MIN. MYLES SOUNDS ALARM OVER PENSIONS

Hon. Minister for Caymanian Employment and Immigration, Michael Myles, has sounded an alarm over the state of pensions for workers in the Cayman Islands. Expressing concern about the current situation, Mr Myles said there are many examples, particularly of private sector workers whose pension deductions from their salaries are not paid in or were incorrectly registered. Another concern is about persons who have significantly dipped into - and depleted - their retirement funds.

This comes as the National Coalition For Caymanians(NCFC) administration plans a major study aimed at ultimately carrying out a wide-ranging review of the entire pension system in the Cayman Islands.

Appearing on Radio Cayman's For The Record programme with Orrett 'OC' Connor, Min. Myles expressed alarm at what he referred to as "the high numbers of delinquent companies that are not paying workers' pensions". He said firm steps, including court action, are being taken by the government to address this longstand-

RCIPS Commissions Independent Review into Investigation of Alissady Powell's Death

The Royal Cayman Islands Police Service (RCIPS) wishes to reiterate its deepest condolences to the family and loved ones of young Alissady Powell. Following the recent verdict in the Grand Court—where the defendant was convicted of abduction but acquitted of murder in relation to the tragic events on Cayman Brac on 26 July 2022—Commissioner of Police Kurt Walton acknowledges the understandable public concerns regarding the initial handling of the investigation and the court outcome.

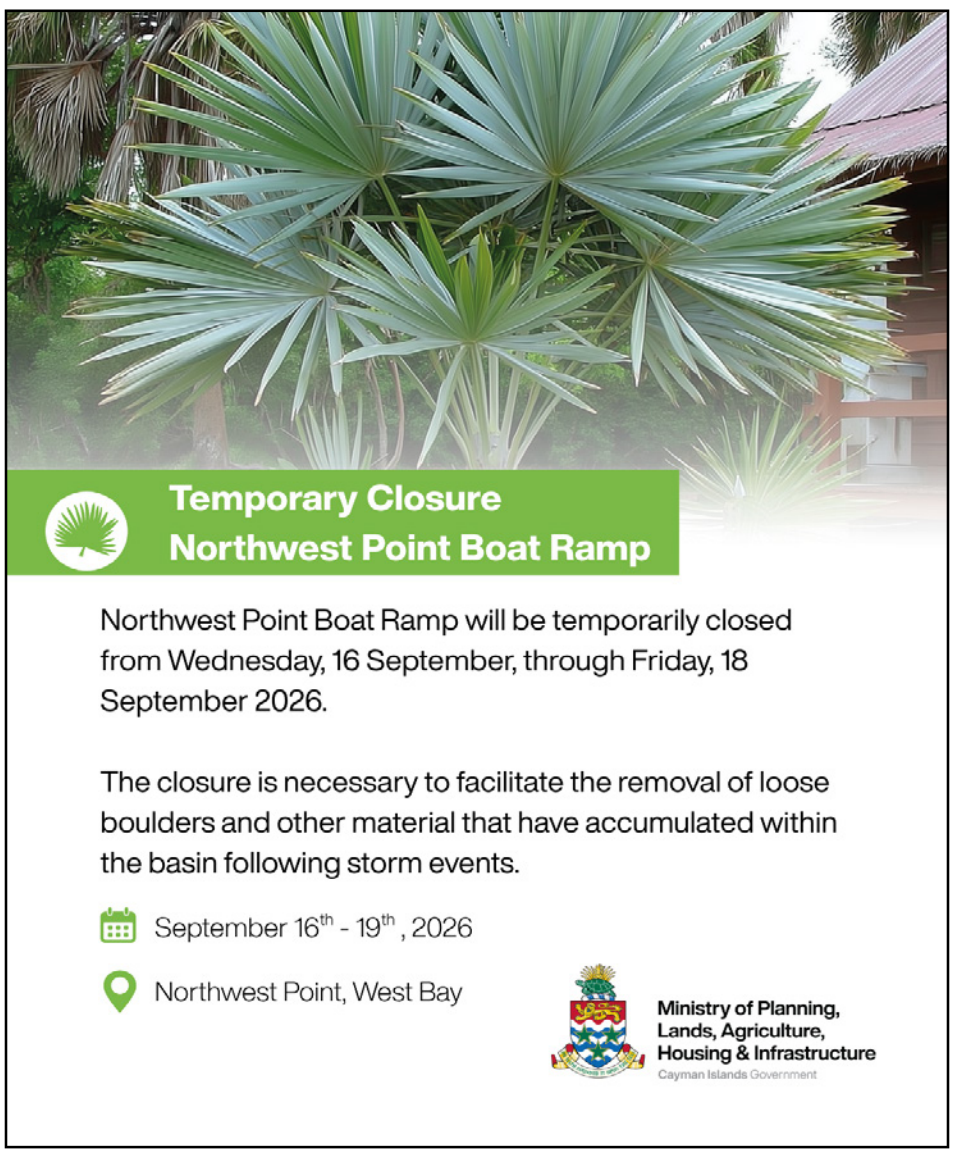
Following consultations and a recent meeting with members of Alissady's family, Commissioner Walton has engaged a leading international child death expert based in the UK to conduct an independent review of the investigation. The Commissioner and the wider RCIPS recognise that this remains an exceptionally difficult time for Alissady's family and the broader community, given the profound impact her death has had on the Cayman Islands as a whole. We remain steadfast in our commitment to seeking justice on behalf of young Alissady and ensuring that our organisation and community are fully prepared and equipped to respond to such tragic acts of violence.

Police Respond to Two-Vehicle Collision on Shamrock Road

On Wednesday, 9 September, shortly after 5:20AM, police and other emergency services responded to a report of a two-vehicle collision involving a Honda Fit and a tractor on Shamrock Road, in the Red Bay area. The Honda Fit sustained extensive frontal damage and the driver was transported to the hospital where he remains in stable condition with what are believed to be non-life-threatening injuries. The driver of the tractor reported experiencing back pain and was medically assessed on the scene and refused further medical treatment. A blood specimen was requested and retrieved from the driver of the Honda Fit, who was subsequently arrested on suspicion of driving under the influence. The collision remains under investigation by the Traffic and Roads Policing Unit.

Police Respond to Fight in George Town

On Saturday, 12 September, shortly after 2:30AM, officers responded to a report of a fight at a liquor license premises on Canal Point Drive in George Town. On arrival, officers observed a large crowd gathered in the parking lot and causing a disturbance. They also observed a man armed with a machete chasing another man who appeared to have sustained an injury. Officers took immediate action to de-escalate the situation by verbal commands. The involved parties failed to comply with the instructions of the officers and as a result, pepper spray was deployed as a public order measure. The two men involved in the incident fled the location, leaving machetes behind. Officers subsequently dispersed the crowd and recovered the machetes. One individual who was affected by the deployment of the pepper spray was medically assessed and decontaminated at the scene. Another individual who also reported being affected left the location in a private vehicle. The incident remains under police investigation. Police are appealing to anyone who may have photos, videos or other information relating to the incident to submit them directly to the RCIPS via our Confidential Tip Line at 949-7777, or via our website<http://www.rcips.ky/submit-a-tip>.



TEMPORARY CLOSURE – NORTHWEST POINT BOAT RAMP

George Town, Grand Cayman, 15th September 2026 — The Ministry of Planning, Lands, Agriculture, Housing and Infrastructure advises the public that the Northwest Point Boat Ramp in West Bay will be temporarily closed from Wednesday, 16 September, through Friday, 18 September 2026.

The closure is necessary to facilitate the removal of loose boulders and other material that have accumulated within the basin following storm events over the years. The boat ramp will be inaccessible throughout the three-day closure, and boat owners who normally use the facility are encouraged to make alternative arrangements.

