental specialists, innovators and entrepreneurs.

UCCI's commitment to STEM education will continue later this year with its STEM Conference, taking place from 10–13 November 2026. The conference will provide another opportunity to engage students in STEM learning, innovation and future career possibilities.

For UCCI, the 10th anniversary of STEM Summer Camp represents more than the longevity of a summer programme. It represents a decade of young people asking questions, testing ideas, solving problems and discovering what they are capable of achieving.

As the 2026 campers complete their week at UCCI, they join a growing community of young people who have participated in the programme over the past decade, carrying forward new knowledge, new experiences and new possibilities for where STEM might take them next.

Cayman will kick off in Dominica

► Coach Dougie Rowe looks on as Cayman mount an attack

The Cayman Islands Men’s National Team makes its debut in League B of the CONCACAF Nations League later this month.

Cayman was drawn into Group A of League B alongside Guyana, Puerto Rico and Dominica.

Cayman begins its 2026-27 Nations League campaign against Dominica at 8pm Cayman time on Thursday, 24 September at Windsor Park in Roseau, Dominica. Cayman is designated as the home team for the match.

Cayman returns to Windsor Park to face Guyana on Sunday, 27 September. The competition then shifts to Puerto Rico, where Cayman face the hosts twice at Estadio Centroamericano Juan Figueroa Freyre, in Mayagüez.

Cayman is the designated home team for the first meeting with Puerto Rico at on Thursday, Oct. 1, before the sides meet again on Sunday, 4 October. The matches represent Cayman’s first test in League B after they earned promotion from League C during the previous CONCACAF Nations League cycle.

“This is another important step for this group,” head coach Dougie Rowe said. “We worked hard to earn promotion and now we know exactly where and when we’ll begin this next challenge. League B will demand more from us, but these are the matches we want to be playing. We’ll prepare properly and go into every game believing we can compete.”

The September-October window will feature 74 Group Stage matches across the three leagues, serving as the first of three FIFA Match Windows over which the 2026/27 CONCACAF Nations League will be played.

These are the League B 16 teams in alphabetical order:

Barbados (promoted), Belize (promoted), Bermuda, Bonaire, Cayman Islands (promoted), Cuba (relegated), Dominica, French Guiana (relegated), Guadeloupe (relegated), Grenada, Guyana (relegated), Puerto Rico, Saint Kitts and Nevis (promoted), Saint Lucia, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, St Maarten

Apex is flexing more in schools

Gymnastics is increasing in popularity in the Cayman Islands through the recent success of many local competitors which is why Apex Gymnastics is expanding its schools program.

Through its School Partnership Program Apex offers an engaging and dynamic experience for students of all ages. Schools can visit its facility on Dorcy Drive where students can explore its equipment and participate in structured activities that promote fitness, coordination, and fun. Alternatively, Apex can bring the gymnastics experience directly to schools with portable equipment and tailored programs. It’s a fantastic way for students to enjoy physical activity, learn new skills, and be inspired to the thrill of movement and fitness.

Caribbean Energy Leaders to Convene in The Bahamas to Strengthen Regional Collaboration and Drive Solutions for the Caribbean’s Energy Transition (Castries – Tuesday, 1 September, 2026) – The annual CARILEC Resilient/Renewable Energy Community (CAREC) Conference & Exhibition 2026 will convene the Caribbean energy community to advance practical solutions to the region’s most pressing energy challenges and accelerate progress toward more resilient, reliable and sustainable power systems. Organized by the Caribbean Electric Utility Services Corporation (CARILEC) in collaboration with co-hosts Bahamas Power and Light (BPL) and Grand Bahama Power Company (GBPC), the conference will take place from October 18–22, 2026, at the British Colonial Nassau, The Bahamas.

The annual CAREC Conference will bring together approximately 200 utility leaders, energy professionals, policymakers, regulators, development partners and solution providers under the theme “Empowering Progress: Strategic Policy and Planning for the Energy Transition”.