Public access to the boat ramp is expected to resume on Saturday, 19 September 2026.

The Ministry and the National Roads Authority thank the public for its patience and cooperation while these important works are undertaken.

MIN. MYLES SOUNDS ALARM OVER PENSIONS

ing problem.

Over 2,000 companies are said to be in default, putting at risk the pensions of hundreds of employees, both Caymanians and work permit holders.

RAMPANT PROBLEM

He referred to a "rampant" problem concerning how some companies report pension deductions, resulting in huge amounts of pension payments not being recorded resulting in pensions remaining employees denied their full pensions when they choose to retire.

"That is a staggering number of people that own companies or are working in companies that are not paying pensions. We have well over 2000 that are not paying pension and that are significantly delinquent. I met with two of the pension operators this week, only to be told that one of them has at least 1600 delinquent companies. Of that 1600, over approximately 260 were given payment plans. Of that 260, at least 234 have defaulted on payment plans."

Noting a renewed push by the government to address the problem, Mr Myles also urged employees themselves to check to ensure that their pension deductions are being paid in.

"What I find disgusting about a lot of this is that you have companies taking monies out of their employees' pensions and not actually paying the pension. And unfortunately, we at times as a country, don't take it seriously enough that we keep up with our pension. So very few people actually check their pension to make sure that money is actually going into that pension. So I want to take this time to encourage our community, certainly our employees, to check your pension.

PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY

In driving home that point about personal responsibility to ensure that pension contributions are up-to-date and registered, Mr Myles also advised: "I want to take this time to encourage our community, certainly our employees, to check your pension. Call your pension company. It is your responsibility. It's not your employer's. It's your responsibility to ensure that you get a statement."

▶ Hon Michael Myles

One of the emerging concerns is over the implications this has for health insurance where, according to Minister Myles, some employers are taking on health insurance just to satisfy the immigration standards, and once they get the work permit, they basically just stop paying the health insurance."

According to Min. Myles, this poses a severe challenge for both individuals and the government, which has to pick up the tab when people retire only to realise that their pensions and health insurance are not up-to-date. "We are having an ageing population, and the more people whose pensions aren't being contributed to, that becomes a problem for the country overall in terms of cost. How do we support these folks?"

CLAMPDOWN

He reported that as a result of a more aggressive stance by the government, some improvement is being observed. In cases referred to the DPP(Director of Public Prosecutions) to date, 109 cases have been resolved, with over CI$384,000 in pension payments reclaimed. The Minister gave examples of companies being closed, with huge amounts of employees' pension deductions not paid into their workers' pension funds.

At the same time though, Min. Myles presses the point that employers should keep track of their pensions while the government intensifies enforcement.

"We are steadily enforcing the law with persons who have work permits who are not paying pension. The pension companies are seeing a steady improvement, with companies now catching up with their pension payments. We're still not there, but I want to remind persons who are working for these organisations that you do have rights. You have the right to ensure that you know if your pension is being contributed to."

PENSION REVIEW

Against this background, the NCFC government is setting up a study to review the pension scheme, including the rate of pensions, the age at which people can access their pension, and how pensions are invested. Mr Myles said the way pensions are invested has not changed in the past 25 years despite major shifts in the investment market.

He also said the law governing pensions itself has remained unchanged over the past 15 years.

Also highlighted is the risk to private sector workers who have dipped into their pension pots to pay off a mortgage, but whose pension pots are now depleted after leaving work and have to rely on government support.

In that vein, concern is also being raised over how both individuals and the overall pension fund have been affected by withdrawals made during the COVID pandemic - under a government-approved scheme at the time. Min. Myles said those deductions amounted to around half a billion Cayman dollars in total being taken out of the general pension fund.

"That is money that's not there anymore," he said.

Also highlighted is the risk to especially private sector workers who have dipped into their pension pots to pay off a mortgage but whose retirement funds are now depleted after leaving work and end up relying on government support.

An emerging question expected to be addressed during the planned pensions review study is whether the rate of pension deductions from workers' salaries should be increased.

Min. Myles is stressing that wider public awareness is needed about the importance of pensions and saving towards retirement, starting with the youth.

Local fishermen help DoE test electromagnetic shark deterrent device

The Cayman Islands Department of Environment (DoE) has been actively testing the "Rpelx" electromagnetic shark deterrent device with local anglers to prevent sharks from taking hooked fish. Reducing the loss of catch and tackle to sharks helps fishermen while also reducing the impact of fishing activities on Cayman's breeding shark population. In response to concerns expressed by local anglers, the DoE secured funding from the UK Government through Darwin Plus for a new 3-year shark research project earlier this year. In July DoE began trials with the Rpelx device with local anglers who fish for deep water snapper.

"It was great to show the DoE shark team how sharks affect the fishing experience," said Captain Stephen Ebanks who runs local fishing charter Reel Vibes. "We immediately got sharked on the first drop. This happens all the time, in some areas more than in others but it is a problem and I am glad the DoE is working on a solution."

The trial aims to collect data on 200 deep drops, 100 with the Rpelx and 100 without the device. "For a successful trial, we rely on the fishing community to help. Anglers fish while we collect the data," explains Dr Johanna Kohler, Manager of the Shark Research & Conservation Programme at the DoE.

"We also measure each fish and note the species," said Anne Veeder, Research Officer with the DoE Shark Research & Conservation Programme. "This way, by the end of the trial the DoE can provide meaningful results to the fishing community such as whether the device affects the catch rate, number, size or species of fish, and whether it is successfully managing to deter sharks."

The trial consists of an experimental set up so that researchers can compare the effectiveness of the Rpelx device to deter sharks. During fishing trips, the following data is collected when fishing both with and without the device: environmental conditions, boat length, engine type, location, depth, time taken until first bite, fight time, reel type (standard vs electric), and how many fish, hooks, sinkers are lost to sharks, and how many fish are landed intact.

If the device proves successful in deterring sharks without major impacts on the fishing experience, the project will move on to phase two of the trial where the DoE will purchase and provide the Rpelx device to local anglers to keep and report back on the long-term effects.

"We have completed 62 deep drops so far, which is just over ¼ of the target number," said Dr Kohler. To move on to the second phase of the trial, it is essential to collect enough data for the statistical analysis. The DoE aims to complete the total of 200 deep drops by the end of September or beginning of October.

Please reach contact sharks@gov.ky or WhatsApp 926-0135 if you go fishing for deep water snappers and want to collect more data for this Rpelx shark deterrent device trial.

"We need robust evidence that the Rpelx device works for anglers in Cayman to justify the expense of purchasing more devices," explained Dr Kohler. "The more help we can get with testing the device now, the quicker we can move on to phase two so fishermen can have their own device full-time."

Project Background

This project addresses the reported and apparent rise in interactions with sharks during fishing trips. "These unwanted encounters impact not only the fishing experience but also reduce the number of fish that anglers land and often result in the loss of fishing tackle." said Captain Erick Adam, owner of local fishing charters Sea Cayman Boat Charters and Grand Time Watersports. King Flowers, owner of the Brasse-rie adds "If it happens one time, that is fine. But on some days, we only get a quarter of the usual catch and the time for repairs of the fishing tackle add up quickly."

The DoE hopes to balance marine conservation with local fishing activities. "We understand fishermen's frustrations because the shark is not the target, but it interferes with the catch of target fish and fishermen have no tool to avoid these interactions with sharks," shared Dr Kohler. "It is hoped that the electromagnetic shark deterrent device can be an effective tool for fishermen to avoid losses of catch and tackle to sharks," said Dr Kohler.

The Rpelx device emits a 200-volt electromagnetic field around the hooked fish and takes advantage of the shark's physiology. Sharks have electromagnetic receptors called "Ampullae of Lorenzini", but the other fish do not. When the shark approaches the hooked fish, it eventually enters the electromagnetic field of the device and the shark's electromagnetic receptors get over stimulated. "To the shark it feels like a strong punch in the face, and it will turn away," explains Dr Kohler.

Sharks eat sick and weak individual fish so they will naturally be present where there are lots of fish. A hooked fish struggling on the line, with potentially fish blood in the water, sends out signals that an injured fish is nearby which will attract sharks. While this behaviour is natural, these interactions have serious implications not just financially for fishermen and charter businesses, but also on the health of individual sharks. "We have had reports from divers with the citizen science Sharklogger Network, of individual sharks swimming around with hooks, deep wounds, injured fins, and even a gaff stuck in the jaw" said Ms Veeder.

Most of these interactions involve large individual sharks that are part of the breeding population, potentially including pregnant females. Pregnancy is a vulnerable life-stage in any population and the health impacts of unwanted encounters with fishermen could potentially cause a loss of pregnancy or death of both the pregnant female and her unborn young. "We want to improve the survival of the most vulnerable life-stages of our coastal sharks. So given the trial's success so far, we hope the Rpelx device will help fishermen increase their catch while also supporting the survival of Cayman's sharks, particularly in vulnerable life-stages such as pregnant females and newborns," said Dr Kohler.

Please reach contact sharks@gov.ky or WhatsApp 926-0135 if you go fishing and want to collect more data for this Rpelx shark deterrent device trial.

This project is funded by the UK Government through Darwin Plus and the Cayman Islands Brewery through donations from sales of White Tip Lager.

C3 PURE FIBRE TO SEEK LEAVE TO APPEAL ICT LICENSE FEE RULING TO PRIVY COUNCIL

Infinity Broadband Ltd., trading as C3 Pure Fibre (C3), is preparing to seek leave to appeal to Committee of the Privy Council following the Cayman Islands Court of Appeal's ruling today which held that license fees historically charged to C3 and collected by the Utility Regulation and Competition Office ("OfReg") were lawful.

In seeking leave to appeal, C3 maintains its position that until corrective legislation was passed in December 2024 and December 2025, the statutory framework in the Cayman Islands did not lawfully permit the historical charging and collection of these fees from the ICT sector from 2002 onwards.

Section 30(1) of the ICT Act in force from 1 January 2019 until December 2025 provided that:

"A license granted under this Law shall be subject to the prescribed license fees which shall be determined by the Office."

In applying for leave to appeal to the Privy Council, the Cayman Island's highest court of appeal, C3's position is that the proper statutory interpretation of the word "prescribed" is that Parliament intended license fees of this kind, including fees constituting coercive revenue or taxation, to be fixed transparently through regulations and published in the Gazette.

C3's position is that the legislation did not instead empower OfReg to determine and collect such fees solely through individual license agreements, under which the fees imposed could differ between licensees, even where those agreements were published on OfReg's website.

C3 considers this to be a matter of public importance for the ICT sector in the Cayman Islands, with broader implications for regulatory transparency and accountability in the jurisdiction.

"'We welcome the Court of Appeal's careful consideration of these important questions, but we respectfully disagree with its conclusion on how license fees must be established under the ICT Act," said Randy Merren, Managing Director of C3 Pure Fibre.

"We believe this is a point of real significance not only for C3 but for the wider ICT sector and the consumers who rely on it, and we intend to ask the Privy Council to consider it."

Premier André Ebanks appoints Dr Karie Bergstrom as Chief of Staff

The Office of the Premier (OTP) announced September 8 that Dr Karie Bergstrom, DEdMin, GPHR, CBCP will serve as Chief of Staff to Premier Hon. André Ebanks MP, effective 1 October 2026. Bringing decades of executive leadership across professional and financial services and on government-appointed boards, Dr Bergstrom will head the Office of the Premier, providing strategic policy advice and support to the Premier.

"Dr Karie brings vast experience across the public and private sectors, as well as a skill set that is uniquely suited to the role," said Premier Ebanks. "She excels at navigating complex challenges, leading change management and developing human capital, which aligns well with the NCFC's agenda to address long-standing national issues and modernise government services. I am delighted to welcome Dr Karie to the team."

▶ Dr Karie Bergstrom

As a consultant and director of Barr-Cross Group Ltd., Dr Bergstrom specialises in business continuity, workforce development, crisis management, and operational leadership. In addition to leadership roles in leading legal and accounting firms, she has consulted government on immigration policy reform and strategic development. A past president of the Cayman Islands Tourism Association, Dr Bergstrom has chaired the Tourism Advisory Council and has broad experience serving on the Health Services Authority and Hotel Licensing boards, the Gender Equality Tribunal, the National Pensions Board and the Immigration Accreditation Review Team. Dr Bergstrom has a doctorate and is a Certified Business Continuity Professional and Global Professional of Human Resources.

"For a patriotic Caymanian, I can think of no higher honour than being given the opportunity to serve my country in this capacity. I am deeply humbled by the confidence Premier Ebanks has placed in me and look forward to bringing my experience, energy and commitment to the role and to advancing the Government's priorities for the people of the Cayman Islands," said Dr Bergstrom.

Dr Bergstrom's appointment follows the announcement that outgoing Chief of Staff Pilar Bush is stepping down from 7 September to pursue a new chapter in publishing.

Thanking Ms Bush for her contribution, Premier Ebanks said, "Pilar has played a foundational role in shaping the government's strategic priorities and establishing the framework and support systems in the Office of the Premier. I thank her for her dedication and service to the country and wish her well in her future endeavours."

Dr Bergstrom will step into the role of Chief of Staff from 1 October, taking on responsibility for day-to-day operations, coordinating policy implementation across ministries and managing strategic priorities, alongside a smaller portfolio of select consulting engagements. In the interim, Executive Advisor, Juliet DuFeu will coordinate the work of the OTP team.

Cayman Airways Launches New Vacation Booking Website

Cayman Airways Limited (CAL) has launched Cayman Airways Vacations, a new consumer booking platform where customers can combine Cayman Airways flights with hotel accommodation as a package in one convenient online booking experience at www.CaymanAirwaysVacations.com.

Designed to make vacation planning simpler, the platform offers flight-and-hotel packages for travel across the Cayman Airways network, serving visitors planning Cayman Islands vacations, as well as customers planning trips between Cayman and any of the airline's destinations.

"Cayman Airways Vacations builds on the travel experience we already provide by giving customers an easier way to plan their complete trip around their Cayman Airways flights," said Paul Tibbetts, Executive Vice President, Commercial Affairs and Chief Financial Officer at Cayman Airways. "Whether they are travelling to the Cayman Islands or vacationing elsewhere across our network, customers can now combine Cayman Airways flights with hotel accommodation in a single booking and benefit from the added value that vacation packaging can provide."

Cayman Airways Vacations supports both inbound travel to the Cayman Islands and outbound travel across the Cayman Airways network. The platform expands the airline's relationship with its customers beyond just airfare, and provides additional opportunities to promote travel throughout its route network.

"The launch of Cayman Airways Vacations represents another positive development in how we connect travellers with the Cayman Islands," said the Hon. Gary Rutty, Deputy Premier and Minister for Tourism and Trade Development. "By making it easier for visitors to package their flights and accommodation, we are creating another pathway to turn interest in our destination into actual visitation, while supporting the continued growth and economic contribution of our tourism industry."

Cayman Airways Vacations is powered by vacation-packaging technology from Switchfly, enabling customers to combine Cayman Airways flights with hotel accommodation through the dedicated Cayman Airways Vacations booking experience.