Discussions will address some of the region’s most pressing energy issues, including renewable integration, battery energy storage, grid reliability and modernization, geothermal energy, conventional generation, climate resilience, emerging technologies, and policy and regulatory reform.

CARILEC’s Executive Director, Dr. Cletus Bertin said “Regional collaboration is essential to advancing the Caribbean’s energy transition. CARILEC’s role is to bring our energy community together to share experiences, strengthen partnerships and identify practical solutions to the challenges that continue to hinder progress. Hosting CAREC 2026 in The Bahamas provides another important opportunity to connect regional expertise with local experiences and work collectively towards solutions that can accelerate the transition across our region.”

Mrs. Toni B. Pratt, Chief Executive Officer of BPL said “As The Bahamas’ energy sector continues to make significant strides toward achieving our goal of 30% renewable energy by 2030, we are pleased to welcome our regional energy counterparts to The Bahamas for the 2026 CAREC Conference. This conference provides an important opportunity to share best practices, exchange ideas and experiences, and highlight the progress being made across our islands as we advance our renewable energy roadmap. We look forward to fostering greater collaboration within the Caribbean energy sector and to showcase The Bahamas as we work collectively toward a more sustainable and resilient energy future.”

Chief Operating Officer, of the GBPC, Mrs. Nikita Mullings, added that “Grand Bahama Power Company is proud to co-host CAREC 2026 and welcome leaders and stakeholders from across the Caribbean energy sector to The Bahamas. Grand Bahama continues to make meaningful progress in the renewable energy space, creating opportunities to integrate cleaner energy solutions while strengthening the reliability and resilience of our grid. CAREC provides an important platform to share these experiences, exchange best practices and explore practical solutions around renewable integration, energy storage and grid modernization. We look forward to joining Bahamas Power and light, CARILEC and other members of the energy sector in strengthening regional partnerships and advancing a more sustainable and resilient energy future for the Caribbean.”

A major feature of CAREC 2026 will be the industry exhibition, showcasing renewable energy solutions, resilient and emerging technologies designed to support the Caribbean’s evolving energy needs. Bahamian companies and solution providers are especially encouraged to exhibit, connect with regional stakeholders and showcase their expertise to the wider Caribbean energy community.

A special local registration rate of US$1,000 is available to Bahamian participants. Sponsorship and exhibition opportunities are also available. For registration and additional information, visit carilec.org or contact the CARILEC Events Team at events@carilec.org.

CARILEC, together with co-hosts Bahamas Power and Light (BPL) and Grand Bahama Power Company (GBPC), looks forward to welcoming regional and local energy-sector stakeholders to The Bahamas for CAREC 2026 and creating a platform for meaningful collaboration, knowledge exchange and partnerships that can help advance the Caribbean’s energy future.

About CARILEC:

The Caribbean Electric Utility Service Corporation (CARILEC) is an association of over one hundred energy solution providers and other stakeholders operating in the electricity industry in the Caribbean. CARILEC was established in 1989 with nine (9) members as part of an electric Utilities modernization project funded by USAID and implemented by NRECA under a five-year “Co-operative Agreement.”

MRCU shares expertise at international mosquito control symposium in Oman

MRCU and the University of Glasgow were the only international organisations invited to participate and present at the symposium.

The Mosquito Research and Control Unit (MRCU) represented the Cayman Islands at an international symposium in Oman last week, sharing its experience and expertise in mosquito management with vector control professionals, researchers and government representatives from across the Gulf region.

The 2nd Symposium on Mosquito Vector Control Management, held in Salalah on 25 and 26 August, brought together approximately 200 participants to explore emerging challenges, new technologies and strategies for improving mosquito and disease vector control.

Participants included government representatives, researchers and vector control professionals from countries including Saudi Arabia, Qatar and Yemen. The symposium provided an important platform for researchers and technical specialists responsible for mosquito control programmes across the region to exchange knowledge, operational experiences and approaches to managing mosquito populations and mosquito-borne disease risks.

Representatives from the World Health Organization (WHO) also delivered presentations on the global situation involving dengue, Zika and chikungunya, highlighting current public health challenges and opportunities for prevention and control.