"We're honored to partner with Cayman Airways in bringing an effortless way to package flights, hotels, and activities into a single, seamless booking experience," said Kerry Griffin, VP of Engineering Operations at Switchfly. "We're proud to stand alongside the Cayman Airways team as they bring this vision to life and provide customers with another convenient way to plan their travel."

To celebrate the launch, Cayman Airways Vacations is offering a limited-time introductory travel deal on eligible flight + hotel packages booked through 28 September 2026, for travel on any available date to destinations across the Cayman Airways network.

Customers can view the offer details and build their flight + hotel package at www.CaymanAirwaysVacations.com. To receive the introductory discount, use promo code CAYMANVACATIONS at checkout. Terms and conditions apply. For reservations and customer care support, call 1-386-267-7058.

CAYMAN TO HOST 2027 REGIONAL UK OVERSEAS TERRITORIES LEADERS MEETING

The Cayman Islands will host the 2027 session of the Caribbean Overseas Territories Leaders Caucus. The decision was made at this year's meeting in Bermuda, where the British Overseas Territories in the region agreed on the priority issues they want addressed on the agenda for the upcoming Joint Ministerial Council (JMC) with the UK government in November.

Hon. Premier Andre Ebanks, who headed the Cayman Islands Government to the Bermuda meeting, said agreeing to host the 2027 summit reflects Cayman's ongoing commitment to regional collaboration and partnership.

Hosted by Bermuda's Premier David Burt, the meeting brought together leaders from Anguilla, Bermuda, the British Virgin Islands, Montserrat, the Turks and Caicos Islands, and the Cayman Islands to align shared priorities ahead of November's UK Joint Ministerial Council.

"Although the Overseas Territories leaders are frequently in contact, coming together for face-to-face discussions deepens our shared understanding of the issues and opportunities we are managing, both collectively and individually," Premier Ebanks said.

Discussions focused on where the Territories can advocate more effectively together, including climate resilience, health and social care, financial services, trade, reducing the cost of living, and greater participation in regional and international organisations.

"By strengthening collaboration and identifying shared priorities, the Territories are working to ensure their collective interests are clearly represented on the international stage," an official statement noted.

It was emphasised that reaffirming the fundamental right of self-determination under the UN Charter remained a priority. "Leaders emphasised that the Overseas Territories remain strongest when acting together to advance their collective interests internationally."

The Caucus was described as providing a vital platform to address common issues, exchange policy experiences, and agree on unified positions.

"Our territories are unique, and our voices are stronger together. Today's discussions focused on the issues that matter most to our people: safeguarding our right to self-determination, collaborating on financial services and trade, building climate and hurricane resilience, and establishing a modern, respectful partnership with the United Kingdom built on genuine consultation. Therefore, the Cayman Islands and the other Overseas Territories go the JMC in November well prepared, Premier Ebanks stated.

FIFA SLAPS SEVERE SANCTIONS ON CARIBBEAN AND MALDIVES OFFICIALS

FIFA has slapped severe penalties on four football officials from the Caribbean and the Maldives.

A press release issued by FIFA's Ethics Committee (Adjudicatory Chamber) said, "Following proceedings before the independent FIFA Ethics Committee, the adjudicatory chamber has sanctioned four individuals as a result of their conduct whilst serving in football."

Former Montserrat Football Association(MFA) president, Vincent Cassell, has been banned for life by FIFA plus a hefty fine of Swiss CHF 1,000,000 (US$1.2 million), with his general secretary, Tandica Hughes, handed a 15-year ban plus a penalty of Swiss CHF 150,000 (US$183,00), both for activities deemed to be inconsistent with their FIFA roles.

It said Cassell was handed "a lifetime ban on taking part in any (FIFA)football-related activity and ordered to pay the fine for abuse of position, systematic conflicts of interest, misuse of FIFA and MFA funds, and conduct affecting the physical and mental integrity of MFA staff members."

Former MFA general secretary Tandica Hughes was banned from "taking part in any football-related activity for 15 years and fined for personally benefiting from and facilitating improper transactions involving FIFA and MFA resources, including undue benefits, abuse of positions, and misuse of FIFA and MFA funds."

Regarding the Maldives, the former president of the Football Association of the Maldives, Bassam Adeel Jaleel, received a lifetime ban from taking part in any (FIFA)football-related activity and was ordered to pay a fine of CHF 1,000,000 (US$1.2 million) for misusing FIFA COVID-19 Relief Plan funds for his personal benefit.

The former FAM director of finance and administration, Mohamed Ageel, was banned from any (FIFA)football-related activity for ten years and ordered to pay a fine of CHF 100,000 (US$122,00) for facilitating and concealing the misuse of FIFA funds using falsified documentation and failing to cooperate with FIFA's independent Ethics Committee.

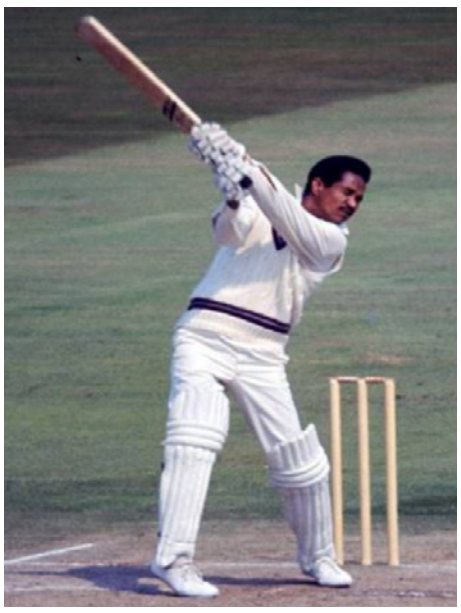
This is the first in a series by Caymanian Times to honour some of our Caribbean sporting legends who have become household names worldwide with their excellence through setting records and thrilling millions on the way.

Sir Garfield Sobers (1936–2026)



▶ He was unstoppable in his prime

A Barbadian international cricketer widely regarded as the greatest all-rounder in the sport's history. He played 93 Test matches for the West Indies between 1954 and 1974, serving as captain and setting a then-record 365 not out in a single Test innings.

Early Life

Born in Bridgetown, Barbados, on July 28, 1936.

From an early age, Sobers showed both enthusiasm and natural ability in almost any sport involving a ball, particularly cricket, football and basketball.

He overcame a childhood of hardship after his father was lost at sea during World War II.

A natural athlete, Sobers also played football at a competitive level in Barbados, primarily as a left-back. His physical strength, tactical awareness, and athleticism made him a formidable player.

First-class debut for Barbados at age 16 and his Test debut for the West Indies at 17.

Career Highlights

Master All-Rounder: Excelled simultaneously as a hard-hitting left-handed batsman, a brilliant fielder, and a bowler capable of left-arm fast-medium pace, orthodox spin, and wrist-spin.

Record Score: Scored an unbeaten 365 against Pakistan in 1958, which stood as the highest individual Test score for 36 years.

Golden year: Sobers enjoyed spectacular success in England in 1966 and was widely acclaimed as 'King Cricket'. In the five Tests he scored 722 runs at an average of 103.14 with three centuries, and had 20 wickets at 27.25, as well as taking 10 catches. Indies won the series 3–1, with one match drawn.

Calypso hero: His status was celebrated by the Trinidadian calypso artist Mighty Sparrow, with his song 'Sir Garfield Sobers'.

Six Sixes: Became the first player in first-class cricket history to hit six consecutive sixes in a single over (playing for Nottinghamshire against Glamorgan in 1968).

Captaincy: Led the West Indies Test team in a record 39 matches from 1965 to 1972.

Honours and Legacy

Knighted by Queen Elizabeth II in 1975 for his immense contributions to cricket.

Named as one of Wisden's five Cricketers of the Century in 2000.

Honoured by the International Cricket Council (ICC) with the Sir Garfield Sobers Trophy for the Men's Cricketer of the Year.

National Hero of Barbados by the government in 1998. He is one of only 11 people to have received this honour, and one of three who were recognised during their lifetime, the others being Sir Frank Walcott and Rihanna.

He died on 17 July 2026, 11 days before his 90th birthday, in St. Michael, Barbados.

▶ The late Sir Garfield Sobers

Usain Bolt is a retired Jamaican sprinter widely regarded as the greatest and fastest runner of all time.

Birth: Born on 21 August 1986, in Trelawny Parish, Jamaica, where his parents ran a local grocery store.

Early Passions: Loved cricket and football as a child more than athletics. His school coaches noticed his incredible running speed and steered him toward track and field.

First Success: Won the 200 metre gold medal at the 2002 World Junior Championships in Kingston aged 15, becoming the youngest male world junior champion ever.

Beijing 2008 Olympics: Rose to global stardom by winning gold and setting world records in the 100m, 200m, and 4x100m relay, aged 22.

World Records: Set the current world records for the 100m (9.58 seconds) and 200m (19.19 seconds) at the 2009 World Athletics Championships in Berlin.

The 'Triple-Triple': Became the first athlete to win gold medals in the 100m, 200m, and 4x100m at three consecutive Olympic Games (2008, 2012, and 2016).

Iconic pose: Officially known as his 'To De World' pose because it started as a popular Jamaican dance move that he adapted as a fun way to celebrate his victories.

Health issue: Bolt has scoliosis, a condition that causes an abnormal sideways curve in the spine which worsened as he grew during his youth. The condition caused his right leg to be about half an inch shorter than his left leg. Early in his career, the imbalance led to frequent hamstring strains and back tightness that threatened his training.

Retirement: Officially retired from track and field following the 2017 World Championships. He is a father of three: daughter Olympia Lightning was born in 2020 and twin sons are Thunder and Saint Leo, born 2021.

Milestone birthday: Bolt celebrated his 40th birthday last month by getting engaged to his long-time partner, Casey Bennett, while focusing on fatherhood and his business ventures.

Present: Since retiring from elite sprinting nine years ago, Bolt has stepped away from heavy track training and joked that he now gets out of breath just walking up stairs.

Family man: Following a ruptured Achilles tendon sustained during a charity football match, he shifted primarily to light gym workouts and now spends his free time relaxing at home in Jamaica, watching movies, and building Lego sets with his children.

Bears maul Panthers in high flyer

▶ Caleb Williams silenced his critics

The NFL's Week 1 games threw up some amazing scores, none more so than Chicago Bears defeating Carolina Panthers 59–37.

Caleb Williams threw for 269 yards and two touchdowns and ran for 65 yards and two more scores as the Bears beat the Panthers in the highest-scoring season opener in NFL history.

Williams proved all the doubters wrong. The former USC star wasted little time in showing why he is one of the most celebrated quarterback prospects of the past decade. He generated 248 yards of offense in the first half alone.

Bears running back D'Andre Swift, who received a $33.75m contract extension last week, ran for 124 yards on 18 carries with three touchdowns, while Kyle Monangai had 100 yards rushing, including a 61-yard touchdown burst.

Josh Allen threw a 34-yard touchdown pass to Joshua Palmer with 1:36 remaining to lift the Buffalo Bills to a 36-31 win over the Houston Texans in a back-and-forth season opener.

Carson Wentz came in after Kyler Murray's first-quarter concussion in his Minnesota Vikings debut and helped the Vikings in a spirited comeback to beat the Green Bay Packers 39-22.

New York Giants quarterback Jaxson Dart was excellent, throwing three touchdowns; Cam Skattebo rushed for another as the Giants beat the Dallas Cowboys 28-20. The Giants' running game was excellent, with the team gaining 165 yards on the ground. They also converted nine of their 11 third downs.

Jalen Hurts threw for 203 yards and three touchdowns, and the Philadelphia Eagles' Moro Ojomo stuffed the Washington Commanders' attempt at a tying two-point conversion with 1:01 remaining as Philadelphia squeaked past Washington 24-22.

New Orleans Saints QB Tyler Shough threw an incomplete pass in the end zone on a two-point conversion attempt, allowing the Detroit Lions to escape with a thrilling 31-30 win in overtime over the New Orleans Saints. Saints coach Kellen Moore chose to go for the win instead of tying the game with 1:34 left in overtime after his team came back from a three-touchdown deficit in the third quarter and allowed a touchdown on the opening possession of the extra period.

Shelton moves closer to emulating his hero Ashe

Ben Shelton came so close to winning the US Open and as he is only 23 has justifiably high hopes of one-day lifting that coveted title.

Top seed Alexander Zverev crushed American dreams on Sunday, overcoming Shelton in a four-set battle to claim his maiden US Open title.

The German was too good for the eighth-seeded American prevailing 6-3 7-6 (7-2) 5-7 6-2 in the final at Flushing Meadows.

Zverev added the New York title to his collection after winning the French Open in June.

Shelton's bid to become the first American man to win a Grand Slam singles title since Andy Roddick in 2003 was dashed. He was also aiming to become only the second black man to win this championship after Arthur Ashe in 1975. He was supported by a partisan crowd of 23,000 spectators inside the stadium named in Ashe's honour.

It was the Ultimate track show

The Ultimate Championship's inaugural staging was an unprecedented success over three fast-paced evenings in Budapest, Hungary where a record $10m prize pot was distributed among the sport's biggest stars.

"It's a good first step towards changing track and field for the better," said Usain Bolt, event ambassador and the greatest sprinter in history. "The athletes are loving it. It's a different energy, a different vibe."

World Athletics and its president, Lord Coe, worked for three years to tackle the absence of a season-ending pinnacle event. And this innovative new event was a tremendous success.

There were many outstanding races and unexpected finishes, one of them being Algeria's Djamel Sedjati winning the men's 800 metres.

Stop Wasting Your Workouts! Get Better Results in Less Time

What if you could spend LESS time working out and get MORE from every minute you exercise?

You don't necessarily need longer workouts. You need better workouts.

Too many people spend hours in the gym without getting the results they want. They repeat the same exercises, go through the motions, get distracted and wonder why their progress has stalled.

The answer isn't always "work harder."

Sometimes, it's simply "work smarter."

Here are nine ways to make every workout count:

1. FOCUS LIKE YOUR RESULTS DEPEND ON IT

Because they do!

When you lift weights, don't just move the weight from Point A to Point B. Concentrate on the muscle you're training and the quality of every repetition.

Put the phone away. Stop looking around. Stop worrying about what everyone else is doing.

Your workout deserves your full attention.

2. STOP DOING THE SAME OLD WORKOUT

If your body already knows exactly what's coming, it has less reason to adapt.

Change your exercises, resistance, repetitions, intensity, rest periods or training methods. Give your muscles a new challenge.

If you want different results, you have to be willing to do things differently.

3. FEED YOUR RESULTS

You can't out-train a poor diet.

Your body needs quality nutrition and adequate hydration to perform, recover and build a stronger, healthier body.

Focus on real, wholesome foods, adequate protein and plenty of water.

Train your body. Fuel your body. Then give it a reason to change.

4. FIND YOUR POWER HOUR

Think you have to work out at 5 a.m. because that's when "serious" people exercise?

Think again.

The best time to exercise is the time when you can perform well and consistently show up.

If mornings leave you exhausted, try lunchtime. If lunchtime doesn't work, train after work.