MRCU was represented by Senior Research Officer Carlos Pecanha, who presented on the challenges of urban vector control, as well as the modes of action and key considerations associated with new technologies for mosquito control.

"Engaging with professionals and researchers from such diverse environments demonstrates that many of the challenges we face are shared globally," Mr. Pecanha said. "The Cayman Islands' experience and strategies can provide valuable insights to help other countries strengthen their public health and vector control efforts. At the same time, opportunities like this allow us to learn from the experiences and research of others and consider how those lessons may benefit our own work in Cayman."

MRCU and the University of Glasgow were the only international organisations invited to participate and present at the symposium. Mr. Pecanha's presentation was among the most discussed sessions of the event and helped establish opportunities for future academic and technical collaboration.

The symposium comes at a time when dengue and other mosquito-borne diseases continue to present a significant global public health challenge.

WHO global dengue surveillance data show that more than 7.37 million dengue cases have been reported worldwide in 2026, including approximately 2.83 million confirmed cases, more than 35,000 severe cases and 5,166 deaths. WHO notes that surveillance sensitivity varies considerably between countries and regions and that reported data should therefore be interpreted accordingly.

The increasing global burden of mosquito-borne disease reinforces the importance of maintaining strong surveillance, effective mosquito control and access to current research and technologies in the Cayman Islands. Although Cayman has not experienced the levels of local transmission seen in many affected countries, continued vigilance is important given the Islands' international connectivity and the presence of mosquito species capable of transmitting diseases such as dengue, Zika and chikungunya.

MRCU's participation in the Oman symposium reflects its continued commitment to remaining connected with international research, emerging technologies and evolving best practices, while sharing more than five decades of Cayman Islands experience in mosquito surveillance and control.

This work also supports the Cayman Islands Government's 2026-2028 Broad Outcome of "Healthy and Empowered People with Improved Quality of Life for All Ages" by strengthening the knowledge, partnerships and technical capacity needed to protect public health and support community wellbeing.

Want to Get Lean? Start Here

Want to lose body fat, look better, and finally get the results you've been working for?

You don't need another crazy diet.
You don't need to starve yourself.
And you certainly don't need to spend hours doing endless cardio.

One of the smartest places to start is much simpler:

Cut back on added sugar.

The Sugar Trap

Most of us know that candy, cookies, cakes, and soft drinks are loaded with sugar. But here's the problem—sugar can also be hiding in foods that look healthy.

Breakfast cereals. Granola bars. Flavored yogurt. Sauces. Dressings. Sweetened coffee drinks. Energy drinks.

Individually, these foods may not seem like a big deal. But added sugar can quickly pile up throughout the day.

And when those extra calories become a regular part of your diet, they can make losing body fat considerably harder.

That's why I want you to do something this week that could open your eyes to your own eating habits.

Read the labels.

For the next seven days, pay attention to the amount of added sugar in the foods and drinks you consume.

You may be surprised by what you discover.

Stop Looking for the "Perfect Diet"

Here's something I tell my clients:

You don't need a perfect diet. You need a better diet that you can maintain.

You don't have to swear off every food you love. You don't have to eliminate fruit or other nutritious foods that naturally contain sugar.

Instead, start by reducing the unnecessary added sugar that sneaks into your diet.

Replace sugary drinks with water or unsweetened beverages.

Choose plain or lower-sugar options when possible.

Eat more whole, minimally processed foods.

Build meals around lean protein, vegetables, fruits, whole grains, and healthy fats.

And before you put something in your shopping cart, turn the package around and read the label.

That one habit can make a huge difference.

Want to See What Happens?

Give yourself seven days.
Not seven days of starvation.
Not seven days of some miserable fad diet.

Just seven days of being intentional about reducing added sugar.

Then pay attention to how you feel.
Are your energy levels more consistent?
Are your cravings changing?

Are you making better food choices?
Are you feeling less dependent on sweet foods and drinks?

You may discover that a few simple changes can create momentum—and momentum is exactly what you need when you're trying to transform your body.