There's no prize for exercising at an inconvenient time.

The best workout schedule is the one you'll actually follow.

5. DON'T TRAIN ALONE

Ever notice that you push yourself harder when someone is watching?

That's not your imagination.

Training with a partner, group or personal trainer can increase accountability and motivation—and help you push through those final challenging repetitions.

Sometimes you don't need more motivation.

You need someone who won't let you quit.

6. USE CAFFEINE—IF IT'S RIGHT FOR YOU

A moderate amount of caffeine before exercise can help increase alertness and may enhance exercise performance for some people.

But caffeine isn't for everyone. If you have a medical condition, take medications or have been advised to avoid caffeine, check with your healthcare professional first.

And remember: caffeine can enhance a good workout—it can't replace one.

7. PUT YOUR PLAYLIST TO WORK

Your favorite music can do more than entertain you.

The right song can increase your motivation, improve your mood and help you push through a tough workout.

So create a playlist that makes you want to move.

If the beat gets you through the last few reps, turn it up!

8. DRESS FOR SUCCESS

You wouldn't play a football game in dress shoes. So why exercise in uncomfortable clothing?

Wear workout clothes and footwear that allow you to move freely and confidently.

You should be thinking about your form—not whether your pants are going to survive your next squat!

9. STOP GUESSING—GET PROFESSIONAL HELP

This is where many people lose valuable time.

They exercise without a plan. They do random workouts. They don't know how much weight to use, how many repetitions to perform or when to increase the challenge.

Then they wonder why they aren't getting results.

A personal trainer can change that.

A professional can help you create a structured program, teach you proper technique, keep you accountable and continually challenge your body as you improve.

Why spend months—or years—trying to figure it out yourself?

YOUR WORKOUT SHOULD WORK FOR YOU

Getting fit isn't about spending endless hours in the gym.

It's about having the right strategy, the right exercises and the right guidance—and then consistently putting in the work.

That's exactly what I help my clients do.

Whether your goal is to lose fat, build muscle, improve strength, increase energy or simply feel better in your body, you don't have to do it alone.

Stop wasting workouts. Stop guessing. Stop waiting for "someday."

Your transformation starts with your next workout.

Call Ernest at Body Shapers Personal Training Fitness Studio at 325-8696 today.

Let's build a workout program that challenges you, keeps you motivated and gets you moving toward the results you want.

Less wasted time. More focused training. Better results.

Your body is worth the investment.

Cross-Sector Symposium Charts a Stronger, More Connected Continuum of Care for Addiction Recovery

To mark Recovery Month, Beacon Farms convened organisations from across the public, private and non-profit sectors on 10 September 2026 for "Strengthening the Continuum of Care," a symposium focused on closing gaps and deepening collaboration across the Cayman Islands' recovery system for addiction. The half-day working session brought together representatives from government ministries and agencies, treatment centres, counselling services and transitional housing to map the current continuum of care from prevention through to aftercare and integration in the community.

Participants worked through five sessions covering roles and responsibilities across the continuum, monitoring and information-sharing between organisations, funding models for sustainable long-term support, public communications and awareness, and concrete next steps. With the continuum already well-supported from referral through to out-patient treatment, the focus was on opportunities to strengthen early prevention, services for adolescents, and integration and aftercare support.

Employment was cited as a sticking point for many recovering addicts attempting to rebuild their lives. While Beacon Farms offers a range of jobs in agriculture and a safe, sober work environment, there is a need for more private sector employers willing to give people a second chance. The ability to earn a living is key to long-term recovery.

"This symposium reflects the strength of what we can achieve when government, healthcare and community organisations sit down at the same table with a shared purpose," said Sandy Urquhart, CEO of Beacon Farms. "Everyone in that room is already doing important work. What the symposium gave us is a clearer picture of how those efforts connect, and a real opportunity to build a more joined-up system that helps people move forward in their recovery and stay there. We're grateful to Minister Katherine Ebanks-Wilks and Permanent Secretary Wayne Panton for joining us and supporting the initiative, and to all our partners for their continued collaboration and commitment to this work."

Beacon Farms was joined by sister organisation The Bridge Foundation which runs a halfway house in West Bay and refers many of their residents to Beacon Farms for employment. In addition to housing, the Bridge supports reintegration in a myriad of ways from setting up bank accounts and getting government IDs to participating in recovery programmes.

At the close of the symposium, attendees agreed on a set of next steps to carry the momentum forward, including named leads from each participating organisation, a follow-up meeting to be hosted by Beacon Farms before the end of the year, and joint communications efforts.

"This was just the start," said Urquhart. "We left the room with a shared commitment to keeping this work moving forward. Beacon Farms is proud to keep playing our part alongside these organisations, as together we can genuinely change outcomes for people in recovery."

Digicel

Digicel Cayman Limited. is seeking applicants for a full-time role, Regional Head of Go-To-Market. This person will report to the Regional Head of B2C- Atlantic.

The Regional Head of Go-To-Market (GTM) is responsible for leading the development and execution of integrated marketing and commercial strategies across the Atlantic Region for both Mobile and Digicel+ services. The role is accountable for driving customer acquisition, revenue growth, market share expansion, brand performance and customer engagement through innovative and data-driven marketing initiatives.
Through strong leadership and cross-functional collaboration, the Regional Head of GTM ensures that each market has the tools, capabilities, and commercial discipline required to meet and exceed sales targets. The role demands deep market understanding, execution excellence, and the ability to influence and guide regional and local sales teams toward sustainable and consistent business results.

Main Duties and Responsibilities:
• Regional Marketing Strategy: Lead the development and execution of the Atlantic Region's integrated marketing strategy, ensuring alignment with Group objectives, market priorities, and commercial growth targets. Drive strategic initiatives that build brand awareness, increase market penetration, and support long-term business objectives across Mobile and Digicel+ services
• Brand Management: Champion and strengthen the Digicel and Digicel+ brands throughout the Atlantic Region by ensuring consistent brand positioning, messaging, visual identity, and customer experience. Oversee brand-building initiatives that enhance customer perception, loyalty, and competitive differentiation within each market.
• GTM Strategy Execution: Lead the implementation of the Atlantic Region's GTM strategy for Mobile and Digicel+, ensuring seamless alignment with regional and Group commercial objectives.
• Sales Revenue Growth: Drive regional and local sales performance by strengthening revenue-generation activities, optimizing target-setting processes, and enhancing commercial impact.
• Sales Target Achievement: Partner with market teams to define, align, and track sales targets, ensuring achievement of Gross Adds, Net Adds, and revenue KPIs across all markets.
• Channel Strategy Alignment: Localize and operationalize channel strategies (retail, digital, telesales, partner channels) to ensure optimal execution and delivery of KPIs at the market level.
• Regional Marketing Strategy: Lead the development and execution of the Atlantic Region's integrated marketing strategy, ensuring alignment with Group objectives, market priorities, and commercial growth targets. Drive strategic initiatives that build brand awareness, increase market penetration, and support long-term business objectives across Mobile and Digicel+ services
• Brand Management: Champion and strengthen the Digicel and Digicel+ brands throughout the Atlantic Region by ensuring consistent brand positioning, messaging, visual identity, and customer experience. Oversee brand-building initiatives that enhance customer perception, loyalty, and competitive differentiation within each market.

• Sales Target Achievement: Partner with market teams to define, align, and track sales targets, ensuring achievement of Gross Adds, Net Adds, and revenue KPIs across all markets.
• Channel Strategy Alignment: Localize and operationalize channel strategies (retail, digital, telesales, partner channels) to ensure optimal execution and delivery of KPIs at the market level.

Implementation & Execution Excellence
• Market Support & Execution: Provide direct support to market teams, ensuring consistent and disciplined execution of GTM plans. Develop localized execution roadmaps that reflect market conditions and growth opportunities.
• Sales Productivity Optimization: Implement a data-driven approach to improve productivity; optimize commission structures, performance frameworks, and operational mechanisms.
• Regional Sales Execution: Equip regional and local teams with the tools, training, and commercial stewardship required to deliver high-impact sales results.
• Market-Specific Adaptation: Adapt Group sales frameworks to local realities by incorporating insights related to competition, customer behavior and market dynamics.
• Leadership & Cross-Functional Collaboration
• Leadership & Mentorship: Lead and coach regional and market sales teams, promoting a high-performance, results-oriented culture focused on accountability and excellence.
• Cross-Functional Collaboration: Work collaboratively with Product, Marketing, Operations, and Customer Experience teams to ensure integrated GTM strategies and coordinated market delivery.
• Talent Development: Build sales capability across the region, strengthening the pipeline of GTM talent and ensuring continuous skill development and performance improvement.

Performance Monitoring & Reporting
• KPI Management: Monitor and analyze key commercial and operational KPIs (Gross Adds, Net Adds, productivity, churn-related impacts, channel performance) to evaluate effectiveness and guide decision-making.
• Reporting: Deliver daily, weekly, and monthly performance insights to regional leadership, highlighting results, trends, risks, and proposed corrective actions.
• Sales Operations Governance: Ensure compliance with regional GTM processes, reporting standards, and Group requirements.

Academic qualifications and experience required for job:
• Bachelor's degree in Business, Marketing, Communications, or related field or related experience.
• Proven experience in sales leadership or GTM roles within telecommunications or similar industries.
• Demonstrated ability to lead multi-country teams and drive complex commercial initiatives.
• Strong track record of achieving sales targets and improving operational effectiveness.

Functional Skills:
• Strong analytical, problem-solving, and performance-optimization skills.
• Excellent written and verbal communication, with the ability to influence stakeholders at all levels.
• Deep understanding of GTM processes, sales frameworks, channel management, and execution best practices.
• Ability to translate global strategies into localized, actionable market plans.

Working Conditions:
• Reporting Line: Reports directly to the Regional Head of B2C with regular interaction and collaboration with Group Consumer, Group GTM, and both Market and Regional Leadership.
• Geographical Scope: Oversight across all Atlantic Region markets — Cayman Islands, Bermuda, British Virgin Islands, Turks & Caicos Islands.
• Travel Requirements: Frequent in-market travel (40–60%) to support execution, coach local teams, conduct sales reviews, and lead GTM interventions.
• Work Environment: Hybrid model with regional office work, remote coordination, and extensive market fieldwork (retail visits, partner engagement, on-ground sales support).
• Team Structure: Leads a matrixed team of regional sales leads and collaborates closely with market-level sales managers and operational teams.

Workdays: Monday to Friday
• Working Hours: 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
• Weekly Hours: 40
• Salary Range: KYD $100,000.00 – KYD $120,000.00 per annum depending on qualifications, knowledge and experience

• Strong communication and interpersonal skills.
• Energetic, outgoing, dependable, creative, and professional.
• Strong performance and improvisational abilities.
• Singing and dancing abilities.
• Ability to confidently lead children's activities, games, storytelling, and interactive entertainment.
• Ability to remain fully in character throughout performances.
• Strong organizational and time-management skills.
• Ability to multitask, troubleshoot, and adapt to changing event requirements.
• Ability to work independently and as part of a team.
• Ability to follow detailed character, costume, performance, and company standards.
• Ability to safely wear and perform in company-issued costumes for the duration of an appearance.
• Ability to stand, walk, dance, and remain physically active throughout events.
• Comfortable working both indoors and outdoors, including in Cayman Islands weather conditions.
• Strong understanding of appropriate professional conduct when working with children.
• First Aid and CPR certification required.
• Police clearance/background screening required.
• Valid Cayman Islands driver's license required.
• Own reliable transportation required.
• Availability for evenings, weekends, and public holidays is required due to the nature of the children's entertainment industry.

Language Requirements
Fluent spoken and written English is required due to direct communication with children, parents, clients, vendors and team members and the need to communicate instructions and safety information clearly.

Working Conditions
This is a mobile and event-based role. The employee must be available to work variable schedules, including evenings, weekends, and public holidays depending on bookings. Events may take place indoors or outdoors throughout Grand Cayman. The role may require extended periods of standing and walking, assisting with event setup and breakdown, carrying event supplies, working in outdoor Cayman weather conditions, and travelling between event locations.

HOW TO APPLY
Qualified applicants should submit their application and résumé/CV to:

Human Resources Manager
Department: Human Resources
Reporting To: Managing Director
Semi monthly pay

Mise en Place is seeking an experienced, proactive and highly organised HR Manager to lead people operations across a busy hospitality group including Events, Private Chef Catering, Baristas, Schools Catering, Warehouse Operations and Corporate Support functions.
This is a high-volume, hands-on role supporting approximately 100 employees across multiple locations in a seven-day hospitality environment. The successful candidate must be comfortable managing frequent interruptions, urgent operational requests and 10–15 employee or manager enquiries per day while maintaining accuracy, confidentiality and sound judgement.
Duties include partnering with senior leadership, supporting workforce planning and succession planning, managing end-to-end recruitment and onboarding, preparing high volumes of employment documentation, maintaining HR and immigration records, liaising with government agencies, supporting investigations and performance matters, administering benefits and pension processes, coordinating payroll information, resolving day-to-day people issues and improving HR processes through technology and workforce management systems.
Applicants must have a Bachelor's Degree in Human Resources, Business Administration, Management or a related field experience and a minimum of 5–7 years' progressive HR experience, preferably within hospitality, food service, tourism, retail or another fast-paced multi-site environment. Strong knowledge of Cayman Islands Labour Law, pension, health insurance, WORC procedures and immigration/ work permit processes is required. CISHRP certification or active professional membership would be an advantage.
This position is best suited to a resilient, organised and practical HR professional who can balance strategic projects with the daily realities of hospitality operations, including employee concerns, scheduling pressures, recruitment needs, compliance deadlines, immigration matters and payroll-related queries. Applicants seeking a purely office-based or policy-only HR role may not find this position suitable.
Salary: CI$65,000–CI$75,000 per annum, plus applicable statutory benefits
Location: Grand Cayman
Hours: Full-time. Flexibility may be required to support hospitality operations, recruitment activities and company events on weekends and evenings
To apply: Submit your CV to careers@catering.ky. Caymanians and Permanent Residents are strongly encouraged to apply.
Closing date is September 25, 2026