But Nutrition Is Only Half the Story

Let's be clear: cutting back on sugar alone won't magically create a lean, muscular body.

Your body transformation requires more than one nutritional change.

You need the right combination of nutrition, strength training, cardiovascular exercise, recovery, and consistency.

And that's where having a coach can make all the difference.

You can continue guessing your way through workouts, jumping from one diet to another, and wondering why your results never seem to last.

Or you can get a plan designed specifically for you.

At Body Shapers Personal Training Fitness Studio, we take the guesswork out of getting fit. Your workouts are structured around your goals, your current fitness level, and the results you want to achieve.

Whether your goal is to lose body fat, build strength, improve your fitness, or simply feel better in your clothes, the right plan can help you get there faster—and stay there.

Your Transformation Starts With One Decision

Stop waiting for the perfect time.
Stop looking for the next miracle diet.
Stop telling yourself that you'll start "next Monday."

Start today.

Take control of your nutrition. Cut back on unnecessary added sugar. Get your body moving. Build strength. Create habits that last.

And if you're ready to stop doing it alone, call Ernest at Body Shapers Personal Training Fitness Studio at 325-8696.

Let's build a stronger, fitter, leaner you—one workout and one healthy choice at a time.

Cayman City Church Officially Launched in Grand Cayman

Cayman City Church has officially been launched following a vibrant and historic service held on Sunday, August 23, 2026, at the Harquail Theatre in Grand Cayman.

The service brought together church members, invited guests, community leaders, friends, and families to celebrate the establishment of the ministry and its commitment to serving the people of the Cayman Islands with the message and love of Jesus Christ.

A major highlight of the weekend was the visit of Apostle Dr. Michael Agyeman-Amoako, the Regional Missions Director for The Church of Pentecost in the Americas and the Caribbean, and his wife, Mrs. Sarah Agyeman-Amoako, who were in the Cayman Islands from August 21–23 for an Apostolic Working Visit.

The visit provided a valuable opportunity to celebrate the progress of the work in the Cayman Islands, strengthen, and encourage the missionary, his family, and the entire congregation, while ushering the church into a new season of ministry, growth, and greater impact.

Pastor Ohene Kyei Baffour, Resident Missionary and Pastor of Cayman City Church, expressed gratitude to God, the Chairman of the church and the executive council leadership, ministry partners, friends, and the wider community for their support in establishing the work.

He emphasized that the church’s vision extends beyond gathering people for worship, with a strong commitment to becoming a blessing to the Cayman Islands through evangelism, discipleship, youth development, family ministry, community engagement, and practical expressions of Christian love.

“We believe God has sent us to the Cayman Islands not simply to establish a church, but to serve our islands, strengthen families, raise a generation, and introduce people to the transforming power of Jesus Christ,” Pastor Baffour said.

The vision of the church is to equip her members and unleash them for the transformation of their world with the values and principles of the Kingdom of God.

“The goal is to move members outward from inside church walls into everyday spheres of influence (workplaces, communities, and culture) to impact society with Christian character and principles. We are more than Sunday services—we are a family of believers who love God, serve people, and care for our communities. Across the globe, the Church of Pentecost run schools, hospitals, youth programs, and community projects, demonstrating God’s love in practical ways. We believe church should not only be a place to worship, but also a place to belong and grow and be unleashed as an agent of transformation.” Pastor Baffour added.

The launch also celebrated the growing relationships the church has developed with members of the community and organizations in the Cayman Islands. Through various outreach and community initiatives, the church has sought to engage children, teenagers, families, schools, and other members of society.

The Apostolic Working Visit by Apostle Dr. Agyeman-Amoako further underscored the importance the church places on the Cayman Islands within its broader missions mandate across the Americas and the Caribbean.

The Church of Pentecost is a global Pentecostal Christian denomination with a presence in 210 nations and territories. Its mission is centered on proclaiming Jesus Christ, making disciples, equipping believers through the power of the Holy Spirit, and contributing positively to communities and nations.

Cayman City Church is now looking forward to a new chapter of growth, evangelism, discipleship, community service, and spiritual transformation.

As the celebrations concluded, Pastor Baffour expressed appreciation to everyone who contributed to the launch and to those who have supported the ministry since its early beginnings.

The church believes the launch is not an ending, but the beginning of a greater assignment.

Cayman City Church welcomes residents, families, young people, and visitors to join the congregation as it continues its mission of bringing Christ to the islands and transforming lives through the power of the Gospel.

Regular weekly meetings for bible study, worship and fellowship take place at the Chamber of Commerce Conference Room, Governor’s Square, West Bay Road, every Sunday between 10:30 am and 11:30 am. All are welcome!

- Maintain and monitor inventory of fire safety equipment; ensure timely servicing as per schedules.
- Develop and update a workplace fire safety plan including safe exits, emergency lighting, clear signage, and ensure compliance with inspection checklists.

3. Transportation Management

- Oversee hospital transportation services, ensuring safe and timely movement of patients, staff, medical equipment, and supplies.
- Develop schedules and assign responsibilities to transportation staff to optimize efficiency and patient care.
- Maintain vehicles in compliance with safety regulations, including regular servicing, inspections, and documentation.
- Implement and enforce safe driving protocols and emergency response procedures for transportation staff.
- Coordinate with other hospital departments for seamless patient transfers and logistical support.

4. Training & Education

- Develop and deliver training sessions covering fire safety awareness, emergency procedures, security protocols, safe handling of hazardous materials, and emergency response practices.
- Participate actively on hospital safety and disaster preparedness committees.

Qualifications & Experience

- Education: Associate or bachelor's degree in Security Management, Fire Safety, Occupational Health & Safety, Transportation Management, or related field.
- Experience: 5+ years in hospital or institutional security, fire safety, and transportation management; experience leading drills, inspections, and transportation operations.
- Valid Security Guard Supervisor licence, and/or additional firearms licence if relevant, according to RCIPS protocols.
- Professional certification in fire safety, occupational health & safety, or transportation management is a strong asset.

Skills & Attributes

- Strong leadership, organizational, and risk assessment skills.
- Excellent communication, coordination, and training abilities.
- Proactive, detail-oriented, and capable of multi-tasking across security, safety, and transportation domains.
- Familiarity with hospital infrastructure, compliance reporting, and logistics coordination.

- Prepare and advise on monthly, quarterly and annual regulatory reports such as Form PF, Annex IV (AIFMD), Form SLT and others
- Coordinate the year-end financial statement reporting process, including communicating with clients, independent auditors and Citco professionals
- Identify errors or problems and independently investigate; recommend solutions to supervisors and team members
- Work under minimal supervision while following established procedures
- Work collaboratively within a team environment to ensure an exceptional product is delivered to our clients
- Consistently work on developing and implementing new automation of processes to continuously improve our product and service level
- Participate on other tasks and projects as required by changing business needs

Education, Qualifications and Experiences

- You have 1-5 years of experience in an Accounting Firm, Hedge Fund, Private Equity Administrator, Audit or other financial institution where the accountant has gained financial products knowledge
- Strong knowledge of U.S. GAAP and IFRS (preferred)
- Advanced knowledge in complex derivatives
- Previous Financial Statement Preparation experience
- Bachelor's degree in accounting, Finance or Economics with a minimum of 9 accounting credits
- Excellent written and oral communication skills
- Desire to join a top-notch organization that will provide you with the tools needed to achieve ultimate success
- Open to new ideas and encouraged to use observational skills and critical analysis to provide solutions, increase efficiencies and/or provide additional value to our clients and internal stakeholders
- Caymanians and Cayman status holders preferred

We offer a competitive compensation package in the range of US$ 76,000 to $104,000/year, and excellent prospects for future growth within the Citco Group of Companies.

If you fit the above criteria, please send an email with your updated resume to HRGroup-CAY@citco.com by 8 September 2026. Only shortlisted candidates will be contacted.