Title: Head of Enterprise AI
The Head of Enterprise AI will serve as the strategic and operational leader of all artificial intelligence initiatives across organisation. Reporting to senior leadership, this role sits at the intersection of AI engineering, financial technology, and digital asset infrastructure. The Head of Enterprise AI will be responsible for defining and executing the organisation's AI roadmap, managing related budgets and resources, and translating cutting-edge machine learning and quantitative research capabilities into measurable business outcomes.
The candidate is expected to:
• provide firm-wide strategic leadership on all AI and machine learning initiatives, ensuring alignment with Autonomous' business objectives and client commitments in the digital asset space;
• operate with full budget ownership and accountability across AI projects, including vendor selection, tooling costs, and team resourcing; and
• uphold Autonomous' core values by fostering a culture of intellectual rigour, innovation, and cross-functional collaboration.
Main Responsibilities
• Define and own the enterprise AI strategy, translating organisational priorities into a coherent, sequenced roadmap of initiatives and solutions.
• Lead end-to-end delivery of AI projects including prototyping applications through to production deployment while maintaining high standards of performance and reliability.
• Manage the AI budget across the organisation, including cost allocation, vendor contracts, cloud infrastructure spend (e.g. Azure, AWS).
• Partner with other departments including but not limited to Finance and Client Relationship teams to identify opportunities where AI can drive operational efficiency, improve client outcomes, or create new product capabilities in the Web3 and digital asset space.
• Evaluate and integrate third-party AI tools, APIs, and platforms; manage relationships with technology vendors and external research partners.
• In collaboration with business leaders, ensure all AI systems meet applicable regulatory, compliance, and data governance standards across Autonomous' multi-jurisdiction operating environment.
• Prepare and present AI strategy updates, performance reports, and investment cases to senior leadership and, where relevant, to clients.
• Stay at the forefront of developments in AI, machine learning, and their application in fintech and digital assets, acting as an internal thought leader and external ambassador for Autonomous' capabilities.
Qualifications and Experience
• Advanced degree in a quantitative discipline (e.g. Engineering, Computer Science, Mathematics, or equivalent); a Master's degree in AI/ML or Systems Design Engineering is strongly preferred.
• Minimum 5 years of professional experience spanning AI/ML engineering, quantitative research, or trading technology, with demonstrable progression into senior or leadership roles.
• Proven experience managing AI or technology projects with full budget responsibility, including vendor management and resource planning.
• Strong hands-on proficiency in Python and at least one of R, C++, or SQL; experience with cloud platforms (Azure preferred) and MLOps frameworks.
• Experience in financial services, fintech, or the digital asset/Web3 space is highly desirable; familiarity with trading systems, market-neutral strategies, AML/compliance tooling, or token infrastructure is a significant advantage.
• Demonstrated ability to communicate complex technical concepts to non-technical stakeholders, including clients and board-level audiences.
• Professional certifications relevant to finance (e.g. CSC, CFA) or AI/ML (e.g. AWS, Google, or Microsoft certifications, Deep Learning Specialization) are advantageous.

HERITAGE HOLDINGS GROUP OF COMPANIES

Heritage Holdings Group is a diversified organization delivering integrated services across development, construction, and support functions. We are focused on quality, efficiency and long-term value across all our operations, delivering purposeful development with community at its heart.

We Are One | One Group | Shared Values | Extraordinary People

PROJECT COORDINATOR | WORC ID: B8M7U8

Heritage HR Ltd

Salary: CI$32,000 – CI$42,000 per annum

Applications close: 6 October 2026

We are looking for a motivated early-career construction professional or recent graduate ready to turn their technical education into practical, hands-on construction experience. Work alongside experience project and site teams, take ownership of real responsibilities, and build your career across residential and commercial projects from pre-construction through handover.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES

- Support Project Managers in coordinating construction and development projects keeping actions, milestones and approvals moving.
- Maintain accurate project information in Procore, including drawings, RFIs, submittals and project records.
- Work with consultants, subcontractors, suppliers and site teams to follow up actions, solve problems and keep projects on track.
- Spend regular time on active sites, developing practical knowledge while monitoring work against drawings, specifications, schedules and quality standards.
- Support QA/QC inspections, snagging and close-out, identifying issues and helping drive them through to resolution.
- Gain practical exposure to procurement, cost tracking, material take-offs, project reporting and handover activities.

REQUIRED SKILLS & EXPERIENCE

- Diploma or Degree in Construction Management, Project Management, Civil Engineering, Building Construction, Quantity Surveying or a related discipline.
- Recent graduates and candidates with limited construction experience are welcome; internship or site experience is an advantage.
- A proactive, accountable and curious approach, with a genuine desire to learn how construction projects are delivered.
- Strong organization, communication, attention to detail and problem-solving skills, with a willingness to ask questions and follow through.
- Strong Microsoft Office skills: exposure to Procore or similar construction-management software is an advantage.
- Willingness to work collaboratively in both office and active construction site environments and take increasing responsibility as your capability develops.

QUANTITY SURVEYOR | WORC ID: C2H3U4

SureBuilt Construction Ltd.

Salary: CI$70,000 – CI$98,000 per annum

Applications close: 6 October 2026

We're looking for an experienced Quantity Surveyor who sees beyond the numbers, combining strong commercial expertise, sound judgment and accountability with a collaborative approach to deliver practical solutions and build strong project relationships.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES

- Prepare feasibility studies, cost plans and detailed cost analysis, identifying commercial risk and practical, cost-effective solutions.
- Lead tendering and procurement activities, including Bills of Quantities, tender evaluations and contractor/subcontractor commercial negotiations.
- Monitor project budgets and commercial performance, providing clear valuations, cost reports, payment certificates and cash flow forecasts.
- Manage provisional sums, variations, change orders and post-contract commercial activities through project close-out.
- Prepare and negotiate final accounts while maintaining reliable cost data and market benchmarks.
- Partner with project Managers, contractors, consultants and suppliers to solve problems, manage risks and drive project profitability through the project life cycle.

REQUIRED SKILLS & EXPERIENCE

- Bachelor's degree in quantity surveying (or related discipline) and MRICS or equivalent.
- Minimum 5 years' post qualification Quantity Surveying experience including large mixed-use development and construction projects.
- Strong experience across budgeting, procurement, cost control, tendering, change management and final accounts.
- Proficiency in Microsoft Project, PlanSwift and Excel, supported by strong commercial and analytical capability.
- Commercially minded, accountable problem-solver who exercise sound judgement and takes ownership of outcomes.
- A strong communicator and relationship builder who can collaborate effectively, negotiate confidently and work constructively across multidisciplinary teams.

We require the candidate to pay excellent attention to detail and have the confidence to express their views.

Key Responsibilities

- Develop an understanding of firm processes and controls.
- Manage the firm's iterative risk assessment process including assessment of quality risks and development of responses to achieve quality objectives.
- Support the business with the design of controls and review control documentation to help ensure the appropriate design of the firm's SoQM controls to address identified risks and objectives.
- Assess the robustness of our controls and processes against global KPMG andISQM1 requirements.
- Support internal stakeholders in identifying improvements and efficiencies in functional processes and controls and implementation of these changes.
- Support the implementation of any remediation plans for process and control findings.
- Work closely with the SoQM Testing Program team to help ensure the smooth and efficient functioning of the SoQM testing.
- Build lasting, trusted relationships with key stakeholders locally, across KIG and the wider KPMG network.
- Support the SoQM Leader in interactions with the Global and Regional Groups and internal network, and external regulator inspections in relation to SoQM.
- Monitor progress against the ISQM 1 annual implementation plans and prepare regular updates for presentation to senior firm leadership. Manage and review output of assistant team members.
- Manage the completion of the firm's KQCE file (Global SoQM tool to document the firm's implementation of ISQM 1 requirements).
- Maintain regular dialogue across the business to assess SoQM impacts of new programmes and other business changes and to embed appropriate quality controls in new systems and process.
- Share knowledge with the team and coach assistant team members.
- Good team management skills and experience of effectively coaching assistant team members.
- Good communication skills, both written and verbal and ability to communicate key messages to leadership.
- Collaborative with a strong sense of accountability.
- Able to work flexibly and inclusively and embrace the opportunity to work with other teams across the firm in an integrated way.

Requirements and Qualifications: The successful candidate must have 6+ years' experience in audit, assurance, risk, compliance or quality management, including documenting operational processes and controls. The successful candidate must have relevant professional qualification (ACCA, ACA, CPA or equivalent) and/or degree in accounting/finance or relevant subject. The successful candidate must have 3 years experience working on Systems of Quality Management (ISQM 1 /ISAE 3402 or other applicable control frameworks).