Breast Cancer Foundation Cayman Islands
Wellness Coordinator

The Breast Cancer Foundation is seeking applications for the position of Wellness Coordinator to support the delivery and coordination of the Foundation's Wellness Programme. This role is central to ensuring that wellness services are delivered smoothly, efficiently, and with compassion to breast cancer patients and survivors.

The Wellness Coordinator will act as a key point of contact for programme participants and service providers, ensuring effective coordination of services, accurate record keeping, participant engagement, and appropriate monitoring of programme budgets.

Role Overview

The Wellness Coordinator will coordinate the day-to-day activities of the Wellness Programme, working closely with the Wellness Manager and wider Foundation team. The role requires excellent organisational skills, attention to detail, discretion, and a high level of empathy when working with individuals affected by breast cancer.

The successful candidate will be comfortable working in a busy, people-focused healthcare-support environment and will demonstrate a genuine commitment to supporting patients and survivors throughout their cancer journey.

Key Responsibilities

- Coordinate Wellness Programme logistics, including scheduling appointments, services, and programme activities
- Monitor support group participation and track individual participant engagement and milestones
- Monitor participant budgets to ensure services accessed remain within approved limits
- Liaise with wellness and healthcare service providers to coordinate appointments, schedules, and service delivery
- Act as a key point of contact for participants, responding to enquiries via email, telephone, and in person
- Maintain accurate, confidential, and up-to-date records for all programme participants
- Prepare reports and updates to support programme oversight and financial accountability
- Monitor participant needs and ensure appropriate services and support are coordinated
- Ensure all interactions with participants are handled with sensitivity, compassion, confidentiality, and professionalism
- Support Wellness Programme activities at major fundraising and awareness events, as required
- Work collaboratively with other members of the Foundation team to ensure a coordinated approach to participant support

Skills and Experience Required

The successful candidate will demonstrate the following:

1. A minimum of two (2) years' experience in a customer care or administrative role within a healthcare-related setting (hospital, medical office, insurance provider, or similar) – preferred
2. Strong organisational skills with excellent attention to detail
3. Effective written and verbal communication skills
4. Ability to manage sensitive and confidential information appropriately
5. Proficiency in Microsoft Office, including Word, Outlook, and Excel, and comfort working with databases
6. A compassionate and patient approach, with an understanding of the needs of individuals affected by serious illness
7. Ability to liaise effectively with people from diverse backgrounds with empathy and respect
8. Strong multitasking skills and the ability to adapt in a dynamic environment
9. Punctual, reliable, and able to work independently when required
10. A clean driving licence, access to a reliable vehicle, and Police Clearance

Working Conditions

- Full-time position (40 hours per week)
- Occasional evening and weekend work may be required
- Flexibility is essential, particularly to support major fundraising and awareness events
- Role is based onsite at Grand Harbour

Salary and Benefits

- Salary range: CI$40,000 – CI$45,000 per annum, dependent on experience and qualifications
- Pension and health insurance in accordance with statutory requirements
- 20 days paid annual vacation

Caymanians and persons with the right to work in the Cayman Islands will be given priority.

We are seeking an experienced corporate lawyer with 6—8 years PQE to join our growing practice and play an important role in supporting the firm’s corporate law offering.

The candidate will advise clients on matters of corporate law including the drafting of customized corporate constitutional documents, detailed transactional documents, advising on international business reorganizations, mergers and acquisitions and related due diligence. This requires a detailed understanding of relevant Cayman law and the ability to draft complex legal documents required by KPMG’s clients. The candidate must be able to provide legal advice that is detailed, but practical and commercial, while working closely with the corporate Partners and the corporate services team to support the demands of our clients, their transactions and the law practice. You will be expected to build strong, effective working relationships with clients and internal stakeholders and contribute to the ongoing development of the practice.

Key Responsibilities:

- Provide high-quality corporate legal advice on a range of corporate, reorganization and transactional matters.
- Support and where appropriate, lead transactions.
- Manage client matters effectively, ensuring clarity of scope, delivery, and commercial outcomes.
- Manage work in progress and accounts receivables in accordance with business standards.
- Collaborate closely with Partners and the corporate services team to deliver client work.
- Build and maintain client and internal relationships with clear and effective communication throughout.
- Support the development of precedents and internal knowledge resources.
- Contribute to the growth and development of the firm’s corporate legal practice.
- Mentor and support junior team members where appropriate.

Skills, Knowledge and Expertise:

- Necessary to be a qualified lawyer with at least 6 years’ post-qualification experience from a top-tier international law firm.
- Technical expertise and exceptional experience in corporate law, international reorganizations and international transactional matters, including mergers and acquisitions, is essential.
- Important to have relatable experience of building client relationships and providing detailed technical knowledge in a practical way while undertaking the key responsibilities.
- Ability to contribute to practice development and support the delivery of client work
- The ability to carry out business development is an important advantage.
- International experience in other Commonwealth jurisdictions, and specific experience in Ireland is desirable.
- A working knowledge of KPMG locally and internationally is an advantage.

We are seeking a technically strong and collaborative team player with a proven track record to build trusted client relationships internally and with international clients and to contribute meaningfully to the future growth of the practice. The successful candidate with the ability to work independently will thrive in a fast-paced, varied environment.

Benefits: A competitive salary commensurate with qualifications and experience, plus discretionary performance related bonus, comprehensive medical plan, pension plan (in line with Cayman Islands Labor Law), flexible vacation scheme, free on-site corporate gym membership and a recognizable and reputable corporate social responsibility program.

HR Manager

Department: Human Resources

Reporting To: Managing Director

Semi monthly pay

Mise en Place is seeking an experienced, proactive and highly organised HR Manager to lead people operations across a busy hospitality group including Events, Private Chef Catering, Baristas, Schools Catering, Warehouse Operations and Corporate Support functions.

This is a high-volume, hands-on role supporting approximately 100 employees across multiple locations in a seven-day hospitality environment. The successful candidate must be comfortable managing frequent interruptions, urgent operational requests and 10–15 employee or manager enquiries per day while maintaining accuracy, confidentiality and sound judgement.

Duties include partnering with senior leadership, supporting workforce planning and succession planning, managing end-to-end recruitment and onboarding, preparing high volumes of employment documentation, maintaining HR and immigration records, liaising with government agencies, supporting investigations and performance matters, administering benefits and pension processes, coordinating payroll information, resolving day-to-day people issues and improving HR processes through technology and workforce management systems.

Applicants must have a Bachelor's Degree in Human Resources, Business Administration, Management or a related field experience and a minimum of 5–7 years' progressive HR experience, preferably within hospitality, food service, tourism, retail or another fast-paced multi-site environment. Strong knowledge of Cayman Islands Labour Law, pension, health insurance, WORC procedures and immigration/work permit processes is required. CISHRP certification or active professional membership would be an advantage.

This position is best suited to a resilient, organised and practical HR professional who can balance strategic projects with the daily realities of hospitality operations, including employee concerns, scheduling pressures, recruitment needs, compliance deadlines, immigration matters and payroll-related queries. Applicants seeking a purely office-based or policy-only HR role may not find this position suitable.

Salary: CI$65,000–CI$75,000 per annum, plus applicable statutory benefits

Location: Grand Cayman

Hours: Full-time. Flexibility may be required to support hospitality operations, recruitment activities and company events on weekends and evenings

To apply: Submit your CV to careers@catering.ky. Caymanians and Permanent Residents are strongly encouraged to apply.

Owned and operated by the United Church in Jamaica and the Cayman Islands

Cayman Prep and High School is a private, co-educational Christian school with over 1,000 students ranging from Kindergarten to Year 13 and offers a British-based international curriculum leading to IGCSE and A-level qualifications. The school is renowned for providing a stimulating learning environment in which our students become critical, creative thinkers, responsible citizens, and lifelong learners. This is evident in our consistent record of outstanding academic achievements, pastoral care, and wide range of extra-curricular activities.

We are seeking exceptional teachers with leadership experience to join our high-performing Primary School team as soon as possible. This full-time position is an outstanding opportunity for accomplished and creative educators who are passionate about child-centred education and eager to positively contribute to, and grow within, a highly respected, values-driven school community known for academic excellence and innovation.

We are looking for reflective, inspirational, and forward-thinking teachers and leaders who are inspired by working with motivated learners, value professional collaboration, and are excited by the opportunity to further develop their practice within a supportive environment that invests deeply in its people and empowers educators to make a meaningful impact. Suitably qualified Caymanians, Caymanian Status Holders, and Permanent Residents with the Right to Work are encouraged to apply.

Teacher – Key Stage 1 (with middle leader responsibility) (JobRef#A167-27-28) (WORC Job ID # A8C2P5)

The successful applicant will be responsible for teaching a broad, balanced, relevant, and adapted English National Curriculum which meets the learning needs of all students within Key Stage 1. The successful applicant will require not only teaching experience but also the skills and experience necessary for leading colleagues, including the role of Year Group Lead. The Year Group Lead responsibilities involve leading and developing rigorous age-related academic and pastoral provision over 3 classes. The successful applicant must have a Bachelor's degree in a relevant subject together with an internationally recognised teaching certificate, such as a PGCE, a Bachelor of Education or H.Dip.Ed with a minimum of three years relevant teaching experience. In addition, the successful applicant must have a minimum of one-year previous leadership experience at middle level.

In addition to the responsibilities listed above the duties will include, but will not be limited to:

- Teaching the curriculum to assigned students, according to individual educational needs.
- Preparing long, medium, and short-term plans for all subjects taught, in collaboration with parallel class teachers, subject leads and learning support staff.
- Providing adapted learning opportunities in order to support, meet and challenge the needs of all learners.
- Assessing students' work promptly, in accordance with school policies.
- Maintaining accurate records of students' progress and attainment, using assessment data to inform planning and teaching.
- Building and maintaining positive relationships with all members of the school community.
- Creating and maintaining a stimulating and supportive learning environment.
- Participating in a wide range of extra-curricular activities, including leading clubs.
- Actively demonstrating a passion for education and a strong commitment to being an active member of the CPHS community.

In addition, the qualifications, experience and skills required are:

- Up to date knowledge and experience of teaching the revised English National Curriculum 2014 is essential.
- Outstanding classroom practitioner, passionate about developing independent lessons using creative and innovative ideas.
- Fully proficient in using Management Information Systems (SIMS) and Microsoft Office products, especially MS Word and Excel.
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills.
- Excellent organisation, ensuring all record keeping is up to date.
- Exceptional enthusiasm and a proactive approach to teaching and collaborating within a team.
- Committed to fully supporting and adhering to the Christian ethos of the school.
- Prior experience in a multicultural international school environment is an advantage.

Salary range for the position listed above is CI$51,700.00 – CI$71,700.00 per annum commensurate with experience based on the school's point salary scale. Work hours per week – 40 hours. Benefits include:

- Generous medical insurance plan – medical premium cost paid for employee at 100%
- Contribution to a pension plan
- Exceptional monetary relocation allowance upon arrival to island
- Return Airfare upon initial relocation to island
- Annual travel allowance
- Discounted school fees: first child 100% and 50% for up to 2 additional dependent children
- Tax free salary
- Generous school holidays
- Continued Professional Development Opportunities throughout the School Year

Cayman Prep and High School is fully committed to safeguarding the welfare of our children and young people and expects the same commitment from all our employees. All successful candidates will be subject to enhanced pre-employment clearance including prohibition from teaching checks, identity checks, criminal background checks, qualification checks and employment checks to include an exploration of any gaps in employment and three satisfactory employment checks.

Cayman Brac Lighthouse National Park

PUBLIC CONSULTATION

7 AUGUST - 20 NOVEMBER 2026

The Cayman Brac eastern Bluff and Long Beach are among the most iconic and most visited natural landscapes in the Cayman Islands. The proposal for the Bluff Lighthouse National Park is intended to protect the Bluff formation and its unique species while keeping the area open for managed public access and recreation.
